RED HOUSE LAUNCHES READING IMPROVEMENT PROJECT -- A kick-off assembly was held last week at Red House Elementary School for the 1992-93 theme of "Reading is the Key," which began this month with the students' participation in the "Book It!" and "Partners in Excellence" programs. Each class will be involved in various reading related activities and goals each month, and will be awarded pizza, encyclopedias, books, "Red House Reader" key rings, "Reading is the Key" pins, and "the enjoyment of reading," according to Linda Buckel, principal, who is encouraging parents to read with their children every day. Money collected from sponsors for the children's reading efforts will be used to help supply the school with needed reference materials. Buckel stated, "Reading aloud to your child is the single most important thing you can do to make him or her a reader." Shown in the above photo, left to right, are Arlene Lantz, Chapter 1 resource teacher; Bob Wehland, World Book representative for the "Partners in Excellence" program; and Buckel. (Wehland was presented with a "Reading is the Key" pin and a reading booster certificate.) Below, the school staff members are shown at the kick-off assembly, where they also received "Reading is the Key" pins. Left to right, they are, Buckel, Helen Rider, Connie Meyers, Mary Streets, Helen Carroll, Arlene Lantz, Pam Lucas, Robin Rodeheaver, Amy Rolf, Patti Wilt, Patti Shreve, Amy Thomas, and Dan Taylor, travelling resource music teacher.

Mars Observer

problem and a current malfunction of the Galileo Probe wherein the tines of an umbrella-like high-gain antenna are desperately tangled, the engineers once again sobered as they waited for the hinged arm to extend. If it remained partially folded, the information received from Mars would be cut by at least 90%. Several ideas on how to address the dilemma were being discussed when word was received that it finally did open completely, apparently having been slowed by unexpectedly cold hinge temperatures.

Sincell and his fellow engineers began to relax by this time, with only a few further snags that worked themselves out. The craft is at 100% as of today, Sincell reported, and now at a distance of over 10 million miles from Earth, slipping away in the silent, frigid darkness of space toward the Red Planet. This Saturday will mark the first burning of the engines to keep the Observer on course. Jeff indicated that this procedure will be yet another "white knuckle time" for the spacecraft's builders.

Sincell has returned to his Berlin, N.J., home and will be called upon only if something goes awry with the spacecraft. He does keep tabs on its progress, and will continue to do so. When asked if he had any thoughts on what this kind of mission may accomplish, Jeff stressed that the benefits of such an endeavor are immeasurable.

"We know that what we learn on Mars will help things here on Earth. For instance, the weather there is simpler than Earth's - so simple that we may be able to understand it totally - to model it exactly. This will help us understand the subtleties of Earth's weather, which is very difficult to comprehend and as yet impossible to model accurately.

"And then the prospect of going to Mars sometime in the next 20 or 30 years and the amount of science that would have to be done in order to go will produce many benefits - just as we see the effects of the space program to date in integrated circuits and computers. What we will have to do to get to Mars particularly in the area of materials will be of great benefit to mankind. Things as simple as the automobile tire have benefitted enormously from space travel - in terms of light-weight, strong materials. There are a thousand everyday products that have been strongly affected if not created outright by the space program.

"With the Mars Observer, we don't know what it's going to tell us about the mineral content on Mars. There may be elements up there in vast amounts that we're short on down here. There's a lot of interest in that.

"Finally, the 'explorer' is inherent in all of us," he said. "The human spirit is simply dead without that. We need to explore space just like we needed to explore North America hundreds of years ago to satisfy our curiosity and help us gain knowledge. And besides all that," he said, smiling, "we're lookin' for Elvis."

PRESENTED AWARD - The Maryland Salem Children's Trust, Inc. presented awards to children, staff, board of directors, and community members at its annual open house on Sunday, October 4. Among the awards given was a Community Service Award for Albert Coviello, supervisor of Pupil Services at the Garrett County Board of Education. The plaque states that the Maryland Salem Children's Trust recognizes Coviello for his unfailing dedication to children and his creative administration on their behalf. Coviello facilitated the acquisition of a small grant to help fund the on-grounds educational program allowing Salem to educationally serve many of its children who are unable to attend the public schools. The Maryland State Department has given the Salem Educational Program tentative approval and this instruction given at Salem makes many children's transition to the public school more successful that it otherwise would be, according to a Salem spokesperson. "The Board of Education, through Mr. Coviello's office, continues to be supportive of Salem's efforts to secure accreditation for a Level V intensity special education program. The Maryland Salem Children's Trust values the cooperative commitment with the Garrett County Public Schools and greatly appreciates the strong support of the Garrett County Board of Education in serving our children. Coviello is shown receiving his plaque from Deborah DeWitt, education director at the Salem Children's Trust.

The VFW incident occurred when Johnson entered the bar and asked the bartender to be "put on board." She said she didn't know what he meant. He then ordered a drink and she refused to serve him because she said she felt he already had enough. She said Johnson then began throwing things and she asked him to leave. He refused and while she was talking on the phone to the police, he hit her in the head with a glass, in the legs with a beer bottle, and in the hip with an ash tray. He then left and destroyed a door in doing so.

Judge Jack R. Turney also ordered Johnson to pay restitution to the VFW in the amount of $1,064.35.

In other District Court news, Roy C. Arnold Sr., 70, Mtn. Lake Park, was found guilty of theft. In a plea agreement with the State's Attorney's Office, a second charge of trespassing on posted property was not prosecuted.

Judge Turney sentenced him to a 30-day suspended jail term, fined him $50, and placed him on six months of unsupervised probation. He was also ordered not to trespass on the property of Charles Railey.

Arnold had been arrested by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office when a deputy investigating the reported thefts of lumber from the Railey property spotted Arnold on Railey's property. The deputy had taken statements from three neighbors in the area stating that they had witnessed Arnold stealing lumber from the Railey property which was clearly posted. Arnold reportedly admitted to the deputy that he had stolen some lumber.

Suzette M. Winters, 19, Oakland, was granted a new trial in court proceedings last week. She had initially been found guilty of battery on Darren Ream in July court proceedings. At that time, a pre-sentence investigation was ordered in her case.

Winters had been found not guilty of being disorderly on private property, trespassing on private property, and of theft in those July court proceedings. She had been charged with those crimes by Ream following an earlier altercation.

DWI CASES

A number of sentence revision cases involving DWI (driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs) charges were heard by Judge Turney last week in traffic court proceedings.

During a sentence revision hearing for Michael A. Heaton, 49, Pa., his guilty verdict was changed to probation before judgment. His probation was extended six months and he is to continue DWI monitoring.

Theodore F. Sweitzer, 20, Oakland, was granted probation before judgment after he had been found guilty of DWI in earlier court proceedings. He was ordered to continue DWI monitoring.

Bruce E. Brown, 24, Oakland, was also granted probation before judgment at his sentence revision hearing. He must also continue DWI monitoring.

Edward J. Custer, 22, Jefferson, Pa., was granted probation before judgment at his sentence revision hearing last week. He will also continue his DWI monitoring.

George R. Lauer Jr., 49, Baltimore, was found guilty of DWI by Judge Turney last week. He was handed a 30-day suspended jail term, fined $500 ($300 was suspended), and placed on one year of supervised probation.

Lauer had been arrested for DWI by the Maryland State Police on August 2 on U.S. Rt. 219 at Mosser Road.

Harold Burton Stafford, 25, Lonaconing, was found guilty of DWI and sentenced to a 30-day suspended jail term, fined $500 ($300 was suspended), and placed on one year of supervised probation.

Stafford had been charged by the Maryland State Police on March 20 on U.S. Rt. 219.

Robert Sharps To Be Investment Course Instructor

Robert P. Sharps will instruct two sections of a non-credit course entitled "Investment Alternatives for Increased Income & Growth" for Garrett Community College this fall.

Sharps is a certified financial planner and vice president of Wheat, First Securities, Inc., a local investment, banking, and brokerage firm, and has offered his services for over 10 years as a part time instructor of both credit and non-credit courses at GCC.

This course is designed to provide students with information about investment strategies for increasing earning potential. Major topics will include: current stock market trends and interest rates; selecting "utility" and "blue chip" stocks which may increase dividend income and potential appreciation; increasing earnings and protection against inflation with income and growth mutual funds: evaluating tax-free and mortgage backed bonds; and balancing individual portfolios of stocks and bonds using asset allocation ratios.

The course will be offered at two locations in the county. The first section will be held in the Center for Community and Continuing Education, Room CE308, McHenry Campus, on two consecutive Thursdays, October 22 and 29. The second section will be held in the GCC Oakland Center, Room 603, on two consecutive Thursdays, November 10 and 17. Both sections will meet from 6:30 to 9:45 p.m.

Tom Kierstead, GCC program coordinator, said, "There is limited seating for this high interest course. All interested persons should register at least one week in advance."

Tuition for the course is $17, plus a $3 registration fee. Out-of-county, Maryland residents and out-of-state residents will pay an additional differential fee. Maryland senior citizens (over 60) may enroll tuition free. For more information, persons may call the Continuing Education Office at (301) 387-6666 or (800) 695-4221, ext. 169.

R VROR VROR VROR
IT MAY NOT BE A WHISPER
Hearing loss can be very subtle and many people just pass it off. It may be an accumulation of wax in the ears. A physician can do a great deal to correct this problem. If it is just wax he will clean it out and advise you have this done periodically.
For more serious loss he might recommend one of the new effective hearing aids. Each hearing loss is individual and the just right aid must be selected. Don't wait until not hearing becomes embarrassing. Have it checked as soon as it is noticed.

SOME ASSEMBLY REQUIRED

These words labeling a boxed item can bring chills to the spine! Remember the red tricycle...the one which nearly wasn't in time for the birthday party? How about that late Christmas Eve when a good night's sleep was traded for a doll house which would not remain "under construction" beneath the tree on Christmas morning?

Yes, the fact is that you can't get around it. You have to read the instructions, interpret them, and assemble the object at hand one piece at a time.

God has given us instructions...very clear instructions for a beautifully designed life. They are found in the Bible...and abundant interpretation is available. Yet, some assembly is required...at your chosen house of worship each Sabbath.

Begin now. Get it together!

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

LOOKING ON THE HEART
October 11, 1992

Background Scripture:
1 Samuel 16:1-13;
2 Samuel 2:1-7; 5:1-5.

Devotional Reading:
1 Samuel 16:1-13.

King Saul was an impressive-looking man. He probably would have done well in politics today. He was tall and attractive and had the look of a leader. But, although Saul looked the part, the reality was that he was a failure as king of the 12 tribes. Eventually, God said to Samuel, the prophet, "I have rejected him from being king over Israel" (1 Sam. 16:1).

What was wrong with Saul? It was not that he did not have the gifts to be king. He was capable, but he was lacking in character. In his heart there was a void and all the talents he possessed and all his impressive physical features could not make up for it. Saul, the man who had been reluctant to be king, now wanted nothing else. His initial humility had quickly turned to selfish arrogance. He probably could have been a great king, but instead of using the royal power for the sake of the people, he hoarded it for himself.

So, now God comes to Samuel, telling him that he is to anoint a new king over the twelve tribes. Of course, Saul is still king, so we can appreciate that Samuel is fearful of Saul's wrath. God instructs him to carry out his commission secretly. Go to Bethlehem as if to perform a sacrifice and ask the locals to join with you. While doing this, God will reveal to you his choice as the new king.

DO YOU COME PEACEABLY?

The response of the elders of Bethlehem is interesting: "Do you come peaceably?", they ask Samuel. Apparently, Samuel's reputation as the prophet of God causes them to stand in awe. Wherever and whenever Samuel is doing the work of the Lord there is likely to be something disturbing going on--perhaps some change; that's always disturbing! Samuel's not the kind of man who comes to drop in for a cup of tea. What does he want with us?, they wonder.

It appears that the ensuing dialogue between God and Samuel is an inner dialogue and the Bethlehemites do not realize that a momentous process is taking place. They think it is all part of the ritual. Only Samuel is aware of what is happening. So, God can act mightily in our midst without our being aware of it. In reality this was an event that would change the whole course of Israel's history, but it was taking place at the level of a prayer-conversation in Samuel's mind. You and I may sometimes discount our silent prayer-conversations with the Lord, but Samuel did not.

JUST A YOUTH

When the sons of Jesse begin to pass before him, Samuel tries to determine which of these the Lord has chosen. And he decides as most of us would decide, by appearance, Eliab looked like the right man, but God said, "Do not look on his appearance or on the height of his stature, because I have rejected him," (16:7). This was also true of Abinadab and Shammah. This may have temporarily stumped Samuel, but then it occurs to him to ask Jesse: "Are all your sons here?" Well, said Jesse, "There remains yet the youngest, but behold, he is keeping the sheep" (16:11).

We can well understand why Jesse didn't think it important to present David to the prophet. After all, David was just a youth and the extent of his capabilities at present was tending sheep. That's the way it looked to Jesse and that is the way it would look to most of us. But the standards by which we choose our leaders must be somewhat less than satisfactory, if you consider some of the mistakes we have made over the centuries or if you consider some of the criteria by which some people will vote for the next President of the United States.

The problem, as God puts it to Samuel, is that "the Lord sees not as man sees; man looks on the outward appearance; but the Lord looks on the heart" (16:7). And it is what is in the heart that makes the difference!

COVER STORY

Meet a real Lady Boss: Talk to Jackie Collins

BY LYNN HOOGENBOOM

Jackie Collins has been on the fringes of show business all her life. The best-selling author ("Hollywood Wives," "Chances") is the daughter of a London theatrical agent and the younger sister of actress

Jackie Collins

Joan Collins. But it wasn't until 1985 that she thought about becoming a producer.

"It was when I saw 'Hollywood Wives,' " Collins recalls. "I thought, 'Hmm. It's a nice piece. But it's not the book. And it's got my name on it.' "

Since then, she has refused to sell the rights to any of her books unless she can come along as the producer. "You cannot just write it, because then you have no say over anything," she explains. "Writers are totally disregarded in Hollywood. Once they've got the script out of you, it's goodbye, Charlie. The only way you can protect yourself is to produce."

Her first vehicle was the 1990 miniseries "Lucky/Chances." This week, its sequel, Jackie Collins' "Lady Boss," airs on NBC, Sunday, Oct. 11, and Monday, Oct. 12.

Collins, of course, was familiar with the ins and outs of Hollywood before she sold the rights to "Hollywood Wives." "I was very savvy about Hollywood, but I always assumed that they knew what they were doing," she says. "Then I realized that assumption was totally wrong. Nobody knows what they're doing, really. You do what you think is right and hope for the best results. I can do that as good as anybody."

Lucky Santangelo, the heroine of "Chances," "Lucky" and "Lady Boss" (played by Kim Delaney in this miniseries), is in some ways an alter ego of Jackie Collins. "She's kind of like a James Bond for women," says Collins. "She empowers women with a sense of 'I can do anything.' I've always felt that in my life. I was a dropout – at 15, I was thrown out of school, expelled. Everyone said to me, 'You can't be a writer. You have to go to college, take this degree, take that degree.' In my early 20s, I said, 'Screw it, I'm going to write.' I wrote my first book, 'The World Is Full of Married Men,' and I – touch wood – never looked back."

In "Lady Boss," Lucky goes undercover, working as a secretary at a Hollywood studio, and discovers that the Hollywood power structure is composed almost entirely of men with sexist attitudes and highly questionable judgment. Does that reflect Collins' own experiences? "I couldn't write the real thing, because nobody would believe it," Collins says. "Women are very much abused on the screen. And I think real life reflects what we see in movies. And what we see is the studio executives' fantasy of what they would like in a relationship."

Now, that's a scary thought.

Kim Delaney stars as the formidable Lucky Santangelo in Jackie Collins' "Lady Boss." The miniseries airs Sunday, Oct. 11, and Monday, Oct. 12, on NBC.

TV DIALOGUE

BY TONI REINHOLD

'PORGY' ON FILM – I say that George Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess" was made into a movie, but my friends say it was only performed as an opera. Can you give me any details that will support my belief that it was also a film? – V.N., Champaign, Ill.

Dandridge and Poitier

"Porgy and Bess," which is considered by many to be Gershwin's masterpiece and the best opera ever composed by an American, was adapted into a film in 1959. It starred Sidney Poitier, Dorothy Dandridge, Pearl Bailey, Sammy Davis Jr., Brock Peters, Diahann Carroll and Ivan Dixon. It was directed by Otto Preminger and was the last film produced by Samuel Goldwyn. Andre Previn and Ken Darby won Academy Awards for their musical arrangements of such Gershwin classics as "Summertime," "It Ain't Necessarily So" and "I Got Plenty of Nothin'."

ON THE 'TRAIL OF THE PINK PANTHER' – Which of the "Pink Panther" films was completed after the death of Peter Sellers but still featured him in the starring role? – M.D., Houston

It was 1982's "Trail of the Pink Panther," starring Sellers, David Niven, Herbert Lom, Richard Mulligan, Joanna Lumley, Robert Wagner, Capucine, Robert Loggia and Harvey Korman. Director Blake Edwards patched together outtakes from other "Pink Panther" films and new material to finish the movie. "Curse of the Pink Panther," in which Sellers does not appear, was filmed at the same time but not released until 1983. It was David Niven's final film. Sellers died July 24, 1980, in London.

ATTENTION! – Didn't Jack Webb star in a movie about life in the Army? If he did, what was the name of it, and when was it made? – C.J., Lima, Ohio

I believe that you're thinking of the 1957 movie "The D.I.," which Webb directed as well as starred in. It was touted as an authentic account of life in Marine Corps training. Webb played a hard-nosed drill sergeant. The story was recycled 13 years later in the TV movie "Tribes."

'SONG' SONG – Which movie featured the song "Zip a Dee Doo Dah"? – K.P., Dawson Springs, Ky.

The Oscar-winning ditty was featured in the 1946 Disney feature "Song of the South."

SPORTS CALENDAR

Vikes look for revenge; Hockey goes to Florida

BY CHRISTOPHER HULL

Week 6 of the NFL season gets under way on Sunday, Oct. 11, with all five NFC Central teams and the AFC West's San Diego Chargers taking a break. NBC has the doubleheader, and CBS has the single game.

Week 7 gets an early start on Thursday, Oct. 15, when the Detroit Lions visit the Minnesota Vikings on TNT. This should be one of the best matchups of the week. The NFC Central figures to be one of the most closely contested divisions in football, with both the Lions and Vikings prime contenders. In Week 2, the visiting Vikings outgained the Lions by more than 100 yards but still managed to lose the game 31-17. Quarterback Rich Gannon was the culprit; his 20-for-36, 175-yard passing day included three interceptions that did in the Vikes.

• Hockey fans can get a look at the NHL's latest bid for southern exposure Friday, Oct. 16, on ESPN, when the Tampa Bay Lightning visit the Buffalo Sabres. The Lightning join the Ottawa Senators as one of the league's two newest teams this season. And while expanding into Ottawa, a city with a long and successful history in the game, makes good sense, we've got to wonder about going to Florida.

Fans may remember the NHL's last attempt at taking seed south of the Mason-Dixon line. The Atlanta Flames began play at the start of the 1972-73 season, and they added Tom Lysiak, a bona fide superstar, to their roster the following year. Between the time that Lysiak joined the team and 1980, when the franchise pulled up stakes and moved to Calgary, the Flames failed to make the playoffs just once and played sub-.500 hockey just once, but they still never gained a following.

It's 20 years since, but we have our doubts. The Tampa Bay backers, who include former Boston Bruins and New York Rangers star Phil Esposito, are counting on the support of transplanted Northerners to keep the Lightning afloat. But the fact that Esposito was quoted as saying he'd be happy to trot a horse out onto the ice to play goal for his team if that would sell tickets doesn't bode well.

• Baseball's league championship series continue this week (Games 5-7 if necessary): Sunday, NLCS Game 5 and ALCS Game 4; Monday, ALCS Game 5; Tuesday, NLCS Game 6; Wednesday, ALCS Game 6 and NLCS Game 7; Thursday, ALCS Game 7. Both league championship series and the World Series (which begins Saturday, Oct. 17) air on CBS.

MOVIES ON TV

Collins slugs it out with baseball this week

BY FELICIA A. FEASTER

Kim Delaney, Jack Scalia, Phil Morris and Vanity star in Jackie Collins' "Lady Boss" (NBC, Oct. 11 and 12), the glitzy sequel to the best-selling novelist's "Lucky/Chances." The miniseries continues the story of tinseltown high rollers and dirty dealers, and the Hollywood entrepreneur, Lucky Santangelo (Delaney), who takes them on. Lucky is up against some heavy Hollywood hitters who want control of the Panther movie studio. They include a sexy rock star, a Donald Trump-brand Big Apple billionaire and the boss lady's arch nemesis, gangster Santino Bonnatti (Joe Cortese). America's viewing loyalties – sin or sports – will be put to the test as "Lady Boss" goes head-to-head with baseball playoffs.

• Inspired by actual events, "Overexposed" (ABC, Oct. 11) might be subtitled "A Tale of Marriage and Adultery in the Video Age." Marcy Walker stars as Ann Demski, a virtuous married woman with a workaholic husband, who allows herself to be seduced by her husband's business associate Nick Kasten (Terence Knox). Little does Ann realize that the oh-so-charming Nick is recording their tryst on videotape, which he then copies and distributes to Mr. Demski (Dan Lauria) and the rest of the neighborhood. In the ensuing "sex, lies and videotape," Ann struggles to prove to her husband that her love for him is still strong, even though evidence of her brief love for Nick may last forever.

• A movie presence from the 1950s, Anthony Perkins recently died of AIDS at the age of 60. American Movie Classics airs the lanky, boyish actor's final interview, with "Reflections on the Silver Screen" host Richard Brown, followed by a showing of Perkins' most famous movie incarnation, as the gender-bending Norman Bates in Alfred Hitchcock's 1960 "Psycho" (Oct. 14). Though Perkins continued to make films into the '90s, "Psycho" remains his definitive role. It continued to pay off for the actor with three film sequels, including "Psycho III," which was directed by Perkins.

• Drew Barrymore stars in the Showtime original "Guncrazy" (Oct. 17) – not to be confused with the 1949 Joseph H. Lewis film. Barrymore plays a 16-year-old vixen who meets her true love as a pen pal. Fortunately, Howard (James LeGross) has time to write, being incarcerated, and he finds time to show Barrymore how much he cares when he leaves the Big House and the two pals unleash a whole lot of trouble.

SOAP SCOOP

Damon of 'GH' is a real Prince Charming

BY CONNIE PASSALACQUA

If you're a longtime soap fan, you've gotta love Stuart Damon. As the supercilious Dr. Alan Quartermaine, he has huffed and puffed and charmingly acted his way through 15 years of "General Hospital." He has survived umpteen production regimes and plenty more backstage mood swings over changing ratings.

As Damon says, "I came

onto this show 27th in seniority. Now I'm third, after John Beradino and Rachel Ames, (who play) Steve and Audrey."

Damon says he likes his role because "I've never been bored by (Alan). He's capable of being so many things. And I've been fortunate to play a Quartermaine.

"Actually, I was the first Quartermaine," he adds proudly. The wonderfully eccentric family, which was built around Damon after Alan's 1977 entrance, is legendary. It includes father Edward (played by David Lewis), mother Lila (played by Anna Lee) and the nasty Tracy (played by Jane Elliot).

"Here's a grouping of characters that, over the years, no matter what else has gone on, works. They're well-drawn, and the family is steeped in history," Damon says. "In soap operas, relationships are the things that work."

As evidenced by his three Daytime Emmy nominations, Damon is a good dramatic actor. But what makes him a breath of fresh air is the wonderful comic edge with which he has imbued Alan. No one does a comic put-down line better. That talent, Damon says, comes naturally. "Stuart – whom you're talking to – has a very off-the-wall sense of humor. Although Alan is a very straight-laced character, (if) you ask my fellow actors who the craziest actor on the set is, they'll instantly say it's me."

In 1965, Damon starred as the Prince opposite Lesley Ann Warren in a famous TV musical production of Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Cinderella." "I'm old enough to play the King now," Damon jokes. He says he can't figure out why so many baby boomers still so love the production. "It's very strange. I have makeup girls working on ('GH') who say they were 3 or 4 years old (when they saw 'Cinderella'), and they fell in love with me. Now 3- and 4-year-olds are renting the video and are falling in love with me. That's a wonderful, weird feeling.

"People always ask me, 'Does it make you feel funny that "Cinderella" was 30 years ago?' And I always say, 'If you're lucky, you get to be old in this world.' I consider myself to be one lucky guy."

Local Dietitian Among Speakers At Conference

A representative of the Garrett County Health Department recently attended a national conference to speak about the positive progress of an area program.

Ann Sherrard, registered dietitian and coordinator of the Community Outreach and Nutrition programs at the Health Department, was a featured speaker at the Nutritional Education Techniques that Work (NETworks) Conference. The three-day conference, sponsored by the United States Department of Agriculture, Mid-Atlantic Regional Office, and the New Jersey State Department of Health, New Jersey WIC Program, took place in Princeton, N.J. September 16-18.

"I have been working for the Women, Infants, and Children (WIC) program for a total of 10 years," stated Mrs. Sherrard. "My presentation discussed the excellent no-show rates in the Garrett County WIC clinics and the recent national award that was given to the Garrett County Health Department's WIC program."

The WIC clinics' no-show rates are based on the percent of people who receive the services compared to the total percent of people who are qualified to receive the clinic services. Garrett County's Women, Infants, and Children program has a particularly excellent rate as compared to the rest of the state of Maryland WIC programs.

Garrett County's successful program recently received national recognition from the National Association of County Health Officers (NACHO) for its integrated approach to nutrition and health care.

"This was the first conference of this kind with approximately 3000 people attending," stated Mrs. Sherrard. "There were three speakers from Maryland, with one from the state Women, Infants, and Children office in Baltimore."

The conference brought together WIC staff and nutritional representatives from the local, state, and federal levels. Participants attended the conference with the goal of improving the delivery of nutrition education and maximizing the use of available health resources.

March Of Dimes Coloring Contest Now Underway

As part of the recognition of October as Campaign for Healthier Babies' month, the local March of Dimes is conducting its second annual Healthy Birthday Coloring Contest.

Children in kindergarten through grade six are eligible to enter. Coloring sheets and entry forms have been directly mailed to all Reading Champions Promise Club members, but additional forms are available at the March of Dimes office, 111 S. George Street, Cumberland.

Rules are as follow: 1) All pictures must be colored with crayons, colored pencils and/or felt tip markers only; 2) Entrants must put name, school and grade on the back of the picture; 3) There is a $1 entry fee per entry and only one entry per person is permitted. Finished pictures will be displayed during the month of October at Rent America, Braddock Square, LaVale. Judging will take place on Saturday, October 24, at the Creepy Hollow Festival at Braddock Square.

Prizes for three winners in two categories were donated by Garrett National Bank (two $50 savings bonds), First National Bank of Maryland (two $50 savings bonds), Hoblitzell National Bank (two $50 savings bonds) and Fidelity Bank (two $50 savings bonds).

The children entering this contest will be raising money to combat infant mortality, birth defects, and low birthweight, according to a March of Dimes spokesman.

For more information on the Reading Champions program or this coloring contest, persons may call Trish Morgan, director, at 301-722-5818, weekdays.

State Reports Increasing Teacher Supply, Demand

The State Department of Education released a report Tuesday showing relative teacher shortages in special education, foreign languages, mathematics, and science.

Following release of the reports, the State Board of Education declared these subject areas as teacher shortage areas. The action is required by law to direct funds under the Sharon Christa McAuliffe Tuition Assistance Program to teachers who train in the shortage areas.

The Board also declared Baltimore City, Allegany County, and Cecil County as "geographical regions of extraordinary shortage." New teachers who receive assistance under the McAuliffe Tuition Assistance Program receive special consideration if they agree to teach in the geographical areas of shortage.

The report, released at the meeting of the State Board of Education, projects continuing increases in the supply and demand for teachers. The report indicates that a 2,806 new teachers were hired in 1991-92

Apple & Tarragon Salad

A glamorous mold featuring the crisp texture and sweet flavor of autumn fruits.

- 2 envelopes Knox Unflavored Gelatine
- 2 cups white grape juice
- 1-1/2 cups apple juice
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 medium apple, thinly sliced
- 1 cup loosely packed watercress leaves, chopped (optional)
- 1 cup seedless green grapes, halved
- 1/4 cup chopped green onions (about 2 medium)
- 1 tablespoon chopped fresh tarragon
- Grilled or broiled boneless chicken breasts, cut into strips (optional)

In medium saucepan, sprinkle unflavored gelatine over 1 cup grape juice; let stand 1 minute. Stir over low heat until gelatine is completely dissolved, about 5 minutes.

How can I make sure gelatine is dissolved?
Partially dissolved gelatine appears as swollen, opaque granules that tend to collect on the bottom of the bowl, blender or stirring utensil. With further stirring or blending these granules should disappear. When this happens, gelatine is completely dissolved.

With just about everyone watching what they eat these days—even at parties!—entertaining often becomes a bit complex. You need to be aware that someone is on a calorie restricted diet—either to help control a condition such as diabetes, to maintain a reasonable weight or simply to strike a better dietary balance. If you panic at the thought of preparing food for guests on calorie restricted diets, relax. You can create a delicious meal from great beginnings to grand finale with no "special" foods and still give everyone's waistline a break.

You may be surprised to learn that the diet recommended for people with diabetes is the same as the diet recommended for healthy Americans who want to stay that way:

— Eat a variety of foods.
— Eat all foods in moderation to control calories and weight.
— Include adequate amounts of complex carbohydrates and high fiber foods.
— Limit foods high in fats, sugars and sodium.

Sound familiar? It should. The only difference is that people with diabetes frequently need to be more aware of exactly WHEN and HOW MUCH they eat. But the best choices of WHAT to eat are the same for everyone.

So if you or one of your guests is on a special diet, all you need are ingredients like low-fat dairy foods, plenty of fruits and vegetables—plus something unique to take the place of fat, such as Knox Unflavored Gelatine.

Unflavored Gelatine is an all-natural ingredient ideal for the healthier recipes so popular today. It gives a smooth, luscious consistency to many recipes that generally rely on fat and sugar for their creaminess. The result is full, rich indulgent taste with fewer calories and less fat.

Take a glance at the photograph here of an autumn buffet. The recipes are so rich and luscious looking, there's no need to tell guests they're diet dishes—unless they ask.

Overall, these recipes are low enough in fat, cholesterol and calories for both waist-watchers and people with diabetes, yet indulgent taste allows them to be enjoyed by all. Nutrition information and diabetic exchanges are provided for each recipe, making them easy to fit into a restricted meal plan.*

In addition to curbing fat and calories, another ingredient some people are deciding to limit is caffeine. Today you don't need a medical condition in order to be "caffeine conscious." Those who are balancing their lifestyle by keeping fit and eating a better diet sometimes also choose to control caffeine. If you or your guests are concerned about caffeine, a pleasant alternative is Lipton Decaffeinated Tea. As a thoughtful hostess, it's a good idea to give guests a choice.

* Consult your doctor or dietitian for guidance on how and when the recipes may be included in your particular meal plan.

Financial Computer Support, Inc.

Financial Computer Support, Inc. (FCSI) is a computer consulting firm that functions like a computer users' group for financial advisors. FCSI writes and maintains the dbCAMS+ (database Client Asset Management System) software package. This software package is used by financial advisors including financial planners, money managers, small broker/dealers, and insurance agents to manage their whole practice.

This database program gives these professionals instant information on their clients' positions and manages office data effectively. The software supports all advisor functions and the whole administrative operation in a unified and integrated manner. It tracks prospects, clients' assets, insurance, to-do functions, billing, scheduling, and asset prices. It also provides letters, mailmerge, IRS schedules B&D, client billing, labels, financial statements, internal and time weighted rates of return, monthly and quarterly portfolio statements and a variety of other statements.

There are currently 800 financial advising offices with approximately 3,000 employees who manage over eight billion dollars of client funds with dbCAMS+. Clients are located in all the United States, Canada, New Zealand, and Australia. FCSI also provides unlimited consulting support as well as access to an electronic bulletin board and the FCSI Digest, a journal published to provide clients with additional knowledge on computer related subjects.

To ensure the company's growth, a new innovative training method has been planned in conjunction with Garrett Community College. Participants in the class who do well, may be recommended to FCSI for employment consideration.

The company was founded by David Huxford who has an extensive background in insurance and financial planning. In 1981 when Huxford wrote a series of articles on the use of computers in the insurance industry, he received calls from over 1,000 people seeking help. Recognizing the need for this type of support, he started a users' group in 1982 and 52 people joined immediately. The company, known as the Advanced Planners User Group, was located in Huxford's home in Vienna, Virginia, near Washington. It offered training, tutorials and software for financial planners. In 1986, the company's name was changed to Financial Computer Support, Inc. to better describe the services provided. Huxford and his wife, Terry, also moved the company to Garrett County during 1986.

"FCSI STAFF WORK AS SELF MANAGING MEMBERS OF A TEAM," according to Sandy Derato who works as financial manager and technical consultant for FCSI. "Each person here takes on new responsibilities and is given the freedom to make decisions, develop new capabilities, and achieve new growth. I try to support them and help it there's a problem." Pictured above, from left to right, discussing the development of the new FCSI manual, are: Sandy Derato, Beth Ann Dilley and Candy Fontalbert. Mark Vitek, pictured below, is one of the programmers who is now developing the newest version of the dbCAMS+ software due for release in 1993. The new software will make it even easier fo financial advisors to manage their offices and track client assets.

Having grown up in rural Alabama, Huxford always enjoyed living in the country. One night as he tried to view the stars through the Washington haze, he decided he wanted to get back to the country. He and Terry had vacationed in Garrett County and loved the area.

Within two months after making their decision to leave the Washington area they were in a new home with their home based business in place. Since the company communicates with clients by way of telephone, electronic mail, and modem, the Huxfords are able to enjoy the wonderful Garrett County lifestyle while pursuing their careers.

The business still operates out of the lower level of their home that overlooks the lake. The company has grown from three employees prior to leaving Washington to four programmers, eight technical support specialists and three administrative staff members. The lake setting offers employees a unique environment. During their lunch break they sometimes eat on a dock area, play pool, shoot baskets, or enjoy nature walks. While all the current employees like the beautiful office surroundings, they're looking forward to a move in the near future. In November construction will begin on a new 10,000 square foot building to be located in the Southern Industrial Park. This new building will accommodate up to 75 employees. It will also provide a large training room and a conference area as well as the facilities needed to maximize the use of the high level computer hardware used by FCSI.

With a degree from Auburn University and four years of service in the Army that included tours in Vietnam and Germany, Huxford worked in various capacities during 25 years in the insurance industry. While he now devotes most of his time to enhancement of the FCSI services, Huxford continues to function as a consultant and speaks as an invited guest at many industry seminars and conferences. He also writes articles on computers for industry trade journals.

Terry Huxford is the senior programmer for the company. She had over 15 years of experience as a programmer and manager at NCR and Acacia Mutual prior to helping create FCSI. In her current role she maintains the current software and provides support for the programmers working on the new version of dbCAMS+.

Huxford's management philosophy is as innovative as his software. He believes in hiring "highly competent people, giving them structure and support, and letting them run" in a self-directed fashion. He tries to state the problems as best he can and then lets his employees solve them. This approach is based on his philosophy that we support what we create and that staff members will take ownership of ideas that they have helped formulate. This sense of ownership enables his employees to be entrepreneurial in their approach to the company and they are always thinking about the best ways to strengthen the business.

While he recognizes that it takes more time to use this participative management style, Huxford strongly contends that "if you use a dictatorial management style, you lose the thinking capability of your employees. The job gets done better when people enjoy doing it. When you can use a team approach where you maximize strengths to shore up weaknesses everyone is happier, the stress level goes down, and your company benefits."

He believes though that no one is "bullet proof" and that everyone makes mistakes. Huxford expects them to make mistakes and says that if they're not making mistakes, they're not doing the job. It's only when employees wear "bullet proof vests" and try to cover up their mistakes that he finds it impossible to work with them. "We all have weaknesses and my job as a manager is to help folks shore up their weaknesses," he states. "I can't do this when a person covers up his weaknesses. If I can't provide resources to help a person, that person will fail and the company is not going to get the results it needs to be successful."

He also feels that training is critical to the company's success. FCSI employees must learn a huge body of knowledge before they can be really effective on the job and this takes a long time. In addition to developing computer skills, they must learn about the financial planning area. This type of learning is ongoing and even with his years of experience, Huxford believes he is still learning. At least half an hour of each workday is devoted to training. In addition to the on-the-job training employees are encouraged to study to pass Certified Financial Planner exams.

Sandy Derato, a financial manager and technical consultant for FCSI, is a great example of how effectively Huxford's management philosophy works. After completing her degree at Frostburg State University in 1987, she went to work at FCSI in an administrative role. Since then she has taken on increasingly challenging responsibilities and is now responsible for hiring and managing the technical staff as well as overseeing shipping, processing, bookkeeping, membership services, and marketing. Derato loves working at the company and appreciates the opportunity for growth she has experienced with FCSI. "I started out having no knowledge of this field and very little self confidence," Derato explains. "Now I feel I could go out there and do any job in terms of managing people or money."

Derato also believes strongly in the value of continuing to grow and improve through training. Last year she was one of seven FCSI employees who participated in training outside the company to strengthen their skills. Following participation in management training courses in the Continuing Education Division at Garrett Community College, she completely restructured the company hiring processes. She then wrote an FCSI Digest article about these processes so that clients could benefit from this new type of company expertise.

Candy Fontalbert, one of the technical support specialists, reflects the feelings of most of the FCSI employees when she explains, "I feel that liking what I do makes a real difference. Each one of us really contributes here. Dave and Sandy make you feel you're an important part of the company. I can't imagine wanting to work anywhere else in the county."

As a technical support person Fontalbert provides help when clients call with questions that enable them to fully utilize the many functions of dbCAMS+. Technical support staff also do occasional testing of new software, make design suggestions, and are currently writing a manual. They are encouraged to write training articles for the FCSI Digest.

One real concern for FCSI has been the limited availability of qualified applicants to fill job openings created by increasing growth needs. The company anticipates hiring up to 80 people in the next two years. While an ideal employee has a background in securities, Huxford recognizes that he is not likely to find many with this qualification in Garrett County so he supports extensive on-the-job training. In discussing the need for new employees, Huxford states: "We need new employees who will look upon this position as more than just a job. We need people who want a career and are willing to expend extra effort. They also need to understand the importance of learning."

"The Maryland Hay and Straw Directory helps agricultural businesses in our state. I urge hay and straw producers to list themselves in this directory to increase business contacts," said Governor William Donald Schaefer.

Farmers may request an application to be listed in the directory by calling or writing: The Maryland Hay and Straw Directory, Maryland Department of Agriculture, Marketing Services, 50 Harry S. Truman Parkway, Annapolis, MD 21401; 1-800-492-5590 (Mon.-Fri. 8-4:30).

Milk Marketing, Inc. To Hold District Meeting In Aurora

Milk Marketing, Inc., (MMI) invites area dairy producers to attend its annual fall district meeting on Wednesday, October 21. The 7:30 p.m. meeting MMI District 3, Local 3 is being held at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Aurora, W.Va. Milk prices, production trends, co-op activities and direction for 1992 top the business meeting agenda.

"Our theme this fall is 'MMI...we're changing together,'" says Don Schriver, MMI general manager. "It's at this meeting that we have the chance to review the changing events affecting our organization, discuss their outcomes and ask our members, 'how can we do a better job next year,' That's why member participation is critical to the process."

Following the management presentation, MMI Director Tom Croner, Berlin, Pa., will review the board and other industry activities.

MMI is a 6,000 member dairy farmer owned cooperative encompassing an eight state midwestern area including Ohio, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Michigan, New York, Kentucky, Maryland and West Virginia. Last year MMI marketed more than 3.9 billion pounds or 453.22 million gallons of milk.

Now Is Time To Estimate Silage, Grain Production

by Joe Hatton

Fall is upon us, which means it's harvest time. Harvesting of corn for silage is the most common practice on dairy and some beef cattle farms in this area. This is also the time of year when we need to determine our corn production. Estimating silage production or grain production is an important basis for future management decisions.

Corn producers in the Preston County area have experienced the benefits of the Nitrate-Quick Test to save nitrogen fertilizer. Research has shown a direct correlation between the amount of nitrogen and the production of corn. Therefore, corn producers need to have realistic yield goal expectations and base nitrogen fertilizer application rates accordingly.

There are several different methods of evaluating corn production. Weighing the individual silage wagons and counting the number of loads per field is an excellent method, but most corn silage producers don't have access to scales large enough to weigh wagons. Another method determines yields for either silage or corn grain production. This method uses 1/1000 acre plots within a field to provide yield data. For silage, all corn plants within the 1/1000 acre plot are cut and weighed. Several plots are taken within each field.

If you are interested in determining your corn production and need assistance, contact Joe Hatton, NPS Environmental Specialist, c/o SCS, 300 Tunnelton St., Kingwood, WV or phone (304) 329-1922.

Fancy Food Show Successful For Maryland Companies

Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Robert L. Walker has announced that the four Maryland companies that participated in the 38th Annual International Fancy Food and Confection Show in Washington, D.C., in July reported making numerous contacts resulting in important sales. The four companies that were part of the "Maryland With Pride" display at the show were Kim's Khocolates, of Cumberland; Hunt Cup, Ltd.; Mrs. Minnick's Salads, Inc.; and The Olive Company.

"These companies reported numerous new sale accounts in both domestic and international markets. They all stated that Governor William Donald Schaefer's "Maryland With Pride" program is an excellent marketing tool that continues to pay dividends in sale results," said Walker.

"Maryland companies and businesses have a lot to offer. In many cases they are leaders in their respective fields. I am pleased that people around the country and the world are learning about the fantastic products that come from our great state," said Governor Schaefer.

In addition to the new sales accounts, each of the Maryland companies in the show was featured in the Show Directory. Kim's Khocolates was highlighted on the local evening news of Washington, D.C. TV station, Channel 7, giving the small Cumberland company broad regional exposure. The Olive Company was part of the USA Today front page article on the show.

The Fancy Food show attracted some 30,000 buyers. There were more than 1,000 exhibitors representing 20,000 of the world's finest specialty foods.

Corn Drying Slowly In Warmer Areas Of Maryland

By October 5 the end of the summer growing season was near. Corn was in good condition with silage harvest active and farmers waiting for grain moisture levels low enough to harvest. Soybeans were shedding leaves but almost none have been combined.

An average of 5.0 days was suitable for fieldwork during the week ending October 4, according to the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service. Across the state, 84 percent of the topsoil had adequate moisture and 16 percent had surplus moisture. Subsoil moisture was short in six percent of Maryland, while 83 percent had adequate moisture and 11 percent had a surplus.

Soybeans were in mostly good condition and many were shedding leaves. Sorghum was in good condition across the state and most of the crop was mature. Pastures were in excellent condition, with adequate hay supplies. Cattle are expected to continue to graze on pastures as long as temperatures remain mild. Apples were being harvested from about half the orchards. Small grain seeding was active in western areas but slight elsewhere, awaiting field preparation.

Maryland's progress for the week ending October 4 was as follows, listing the item, this year's percentage, last year's percentage and a percentage for the 5-year average.

Soybeans turning: 65, 85, 71; shedding leaves, 41, 62, 45. Corn mature: 75, 98, 87; grain harvested, 15, 52, 48; silage harvested, 61, 94, 89. Sorghum mature, 89, 88, N/A; harvested, 1, 19, N/A. Hay harvested: Alfalfa, fourth cutting, 75, 67, 64; other, fourth cutting, 28, 15, 21. Apples harvested, 52, 64, 64.

N/A: Not available.

WEATHER

Maryland weather for the week ending October 2 was slightly cooler than normal with moderate to heavy precipitation. Precipitation averaged 0.98 inch, ranging from 0.09 at Patuxent and 1.90 inches at Bel Air. Regional averages were: western, 0.82; north central, 1.15; southern Maryland west of the Bay, 0.22; and Eastern Shore, 1.36 inches. Temperatures averaged 60.2 degrees, 2.0 degrees below the normal of 62.2 degrees for the September 24-October 2 period. Minimum temperatures were mostly in the 30's and 40's. Maximum temperatures were mostly in the 70's.

Farm Bureau Says Group's Anti-Milk Allegations Are Unfair

A statement last week by an activist group calling for less milk consumption by children was sharply criticized by the American Farm Bureau Federation.

The Physicians Committee for Responsible Medicine, a Washington, D.C.-based group representing less than one percent of the nation's medical doctors, called for parents to be "alerted to the potential risks to their children from cow's milk products" and said milk should not be required or recommended in government guidelines. The group alleged that cow's milk is a contributing factor in development of juvenile diabetes and could possibly cause allergies and digestive problems.

"The American public is ill-served by an organizational pursuing its own agenda in the name of medical science," said AFBF President Dean Kleckner. "The group is influenced by individuals promoting animal right and vegetarianism."

A number of pediatric experts were quick to question the group's report, and disagreed with many of its recommendations.

Dr. Ronald Kleinman of the American Academy of Pediatrics said the PCRM report is "unnecessarily frightening parents who worry that they will do harm if they continue to allow their children to have dairy products."

The American Medical Association and the Center for Science in the Public Interest also questioned the report, and a Juvenile Diabetes Foundation spokesperson said "it is much too premature to make recommendations on dietary restrictions."

"Milk has always been a part of a well-balanced diet," said Kleckner. "This report contains no credible information that should encourage children's dietary patterns to be altered. Discouraging milk consumption, especially during the important growth years, will mean many children will lack key vitamins, minerals and proteins."

He said it is unrealistic to expect that a child's daily requirement for calcium and phosphorous can adequately be met by vegetables, as the group recommends.

"Children between the ages of 1 and 10 require 800 milligrams of calcium and phosphorous daily to meet their minimum nutrient requirements," Kleckner said. "Drinking as little as three glasses of milk allows children to meet this daily requirement. They'd have to consume up to 10 cups of fresh broccoli or kale daily to meet the same requirement.

"We realize that a very small percentage of the population experiences allergy problems due to milk consumption. It's important that these special needs are understood, but let's not deny the benefits of milk to the rest of the population.

"The public has been overburdened with food scares. It's time we get back to dealing with widely held medical facts, not the views of a few dissidents," Kleckner said.

Crop Notes

• The frost stops the corn right in its "tracks." If you did not receive a copy of my newsletter on Management Tips for Early Frosted Corn, call my office for a copy. If you need on-farm assistance, give me a call, 334-1990.

• With the recent frosts I'm sure that most alfalfa plants are moving into dormancy; therefore, it would be safe to harvest without hurting the stand. Cut a little higher than normal.

• I have a good moisture meter to check the moisture level in grains. If you're bringing corn in to be checked, bring about six ears that represent the stand.

President Signs The Break-In Bill Into Law

This new law establishes new penalties against acts of violence committed against farmers and biomedical researchers in the name of animal rights. The bill also provides protection to livestock exhibitions, rodeos and zoos. Anyone who physically disrupts an animal enterprise by intentionally stealing, damaging or causing a loss of property, including animals and records could be sent to prison.

A Good Image Is Hard To Change

by Conrad Arnold,
Extension Agent 4-H,
Dorchester Co, Md.

Images are funny things. Corporations, organizations, politicians -- I guess most everyone strives to build a good image. It's not always an easy task! Perhaps more difficult yet, is the task of trying to change an image, even a good one.

Most people have heard of 4-H, the youth organization. The boy leading the beef steer into the show ring or the girl bent over the sewing machine, or even the nice kids who work all summer growing a family vegetable garden.

Yes, this is 4-H. This is an image! But 4-H today is far more than this to millions of young people.

Just ask 4-H'ers living in Baltimore City, Washington D.C., or Philadelphia what 4-H is all about, and you'll see another image. Look at their projects in woodworking, photography, learn & earn, and computers. See what they're doing and learning about consumer buying, community service, recycling, and nutrition. See how members learn lifetime skills in decision-making, improving self-concept, concern for community and environment, creativity & curiosity, and learning to relate to themselves and others.

Four-H'ers are doing all these things, and more! But how do you change the image? Even the 4-H'er leading the beef steer, although still a very important part of the 4-H program, is not a true and complete image. That 4-H'er now learns more than feeding and showmanship. The member now has the opportunity to learn the scientific aspects of livestock feeding, veterinary science, management practices, and the importance of good marketing. Those experiences and skills will have value to the 4-H'er even if there is no farming in their personal future.

The broadening of the 4-H program, making it more available and appealing to all youth between the ages of 8 and 18, regardless of where they live, has resulted in a more diverse program and membership. Where do today's 4-H members live? Fourteen percent live on farms, 38% in communities having populations under 10,000, 18% in town and cities with populations of 10,000 to 50,000, 10% live in suburbs of large cities, and 20% live in large cities (50,000 plus population). Interesting too is the fact that 53% of 4-H members are girls and 47% are boys. In keeping with the fact that 4-H membership is open to all youth, 23% of 4-H members are from minority racial-ethnic groups.

Does 4-H need an image change? You bet is does! From a good image of a rural youth organization, to a good image of a program with great opportunities for all youth no matter where they live! You too can help 4-H change their image, by simply helping to tell today's 4-H story. Four-H is a very effective prevention education program because it enhances critical life skills, provides positive alternatives to self-destructive behaviors, and offers a supportive social environment in which parents and children can interact.

The mission of Maryland 4-H is to educate youth and adults to live in a global world through an experiential program using the resources of the University of Maryland System and the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Four-H is an integral part of the Cooperative Extension Service. The Cooperative Extension Service, University of Maryland System is a statewide educational organization funded by federal, state, and local governments that bring research based knowledge directly to individuals, families, and communities.

Four-H is looking for ways to expand in your community. If you have the interest and the time to devote to working with youth as a 4-H volunteer, contact your local 4-H club leader or phone the Garrett County Extension Office at 334-1990. You'll be glad you and your family became a part of today's 4-H story!

Producer Gets Little Of Apple Juice Dollar

When a consumer goes through the supermarket and pays over $1 a pound for apples, he or she may not even stop to wonder how much the producer of that apple got for it when it left his farm. Even more remote would be the question of how much the producer gets for apples that are made into juice or sauce.

While grower prices for fresh apples are good (between 20 and 30 cents a pound this year, depending on variety and location) prices for juice apples are measured in pennies, says Scott Rawlins, director of the American Farm Bureau Federation's horticulture department.

United States processors will peel, cut and squeeze about 104 million bushels of apples in 1992. That's over 4 billion pounds. Apples used for juice make up more than half of that total.

By comparison, about 114 million bushels of apples will be sold to the fresh market in the United States this year. Another 22 million bushels will be exported, mostly as fresh apples.

In 1991, processors pressed 53 million bushels of domestic apples. But apple juice is a blend of domestic apples and imported apple juice concentrate. In 1991, processors imported apple juice concentrate equivalent to 62 million bushels of apples, so foreign-grown apples make up more than half of the apple juice we drink, according to Rawlins. The four biggest apple exporters are France, Hungary, Chile and Argentina.

This fall, processors have told growers they will pay only 4½ cents a pound for juice apples. That is about $1.90 for a 42 pound bushel, for less than the cost to grow, pick and maintain the orchard. Last year, growers received as much as 12 cents for a pound of juice apples. Prices this year must be much lower, processors say, citing lower prices for imported apple juice concentrate. This year it is estimated that apple juice concentrate equivalent to 72 million bushels of apples will be imported.

One bushel of apples will produce four gallons of juice, which means, at a price of $1.90 per bushel, the growers return per gallon of juice would be 47.5 cents.

Prices for apples used in applesauce are also low, with most prices not even reaching 10 cents per pound. With fewer than 30 major apple processors in the United States, the ratio of growers to processors, or sellers to buyers, is 700 to 1, Rawlins said.

"This may be why it is so difficult to negotiate higher prices for apple growers," added Rawlins.

GCMH Medical Records Staff Notes Observance

Garrett County Memorial Hospital's Medical Record Department held several departmental activities from September 28 through October 3 in recognition of National Health Information Management Week.

In addition to having a clean-up day, the Medical Record staff recognized various hospital departments and the medical staff for providing the support necessary to enable the Medical Record Department to attain specific goals throughout the past year.

Under the direction of Joy Moore, A.R.T., the current Medical Record Department is staffed by: Linda White, A.R.T., assistant director of Medical Records; Kimberly Bender, Beverly Greaser Juanita Hudgens and Zanea Mullenax, transcriptionists; Julie Gibson, A.R.T., data Analyst; Pamela Humberson, Irene Mersing and Becky Knox, clerks; and Kathie Lewis, correspondence clerk.

One of the major responsibilities of the Medical Record Department is the release of patient information to patients, health care providers, third party payors and legal parties. "Patient confidentiality is of primary concern to the Medical Record Staff. We take great steps to insure that patient information is not released without the consent of the patient and that information is released only in accordance with the Maryland state laws," Moore stated.

Moore credits the "hard work" of her staff for increasing the overall efficiency of the Medical Record Department. The many functions of the department include: completion of birth certificates; assembly of patient records; review of records for completeness of documentation as well as obtaining the necessary documentation as specified by JCAHO, federal and state regulatory agencies and Garrett Memorial; assignment of ICD-9 and CPT codes to obtain accurate reimbursement; transcription of dictated reports; data retrieval; filing of records into the permanent file and answering chart requests.

"There is a real shortage of qualified medical record professionals in the United States," Moore said. "If an individual is interested in pursuing the health profession but does not want to work directly with patients, the Medical Record profession can provide that individual with a challenging and rewarding health career."

Medical records are used in providing documentation of the events of a patient's stay while in the hospital to assist in providing quality patient care. Records are also used in research, education of health care providers, various public health studies, legal affairs, and quality review.

Pipers To Pipe At St. John's

Autumn Glory visitors and local residents are invited for a special service at St. John's Episcopal Church, Deer Park, featuring the Garrett Community College Bagpipe Band, on Sunday, October 11, at 10:30 a.m.

The band will play for the grand entrance at the beginning of the service and for the procession from the church afterwards. A pipe solo of "Amazing Grace" will be presented in the course of the liturgy.

The band will present a concert on the grounds, weather permitting, and refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the service.

St. John's is located along Route 135 in Deer Park, one-half mile east on Sand Flat Road.

National 4-H Week To Be Celebrated By Millions

Millions of 4-H members across America will celebrate National 4-H Week October 4-10. Four-H'ers from Garrett County will celebrate by placing window displays and banners recruiting new members and club projects in support of the Autumn Glory celebration.

Four-H is the largest youth organization in the United States with more than five million members including 34,000 in Maryland.

Four-H began more than 75 years ago as an educational program to help rural young people learn agricultural production and home arts skills. Today, 4-H is everywhere and has something for just about everyone. The organization can be enjoyed by 4-H members wherever they live and regardless of their race, color, sex, nationality, religion or handicap or income level.

Four-H is a good choice for those with limited time or resources. Most 4-H clubs meet once each month. There are no registration fees or uniforms, and if a club collects dues, the amount is small. Nearly half of all U.S. 4-H members live in cities and towns. Agriculture is still an important part of 4-H but the program has grown to serve the needs of urban and suburban members as well.

Four-H has evolved over the years, but the purpose of the program remains basically the same: to help young people become self confident, caring and responsible adults. Most 4-H activities help members learn "life skills" including leadership, community involvement, decision making, public speaking and learning to work in a group to accomplish a goal.

The traditional 4-H Club is the best known part of 4-H, but there are several other ways young people participate, including special interest project groups, 4-H camp, special interest camps and independent study.

The heart of 4-H has always been and continues to be volunteer leaders. More than 5600 dedicated teens and adults from all walks of life provide leadership to the Maryland 4-H Program with the help of 32 county 4-H agents and Extension assistants. New volunteers are always welcome. Four-H has a rewarding job for anyone regardless of their skills or the amount of time they have to give.

Four-H offers young people a positive alternative while exposing them to good teen and adult role models who make learning fun. To find out more about 4-H, those interested may call the Garrett County Extension Office at 334-1990. Four-H is sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service of the Maryland Institute for Agriculture and Natural Resources, University of Maryland System, and its programs are open to all citizens without regard to race, color, sex, handicap, religion, age or national origin.

tions they look for in employees, Mrs. Huxford explains, "A degree can be helpful because it adds polish but it isn't essential. Strong assertive communication skills are vital because we spend our days communicating with educated clients from all over the country. Strong math skills are also helpful for programmers. Those who are musically talented often do well here. We need employees who can make mental leaps and grasp concepts quickly. They need to be able to relate well to detail work but also be able to conceptualize the overall task. Being friendly, and a team player is also important."

The company wants to employ more local community members in the future. FCSI is now working with The Garrett Community College Job Placement Center to design screening processes to help identify prospective employees. Sandy Major, who heads the business training area for Continuing Education at GCC is helping FCSI develop a one week training class focusing on database software and financial planning. This class which will be offered on a periodic basis starting in November is designed to give local community members an opportunity to develop skills in these areas.

Those who demonstrate strong skills during this class will be encouraged to pursue work opportunities with FCSI in the future. Major believes that in an area where jobs are hard to find, FCSI provides professional jobs. "I believe that each person feels he or she plays an important role here," she explains. "You make your own decisions and develop new capabilities and have great potential for growth. You are being given responsibility and the freedom to be your own manager. You're constantly learning new things."

Rapid business expansion is anticipated in the future because of the unrivaled position of the business. Software dbCAMS+ is unique in that it offers functions that are not available through any other financial planning software.

Huxford's comprehensive knowledge of the business and his ability to seek input from customers regarding their needs enable him to design products that are responsive to the needs of the users. In 1993 a new version of dbCAMS+ will be released that will be the first financial planning software using Windows. It will offer many new functions and be more user friendly than the current version since it will be written in Fox Pro.

In addition to anticipating changes related to the new building, Derato looks forward to FCSI increasing its level of expertise in financial planning in order to develop and offer new products.

Mrs. Huxford sees the company having a more solid programming staff in coming years in order to provide the customized programs that people need. The staff members of FCSI as well as Garrett County are positively impacted by the company. "Our teaching makes each of our employees a valuable commodity with valuable skills that can be used in any part of the country," Huxford states. "My objective is to have our staff members gain this expertise not only because it is valuable to the company but so they can stand on their own two feet and be economically independent."

In addition to employing 15 people, FCSI currently does business with a number of local vendors to provide services for customers who are outside the county. This means the company brings new money into the county and this will become even more important to economic development as the company grows. Fontalbert reflects the feelings of other FCSI staff members when she explains, "I'm excited about the growth that the company will be experiencing. I believe that by creating new jobs in Garrett County FCSI can be of real service to the community and that's very important."

Local Realty Co. Sponsoring Home Fire Safety Week

Since approximately 80 percent of all fire fatalities occur in the home, Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty, in cooperation with the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department, is participating in Coldwell Banker "Be Fire Safe! It Starts at Home" week running simultaneously with National Fire Prevention Week, October 4-10.

Coldwell Banker sales associates have invited Garrett County elementary schools to participate in a "Be Fire Safe!" coloring contest. Participating teachers were given fire safety tips to share with the children in their classes. Winners of the coloring contest will be announced Thursday night prior to the Firemen's Parade.

"Home fire statistics released by the National Fire Protection Association (NFPA) show that approximately 5,000 people die each year from home fires and most could have been prevented," says Ann Smith, sales associate at Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty. "We're reminding homeowners to have an escape plan and follow it, keep smoke detectors maintained properly, and keep all exits to your home clear to stop these unnecessary accidents from happening."

Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty is located in the McHenry Plaza on Rt. 219. More information about "Be Fire Safe! It Starts at Home" week, may be obtained by calling 387-5303. Coldwell Banker has nearly 2,000 residential real estate offices and more than 42,000 sales associates in North America, and is a member of the Sears Financial Network.

The Junior Woman's Civic Club met October 1 at Western Trails for a hayride and campfire. Inducted into the club as new members were Alison Hudson and Sammie Hudson. Guests at the meeting were Sherry Gosnell and Adrienne Powers.

During the business meeting a donation check was prepared for the Garrett County Memorial Hospital, which represents the club's final installment of a four-year commitment to the hospital. The club also decided to make a donation to the Country Dinner to be held by the Southern Girls' Basketball Team. A financial report and update regarding the success of the Pizza Shack and the Mini-Bucks Bingo games held recently was presented.

Also discussed were preparations for the annual spaghetti dinner to benefit Garrett County Hospice. The dinner will be held November 7 from 4 until 8 p.m. at the Oakland fire hall. 50-50 tickets are currently on sale and the winner will be announced at the dinner. Tickets for both the dinner and the 50-50 drawing may be obtained in advance from any JWCC member or at the door the evening of the dinner.

Education Comm. Provides Gloomy Financial Report

Higher education will require approximately $989 million from the state next fiscal year, but the state will only be able to spend about $760 million. By fiscal 1998, that annual "deficit" will have grown to $540 million, according to a report prepared for the Maryland Higher Education Commission.

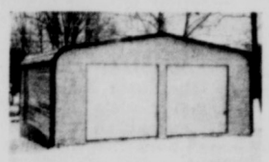
"There is few alternatives and sacrificing the quality of higher education in Maryland is not one of them" said Shaila R. Aery, the Secretary of High Education.

"Even a cursory look at general fund support for higher education in the coming years shows that projected need will outstrip projected funding," Aery wrote in the report, which was presented to the Commission on Tuesday.

The report compares predicted revenue growth with projected increases in higher education funding necessary for campuses to fulfill their basic missions and concludes that the annual shortfall will average 30 percent during the next five years.

The projected higher education budgets do not include enhancements intended to upgrade state institutions, nor do they take into account capital construction.

The report listed cost containment measures, originally discussed by the Commission in 1991, that might be considered as ways to maintain quality and access to higher education. They include:



- Merger, consolidation or closure of institutions
- Increased collaboration among institutions
- Joint ventures and shared academic program offerings
- Privatization
- Reallocation of campus budgets to high priority programs
- Increased workload for faculty and staff
- Early retirement programs
- Increased class size; minimum enrollment for courses
- Tuition and fee increases for out-of-state undergraduates
- Comprehensive transfer of credit between two-year and four-year institutions
- Local taxing authority for community colleges
- Funding for private institutions based on enrollment of Maryland students only

While the report requires no action by the Commission, it will serve as the basis for revision of the statewide plan for postsecondary education. It will also be taken into account in the review of campus mission statements and Commission budget reductions.

The case of the week for the Garrett County Crime Solvers concerns the breaking and entering of the William Corbin residence located on Rt. 50 near Table Rock. The responsible persons apparently forced entry into the home on August 25-26 and removed jewelry and other household items with a total value of $2,865.

All leads in this case have been exhausted and Crime Solvers is seeking assistance in solving the crime. Persons with information about this or any other unsolved crime are urged to contact Crime Solvers at 334-1975. Callers do not have to give their names nor appear in court. Rewards up to $1,000 are available to persons who provide tips that lead to arrests.

Third Sierra Club Hike To Be Held At Green Ridge

The third in the Take-A-Hike series sponsored by the Western Maryland Group of the Sierra Club will be held this Saturday, October 11.

Hikers will assemble at the forest headquarters, just off I-68 East of Flintstone, at 10 a.m. The hike will be led by Glen Besa of the Sierra Club and Francis Zumbrun of Green Ridge State Forest.

According to Besa, each of the first two hikes has brought out a number of residents who are interested in sturdy, interesting, but non-strenuous, hikes. Hikers have been of all ages, including one octogenarian. Each hike has taken about two hours of moderately brisk walking, and the Green Ridge hike will be similar, Besa said.

Beginning at the forest headquarters, the four-mile circuit hike will include views of a shale barren, crossing a swinging bridge over Fifteen Mile Creek, and passage through a mixed dark hickory forest characteristic of the area. Hikers should bring a lunch, but drinks will be provided by the Sierra Club.

A limited number of Take-A-Hike T-shirts will be given away just before the hike begins on a first-come, first-served basis. T-shirts won through a contest in August by the Country Club Mall and the Sierra Club will also be awarded.

The local Sierra Club chapter has been celebrating its centenary with a quartet of Saturday hikes focusing on local state forests and the C&O Canal. The first hike was on the towpath of the canal, and last week's was in the Savage River State Forest. The last of the Series, on October 17, will be in Potomac/Garrett State Forest.

For further information, persons may call Glen Besa at (301) 777-7317 or Fred Bolton at (301) 895-5881.

Camp Hickory Hosts Another PLT Workshop

Camp Hickory Environmental Education Center, located near Northern High School, was again the site for the third Project Learning Tree Workshop to be held in Garrett County. The Workshop was made available to Garrett County elementary school teachers through funds provided by the Garrett County Forest Conservancy board.

Project Learning Tree (PLT) is an award-winning environmental program, which is a source of instructional activities for all subjects in grades K-12, that helps to generate awareness of the environment and prepares students to make wise decisions about conservation practices and resource use.

Using the "forest as a window" into the natural world, PLT helps young people gain an awareness and knowledge of the world around them, as well as their place within it, according to a Board of Education spokesman.

The six-hour workshop was held on October 3. Facilitators for the workshop were Karin Miller, environmental educator, Allegany/Garrett counties; Alice Hevner, Cooperative Extension agent for Garrett County; and Ann Wellham, director of health, physical education, and athletics at Garrett Community College.

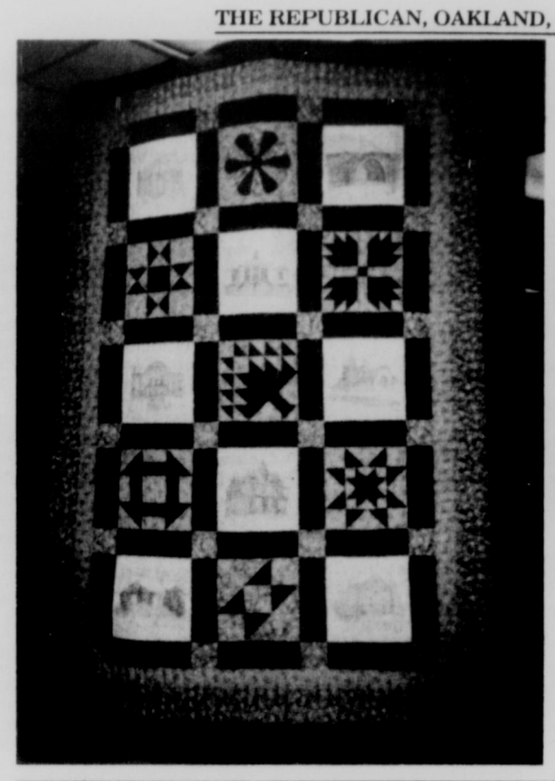
Participants in the workshop learned of PLT's history, principles, and goals. The teachers spent most of the day participating in a wide selection of activities from the PLT manual and learning how to adapt PLT activities for use in their classrooms.

Those participating in the workshop were: Donna Hinebaugh, Accident Elementary; Kim Buckel, Crellin Elementary; Dianne Anderson, Friendsville Elementary; Cheryl Smith, Dennett Road Elementary; Carol Warnick, Grantsville Elementary; Amy Thomas and Karen Thrasher, Red House Elementary; Judy McKenzie and Betty Smith, Route 40 Elementary; Sharon Hoover, Hickory Staff; Tracey Feather and Heather Shepherd, GCC students.

For further information about Project Learning Tree or to schedule a workshop, persons may contact Wade Dorsey at (301) 334-3296.

FOR A DECADE OF VOLUNTEER SERVICE, Irene Diller was honored recently by the Goodwill Mennonite Home in Grantsville. Her husband, Henry Diller, administrator of the home, presented her with an engraved pen set. Mrs. Diller is also involved with other community affairs, including Hospice, Habitat for Humanity, and serving on several boards of directors.

Arts Council To Raffle Garrett County Sampler



One of the highlights of the Garrett County Arts Council's Heritage Craft Fest during Autumn Glory on October 10 and 11 will be the raffling of a queen-sized "Garrett County Sampler" quilt.

Eight of the blocks are individually machine embroidered and include: Mercy Chapel, an eight-sided church in Central European style, built in 1876, and still used today; the Garret County Courthouse as it was built in 1907, a renaissance revival style typical of the turn of the century; The Log Church, or Our Father's House, built in the 1930's and now a mission of St. John's Episcopal Church; the Oakland Post Office; the McComas House, with Victorian architecture representing many of the homes built at the turn of the century; Casselman Bridge, built in 1814 to carry traffic on the National Road and at that time was the largest single span stone arch bridge in the country; Oakland's B&O railroad station which was probably completed in 1885; and a picturesque bowed barn located along Mayhew Inn Road.

The quilt, done in white and shades of Williamsburg blue, was designed by Marcette Danner, chairperson of the Heritage Craft Fest. Karin Rodeheaver was the quilter and Michelle Zollner was machine embroiderer. Dorothy Leighton and Charlotte Sebold assisted the chairperson.

The Garrett County Sampler will be displayed at the Arts Council's Heritage Craft Fest, October 10 and 11, at Broad Ford Elementary School, Broadford Road. Tickets may be purchased -- $1 each or six for $5 -- at the Heritage Craft Fest. The drawing will be held Sunday at 3:30 p.m.

The project is supported in part by a grant from the Maryland State Arts Council. The local council is an affiliate of the state council and is a non-profit organization developed to promote the Arts in Garrett County. Ronald K. Skidmore, assistant professor of art at Garrett Community College, is president of the Garrett County Arts Council.

GARRETT COUNTY SAMPLER TO BE RAFFLED – A white and shades of Williamsburg blue quilt featuring a sampling of eight Garrett County sites will be raffled during the Garrett County Arts Council's Heritage Craft Fest at Autumn Glory October 10 and 11. The drawing will be held at 3:30 p.m. on October 11. The quilt is pictured above left and was designed by Marcette Danner, the Heritage Craft Festival chairperson assisted by Dorothy Leighton and Charlotte Sebold; Karin Rodeheaver, quilter; and Michelle Zollner embroider. Pictured above right is one of the quilt blocks depicting the Casselman Bridge in Grantsville, one of the squares on the quilt.

Maryland Student Legislature To Convene At GCC

The first meeting in the 1992-93 legislative year of the Interim Council of the Maryland Student Legislature is scheduled for October 10-11 at Garrett Community College, McHenry. Delegates from eight Maryland colleges will attend the sessions in the college auditorium, from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. each day, according to Nathan Blatchley, chairman of the Garrett Community College delegation. The sessions are open to the public.

The Maryland Student Legislature is a mock government consisting of delegations from Maryland colleges who meet several times each semester to present resolutions, debate, and pass on legislation as a student General Assembly. As Blatchley points out, "The MSL is a training ground for leaders of tomorrow."

Delegations attending the Interim Council next weekend will come from University of Maryland at College Park, Johns Hopkins University, Notre Dame, Baltimore Community College, Anne Arundel Community College, Prince George's Community College, Frostburg State University and GCC.

Other members of the GCC delegation are Nathan Robinson, Heather Graham, Dawn Friend, Tim Foster, Jacqueline Petr, and Sean Groves. Anna Maria Williamson serves as faculty advisor to the group.

Another project currently being planned by the GCC delegation is a mock presidential debate set for Thursday, October 15, during the noon hour in the cafeteria. In this debate, Blatchley will portray Bill Clinton, Tim Foster will play the role of George Bush and a yet unnamed student will portray Ross Perot.

Underground Mining Course Offered At GCC

Sessions will be held Monday through Thursday, 6 to 10:15 p.m., for five weeks at the McHenry Campus of the College. There will be a limit of 20 students for the course.

Students will review general orientation to mining, safety, ventilation, roof and rib control, equipment, electricity, gases, and detection, fires, explosions, first aid and miners' rights and responsibilities. Upon completion of the course the student should have received necessary instruction to challenge a test to satisfy West Virginia and/or Maryland require ments.

The tuition for the course will be $225 plus a $3 registration fee for Garrett County residents. A differential will be charged for out-of-county and out-of-state residents. For additional information, persons may contact the Continuing Education Division at (301) 387-6666, ext. 170.

GCC To Offer First Aid Course

A Standard First Aid course will be offered by the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College. The class will meet for three sessions: beginning October 14, October 19, and October 21, from 6 to 9:15 p.m.

This course will provide the student with the standard techniques of first aid and adult CPR. Certification is provided through the American Red Cross.

The tuition for this course is $37, which includes text, materials and certification card. A $3 registration fee will also be assessed. Out-of-county and out-of-state residents will be charged a differential fee. Pre-registration is advised since enrollment is limited.

For additional information and registration, persons may call the Continuing Education Division at 387-6666, ext. 169.

Parents Invited To Have Lunch At Local Schools

The Garrett County Board of Education, Food Service Department, will be observing the National School Lunch Week October 12-16, according to Richard Buckingham, food service director. "This is a good opportunity to focus students' and parents' attention on the relationship between nutrition, health, and fitness," Buckingham said.

Parents who have youngsters attending school in Garrett County are invited to have lunch with their children any day during this National School Lunch Week. The Food Service Department requests that each parent intending to participate notify the school office of the day he/she plans to visit. Several schools have food catered, and the number of meals served are called to the preparing kitchen each day. In those schools, unless notification is given, the number of meals requested could fall below those needed.

The charge for adults is $2.50. Pre-school children will be charged the same amount as students.

Those who have any questions may call the school office.

Cancer Society Program Slated At Hospital

Cancer treatment, nutrition, body image and sexuality are among the many topics covered in the American Cancer Society education program for cancer patients and their families, "I Can Cope."

According to an ACS spokesman, the program seeks to help participants deal with the disease and take an active role in their own health care. The course will be offered at the Garrett County Memorial Hospital board room on Monday, October 26, from 7 to 9 p.m. and will continue through six consecutive Mondays.

"I Can Cope classes give participants an opportunity to share their concerns with others having the same experience and thus realize they are not alone in their adjustments of everyday life," said Beth Newcomb, R.N., educational coordinator at Garrett Memorial. "Those with cancer and their loved ones need ways to cope with fears and anxieties as well as the disease."

During the course, information will be offered in an educational format by the following professionals: Dr. Margaret Kaiser, "Living with Cancer," October 26; Jacqueline Snelson, R.N., MSN and Ann Sherrard, R.D., MPH "Dealing with Daily Health," November 2; Victoria Evans, RDH and Wilda Massi, Northern Middle School principal, "Understanding Your Emotions," November 9; Charlotte Bock, R.N., vice president of Patient Care Services at Garrett Memorial, "Enhancing Self Esteem and Sexuality," November 16; and Carol Voelkel, physical therapist, "Keeping Active in Mind and Body," November 23.

The final session of "I Can Cope," which is scheduled for November 30, will consist of an "I Can Cope" graduation and a panel discussion on "Identifying Support Systems and Resources." Speakers for this panel will include: Tom Dabney, attorney-at-law; Pauline Faucett, R.N., American Cancer Society; Donna McClintock, LMSW, Geriatric Evaluation Services; Ellen Friend, R.N., Hospice nursing director; Rita Durst, director of Patient Accounts at Garrett Memorial; Norma Bolding, R.N., director of the Garrett County Home Health Agency; Judy Wilt, LPN, Reach for Discovery; Beverly Beard, assistant director of Income Maintenance at the Department of Social Services; and Ginger Massey, R.N., Outpatient Care at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Is "God" illegal in our schools?

▼ After her book report on the Bible, 12-year-old Rebecca Higgins had the Bibles she gave to classmates confiscated by school officials.*

Meanwhile in Russia, students listen to Bible stories during class time.

▼ Our Supreme Court has let a ruling stand that said it is illegal for a Denver teacher to keep a Bible, even a closed one, on his desk.

But Russian teachers can show a film on the life of Jesus Christ to their students.

▼ And now our Supreme Court says a rabbi—or anyone for that matter—can't mention "God" in a graduation prayer.**

Yet in Russia, once called the "evil empire," teachers can give lessons on ethics and morality from a biblical perspective.

Northern GOP Women Hear Commissioners

The Northern Garrett County Republican Women's Club met Sept. 29 at Hill Top Inn, Grantsville. President Carolyn Ganoe presided.

Mrs. Ganoe introduced the guest speakers, Garrett County Commissioners Brenda Butscher and John Braskey. They spoke about the budget, recycling and growth management. They stated there is a problem with finding acceptance of the papers and glass. They said the governor's cuts to the county are severe, but felt they would "be able to deal with it even though it will not be easy."

Mrs. Butscher reported on the Republican Convention, which was the seventh one she has attended. She felt this convention was the "most orderly and well organized" one she has attended.

The club continued with the business meeting.

The nominating committee reported the same slate of officers will be retained and will be installed at the Oct. 27 meeting. Mrs. Ganoe reported the State Federation of Republican meeting will be held in Gaithersburg, Nov. 7. Planning to attend are Mrs. Ganoe, Cleda Baker, and Cora Bowser.

There will be an auction held at the October meeting and all members are asked to bring their items.

Glimpse Of The Past . . .

DOES ANYONE RECOGNIZE this particular segment of state highway in this old undated photograph from the Garrett County Historical Museum? Could it be U.S. Rt. 219 North, or perhaps the Oakland-Deer Park Road? The photo was published in the form of a postcard by W.A. Gonder, Oakland, and is reprinted here courtesy of the Garrett County Historical Society and The Republican.

Construction Sites Are To Be Stabilized

Maryland Secretary of the Environment Robert Perciasepe is urging builders, developers and contractors in the state to stabilize all construction sites that are not actively being graded to prevent soil erosion.

"As the construction season draws to a close it is critical that areas where clearing and grading have taken place be stabilized," said Secretary Perciasepe. "this can be accomplished easily and inexpensively by seeding and mulching before cold weather sets in. This will help prevent soil from being washed from the land into our waterways during periods of heavy rain."

When land is disturbed -- by construction or road building for example -- its erodability greatly increases. As soil and other particles are washed into streams, the aquatic life that depends on clean water can be harmed.

"The optimum time for seeding to stabilize construction sites is from August 1 to October 31," Secretary Perciasepe added. "It is especially important to stabilize slopes to prevent large quantities of silt from washing into the bay and its tributaries."

During this "grass seeding season," all local and state erosion and sediment control inspectors have tied green ribbons to their vehicles to remind themselves, contractors and the general public of the importance of soil stabilization.

"Homeowners can also take action to reduce run off and soil washing into waterways," said Secretary Perciasepe. "Seeding and straw mulching bare spots on lawns, and diverting run-off from paved areas and roof tops to grassy areas, are simple steps the homeowner can take to reduce sediment pollution."

Maryland law requires that construction projects which disturb more than 5,000 square feet or 100 cubic yards of soil have an approved plan for controlling erosion and sedimentation.

Construction sites are required to seed and mulch within 14 days after active grading stops. MDE works with local Soil Conservation Districts, county and municipal governments, and construction-related industries and minimize water pollution caused by erosion and sedimentation.

Marylanders who spot construction sites in need of stabilization or other sediment control measures should call 1-800-992-8017.

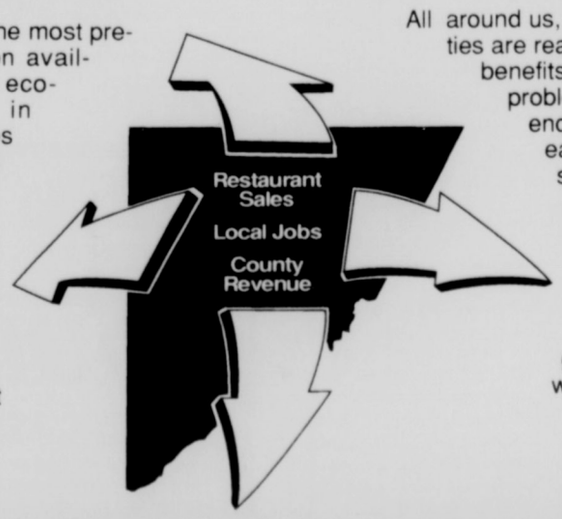
VOTE YES FOR JOBS!



Our Current Law On Sunday Restaurant Beverage Sale Cuts Local Sunday Employment By 30%!

Garrett County's old law that prohibits the sale of drinks with a restaurant meal on Sunday cuts the number of local people who work in local restaurants by nearly one-third...every Sunday!

Local restaurant operators have calculated that those employees lose $300,000 in wages because of this law. Many other businesses who supply the restaurant industry...like wholesalers, delivery companies and other business services also lose payroll.

This Outdated Law Costs Garrett County One Million Dollars A Year!

According to the most precise information available, the total economic loss in wages, services and local taxes amounts to over one million dollars annually from a community that already suffers from the highest unemployment in the state!

We Are Giving Away Jobs And Tax Income To Counties All Around Us!

All around us, communities are reaping the benefits of our legal problem. Visitors end their trips early. They start later. Any local resident who wishes to choose a drink with their meal goes elsewhere.

You Can Help Create Jobs By Voting Yes On The HB 1283 Referendum!

Garrett County residents have the opportunity to recapture this lost employment and government income.

House Bill 1283 is a referendum in front of local voters on November 3. It is a fair law that allows Sunday sale of alcoholic beverages by Class B license holders who sell 60% of their sales in food.

HB 1283 does not allow package sales on Sunday. It does not have a moral impact on Garrett County. It is a simple effort to improve the local economy and stop giving away this commerce to communities around us.

Governor Notes Sale Of Wye Oak Seedlings

Governor William Donald Schaefer has announced that the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Forestry Programs is now accepting orders for Wye Oak seedlings which will be shipped next spring. The Wye Oak, Maryland's state tree, is the largest white oak in the nation.

"The Wye Oak is truly a part of the state's history," Governor Schaefer said. "These seedlings are an opportunity to share a piece of Maryland with the rest of the nation."

The more than 450-year-old tree, growing in Wye Oak State Park, is located on Maryland's Eastern Shore in Wye Mills, Talbot County. Standing some 79-feet tall a circumference of 31 feet 2 inches, and a crown spread of 102 feet, the Wye Oak has been the National Champion, the nation's largest specimen, for the past 50 years.

The DNR Buckingham Forest Tree Nursery has collected this past season's bumper crop of acorns and has propagated the Wye Oak's seeds. The nursery will sell the seedlings at a cost of $25 per tree package. Tax and shipping is extra and there is a maximum of 10 trees per order. The seedlings can be shipped to every state except California, Louisiana, Oregon, Arizona and Florida where plant quarantines are in effect.

The package will include an authenticity certificate to verity its descent, a Wye Oak print suitable for framing and a document detailing the tree's history. The tree will be shipped at the proper planting time in early spring. Recipients will be notified two weeks in advance of shipment. All seedlings are sold on a first-come, first-served basis.

To request an order form, persons may write: Buckingham Forest Tree Nursery, 7549 Railroad Avenue, Harmans, MD 21077 or call 1-800-TREES MD; 1-800-873-3763.

Governor Schaefer Appoints Lead Paint Poisoning Comm.

Governor William Donald Schaefer announced last week that appointment of a 15-member commission to study problems associated with childhood lead poisoning and affordable, lead-safe housing in Maryland.

The Lead Paint Poisoning Commission was authorized through legislation passed during the 1992 session of the General Assembly, and members include child health advocates, property owners, community members, paint manufacturers, government officials and others.

"Childhood lead poisoning is an entirely preventable disease," said Governor Schaefer. "Just as our efforts to reduce cancer rates are focusing on prevention, we need to find workable solutions to prevent Maryland children from becoming lead poisoned.

"I am happy that we have been able to pull together the diverse groups that must work together to solve the lead poisoning problems."

Lead poisoning is generally acknowledged as the most significant environmental health threat to children nationwide. The principal cause of lead poisoning is deteriorating lead-based paint in older housing units. Lead-based paint was banned from residential use in 1978.

The commission will investigate the feasibility of establishing a self-funding compensation system for lead poisoning victims, as well as a liability relief system for property owners. Recommendations of the committee must be submitted to the General Assembly by June 30, 1994.

Donald Gifford, dean of the University of Maryland Law School, has been named the chairperson of the commission.

The work of the commission will be funded by a special $2-per-dwelling-unit fee on owners of multiple residential units built before 1978.

Governor Schaefer has called for a lead poisoning symposium in November, which will bring together the commission members and interested parties from all sides of the issue.

"The symposium will give the commission members a chance to hear ideas from a variety of people." said the governor. "I consider the work of this commission to be extremely important, and the symposium may provide some fresh approaches for the members as they begin their work."

Caution Urged For Users Of New Germany Rd.

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR), State Forest and Park Service has urged motorists, cyclers, and joggers to be cautious while traveling along New Germany Road, specifically between Big Run and Frank Brenneman Road, because Savage River State Forest is in the process of removing dead and dying hazardous trees. This is a part of Savage River State Forest fiscal year '92 workplan, reviewed by the Interdisciplinary Teams, advisory board, and presented at public hearings in the community.

DNR contracted this assignment to small forest product operators and they are dropping approximately 500 trees along the specified area of New Germany Road. Public safety is a primary concern of DNR and traffic will be controlled. This project should be completed within a month.

The State of Maryland will make approximately $30,000 from this diseased and dying tree removal project and, in turn, Garrett County will receive approximately $8,000, its share.

HCR CIRCLE OF CARE

by Melissa Groves

When Walter Cronkite retired as anchor of the "CBS Evening News" in 1981, he had built a reputation as "the most trusted man in America." Retirement, however, meant an on-going contract with CBS to serve on its Board of Directors and also to make occasional TV and radio appearances. It also opened up new opportunities for playing tennis, sailing and traveling with his wife of more than 50 years, Betsy. At age 75, Cronkite began work on a video encyclopedia of the 20th century.

In Defense of a Little Virginity

a message from Focus on the Family

The federal government has spent almost $3 billion of our taxes since 1970 to promote contraceptives and "safe sex" among our teenagers. Isn't it time we asked, What have we gotten for our money? These are the facts:

- The federal Centers for Disease Control estimate that there are now 1 million cases of HIV infection nationwide.[1]
- 1 in 100 students coming to the University of Texas health center now carries the deadly virus.[2]
- The rate of heterosexual HIV transmission has increased 44% since September 1989.[3]
- Sexually transmitted diseases (STDs) infect 3 million teenagers annually.[4]
- 63% of all STD cases occur among persons less than 25 years of age.[5]
- 1 million new cases of pelvic inflammatory disease occur annually.[6]
- 1.3 million new cases of gonorrhea occur annually[7]; strains of gonorrhea have developed that are resistant to penicillin.
- Syphilis is at a 40-year high, with 134,000 new infections per year.[8]
- 500,000 new cases of herpes occur annually[9]; it is estimated that 16.4% of the U.S. population ages 15-74 is infected, totaling more than 25 million Americans — among certain groups, the infection rate is as high as 60%.[10]
- 4 million cases of chlamydia occur annually[11]; 10-30% of 15- to19-year-olds are infected.[12]
- There are now 24 million cases of human papilloma virus (HPV), with a higher prevalence among teens.[13]

To date, over 20 different and dangerous sexually transmitted diseases are rampant among the young. Add to that the problems associated with promiscuous behavior: infertility, abortions and infected newborns. The cost of this epidemic is staggering, both in human suffering and in expense to society; yet epidemiologists tell us we've only seen the beginning.

Incredibly, the "safe-sex" gurus and condom promoters who got us into this mess are still determining our policy regarding adolescent sexuality. Their ideas have failed, and it is time to rethink their bankrupt policies.

How long has it been since you've heard anyone tell teenagers why it is to their advantage to remain virgins until married? The facts are being withheld from them, with tragic consequences. Unless we come to terms with the sickness that stalks a generation of Americans, teen promiscuity will continue, and millions of kids . . . thinking they are protected . . . will suffer for the rest of their lives. Many will die of AIDS.

There is only one safe way to remain healthy in the midst of a sexual revolution. It is to abstain from intercourse until marriage, and then wed and be faithful to an uninfected partner. It is a concept that was widely endorsed in society until the 1960s. Since then, a "better idea" has come along . . . one that now threatens the entire human family.

Inevitable questions are raised whenever abstinence is proposed. It's time we gave some clear answers:

Why, apart from moral considerations, do you think teenagers should be taught to abstain from sex until marriage?

No other approach to the epidemic of sexually transmitted diseases will work. The so-called "safe-sex" solution is a disaster in the making. Condoms can fail at least 15.7 percent of the time annually in preventing pregnancy.[14] They fail 36.3 percent of the time annually in preventing pregnancy among young, unmarried minority women.[15] In a study of homosexual men, the British Medical Journal reported the failure rate due to slippage and breakage to be 26 percent.[16] Given these findings, it is obvious why we have a word for people who rely on condoms as a means of birth control. We call them . . . "parents."

Remembering that a woman can conceive only one or two days per month, we can only guess how high the failure rate for condoms must be in preventing disease, which can be transmitted 365 days per year! If the devices are not used properly, or if they slip just once, viruses and bacteria are exchanged and the disease process begins. One mistake after 500 "protected" episodes is all it takes to contract a sexually transmitted disease. The damage is done in a single moment when rational thought is overridden by passion.

Those who would depend on so insecure a method must use it properly on every occasion, and even then a high failure rate is brought about by factors beyond their control. The young victim who is told by his elders that this little latex device is "safe" may not know he is risking lifelong pain and even death for so brief a window of pleasure. What a burden to place on an immature mind and body!

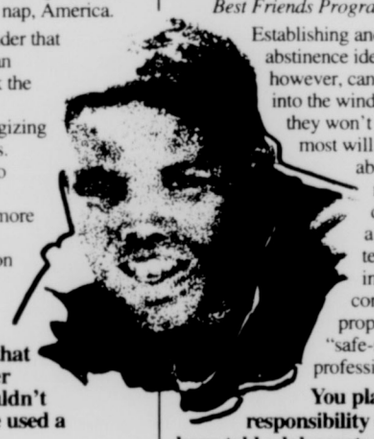
Then we must recognize that there are other differences between pregnancy prevention and disease prevention. HIV is 1/25th the width of sperm,[17] and can pass easily through even the smallest gaps in condoms. Researchers studying surgical gloves made out of latex, the same material in condoms, found "channels of 5 microns that penetrated the entire thickness of the glove."[18] HIV measures .1 microns.[19] Given these findings, what rational, informed person would trust his or her very life to such flimsy armor?

This surely explains why not one of 800 sexologists at a conference a few years ago raised a hand when asked if they would trust a thin rubber sheath to protect them during intercourse with a known HIV-infected person.[20] Who could blame them? They're not crazy, after all. And yet they're perfectly willing to tell our kids that "safe sex" is within reach and that they can sleep around with impunity.

There is only one way to protect ourselves from the deadly diseases that lie in wait. It is abstinence before marriage, then marriage and mutual fidelity for life to an uninfected partner. Anything less is potentially suicidal.

That position is simply NOT realistic today. It's an unworkable solution: Kids will NOT implement it.

Some will. Some won't. It's still the only answer. But let's talk about an "unworkable solution" of the first order. Since 1970, the federal government has spent nearly $3 billion to promote contraception and "safe sex." This year alone, 450 million of your tax dollars will go down that drain![21] (Compared with less than $8 million for abstinence programs, which Sen. Teddy Kennedy and company have sought repeatedly to eliminate altogether.) Isn't it time we ask what we've gotten for our money? After 22 years and nearly $3 billion, some 58 percent of teenage girls under 18 still did not use contraception during their first intercourse.[22] Furthermore, teenagers tend to keep having unprotected intercourse for a full year, on average, before starting any kind of contraception.[23] That is the success ratio of the experts who call abstinence "unrealistic" and "unworkable."



Even if we spent another $50 billion to promote condom usage, most teenagers would still not use them consistently and properly. The nature of human beings and the passion of the act simply do not lend themselves to a disciplined response in young romantics.

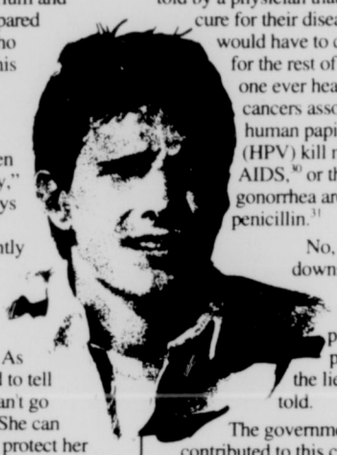
But if you knew a teenager was going to have intercourse, wouldn't you teach him or her about proper condom usage?

No, because that approach has an unintended consequence. The process of recommending condom usage to teenagers inevitably conveys five dangerous ideas: (1) that "safe sex" is achievable; (2) that everybody is doing it; (3) that responsible adults expect them to do it; (4) that it's a good thing, and (5) that their peers know they know these things, breeding promiscuity. Those are very destructive messages to give our kids.

Furthermore, Planned Parenthood's own data show that the number one reason teenagers engage in intercourse is peer pressure![24] Therefore, anything we do to imply that "everybody is doing it" results in more . . . not fewer . . . people who give the game a try. Condom distribution programs do not reduce the number of kids exposed to disease . . . they radically increase it!

Want proof of that fact? Since the federal government began its major contraception program in 1970, unwed pregnancies have increased 87 percent among 15- to 19-year-olds.[25] Likewise, abortions among teens rose 67 percent;[26] unwed births went up 61 percent.[27] And venereal disease has infected a generation of young people. Nice job, sex counselors. Good thinking, senators and congressmen. Nice nap, America.

Having made a blunder that now threatens the human family, one would think the designers would be backtracking and apologizing for their miscalculations. Instead, they continue to lobby Congress and corporate America for more money. Given the misinformation extant on this subject, they'll probably get it.



But if you were a parent and knew that your son or daughter was having sex, wouldn't you rather he or she used a condom?

How much risk is acceptable when you're talking about your teenager's life? One study of married couples in which one partner was infected with HIV found that 17% of the partners using condoms for protection still caught the virus within a year and a half.[28] Telling our teens to "reduce their risk" to one in six (17%) is not much better than advocating Russian roulette. Both are fatal, eventually. The difference is that with a gun, death is quicker. Suppose your son or daughter were joining an 18-month skydiving club of six members. If you knew that one of their parachutes would definitely fail, would you recommend that they simply buckle the chutes tighter? Certainly not. You would say, "Please don't jump. Your life is at stake!" How could a loving parent do less?

Kids won't listen to the abstinence message. You're just wasting your breath to try to sell them a notion like that.

It is a popular myth that teenagers are incapable of understanding that it is in their best interest to save themselves until marriage. Almost 65 percent of all high school females under 18 are virgins.[29]

A few years ago in Lexington, Ky., a youth event was held that featured no sports contest, no rock groups—just an ex-convict named Harold Morris talking about abstinence, among other subjects. The coliseum seated 18,000 people, but 26,000 teenagers showed up! Eventually, more than 2,000 stood outside the packed auditorium and listened over a hastily prepared public address system. Who says kids won't listen to this time-honored message?

Even teens who have been sexually active can choose to stop. This is often called "secondary virginity," a good concept that conveys the idea that kids can start over. One young girl recently wrote Ann Landers to say she wished she had kept her virginity, signing the letter, "Sorry I didn't and wish I could take it back." As responsible adults we need to tell her that even though she can't go back, she can go forward. She can regain her self-respect and protect her health, because it's never too late to start saying "no" to premarital sex.

Even though the safe-sex advocates predominate in educational circles, are there no positive examples of abstinence-based programs for kids?

Thankfully, some excellent programs have been developed. Spokane-based Teen-Aid and Chicago's Southwest Parents Committee are good examples. So are Next Generation in Maryland, Choices in California and Respect Inc. in Illinois. Other curricula such as Facing Reality; Sex Respect; Me, My World, My Future; Reasonable Reasons to Wait; Sex, Love & Choices; F.A.C.T.S. etc., are all abstinence-themed programs to help kids make good sexual decisions.

A good curriculum for inner-city youth is Elayne Bennett's Best Friends Program. This successful "mentoring" project helps adolescents in Washington, D.C. graduate from high school and remain abstinent. In five years, not one female has become pregnant while in the Best Friends Program!

Establishing and nurturing abstinence ideas with kids, however, can be like spitting into the wind. Not because they won't listen, because most will. But pro-abstinence messages are drowned out in a sea of toxic teen-sex-is-inevitable-use-a-condom propaganda from "safe-sex" professionals.

You place major responsibility on those who have told adolescents that sexual expression is their right as long as they do it "properly." Who else has contributed to the epidemic?

The entertainment industry must certainly share the blame, including television producers. It is interesting in this context that all four networks and the cable television entities are wringing their hands about this terrible epidemic of AIDS. They profess to be very concerned about those who are infected with sexually transmitted diseases, and perhaps they are sincere. However, TV executives and movie moguls have contributed mightily to the existence of this plague. For decades, they have depicted teens and young adults climbing in and out of each other's beds like so many sexual robots. Only the nerds were shown to be chaste, and they were too stupid or ugly to find partners.

Of course, the beautiful young actors in those steamy dramas never faced any consequences for their sexual indulgence. No one ever came down with herpes, or syphilis, or chlamydia, or pelvic inflammatory disease, or infertility, or AIDS, or genital warts, or cervical cancer. No patients were ever told by a physician that there was no cure for their disease or that they would have to deal with the pain for the rest of their lives. No one ever heard that genital cancers associated with the human papilloma virus (HPV) kill more women than AIDS,[30] or that strains of gonorrhea are now resistant to penicillin.[31]

No, there was no downside. It all looked like so much fun. But what a price we are paying now for the lies we have been told.

The government has also contributed to this crisis and continues to exacerbate the problem. For example, a current brochure from the federal Centers for Disease Control and the City of New York is entitled, "Teens Have the Right," and is apparently intended to free adolescents from adult authority. Inside are the six declarations that make up a "Teenager's Bill of Rights," as follows:

- I have the right to think for myself.
- I have the right to decide whether to have sex and who[m] to have it with.
- I have the right to use protection when I have sex.
- I have the right to buy and use condoms.
- I have the right to express myself.
- I have the right to ask for help if I need it.

Under this final item (the right to ask for help) is a list of organizations and phone numbers that readers are encouraged to call. The philosophy that governs several of the organizations reflects the homosexual agenda, which includes recruitment of the young and vigorous promotion of a teen's right to sexual expression.

Your tax dollars at work!

Surely there are other Americans who recognize the danger now threatening a generation of our best and brightest. It is time to speak up for an old-fashioned value called virginity. Now, more than ever, virtue is a necessity.

If you agree with Focus on the Family that it is time for a new approach to adolescent sexuality, tear out this ad and save it. Take it to your next school board meeting. Send it to your congressman or senator. Distribute copies to the PTA. And by all means, share it with your teenagers. Begin to promote abstinence before marriage as the only healthy way to survive this worldwide epidemic.

Please use the coupon below to obtain a valuable booklet on abstinence. There is no charge for it. However, your support is requested for an upcoming TV program for teenagers on this important topic. Your comments are also solicited.

State's August Jobless Rate Up; County's Lower

Maryland's unemployment rate edged up slightly in August, rising from 6.5 percent in July to 6.6 percent. The small increase in the rate was because of lower employment levels, as workers left the labor force when their summer jobs ended. The 6.6 percent unemployment rate tied with April 1992 as the second lowest rate during the economic recovery period.

Meanwhile, Garrett County's jobless rate dropped from 10.6 percent in July to 9.7 percent in August. The August 1991 rate was 8.6 percent.

Employment in Maryland dropped by 39,682 to 2,499,995 as summer employment ended. Even with this decline, employment remained more than 48,700 above the August 1991 level of 2,451,247. The number of people unemployed dropped modestly by nearly 1,300 workers, to 175,565.

Nationally, the jobless rate fell from 7.6 percent to 7.3 percent in August.

"Although some signs are encouraging, Maryland's recovery from the recession continues to be weak, as shown by the mixed economic data," said Secretary of Economic and Employment Development Mark L. Wasserman.

Results of a separate survey of establishments reflected normal seasonal trends. Employment in restaurants, amusements and agricultural services began to drop, and government payrolls continued to drop as summer sessions ended and cuts in maintenance and recreation programs began. Seasonal hiring in food processing and vacation recalls increased manufacturing employment, while apparel stores added employees for the back-to-school shopping season.

Unemployment insurance claims continued to decline. Initial claims for unemployment insurance fell to 20,853 in August from 35,420 in July and 21,659 in August 1991, a decline of 41 percent from July to August and 3.7 percent from last year. Continued claims fell 3.5 percent from last year, while the amount of benefits paid fell 5.9 percent.

Manufacturing employment also showed slight improvement in August, with the addition of 500 jobs. Average hourly earnings in Maryland's manufacturing industries increased slightly to $12.52, as a 12 cent per hour increase in durable industry wages was offset by a drop in nondurable industry wages.

New automobile registration increased from 23,751 in July to 26,408 in August, an increase of 11.2 percent. However, registrations were down 4.0 percent from last year's level.

Housing units authorized for construction fell from 2,507 in July to 1,846 in August. The August level also was 23.6 percent below the August 1991 of 2,416 permits.

Retails sales in July fell to $3.14 billion from $3.2 billion in June, a decline of 1.8 percent, and a drop of 0.3 percent from the July 1991 total of $3.15 billion.

The unemployment rate in Western Maryland declined from 9.7 percent in July to 9.0 percent in August, primarily as a result of labor force declines. Manufacturing recalls helped reduce unemployment in Garrett and Washington counties.

Statewide, unemployment rates ranged from a low of 3.6 percent in Montgomery County to a high of 10.7 percent in Baltimore City.

AAL Branch To Present Program On Drugs, Alcohol

Branch 585, Aid Association for Lutherans, will present a special program this Sunday, Oct. 11, at 7 p.m. in the Zion Lutheran Church social room in Accident.

Entitled "Now You're Talking: Parents and Kids Talk Straight about Alcohol and Other Drugs," the program is for area parents and their children. The speaker will be Kerrie Margraff, parole probation officer for the state of Maryland.

Families in attendance will receive a free take-home video and children will be given free posters.

Beverly Byron Receives Lifetime Achievement Honor

U.S. Rep. Beverly B. Byron (D-Md) last week was presented with a "Lifetime Achievement Award" in recognition of her 14 years of service in the House of Representatives. The award was presented by the National Security Caucus, a bipartisan group of 210 lawmakers in Congress. The award recognized Byron's "leadership, courage and vision in promoting international security and prosperity."

U.S. Rep. Buddy Darden (D-Ga), a Caucus co-chairman who serves with Byron on the Armed Services Committee, was spokesman for the group. "It is easy to talk about words like leadership, courage and vision," said Rep. Darden, "but Beverly Byron's own record gives those words definite and unmistakable meaning. Beverly has always worked to develop a bipartisan defense and foreign policy that would merit the broad support of the American people... She has had a vital role in shaping policies that brought freedom to so many across the globe, and established our nation as an inspiration to men and women everywhere who yearn for democracy and basic human rights. The Lifetime Achievement Award is a small token of our sincere gratitude to Congresswoman Byron for a great job. The next Congress will not be the same without her constructive work and leadership," concluded Darden.

Also presenting the award to Byron was U.S. Rep Duncan Hunter (R-Ca), a co-chairman of the Caucus, and a fellow member of the Armed Services Committee. They were joined by John O. Marsh Jr., the former Secretary of the Army in the Reagan Administration, and Edward Hidalgo, the former Secretary of the Navy in the Carter Administration. Many of the Congresswoman's colleagues also attended.

Fire Prevention Week Underway

Maryland State Fire Marshal Rocco J. Gabriele has announced the theme for National Fire Prevention Week 1992. The theme for this year is "Test Your Detector - It's Sound Advice!". The theme stresses the need for citizens to install and maintain smoke detectors in their homes.

"If a fire breaks out in your home when you are asleep, do you think the smoke will awaken you?", asked Gabriele. "Only a working smoke detector will give citizens the early warning of a fire in their home and provide them with the extra time to escape safely."

The greatest number of fatal home fires generally occur between the hours of midnight and 5 a.m.,, when most victims are sleeping. Fires which occur during these hours are often deadly. They go undetected when there is no smoke detector in the home or the detector is not in proper working condition.

Gabriele recommends all homes be equipped with smoke detectors on each level, including the basement. He further recommends testing of the detectors on a regular basis to insure the detector is in proper working condition. For those detectors which are battery operated, he recommends replacing the battery at least once a year. A good time to change the battery in a detector, he said, is during the changing of time in late October. A simple reminder for changing the battery is the slogan "Change Your Clock, Change Your Battery."

Fire Prevention Week is observed in North America during the first full week of October, in remembrance of the Great Chicago Fire of 1876, in which 250 people died.

During 1991, 98 Marylanders died in fires throughout the state, more than 500 were injured, and $130 million in property was destroyed or damaged.

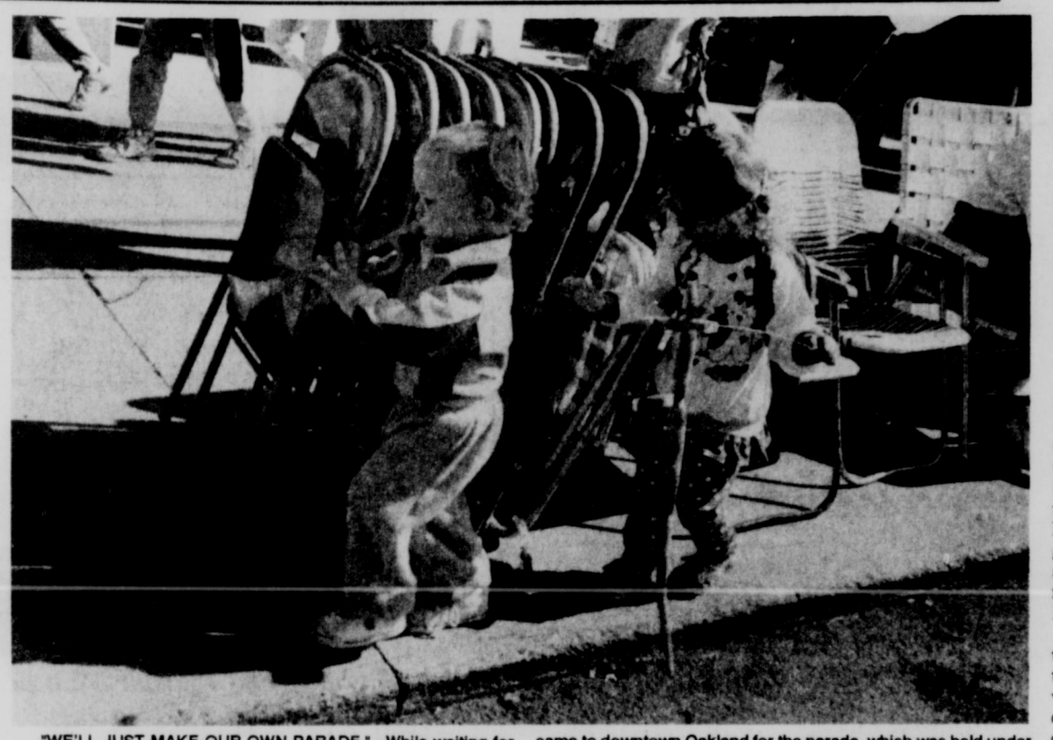
Mobile Home Destroyed By Fire Wednesday



Fire believed to have been caused by an electrical problem destroyed a mobile home along Mt. Zion Road yesterday morning.

The Deer Park and Bloomington volunteer fire departments were summoned to the residence of Julius "Sonny" Kinser at 10:49 a.m. Units from Kitzmiller and Oakland were sent to the scene about 20 minutes after the initial alarm.

According to a spokesman for the Deer Park VFD, the structure was fully involved in flames when the first unit arrived on the scene. He said it appeared the blaze started in the master bedroom and was electrical in nature. The loss was estimated to be $15,000.

Also sent to the scene was a unit from the Piedmont VFD and the county air cascade vehicle. Firemen remained on the scene for about three and one-half hours.

Deer Park fire fighters were called back to the scene at about 11:30 last night when the fire rekindled.

They were but two of literally thousands of people who came to downtown Oakland for the parade, which was held under sunny skies and pleasant temperatures. Foreign Military Personnel Will Visit In County

Channeling military might into community action will be on the minds of roughly 25 foreign military officers next Thursday, October 22, when they visit two Maryland Army National Guard Community Action project sites in Garrett County.

The foreign military attaches will tour the location of two bridges built over the Savage River near Bloomington. The two spans are part of a 1988 construction project by Maryland Army National Guard Combat Engineer units in support of the World Whitewater Canoe and Kayak Championships.

The attaches also will visit the Jennings Randolph Lake road-building project, where guard soldiers belonging to the 121st Engineer Battalion have cleared a 50-foot wide right-of-way for a road that eventually will be built to provide access for Marylanders to the lake.

All English-speaking, the visiting group will include envoys from Argentina, Australia, Belgium, Canada, Cote D'Ivoire, Ghana, Honduras, Indonesia, Italy, Mexico, Norway, Peru, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, and the United Kingdom.

Joining the group will be the ambassador from Latvia, and the chief of the Home Guard in Sweden, which is equivalent to the National Guard.

The military leaders will receive project overviews from National Guard bureau staff and Maryland Army

Bausch & Lomb Eyewear Div. Receives Productivity Award From Md. Senators

Maryland U.S. Senators Paul Sarbanes and Barbara S. Mikulski have announced that Bausch & Lomb Eyewear Division of Oakland has won one of the two top U.S. Senate Productivity Awards for the state of Maryland.

"I am pleased to announce and congratulate the 1992 U.S. Senate Productivity Award winners as two examples of the manufacturing and service/small business sector that have the willingness and the ability to look beyond today and even tomorrow to the future and to make commitments and investments accordingly," said Senator Sarbanes.

Bausch & Lomb won in the manufacturing category and IBM Corporation's Federal Systems Company of Gaithersburg won in the service category.

"This award is for every man and woman who make up two of Maryland's best companies," stated Senator Mikulski. "These companies have made quality management and quality work their top priorities by offering their customers the very highest quality products while keeping the welfare and morale of their employees at the forefront. Congratulations to them for helping to prepare Maryland's economy for the 21st century."

The Eyewear Division of Bausch & Lomb employs nearly 900 people.

"Employee involvement is the cornerstone of Bausch & Lomb's quality and productivity improvement efforts," said Sarbanes. In the nation's highly competitive eyewear industry, Bausch & Lomb has developed a market four times that of its closet competitor. In the past two years, the company has dramatically increased productivity, customer satisfaction, and the quality of its products, decreasing the number of accidents and lost time and reducing material waste."

Sarbanes added, "Improving productivity in Maryland and throughout the nation is one of the essential steps in solving our economic and employment problems."

Butch Sumpter, Bausch & Lomb plant manager, commented on the award, stating, "This award truly reflects the efforts of the entire plant, and shows what can be achieved through total commitment to a quality

Citizens Urged To Get Pneumococcal And Flu Shots

With flu season approaching, the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DHMH) urges adults 65 and older and people of any age with chronic lung or heart disease to be immunized against pneumococcal pneumonia (an infection of the lungs) and against influenza (flu). This year, influenza vaccine protects against influenza Type A-Texas, Type A-Beijing and Type B-Panama.

"Pneumococcal pneumonia is a common cause of death in the elderly and others with chronic medical conditions," said Diane Dwyer, M.D., chief of the DHMH Center for Clinical Epidemiology. "It's estimated that of the half a million cases that occur in the U.S. every year,

Lewis Sentenced To 14 Years For Battery Charges In Sex Offense Case

A Baltimore man will serve a 14-year prison term for committing battery against a woman in February of this year. Garrett County Circuit Court Judge Fred A. Thayer handed down a 12-year term in the Maryland Department of Corrections (DOC) to Fred L. Lewis, 42, for one count of battery and two more years for a second count of the same charge.

The defendant was convicted of the two charges in an August jury trial. He was originally charged with second degree rape, third degree sex offense, and fourth degree sex offense in addition to the two counts of battery. He was acquitted of the first three counts.

The charges stem from an incident at the Highview Apartments, Oakland, during which Lewis reportedly accosted an Oakland woman while she was unconscious. According to the court document, Lewis dragged an inebriated woman into a bedroom and began to sexually assault her. When a 24-year-old woman attempted to intervene, he apparently slapped her and continued to assault the victim, who remained unconscious. The witness began to scream, waking a neighbor who was able to stop the attack.

Lewis began serving his sentence immediately following the October 8 trial, having received 167 days credit for time served.

In a separate case, a man convicted of two counts of third degree sex offense against a young boy was sentenced to four years in the DOC. Thayer suspended all but time served (57 days) and ordered Aric D. Phinney, 25, to be on supervised probation for five years. Phinney was convicted of committing the sexual offense against a 12-year-old male at the Salem Children's Trust, Grantsville, while the defendant was serving as a "houseparent" to the child. The incidents of molestation numbered more than 10 in the month of November 1991, according to the court document.

A court spokesperson said that the defendant read a three-page letter in court

Md. Historical Trust To Hold Local Workshop

The Maryland Historical Trust, an agency of the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development, is conducting a public workshop on Tuesday, October 20, from 2 to 6 p.m. at Penn Alps in Grantsville. The workshop serves Allegany and Garrett counties and is open to all interested parties.

In conjunction with the revision of the 1986 Maryland Comprehensive Historic Preservation Plan, the Trust is holding this workshop (one of nine regional workshops) to disseminate information on its programs and services, and more importantly, to solicit viewpoints and concerns from community citizens. Input from the public workshops will help to shape the direction of historic preservation and cultural conservation goals and objectives through the year 2000, according to a Trust spokesman.

"It is important for the state to plan how it will preserve Maryland's history and culture," said Governor William Donald Schaefer. "I hope that many Maryland citizens will join us during these workshops and help us shape our goals as we head into the next century."

The October 20 Grantsville workshop will feature the following presentations:

Sports Institute Council To Meet At GCC Oct. 24

An organizational meeting of the executive council of the Adventure Sports Institute has been scheduled at Garrett Community College for Saturday, October 24, from 9 a.m. to noon, according to Dr. Steve Herman, president of the Institute.

The Council, whose chairman is John N. Bambacus, is comprised of 27 persons who are business leaders, government officials, and directors or coaches of various adventure sports organizations and teams. Other Western Maryland persons who serve on the Council include: J. Glenn Beall, Jr., Suzanne X. Conger, Dr. Harold J. Cordts, Thomas B. Finan Jr., Dr. Catherine Gira, Karen Spiker, Harry "Butch" Sumpter, Don Storck, and Mike Logsdon. Barbara Trask is director of program development and marketing.

The weekend meeting will begin with a reception and dinner scheduled for Friday evenings, October 23, at New Germany State Park. At the Saturday morning business meeting, members will establish rules and procedures to govern the executive council and set the foundation for the future of the Adventure Sports Institute.

Saturday afternoon, participants will have an opportunity to experience an adventure sport as they use compass and maps in an orienteering session at New Germany State Park under the leadership of Lt. Col. Robert F. Turbyfill, coach of the United States Orienteering Team and member of the executive council. That evening plans have been made for those who so desire to attend the "Drums of Passion" concert by Baba Olatunji in the Garrett Community College gymnasium.

The Adventure Sports Institute has been formed by a cooperative effort between Frostburg State University and Garrett Community College. It represents the first comprehensive center of its kind in this country devoted to the promotion of healthful outdoor recreation in which the individual challenges some element of nature. The first major effort of the ASI has been the implementation this fall of the Adventure Sports academic program at Garrett Community College.

Aurora, W.Va., Man Injured In Tuesday Mishap

An Aurora, W.Va., man was injured Tuesday morning when his vehicle struck a parked vehicle as he was attempting to avoid hitting a deer that had crossed into his path, according to reports filed by the Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry.

Dale T. Rinker, 20, was taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad. A hospital spokesperson said he was treated for minor injuries and then released.

State police said the accident occurred when Rinker, operating a 1990 Chevrolet Cavalier north on U.S. Rt. 219, swerved to the right to avoid striking a deer. The vehicle left the Education Board Rescinds No Smoking Policy; Reports On Food Service Status

The Garrett County Board of Education met Tuesday evening for its regular monthly meeting and discussed a variety of issues. Among other decisions, the board voted to rescind a no-smoking policy which the members had agreed upon at the August meeting. The vote came about as a result of a letter from the Garrett County Teachers' Association (GCTA) which asked for negotiations concerning the smoking ban. Also reviewed at the meeting was the current status of the food service in which the new a la carte sales are better than expected.

Smoking Ban Dropped

The education board voted in August to make a tobacco-free policy go into effect on November 1. The policy banned the use of any tobacco products on all school property during the school day, and the total ban of the products in board of education buildings. The board rescinded the policy by a two to one vote Tuesday night as a reaction to a letter received from GCTA. Although the letter was not read aloud, Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, superintendent of Garrett County Schools, indicated that the letter stated the union had a problem with the policy, citing designated smoking areas as "working conditions" for employees.

Noting that he has received information that the Maryland State Board of Education is "probably going to implement" a state ban of tobacco products on July 1, 1993, Ryscavage suggested to the board that the members revoke their policy in an effort to avoid confrontation with GCTA. Carol Clark, board president, agreed with the idea, stating that negotiations with GCTA will probably lead to other concessions that the board may not want to make.

"Negotiating with the GCTA means giving something in return for enforcing the policy," Clark said. "I would rather avoid that and wait for the state's policy to go into effect." Board member Beverly Sines agreed with Clark on the issue.

However, Board member Rodney Durst was vehemently against the revoking of the policy, stating that he felt the action was "an atrocity."

"I think this is appalling. We created this policy with the health of our students in mind - that was our first priority. I want to call GCTA's bluff," Durst said. "We called upon the Garrett County Health Officer to assist us in creating this policy, and we were one of the first counties in Maryland to come up with something like this. I am outraged that we are going to back down now."

Dr. Rex Archer, Garrett County Health Officer, was in attendance and suggested to the members that they "at least negotiate" with GCTA before pulling the policy.

"You really can't lose if you pursue this," he said.

When asked how he felt about the decision, board member Bryan Paugh said, "I don't want to negotiate with them (GCTA)."

The vote was taken with Murphy and Paugh voting to revoke the policy and Durst opposing. Mikal Moomau, board member, was not present at the time of the vote.

Food Service Status

The new healthful a la carte foods at the Garrett County middle and high schools are selling well, according to Richard Buckingham, assistant in food service. Among the best sellers are bottled water, granola bars, soft bread sticks, and cheese pizza. Because of the initial success of the sales, these food items will continue to be offered at the schools in the place of less healthful foods such as potato chips and candy. The trial of the new items was to last six weeks, but the sales will now continue indefinitely.

Buckingham read a letter to the board members written by members of the Southern High School student council to the cafeteria employees. The letter expressed the students gratitude to the workers for working hard to provide the healthier foods for the students. They apologized for first being critical of the new offerings and their prices, and expressed their wish that the innovative a la carte selections be maintained.

Buckingham also presented a chart showing the success and/or failure of the sale of certain items, noting that items such as graham crackers, "Harvest Crisp" crackers, various sandwiches, and

Deep Creek Ranger Arrests Three For CDS Possession

Department of Natural Resources Ranger Jamie Adams arrested three Chester men on October 9 at the Deep Creek Lake recreation area, charging them with possession of illegal drugs and paraphernalia.

Matthew A. Matthews, 21, Thomas Foxwell, 20, and Paul Diangelo, 21, were approached by Adams at a Deep Creek Lake campsite and asked to turn down loud music. The ranger noticed drug paraphernalia on the picnic table, according to the report. After questioning the defendants and searching the area, the ranger charged the men and transported them to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office.

Foxwell and Diangelo were released on their own recognizance while Matthews posted $500 bond. The bond was set for Matthews because of his history of failing to appear in court, according to the report.

RIBBON-CUTTING CEREMONY HELD AT G.C. AIRPORT - In celebration of the completion of Phase 1 of the Garrett County Airport expansion project, a ribbon-cutting ceremony was held Friday with local and state officials in attendance. The $1.3 million project (of which the federal government is paying 90 percent) essentially allows for the accommodation of larger aircraft and improves visibility and safety at the facility. According to Garrett County Department of Economic Development Director Tom Jones, the completion of the second and third phases of the expansion project will have a positive impact on both the tourist industry and the county's economic development. Grant funds for the second phase will reportedly be made available as early as next spring. Shown in the above photo, left to right, are Earl Clark, First United National Bank and Trust; Herb Ridder, Greiner Engineering project manager; Kyle Goldsmith, Federal Aviation Administration airport engineer; Brent Ayre, administrative assistant to Sixth District Congresswoman Beverly Byron; Elwood Groves, Garrett County commissioner; Tom Glotfelty, Lakeside Aviation, airport manager; Brenda Butscher, county commissioner; Nina Conway, representative from the office of Maryland U.S. Senator Paul Sarbanes; District 1 Senator John Hafer; District 1-A Delegate George C. Edwards; and Ralph Burnett, president of the Garrett County Development Corporation.

OKTOBERFEST BIGGEST, BEST EVER - The largest crowd ever to attend the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department's Oktoberfest Celebration was on hand last Thursday night at the Oakland fire hall, listening to polkas and marches by the Oakland VFD German Oompah Band, directed by Manning Smith, and enjoying some of their favorite food and beverages. The celebrants shared some 38 16-gallon kegs of one particular favorite, while consuming several hundred pounds of beef, pork, knockwurst, Oakland Rotary French fries, and a variety of other tasty items. Pictured at right is OVFD member Scott Bookout, loaded down with empty containers. Bookout was voted into the organization just 24 hours prior to the Oktoberfest, just in time to be assigned a waiter's position.

FIREMAN, FIREWOMAN OF THE YEAR - Awards presented by the Garrett County Fire and Rescue Association at last week's annual Oktoberfest at the Oakland fire hall included the Garrett County Fireman of the Year and, for the first time, the Firewoman (auxiliary member) of the Year awards. Richard Beeman, a member of the Oakland VFD, was named the Fireman of the Year and is pictured above left with Rocco Gabriele, Maryland state fire marshal, who made the presentation. Named Firewoman of the Year was Katheryn Bowser, representing the Bittinger VFD Auxiliary. Gabriele is also pictured behind Mrs. Bowser.

Thefts, DOP Cases Investigated By Sheriff's Office

Three thefts and a case of property destruction have been reported to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office in the past week, according to the police log. The officers have or are currently conducting investigations into the incidents.

Ronald F. Barry, Glen Burnie, reported to the Sheriff's Office that someone had broken into his son's condominium at Slopeside Terrace, McHenry. A window had been broken to gain entry and the VCR and microwave oven had been stolen. Several other property items were found in the middle of the floor, as the culprits apparently planned to return to the residence. The loss in the case was estimated at $515.

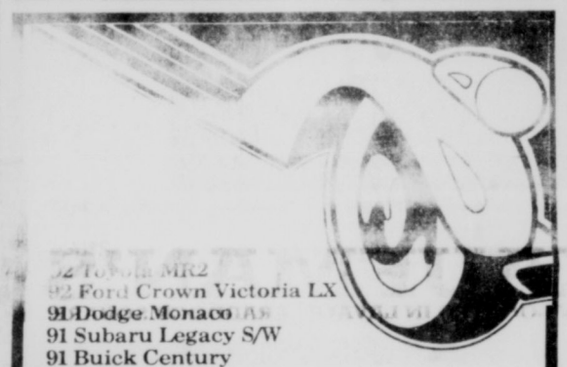
James L. Railey, McHenry, reported the possible theft of a hearing aid valued at $775. He told police that he had left the device in his car on Sept. 11 and it was gone on Sept. 12.

Gretchen Rush reported an incident of property destruction last Friday night after the Northern-Southern high football game. She parked her vehicle in Southern's lot for the game and upon her return, found that someone had scratched the paint on the driver's door. The vehicle is a 1987 Cadillac Eldorado, and the repair to the door will cost approximately $150, according to the report.

In another case, Jeremy Martin told police that his wallet was stolen from his truck on October 11. Martin had parked the vehicle at Manor Home Center, Mtn. Lake Park, and had left his wallet, which contained approximately $100, on the car seat. Upon his return shortly after, the item was gone. There were no credit cards in the wallet, according to the report.

Public Hearing Set For Zoning Recommendations

The Garrett County Commissioners this week reminded county residents that a public hearing will be held Tuesday, October 20, at 11 a.m., in the commissioners' meeting room in the Garrett County Courthouse, concerning text amendments to the Deep Creek Watershed Zoning Ordinance.



The board of county commissioners will review and accept citizens' comments on the amendments proposed by the Deep Creek Watershed Plan Evaluation Committee and recommended by the Garrett County Planning Commission.

Local Gynecologic Surgical Services Expanded Because Of Dr. Green

In a continuing effort to broaden services to the community, Garrett County Memorial Hospital recently announced the addition of John C. Green, D.O., a general surgeon, to its medical staff membership. Dr. Green has received additional specialized training in gynecologic surgery which has expanded the gynecologic surgical services currently being offered to area women.

Dr. Green, who recently joined the surgical practice of Drs. Fedde, Porcaro and Surgical Associates, P.A., is a 1984 graduate of the Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine. He then completed his internship at Memorial Hospital in York, Pa., and a four-year surgical residency program at the Shenango Valley Medical Center in Farrell, Pa., where he received specialized training in gynecologic surgery in addition to general surgery. Green is board eligible with the American Association of Osteopathic Specialists and the American College of Osteopathic Surgeons.

Some of the most common problems that Green treats are abnormal uterine bleeding, ovarian problems, ovarian uterine cervical cancer, and infertility related problems. "The hysteroscope, colposcope and laparoscope, surgical instruments used in treating these problems allow for minimally invasive surgery which results in quicker healing and little or no scarring," Dr. Green said.

Green has also received additional training in cancer (oncologic) surgery at the Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center in New York City. Common forms of cancers that occur in women are breast, cervical, ovarian and endometrial cancers, many of which are very treatable when detected early. Green advises women to schedule regular appointments for Pap smears and breast exams with their family physician.

According to the American Cancer Society, women who are sexually active or who have reached age 18 should receive an annual Pap smear. After three or more consecutive annual examinations with normal findings, the Pap test may be performed less frequently at the discretion of the physician. The Society also recommends that women receive their first mammogram at age 35 and every five years until they reach age 40, at which time they should have annual mammograms. In addition to scheduling routine breast exams, women should also perform monthly breast self-examinations. Information on how to perform this procedure is available from Garrett Memorial's Wellness Together office.

According to a spokesman for Garrett County Memorial Hospital, the addition of Dr. Green to the surgical practice of Drs. Fedde, Porcaro and Surgical Associates, P.A., and Garrett Memorial has increased the gynecologic surgical capabilities offered to area women, allowing for referrals for further diagnosis and treatment of more serious gynecologic problems. Appointments can be made at Green's office by calling (301) 334-8282.

THREE FINALISTS in the annual Maryland Distinguished Scholar Competition this year are from Garrett County and were among those who were honored at special ceremonies with Governor Wm. Donald Schaefer in Columbia on Saturday. Pictured above with Governor Schaefer are Chester M. Stacy and Ingrid R. Carlson, both of Southern High School, who were named finalists in the academic category. Pictured below is Suzannah Mathews, a student at Northern High School, who is a finalist in the visual art talent category. Out of 216 Maryland high schools, only 350 were declared finalists, while some 2,100 others were named either semi-finalists or honorable mention recipients. The 350 finalists are each awarded a $3,000/year scholarship if they attend a Maryland college. Garrett County students named semi-finalists, who will be eligible for scholarship monies if finalists turn them down, are: Maria G. Massi and Amy J. Rice, Southern, and Michael W. Hetrick, of Northern. Local honorable mention honorees include Patrick T. Shaffer, Southern, and Sean E. Beachy and Erin M. Sines, both of Northern. To be eligible for the academic portion of the program, students must have an unweighted grade point average of 3.7 or higher.

Oakland Seeking Donations For Halloween Treat

The Town of Oakland will host the annual Halloween Parade on Thursday, October 29, and the mayor and town council have issued an appeal for the funding of the annual treat given to Oakland children in lieu of Trick or Treat. The purchase of these treats in previous years have been made possible through generous donations received, according to a council spokesperson.

The spokesperson expressed thanks to persons who have donated in the past, and encouraged those who would ordinarily be buying candy for Trick or Treat to bring a contribution to City Hall. Contributions may be made at City Hall between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. weekdays, or by mailing them to 109 South Third Street, Oakland, MD 21550.

The parade line-up will be at 6 p.m. with the parade starting at 6:30 p.m. on Center Street. The treat distribution for children 12 and under will follow the parade at the Oakland fire hall. A Halloween Social will then be held, sponsored by the Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club.

Flu Shots

up to 40,000 people die of this disease."

Most people only need one shot of pneumococcal vaccine during their lifetime. It can be administered at the same time as the influenza vaccine, but different sites on the body should be used.

"It is very important for the elderly and people with chronic lung or heart disease to protect themselves with the influenza vaccine because influenza has the potential to cause pneumonia or even death in those people," said Health Secretary Nelson J. Sabatini.

In addition to cases of influenza throughout the state in persons of all ages, during the 1991-92 flu season, Maryland had 10 outbreaks of culture-confirmed influenza Type-A and 30 outbreaks of influenza-like illness, all of which occurred in long-term care or institutional facilities. Most of the outbreaks occurred from late December through January. Forty-five hospitalizations and 18 deaths occurred in the confirmed influenza outbreaks. There were 18 hospitalizations and five deaths related to the outbreaks of influenza-like illness.

Influenza is a viral infection of the nose, throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs. Symptoms include fever, chills, cough, and muscle aches. On average, thousands of people die each year in the U.S. from the flu or related complications.

Children under 18 should not be given aspirin or aspirin-containing products for influenza symptoms since such treatment has been linked to Reye syndrome, a severe pediatric disease. Instead, children should be treated with acetaminophen products.

Health care workers, including physicians, nurses, nursing home employees and providers of home care, should also be vaccinated to protect themselves and to prevent transmission to high-risk persons.

Several Arrests Made Recently By Sheriff's Office

Several arrests have been made in the past two weeks by officers of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office. Charges against various defendants include theft crimes, failure to appear in court, and telephone harassment.

Russell W. Slagle, 18, Oakland, has been charged with several theft counts, including breaking with intent to commit a felony, breaking and entering a storehouse, breaking and stealing, theft of items worth over $300, and felony theft. He is also charged with destruction of property, according to the report.

Slagle has been arrested in connection with a theft that occurred at the Richard Morris residence, Oakland. Other charges against the defendant stem from a Maryland State Police investigation in which several stolen items were reportedly found in Slagle's possession. A juvenile is involved in the latter case, according to the report.

From Her Family

God saw you getting tired
and a cure was not to be
So He put his arms around you
and whispered "Come With Me"
With tearful eyes we watched you suffer
and saw you fade away.
Although we loved you dearly.
We could not make you stay.
A golden heart stopped beating
You're now at peaceful rest
It broke our hearts but proved to us
God always knows what is best.

What are spacer devices that are sometimes used with inhalers in asthma treatment?

Spacers are tube-like devices or bags that are attached to metered-dose inhalers. Spacers are designed to increase the amount of inhaled asthma medicine going into the lungs. Spacers also are valuable in that they have been shown to reduce thrush, an oral fungal infection that may occur in connection with inhaled steroid use.

Wimpy Decision...

The Garrett County Board of Education was one of the first such boards in the state to ban the use of tobacco products on school grounds during the regular school day. The ban, which included all faculty and staff members, was to have gone into effect November 1.

We were sorely disappointed this week when the Board of Education, at its Tuesday meeting, buckled to pressure by the teachers' union and voted to rescind that ban. Obviously prompted by those teachers and school administrators who smoke, the Garrett County Teachers Association presented a letter to the board which apparently stated that allowance of smoking in designated areas by teachers fell into the contractual category of "working conditions" and thus required negotiation between GCTA and the board before any decision should be made. The letter at least hinted that legal action might be taken if the board did not agree to negotiate the issue. Rather than agreeing to negotiate, the board decided to simply rescind the ban and avoid the hassle.

It was noted by the superintendent of schools that the state plans to implement a similar ban statewide next July anyway.

First of all, we believe smoking in our schools during the regular school day has far more to do with health conditions than working conditions. And if a case can be made for attaching it to working conditions, what about the working conditions for the students and other non-smokers in the building who must breathe second-hand smoke? Dr. Rex Archer, county health officer, was among those who advocated the ban and tried to convince the board not to repeal it.

The board was not unanimous in its decision and we are pleased that member Rodney Durst strongly opposed rescinding the ban and suggested the board simply call GCTA's bluff and let them pursue the matter if they wished. Another board member, Mikal Moomau, was absent from the meeting when the vote was taken.

Garrett Community College is smoke-free, as is Garrett County Memorial Hospital and even the Garrett County jail! Could we be more concerned about the lungs of those incarcerated than we are about the lungs of our children?

This was a wimpy, spineless decision by the board, and we believe it is outrageous that the GCTA made it an issue. Had the ban truly been challenged by the teachers' union, we don't believe the board could lose. The pride in our board that was created by their bold decision this summer went right into the sewer this week.

Endorsement Letter Policy

We do not usually accept letters of endorsement for political candidates, simply for fear that we would be inundated with them. However, we have reserved space in our October 22 issue for as many endorsement letters as space will allow. These letters must be received by us no later than October 19. If more space is needed, we will publish the remainder of the letters in our October 29 issue; however, we will publish no letters of endorsement that are received after the Oct. 19 deadline. As always, these letters must be signed.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I am writing in response to the ad placed in last week's Republican by Catherine Lohr on page D-3. Employment in local restaurants cut by 30 percent and a loss of $300,000 in wages because of the Blue Law now on the books that prohibit Sunday sale of alcohol.

She states "According to the most precise information available the total economic loss in wages, services and local taxes amounts to over one million annually from a community with the highest unemployment rate in the state." She also states we are giving away jobs and tax income to counties all around us! In her last statement she says, "You can help create jobs by voting yes on the HB 1283 Referendum."

In response to her statement that local employment in restaurants would grow by 30 percent with the sale of alcoholic beverages with meals. How many people are working in restaurants on Sundays now, plus 30 percent would not create that many new jobs. Also, your estimate of $300,000 in lost wages is a bit high, as most waitresses, waiters, and bartenders who work in the local restaurants are paid minimum wages.

In response to "this outdated law costs Garrett County one million dollars a year," under this heading you say Garrett County loses one million per year annually from a county already suffering from the highest unemployment in the state. Most people may not know that Garrett County also suffers from the highest D.W.I. (driving while intoxicated) rate per capita of any county in Maryland. Just look in The Republican any week and you will see a list of D.W.I Also, look at the ages of the people who are caught; the ages keep getting younger.

Drinking is listed as being one of the "drugs" most abused by our young people today. Alcohol ads on TV and in magazines always portray "hunks" with good looking "chicks" drinking and to be "cool" you have to drink. Why don't they show the broken homes, people killed in vehicle accidents by drunken drivers, and the number of people attending D.W.I. schooling? Also, you state we are giving away jobs and tax income to counties all around us! Where are these counties around us that are reaping our jobs and tax income? Look to West Virginia and Pennsylvania; they're in worse shape then we are for the most part.

How can you help create jobs by voting for HB 1283? You probably will create a few more minimum wage jobs, but you will also create the need to hire more MD State Police and Garrett County deputy sheriffs (to arrest the more D.W.I. you will have on the road). Also, you will need to hire more alcohol counselors and people to operate the D.W.I. schools that you will need to accommodate the more people caught driving while intoxicated. People in Garrett County can now purchase alcoholic beverages six days a week, and if they need alcohol so bad on Sunday that they can't make it until Monday, you have a problem--alcoholism. Vote no on HB 1283.

Sincerely,
Terry DeWitt

To the Editor:

We would like to express our disappointment in the Garrett County Animal Shelter's operating schedule. We find it hard to believe that as animal lovers and owners we are only allowed access to the shelter animals Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Many people work those hours and days and therefore are prohibited from the chance to adopt from the shelter. Saturday and Sunday are family times and good times to look for animals, but the shelter is not open; therefore, the animals and families are deprived of the chance of being brought together.

If Garrett County is sincere in their wishes to have these "unwanted" animals adopted, they should seriously consider changing their operating schedule to include evening and weekend hours.

Animal lovers,

To the Editor:

Hi. My name is Brian and I live on Bradley Lane in Oakland. This morning as I was doing my chore of taking out the trash, I looked across the road and what I saw made me cry out to my mom and dad. Our cat, an orange and white tabby named Tiger, had been run over by a car. His little body was torn beyond repair and his breathing beginning to still. Tiger was special to us, we loved him.

This was a terrible thing to have happen. I am sure that it was an accident but I will never know because the driver never stopped. This isn't the first time someone has been hit on my street. Last year, my friend Aimee, was hit by a car. The driver wasn't paying attention. Luckily, Aimee only had a bruise but this is serious!

It's too late for Tiger but maybe this kind of tragedy can be avoided in the future. Drivers, please slowdown and watch out for us kids and our pets.

Sincerely,
Brian Oxford

An Update From The Superintendent

By
Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, Superintendent
Of Garrett County Public Schools

National School Lunch Week In Our Schools
(This article was written by Mr. Richard Buckingham, Assistant in Food Services.)

Once each year the entire nation sets aside one week in October for parents and other interested community people to have lunch in the school of their choice, so that they can see the types of meals the youngsters attending school are receiving through the National School Lunch Program. This year's National School Lunch Week is underway, from October 12-16.

Parents interested in having lunch with their child should notify the school office as to which day they plan to eat. We want to make sure enough food is prepared, but do not want to over-prepare.

National School Lunch Week is a time for the Food Service Department to show the public the close relationship between good nutrition and the ability of youngsters to learn to the best of their abilities. Tests have proven that students who eat a well-balanced breakfast and lunch have greater attention spans and consistently score higher on tests. The theme for this year's National School Lunch Week is "Shape Your Future." To help your child reach his or her full potential, be sure a nutritional breakfast and lunch are part of their daily curriculum. On behalf of the Garrett County Board of Education, I invite anyone interested to have lunch at the school of their choice during National School Lunch Week. Lunch for an adult is $2.50 and children will pay the student prices.

The Garrett County Board of Education points out that our price for breakfast is the lowest price in the state, $.50. Other breakfast prices in the state vary from $.55 in Baltimore City to $1 in Washington county and $1.05 in Harford County. Although we have tried to serve breakfast at the secondary level, participation has been poor and so we only offer breakfast in our elementary schools. Considering the low price, however, it is a very good value and a great way to begin the student day.

Lunch prices in the state vary from a low of $1 to $1.45 for elementary students - our elementary student are charged $1.15. At the middle school level we charge $1.25 and $1.30 to high school students. This places us in the lower third of the state as prices vary from a low of $1.10 to a high of $1.80.

Once again, we encourage participation in the school lunch program as it represents a nutritious as well as economical way to feed your student during the school day.

What's happening in our schools?

* Fourth and fifth graders at Friendsville Elementary will be centering some of their school activities on Thursday, Oct. 22, on "Days Gone By" - activities which will relate to local culture and history.

* The week of Oct. 19 begins our functional testing of all seventh and ninth graders in reading and math - this testing to continue until Nov. 5.

* On Oct. 29, fourth graders from Broad Ford Elementary will take a field trip to Bedford Village, and first graders from Friendsville Elementary will visit the planetarium.

Note: Superintendent's Update can be heard every other Sunday on WMSG/WXIE Radio at 8:45 a.m. and every other Saturday on WKHJ at 8:35 a.m.

GOOD MOVIES

BY BEVERLY ROBIN

The Last of the Mohicans

Twentieth Century Fox; directed by Michael Mann; starring Daniel Day-Lewis, Madeleine Stowe, Russell Means, Eric Schweig and Johdi May.

The Last of the Mohicans is a celebration of primal emotions. A feast for the heart far more than the intellect, it hearkens back to the grand, romantic, epic adventures of yesteryear. Boasting lush scenery and a soaring musical score, its simple story is set against the dramatic backdrop of pre-Revolutionary Seven Years' War in America.

Best of all, the film features Daniel Day-Lewis, one of our finest contemporary actors and winner of the Academy Award for My Left Foot. Day-Lewis has a rough hewn grace as he bounds through the forest like a force of nature, eluding enemies and stalking prey. He is Nathaniel Poe, a white man orphaned as a baby and raised as "Hawkeye" by the Mohican tribe that adopted him.

Now it is 1757. The French and English battle for supremacy in the colonies. Each is allied to different Indian tribes. Each will compromise morality and exploit the land to win.

Hawkeye refuses to commit to either side. His absolute loyalty lies with his adoptive father Chingachgook (Russell Means) and brother Uncas (Eric Schweig). It is Hawkeye's directness, integrity and earthiness (in contrast to her fawning, hypocritical English suitor) that compels British aristocrat Cora Munro (the luminous Madeleine Stowe) to forswear her birthright and share his undying love.

Liberties taken with James Fennimore Cooper's classic novel are taken in a good cause. Gone is the sentimentalized, one dimensional view of the American Indian as either noble savage or inhuman cutthroat. Casting Indian activist Russell Means in the key role as "the last of the Mohicans" assures a degree of political correctness and dignity.

Director Mann goes much further, revelling in carefully researched details of Indian life that puts Cooper's own casual historiography to shame.

Gone too is any vestige of stylized violence. Mann's vision has a bloody immediacy and a substantial gore content. Indeed, his heroes face odds most reminiscent of a Chinese swordflick. Yet even Mann's villainous Huron Magua (played to glowering perfection by Wes Studi), propels the action through a complex web of murderous disdain and vengeful rage.

This is a movie that takes little stock in the spoken word. Long stretches of silence punctuate scenes of intense action and chaste passion. It is ultimately the powerful physical images you remember — of a fevered embrace beside a waterfall, of the fleetfooted Hawkeye, of the indomitable Chingachgook lamenting the loss of his way of life. It is pleasure indeed to cast off the trappings of civilization with these heroes and spend some time debating the merits of how far we have come since then.

Rated R for violence.

1-10 Rating: 8. The romantic adventures of a frontiersman raised by Mohicans, set against the backdrop of the French and Indian War.

County Library Director Edith Brock Will Be Missed by Staff And Patrons

by Sherry Frantz

"She's better than any encyclopedia, and even when I made mistakes, she corrected me gently. The county is losing a lot with her retirement" - Maxine Broadwater, retired after 31 years at the Grantsville Library.

"The lady is nice, and not too many people are these days. Miss Brock is synonymous with the library - she is the library" - Janet Otto, Accident Library.

"She's always thinking of others - she's always putting others before herself" Georgie Harvey, Oakland Library.

"I can't say anything bad about her. She's a super person" - Gail Broadwater, Grantsville Library.

"She's an asset to the community and a very nice lady to work for" - Kim Lishia, Grantsville Library.

These are but a few of the comments made by employees of the Ruth Enlow Library in Garrett County, who will soon be saying goodbye to their director, Edith Brock, hired in 1950 to oversee the operations at the newly-constructed library facility on Second Street in Oakland.

This Sunday, October 18, she will be honored with a retirement reception by her staff and the public for her contributions and dedication to the library and the community.

Under Brock's direction, the county's public library system has thrived, reaching out to rural areas in the form of five branch facilities and a bookmobile. By virtue of its connection to an extensive interlibrary loan network, the citizens of an area far removed from any major cultural centers have been afforded, in no small measure, vast educational and enlightening opportunities.

The library of today is certainly more than just a building of books -- it is a veritable universal system for plugging into and obtaining information.

But no such system works well without the benefit of a dedicated and intelligent administrator of that system. Available resources, in other words, are only as good as the person who knows how to reference them. Edith Brock is, arguably, the force that has propelled the library to success.

That success can be measured in various ways, from the statewide recognition the library has received, to the economic desirability it has contributed to the county's public relations package, to the abstract enrichment of the lives of local residents.

In her 42 years as the library's director, Brock has seen transformations in the scope of services, the usage, and in library technology. Throughout those transformations, one thing seems clear: Brock always did what was necessary to get the job done, accepting little in the way of compensation, and never punching a time clock.

As Ruth Glaze, Oakland Library, so aptly stated, "They'll have a hard time finding anybody else who worked 100 hours a week."

When the library was still very young, Miss Brock took it upon herself to "man" the bookmobile -- quite a courageous act for such a mild-mannered woman in the blizzard-like conditions that were, at that time, significantly more severe than the county has experienced in recent years. (She's been known to share a few of the "hairier" episodes that one would swear she managed in her stride.)

She also has some rather amusing stories about trying to virtually "second guess" what some of her patrons have inquired about, i.e., finally deciphering that one little girl who asked for a story about three tomatoes was actually looking for the book, Five Little Peppers and How They Grew.

Through the library, Brock has accommodated the various interests and needs of a wide range of people in the county, and has emphasized that the library contains much more than the "literary" or academic needs of the community, including information about everything from personal problems to woodworking projects.

A 42-year career of digging up information and resources for the public has, naturally, resulted in a person who has accumulated a wealth of knowledge about both the information that has passed from her hands to those of her patrons, as well as a general knowledge of who those patrons are.

Indeed, when Brock was asked what she would miss the most about her career as a library director, she responded, "The people -- both the staff and the patrons."

Brock also stated that her job has been "extremely interesting," adding, "I've learned something new every day, and I've met someone new every day."

One common thread that runs through every comment made by the library staff people is the notion that two admirable qualities are combined in Brock: dedication to the library and an understanding and accommodation of her staff's personal and familial needs and conflicts.

As Starr Harvey, Oakland Library, said, "She has always been dedicated to her job but she's also always shown a real understanding of her employee's lives. She's a very caring person."

Janet Otto, Accident Library, echoed that sentiment, saying, "I can't say enough about how kind and how good she is to her people."

Sheila Hughes, a longtime employee at the Oakland Library, will be serving as acting director until a permanent one can be found. She has worked closely with Brock over the years, and stated, "She is an ideal librarian, and I hope we can continue to provide the level of service she provided."

Lynn McDaniel stood by with Georgie Harvey (both staffers in Oakland) as they listened to Sheila's words and nodded in agreement.

It was obviously difficult for any of them to find the right words to describe this woman who was so much more to them than an employer.

"She'll be hard to replace," said Lynn, as the three of them, together, tried to find words to project the image of a woman, they said, is "an angel."

Even the most casual of observers would have noticed that they, along with every other member of her staff in Oakland, Kitzmiller, Friendsville, Finzel, Grantsville, and Accident, haven't a notion of how the terrific void will be filled.

EDITH G. BROCK DAY PROCLAIMED - The Board of Garrett County Commissioners has declared Sunday, October 18, 1992, as Edith G. Brock Day in Garrett County, and have urged all citizens to "wish her well" on her retirement, according to the proclamation. Brock began her career as librarian of the Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland on August 1, 1950, and has dedicated herself to serving the citizenry of the county during those years with a full-service library system that has grown "tremendously" over the years. A reception in Brock's honor will be held at the main library branch in Oakland this Sunday, from 2 to 4 p.m. The public is invited to attend. Shown above, seated, left to right, are the Garrett County Commissioners, Brenda Butscher, Elwood Groves, and John Braskey. Standing, same order, are Georgie Harvey and Lynn McDaniel, library staff members; Edith Brock; Michele Duda, staff member; Dorothy Leighton, Miss Brock's sister; Starr Harvey, staff member; Sheila Hughes, acting director; and Ann Leighton and Roger Tichinel, staff members.

Advisory Board For Telecomm. Relay To Meet

The Governor's Advisory Board for Telecommunications Relay (GABTR) will be meeting at Garrett Community College at 10 a.m. on Saturday, October 24. The meeting will be held in Room 155 of the Learning Center (Building B) at the College.

The GABTR is an advisory group appointed by the Governor to advise him and the Maryland Department of General Services on policies and issues involved in the development, management, and services of the Maryland Relay Service to residents of the state. Members of the Board serve staggered terms with an average of three years per term. Meetings, which are by law open to the public, are held every two months in different locations throughout the state and allow input from interested individuals who wish to be heard.

The Maryland Relay Service (MRS), administered by the Department of General Services under a contract with Sprint, is a telecommunications relay system that permits telephone communications between persons who have normal hearing and those who have hearing and/or speech impairments, and who use a special electronic device called a Text Telephone (TT) for communicating over the phone. To use the MRS system, the TT user calls the MRS center in Baltimore on a toll-free 800 number, gives the communication assistant (CA) who answers their call on a computer the name and number of the other party to be called. Using a separate voice line, the CA calls the other party by voice. Once both parties are on their respective lines, the CA voices (relays) what the hearing or speech impaired person types, and then types the hearing persons' responses back to the hearing or speech impaired person to complete the communication link.

The Maryland Relay Service is mandated by both HB 853 of the Maryland General Assembly, and by Article IV of the Americans With Disabilities Act (ADA) of 1990. The ADA, which was the most sweeping civil rights legislation enacted by Congress since 1964, requires that each state establish a fully functioning relay service no later than July 26, 1993, and further requires that the services shall provide telephone communication capabilities which are functionally equivalent to that enjoyed by normally hearing persons for over 100 years. Approximately 42 states have already established relay programs and the remaining states are in the process of setting up their systems now.

Two Car Mishaps Probed By GCSO

Two car wrecks have been investigated recently by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office. Both mishaps involved teenaged drivers, according to the reports.

Rachel L. Knotts, 17, Horse Shoe Run, W.Va., was operating a 1989 Ford Escort in the parking lot of Treasure Island when she apparently partially backed over a pedestrian. Donald L. Frantz, 21, Eglon, W.Va., was knocked to the ground and received injuries to his left leg. Frantz was transported by private vehicle to Garrett County Memorial Hospital following the accident, which occurred on October 9 at 10:30 p.m. He was treated in the emergency room and released, according to a hospital spokesperson.

In a separate incident, a 17-year-old Oakland youth was unhurt when his vehicle, a 1989 Honda CRX, spun several times and overturned on Old Crellin Road. Jamie M. Hauser was reportedly traveling west and was rounding a sharp left curve when the vehicle slid off the right side of the roadway onto the shoulder. The driver apparently veered sharply to the left, causing the car to spin several times and go over an embankment on the left roadside, overturning. The vehicle came to rest on its top in the ditch, against a fence post.

The roadway was wet at the time of the accident, which occurred on September 25 at 10:45 p.m., according to the report.

Neither driver was charged in the accidents.

Bloodmobile To Visit Oakland Friday, Oct. 23

The Garrett County Chapter of the American Red Cross Blood Services, Johnstown Region, has announced the bloodmobile will make a regular visit to Oakland on Friday, Oct. 23, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the National Guard Armory.

The blood drive is an effort to maintain the Johnstown Region's commitment to the blood and blood product needs of patients in the 64 hospitals it serves in 40 counties.

"There is a continuous need for blood donors in order to meet the needs of area patients with cancer, leukemia, and other acute and chronic illnesses; as well as the emergency blood needs of accident victims. The only source of blood is healthy people who come out to donate at their local blood drive," said Don Einolf, executive of the Garrett County Chapter.

Einolf continued to say that at the present time there is a need for type A negative, B negative, and O negative in local hospitals. He explained that, because of emergencies or other circumstances, hospitals often experience a shortage of a certain blood type, most frequently type O. A type-O donor can give to any blood type recipient, however a type-O recipient can only receive type O blood.

The Garrett County Chapter is one of 43 chapters in the Johnstown Region who contribute to the region's collection goal of 600 units each weekday.

Local Nursing Homes To Host Meeting Nov. 12

Advance directives, which were the result of the Resident Self-Determination Act of 1990, will be the major topic of discussion at a community meeting slated for Tuesday, Nov. 12, in the Garrett Community College auditorium, McHenry.

Hosted by the Cuppett and Weeks Nursing Home, Inc., and Dennett Road Manor, Inc., Oakland, the meeting will feature guest speaker Rev. Hank Dunn, chaplain of the Fairfax Nursing Center, Fairfax, Va., and author of Hard Choices for Loving People. Margaret Kaiser, M.D., a local physician who is board certified in internal medicine and a member of the medical staff at the two homes, will comment on and respond to medically related questions.

According to Robert Trantham, director of resource development for Cuppett Management Company, nursing home residents have the right to personal choices when it comes to questions of care in medical life-threatening situations. Heroic measures, such as cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) by nursing home personnel may not be what the resident desires as a standard procedure, Trantham explained. Residents may or may not want a feeding tube utilized on them, he added.

"These conscious decisions need to be discussed among family members, competent residents, and physicians," Trantham said. "These decisions or wishes become advance directives and they become the resident's right or choice."

Trantham added that the meeting was being held as a public awareness service of the two local long-term care facilities. All interested persons are invited to attend.

THE GRAND FEATURE PARADE draws the biggest of Autumn Glory crowds each year, and the crowd is especially large when the weather cooperates the way it did this past Saturday for the 25th annual parade. Among the honored parade participants were Amy Rice, queen of the 25th annual festival, who is pictured above with princesses Cindy Jo Graham and Paulette McIntyre. Numerous bands and baton corps, a variety of floats and wagons, local politicians and celebrities, and the members of the Ali Ghan Shrine Club were among the many participants. "SURELY YOU DON'T MEAN ME?" might be what this young man is thinking upon reference to the sign in front of him. Relaxing and "catching some rays" before Grand Feature parade time was the goal of many a parade goer in Oakland on Saturday, but few were as relaxed as this fellow. The two youngsters pictured below discovered that riding on their dads' (grandfathers'?) backs was the best way to travel immediately following the parade, as Oakland's streets were swarming with thousands of folks heading for home or a turkey dinner or one of the many other festival attractions. Hardwood Day Being Observed By Local Firm

On October 23, National Hardwood Day will salute the beauty and value of natural hardwood products and the professionals who keep the nation's renewable resources in ample supply.

Wood Products, Inc., Oakland, is joining Maryland and the rest of the country in recognizing hardwood forests "as one of America's most important, abundant resources and the hardwood industry as an economic force in this community and state."

"From the professional forest manager to the skilled craftsman, the hardwood industry takes pride in the knowledge that, for every tree used to make a hardwood product, we grow twice that amount to replace it each year," said Jeffery Messenger, vice president of Wood Products. "In fact, according to the USDA Forest Service, 70 percent more hardwoods are growing in this country now than 35 years ago.

"Most hardwood companies are family-owned, with their heritage and traditions rooted in the forest. They are part of a forest products industry that directly employs some 1.5 million people with an annual payroll of around $31 billion. Their future depends on healthy forests. So, while it is easy to fall in love with the warmth and beauty of furniture made from real hardwoods, it's also good to know that our hardwood forests are in good hands," said Messenger.

For a free book on forest facts, persons may write the National Hardwood Lumber Association, P.O. Box 34518, Memphis, TN 38184-0518.

HIV/AIDS Course Scheduled By Local Red Cross

The Garrett County Chapter of the American Red Cross, in cooperation with Garrett Community College, will sponsor an HIV/AIDS education course for persons interested in becoming HIV/AIDS educators.

The course will be held Saturday, Nov. 14, and Sunday, Nov. 15, from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. at GCC. An instructor training course for anyone not previously taking the course will be held Friday, Nov. 13, at GCC from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Persons completing the education course will then be qualified to give HIV/AIDS education presentations to the public.

According to Cindy Kutchman, a representative of the Red Cross, the goals of Red Cross HIV/AIDS education are: to help prevent the spread of HIV infection and to help people respond in reasonable ways to HIV infection itself, as well as to the people who have it.

"Red Cross instructors who accurately present the facts about HIV infection in their communities make a significant contribution to public understanding," Kutchman said. "Some research shows that people who don't know the facts are more likely to respond emotionally than those who do know the facts."

The cost of the course is $28 per person. Anyone wishing to register may do so by mailing a check to the Garrett County Chapter ARC, P.O. Box 524, Oakland, MD 21550, or calling 334-3916. No medical background information is necessary.

Springs Museum To Be Assessed By Professionals

The Board of Directors of the Springs, Pa., Historical Society have announced that Brian R. Howard, of the Commonwealth Conservation Center, Harrisburg, Pa., and Martin Jay Rosenblum, of Martin Jay Rosenblum, RA & Associates, Philadelphia, will be in the area October 19 and 20 to conduct a conservation assessment of the Springs Museum, supported by the Institute of Museum Services.

In the past two years, the Museum has received funding from the Institute of Museum Services in Washington, D.C. for museum assessment programs for an overall survey of operations and most recently a survey specific to its collection. Both assessments confirmed that the Museum collection was "of significant worth."

The upcoming program, known as the Conservation Assessment Program, supports two assessments, one of collections conservation and the other architectural conservation. Both assessors will be working together for two days to evaluate the conservation needs of the Museum. The results will be a written report which the Board of Directors will use to help in long range conservation planning.

These assessments, besides helping Museum personnel plan for future direction, will give specific recommendations in seeking funding from federal and state organizations.

AWARDED FOR QUALITY FOOD SERVICE - Mrs. Della Miller, owner of Casselman Restaurant, was recently presented a Quality Food Service Award by Edgar Harman, director of Environmental Health Services for the Garrett County Health Department. The award is given based on food service facility inspection reports, food handling techniques, overall cleanliness, and personal hygiene. Mrs. Miller and her late husband, Ivan, took over the ownership of the restaurant in 1964. The second dining room and bake shop were added in 1973, and in the past five years, extensive renovations to the kitchen and downstairs have taken place. The Casselman Restaurant specializes in old-fashioned country cooking and is located on Rt. 40, across from the old elementary school in Grantsville. It is the first full service food facility to receive the award. Tina Buckel, food service supervisor for the health department, stated that the personnel at the restaurant have food safety foremost in their minds as they prepare and serve to the public. In fact, Hilda Maust, head cook, has created innovative methods to cool food in an effort to reduce the risk of food-borne organism growth, Buckel said. Huskies Edge Rams In Final Moments To Claim County Title

The annual Garrett County high school football clash between the Southern Rams and the Northern Huskies had all the makings for an exciting contest this year, and fans were indeed treated to an exciting match-up Friday night at the Southern field. For the first time in many seasons the undefeated 5-0 Huskies were the favored team, but the 1-4 Rams were not to be overlooked, as the calibre of competition faced by them to date was stronger than that of the Husky foes. In one of the area's most thrilling contests this season, the Huskies came back in the final minutes of the game to claim the county title, 23-22.

The game was also one of the most unusual of the year, and probably in the entire series between the two schools, as the first 28 points of the game were scored in the first quarter and all but two of the remaining 17 points were recorded in the final two and one-half minutes of the fourth quarter. Two of the first half touchdowns were scored within 41 seconds of each other and the two fourth quarter scores were within one minute of each other.

The offensive units of both teams moved at will during the first 10 minutes of the game, as they alternated big-play touchdowns and were tied at 14-14 until 27 seconds before halftime, when Ram quarterback C.J. Getson was tackled in the Ram end zone and the Huskies took a 16-14 lead.

The Rams wasted little time breaking through the tough Northern defense, a defense that had allowed only about two points and just over 100 yards per game in its first five outings. A 37-yard touchdown run by Jeremy Bosley gave the Rams a 6-0 lead at the 8:40 mark. The pass for the conversion was incomplete.

The Huskies came right back, as Paul Edwards took the kickoff and returned the ball to the Southern 40-yard line. Northern quarterback Rob Speicher led a three-minute drive, featuring a 24-yard pass to Chris Wachter, that set up a one-yard scoring plunge by Edwards. Jon Hinebaugh's conversion kick put the Huskies on top, 7-6.

Northern held the Rams on their next possession, but the Huskies gave the ball right back to them on a fumble by Alan Sebold that was recovered by Southern's Mark Elliott on Northern's 14. Bosley carried the ball in for the score on the next play. Getson's run for the two-point conversion gave the Rams a 14-7 lead at the 1:48 mark of the first quarter.

The Huskies knotted the score at 14-14 just 41 seconds later, as Larry Wakefield broke loose on a 60-yard touchdown run and Hinebaugh booted the extra point.

The defensive units of both teams finally settled down and began stopping their opponents, and it was the Northern defense that accounted for what would ultimately be the two winning points of the game. With the Southern offense trying to work its way out of a hole deep in Ram territory, Getson scrambled into the Southern end zone where he was trapped and tackled by Greg Wagner, giving the Huskies the safety with just 27 seconds left in the first half.

The rest of the game was all defense and it appeared that the Huskies would return home with a 16-14 win, but the Rams took over possession on downs at their own 42 and Getson took off on a 58-yard keeper to put

THE BACKYARD BRAWL between the Southern Rams and the Northern Huskies last Friday night in Oakland was one of the area's most exciting high school football games this season, as the favored Huskies came away with a one-point victory to stretch their unbeaten streak to seven games. The contest was virtually even in nearly every category, as the Rams rose to the occasion and nearly upset their rivals to claim the county title. Above, Northern running back Alan Sebold powers up the middle for some tough yardage. Also identifiable are Southern's No. 70 J.R. Reams and Northern's No. 10, Rob Speicher, and No. 78, Robert Beachy. Below, Southern's Josh Woods finds a little daylight along the sidelines directly in front of his coaches, Fred Gregg and Terry Kendall. An identifiable Husky is No. 12, Jon Hinebaugh. The Huskies, who are the number one rated team in the Region IA standings, will host Berkeley Springs this Friday while the Rams will entertain Tucker County. Both are homecoming contests.

SHS Jayvees Whip Huskies, Mountaineers

Behind two strong running performances by tailback Scott Dawson, the Southern High junior varsity football team upped its record to 5-1 this past week by rolling over host Northern last Thursday night, 30-0, and then whipping Beall Monday night in Frostburg, 26-7.

Dawson scored a pair of touchdowns and had a 65-yard interception return against Northern and then recorded 200 yards and four touchdowns on 27 carries in Monday's game against the Mountaineers.

Dawson opened the scoring against the Huskies with a 10-yard touchdown run on a fourth down play with two minutes left in the first quarter. The run for the conversion failed.

Dawson then set up his second touchdown with his 65-yard interception in the second quarter which put the ball on the Huskies' five-yard line. He scored on the next play and quarterback Andy Woods ran for the conversion to give the Rams a 14-0 halftime lead.

Paul Berkeridge scored on a 12-yard run in the third quarter and Nathan Mersing ran for the conversion to make it 22-0.

Woods added an insurance touchdown in the fourth quarter on a three-yard run and Jason Paugh capped the scoring with his successful run for the conversion.

Leading the Rams' defensive charge were Gary Holland, Randy Murphy, Ben Getson, and Fabrice Defore.

Dawson and the Rams wasted little time taking control of Monday's game at Beall, as Dawson scored on runs of one and four yards in the first quarter, and also ran for the conversion on the second touchdown to give Southern a 14-0 advantage.

He repeated his efforts in the second stanza by scoring on runs of six and three yards, which concluded the Rams' point production for the evening.

The Mountaineers (1-5) avoided a shutout when Doug Frost hauled in a 36-yard touchdown pass from Kevin Speir. Frost also booted the extra point.

Getson, Murphy, Holland, and Berkeridge led the Southern defense, while Gordy Opel, Shawn Rice, Speir, and Frost were standouts on the Beall defense.

The Southern jayvees are coached by Scott Harvey, assisted by Terry Kendall.

Jets Shut Out Raiders, Advance To League Finals

The Oakland Jets of the Mountain Top Youth Football League have advanced to the championship game this week with a 19-0 win over the Oakland Raiders Sunday afternoon at the Southern High School field. The Jets will now face the defending champion Northern Steelers this Sunday at 2 p.m., also at Southern.

The Raiders received the ball to start the contest and were held on three downs and forced to punt. A punt by Joel Uphold of the Raiders traveled 60 yards to the three-yard line of the Jets. With their backs against their own end zone, the Jets ran five plays and punched the ball out to the 20-yard line. On the sixth play of the drive, Mike Welch broke free for an 80-yard romp to make the score 6-0. The PAT attempt failed.

The Jets' second score came in the second quarter on a two-yard plunge by Scott Schroyer, who had several long runs in the drive. Howie Crosco ran for the one-point conversion to make the score 13-0.

The Jets scored again in the third quarter on a 14-yard run by Crosco after a long drive. The PAT kick attempt failed. The fourth quarter was a defensive struggle as neither team could muster much offense in the driving rain.

Jet Coach Vic Compitello praised the play of both his offensive and defensive lines in the game. "We felt we won the battle of the trenches which enabled our backs to run the ball very effectively," he said. "Our linemen, consisting of Nathan Rickman, Walter Fike, Tommy Gank, Billy Stoner, Aaron Newcomb, Clyde Holland, Steve Shifflett, Chris Gidley, and Noel Smith, did a great job of controlling the line of scrimmage. Andy Seib and Chad Warnick also excelled in the defensive secondary."

Compitello added, ""The Raiders played a fine game and they have plenty to be proud of."

Compitello said he hopes a large crowd will come out and support the Jets on Sunday against the Northern Steelers. The first meeting of the two teams resulted in an overtime win for the Jets.

Steelers Edge Vikings, Get Ready For Jets

A fourth quarter touchdown by Scott Sisler on a quarterback sneak resulted in a 6-0 win for the Northern Steelers over the Parsons Vikings Sunday afternoon in Mountaintop Youth Football League action at the Southern High School field.

After nearly four full quarters of scoreless, defensive action, it appeared that the game would go into overtime. But with 1:53 left in the game Steeler Zack Leverenz broke loose on a 47-yard run to the Viking one-yard line to set up Sisler's winning touchdown on the next play. The kick for the two-point conversion failed, but the Steeler defense held the Vikings on their ensuing possession until the clock expired.

The only team that scored on the Steeler defense all season was the Oakland Jets in an overtime contest that was Northern's only loss. "Our whole defense deserves credit for an outstanding performance Sunday, and also for the whole season," stated Steeler Coach Ben Sisler.

The Steelers will get an opportunity to avenge that loss this Sunday at 2 p.m. when they meet the Jets in the a semi-final round of the league playoffs. The winner of that game will meet the winner of the Oakland Jets/Parsons Vikings game to determine the 1992 league championship team.

"Ever since the first game of the season when the Jets beat us in overtime we've been looking forward to the opportunity to meet them again," Sisler said. "We expect a very tough and exciting football game and we hope our fans, past and present, will come out and support us."

Southern Girls Roll By Oldtown

The Southern High volleyball team had little trouble disposing of visiting Oldtown last night, as the Rams topped the visitors in three straight games, 15-0, 15-7, and 15-2. The win upped Coach Sue Snyder's team's record to 5-4.

Sherry Niner led the Rams in serving with 18 points, which Christie Crews and Keri Kratofil each recorded seven. Carmen Bishop led Oldtown with five points.

The Rams will play again Monday at Mt. Savage.

Huskies Edge

Southern on top. Bosley's two-point conversion run made the score 22-16 with 2:34 remaining.

The Southern fans' elation and sense that victory was at hand lasted only a matter of moments, however, as Speicher and the Northern offense went to work. After returning the kickoff to their own 47 and then being aided by a 15-yard penalty for the Rams' having 12 men on the field, Speicher put the ball in the air and Pete Forno, who went up in the air against three Ram defenders, came down with the ball at about the five-yard line and raced into the end zone to tie the score. The play covered 38 yards. Although a Ram defender got his hand on Hinebaugh's conversion kick, it was not enough of a deterrent to keep it from going through the uprights and giving the Huskies their first win over Southern since 1984.

The statistics for the contest were as even as the scoring, as the Huskies finished with just two more yards of total offense (265-263) and two fewer first downs (9-7). Each team fumbled three times and lost one and there were no interceptions by either defense.

"Our kids played as hard as they can play," Southern Coach Fred Gregg stated. "But Northern also played very well. We knew they were a good team with a lot of weapons, and I give them a lot of credit. We thought our kids definitely showed progress and played better, but we're still not at the level we need to be."

Northern Coach Tom Vent expressed similar opinions, stating, "Our kids just played a super game. It was a great win for us, not only because it was over Southern, but also because we believed going into the game that we needed to win it to make sure our program is solid and has moved up another notch.

"Southern also played very well," he continued, "probably the best they have played all year. C.J. Getson does a great job for them."

When asked why he thought there was so much scoring in the first quarter, and then almost none until the final minutes of the game, Gregg said, "Maybe it was because both teams were so emotionally high and played so hard at the beginning of the game they were suddenly drained."

Vent agreed with that assessment, but added that both teams made some defensive adjustments that were also effective.

When asked what he said to his players just after the Rams scored what many believed would be the winning touchdown late in the fourth quarter, Vent said, "We just told them that we had all of our timeouts left and believed there was enough time to have a legitimate shot at scoring."

Vent and his staff named Greg Wagner as the winner of the team's Hammer Award for his tackle of Getson in the end zone. Chris Rowe, who was moved to nose guard and caused trouble for the Southern offensive line, was named Defensive Player of the Week, while Larry Wakefield was named Offensive Player of the Week. Three players, all involved with the place kicking chore, shared the Special Teams Player of the Week honor. They are center Bobby Fritz, holder Rob Speicher, and kicker Jon Hinebaugh.

Southern award winners were: Rich Warnick, Offensive Lineman of the Week; Danny House, Defensive Player of the Week; and C.J. Getson, Special Teams Player of the Week for his punting performance. Warnick, a 5-10, 150-pound junior tight end, played a "super game," according to Gregg. House is a 5-7, 168-pound senior defensive end and Getson is a 5-11, 162-pound senior.

HUSKIES TO MEET INDIANS

The Huskies will be favored to record their seventh straight win this Friday night when they host Berkeley Springs in their homecoming contest. The Indians are currently 1-6 on the season.

"Even though we probably have the better team, we notoriously have problems with Berkeley Springs," Vent said. "Last year we were favored to win, but barely did (27-24) on a last-minute touchdown pass. They always have good speed and try just about everything on offense."

The Indian offense is led by a pair of experienced quarterbacks in senior Reagan Thompson and sophomore Mike Gurson, while junior Shawn Martin is the leading rusher.

"Our kids are still really flying high after the big win over Southern and we have to make sure they don't look past Berkeley Springs to the Petersburg and Bishop Walsh games," Vent said.

The Huskies did suffer some losses in the Southern game, however, as all-purpose player Chris Wachter is definitely out with a hamstring injury and fullback Alan Sebold is out with a knee injury from the Southern game, as well as injuries sustained in an automobile mishap yesterday morning.

RAMS TO HOST LIONS

Meanwhile, at the other end of the county in another homecoming tilt, the Southern Rams will attempt to record their second win of their tough season by defeating visiting Tucker County.

The Mountain Lions have also struggled this season, as they currently hold a 2-5 record, but Coach Gregg is quick to point out the calibre of the Lions' schedule.

"Tucker County has lost to Musselman, Buckhannon Upshur, Hampshire, Elkins, and Grafton," he said, "all very good teams. They have also defeated Keyser and Webster County. I know coaches say this all the time about opponents with losing records, but it is a true statement when I say Tucker County's record is not indicative of the quality of team they have."

The Lions' pro-I offense is spearheaded by their senior fullback George Shine (6-0, 190), senior tailback Ryan Harper (5-8, 158), and huge senior lineman Richard Knotts (5-11, 303).

"Shine is a very strong runner, Harper is very quick, and Knotts leads their enormous line," Gregg said, noting that the Tucker linemen average well over 200 pounds.

Their 5-3 defense is led by Shine at middle linebacker and Knotts on the line. "They have good speed in their secondary and, as usual, they are very good hitters," Gregg said.

Gregg said the Rams will utilize the same game plan this week, but will probably attempt to get to the outside more because of Tucker's size inside. "Then we will try to surprise them from time to time up the middle," he said.

Gregg noted that the Southern-Tucker contest has become a big rivalry over the years. "Some of our most exciting games have been with them," he said. "We are relatively close to them and a lot of our fans and a lot of their fans know each other. Many of them work together and there are a lot of family connections."

When asked about the attitude of his players, the second-year coach said, "We were all really down and despondent right after the loss to Northern, but the kids came back Monday in a real good frame of mind and ready to go back to work. We assured them that they are still making good progress and that the game against Northern could have gone either way.

"When you have a bad day at the office, you don't just quit your job," he concluded.

Southern Boys, Northern Girls Win County Cross Country Titles

The results of Garrett County Cross Country Championships, held Monday afternoon at Northern High School, indicated how close the Northern and Southern high school teams are this year in terms of strength, as the Southern boys nipped the Husky boys by a single point, 28-29, the Northern girls topped the Southern girls, 21-37, and the Northern boys B team squeaked by the Southern B squad, 27-28.

Northern's Bobbi Dolan set a new course record in leading her team to victory, as she completed her race in 19:33. Jenny Reams of Southern placed second, finishing nearly a minute behind Dolan with a time of 20:28. Danielle Fike and Suzannah Mathews placed third and fourth for Northern, while Ram Jennifer Pariseau finished fifth.

Bryan Clickener, one of the area's top runners, led the Southern boys to their one-point victory as he topped all competitors with a time of 15:58. Eight seconds behind him was Northern's Richard Bowsers, followed by Dan Seaman of Northern, Matt Newcomb of Southern, and Northern's Noah Rawe.

Travis Duckworth of Northern won the boys' B Team race with a time of 18:22, followed by Southern's Steve Shockey and Don Manning of Northern.

The top seven finishers in the A team races were named All-County runners and received medals. Northern Coach Charlie Himmler noted his appreciation to John Clickener for donating the medals that were awarded to the winners and also thanked the faculty and students of Northern who helped conduct the meet.

The Rams will be in action again this afternoon when they host the Potomac Valley Conference Championships at Broadford Park. Teams will include Keyser, Frankfort, Hampshire, Berkeley Springs, and Elk Garden.

The first race, involving the boys' freshman and junior high teams, will get underway at 2:30, followed by the girls' junior varsity at 3:15, girls' varsity at 4, and boys' varsity at 4:15.

Expected to go head-to-head for the boys' individual title will be Southern's Clickener, D.J. Likens of Keyser, Frankfort's Brett Ridgel, and Jason Keener of Hampshire, while Southern's Reams, Keyser's Jamie Nutter, Erin Cuppett, and Valerie Smith, and Krista Hawley of Frankfort are the favorites in the girls' varsity competition.

The public is invited to attend the meet, free of charge.

Casselman Valley Area Organizing Soccer Program

A committee was formed in August to begin planning for a spring soccer program for the Casselman Valley area. The soccer organization formed is part of a large group known as the American Soccer Organization (AYSO), a non-profit corporation founded in 1964 to promote fitness, good sportsmanship, and self-esteem in youth through participation in soccer.

Local residents chose to organize under AYSO because of the emphasis it places on the following: all teams are balanced each year; everyone who registers is placed on a team of both boys and girls and plays at least half of every game; coaches are encouraged to make the sport enjoyable and be positive; and the emphasis is on fun, not winning.

The organizating committee consists of the following: Commissioner Esther Prosser, Assistant Commissioner Bonnie Heatwole, Lori Otto, Dale Curtis, Steve Heatwole, Wendell Yoder, Julie Tice, and Janie Beitzel. The members of this committee meet monthly to discuss and plan the 1993 season. Presently, civic groups are being contacted for start-up support. Business sponsorships will also be sought.

The program is open to both boys and girls, ages 5-18. Registration will be scheduled for January 1993. Practices will begin in March and games will take place in April, May, and June. Other AYSO regions which will be part of the schedule will be Meyersdale, Rockwood, and Berlin.

Local schools in Salisbury, Grantsville, and Accident will be contacted to inform parents of specific dates for registration, costs, and other details as decisions are made. Those who have questions or wish to become involved may call Esther Prosser at (814) 662-4360.

Country Club Mall in LaVale.

The organization, PPC, was founded by Rachel and Stephanie Gosnell, twin daughters of Buz and Peggy Gosnell who support them wholeheartedly. They now have members all over the United States--Maryland, Pennsylvania, Florida, Colorado, Texas and Diego Garcia, an island in the Indian Ocean.

The members of the club also recruited Greig Johnson, owner of Arrowhead, to match funds with them. Mr. Johnson went above and beyond his share. We are very grateful to him and words cannot express our gratitude to these young people for showing their love for God's creatures by helping the Humane Society.

If everyone cared as much as these young people there would be no abuse, cruelty, or abandonment of animals in the world.

Also, Buffalo Coal Company of Bayard, W.Va., have agreed to sponsor a booth at the 1993 Garrett County Fair for the Patriotic Pets Club to collect money for the Garrett County Humane Society, Inc., Spay/Neuter Program. We are very grateful to this company also.

To the Editor:

God gave a woman a "womb" not a "tomb." The word "fetus" means "baby." Another abortion bill is trying to be passed. Voters please vote "no" to the "Freedom of Choice Act." H.R. 25/S.25. It is most ungodly. The American Holocaust of murdered babes in the womb has to stop. God can't be expected to bless such a nation and He won't wait too long for a turn-about.

Proverbs 6: says, "God hates hands that shed innocent blood." Women, you've been tricked and deceived. Abortion may be a law, but it's murder anyway you look at it. Psalm 127:3 says, "Behold, children are a gift of the Lord. The fruit of the womb is a reward," and Isaiah 5:20 warns the people who call evil good and good evil.

None of us have the authority to play God. None of us has the right to decide who lives and who dies. A nation that does this has turned its back and rejected the God who created us and blessed us. A nation that doesn't fear God and love God any more is a nation about to find out what God's judgment is all about.

I thank God my parents did not abort me. Thanks Mom and Dad for life! Thanks for giving me the same chance your parents gave you!

Sincerely,
Pat Schmidt
Friendsville

P.S. Through Jesus our Savior God still forgives and heals! The abortion industry makes multi-billions of dollars yearly and, women, they don't care about you at all. But, you do have a right to know this--Jesus died for you! To set you free from your sins--to give you peace and eternal life--I can tell you about Him and His wonderful love and forgiveness, the strength He gives us to be overcomers in this life--Ask me!

Only one life-t'will soon be past
Only what's done for Christ will last.

To the Editor:

My husband Bob and I have been back in Pittsburgh for a year and a half now after having lived in Garrett County for 20 plus years.

My dear friend sent me a subscription of The Republican for a Christmas present.

Was sick last week as I read the "Letters to the Editors" to read about the dog being dragged on the "back of the pickup" tied to the bumper by its leash. We love animals, especially dogs, and have three we brought back from Oakland. "Heidi" we got at 8 months from the shelter, is now 12 years. "Red" from the streets at 3 months is now 11 years. "Bogie" at less than a year from an owner who didn't want him. He was less than a year old is now 8 years old. All very much loved members of our family. It is gross that people don't realize that, "We are all going to account to the 'Almighty' for the way we treat our neighbors and all God's living creatures." With the wonderful animal shelter in Garrett County why would anyone do such a horrible thing?

Whoever did it should wonder what is in store for them.

Sincerely,
Fran Weigand

To the Editor:

I have noted with curiosity lately some bumper stickers that appear to be self-contradictory. They proclaim "Pro-Child, Pro-Choice." Now that is an oxymoron! You cannot be "Pro-Child" and yet support murdering that pre-born child in the womb. Killing a child, pre-born or otherwise, is the ultimate child abuse. Are these people arguing that murdering the unborn child is in its best interest?

Many of these people cry real crocodile tears over capital punishment; they have gobs of sympathy for criminals convicted of heinous crimes, but they are totally lacking in compassion for the most innocent of human life, pre-born children.

One of the noxious provisions of Maryland Senate Bill 162 authorizes the abortionist to decide whether or not to notify a parent or guardian of an unmarried minor seeking an abortion. This amounts to a total waiver of parental notification. Often the abortionist does not see the patient until she has been prepared for the procedure. Does anyone think that the typical abortionist will take a chance on losing his fee by notifying a parent or guardian? Vote NO on Question 6 in November!

Sincerely,
John Rogerson

A PAIR OF HAPPY DRUM MAJORS - Southern Garrett band's co-drum major Maria Massi, right, is shown as she happily hands over the Best Western Maryland Band trophy to Northern Garrett Marching Band's drum major Kristl Warnick at Southern's Western Maryland Tournament of Bands, held Saturday. Northern was up against three other Western Maryland bands for the award, and because the marchers achieved the highest number of points, they captured the honor. This was only one of Northern's many awards, as they grabbed up best drum major, percussion, and guard in Group I, as well as first place in Group I with a score of 79.9. This is Northern's third Group I clean sweep of the season. Northern also received the first place trophy in Thursday night's Fireman's Parade in Oakland. The band will travel to the University of Maryland on October 24 to compete in the Maryland State Tournament of Bands at Byrd Stadium. Complete results and additional photos of the Tournament of Bands will appear in next week's issue of The Republican.

Following the presentations, the guests will tour each site. The bridges and boardwalk on the Savage River were used last spring for the United States Olympic whitewater racing team trials.

The group will be visiting the Maryland sites to gain insight to the value-added state and community missions undertaken by the National Guard. From Maryland the envoys will visit Boston to learn about the history of the National Guard.

Massachusetts is home to the oldest regiment in the National Guard, founded in 1636. After visiting Boston, the group will go to Camp Edwards on Cape Cod to observe the Massachusetts National Guard as it trains for its federal mission to respond to an international crisis.

SENIOR CARE PROGRAM CELEBRATES TENTH ANNIVERSARY - October marks the ten-year anniversary of the Senior Care Program which has been providing valuable in-home services to senior citizens in Maryland. The Garrett County Commissioners observed that anniversary by recognizing the individuals who provide direct services to Garrett County's senior citizens. State funded, the program offers "gap filling" services to citizens, aged 65 and over, who meet financial and other eligibility criteria enabling them to remain independently in their homes. Needed services, such as personal care, dressing, cleaning, and meal preparation, are determined by an in-depth evaluation. The Garrett County Area Agency on Aging, the Department of Social Services, and the Health Department Geriatric Evaluation Service work cooperatively in the provision of adequate services to seniors. The service providers will be honored at a brunch, Friday, October 16, hosted by the Area Agency on Aging. "Many senior citizens would be forced into premature institutionalization without the dedication and caring of the service providers," according to a spokesperson. "It's not a glamorous career, but one that demands compassion, patience, and concern." Shown above, seated, left to right, are the Garrett County Commissioners, Brenda Butscher, Elwood Groves, and John Braskey. Standing, same order, are Sharon Wilhelm, Pam Minovitz, Deborah Klotz, Inise Bell, Sally Schwing, and Adina Brode, director of the Area Agency on Aging.

Lewis Sentenced

explaining that he knew what he had done was wrong, and that he was deeply remorseful about the incidents. According to the defendant's counselor, Phinney is a product of an unhealthy childhood environment and that the "molestation was not an intentional act to inflict emotional or physical pain on the child."

Cases involving controlled dangerous substance (CDS) charges were also heard last week in circuit court. Presentence investigations were ordered for two defendants, while two others received varied sentences.

Matthew M. Plevyak, 41, Accident, pleaded guilty to one count of possession of marijuana with intent to distribute and a count of keeping and maintaining a common nuisance. The plea was accepted and a pre-sentence investigation was ordered. Also charged in this case was Debora S. Harvey, 31, McHenry, who pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana. Thayer sentenced Harvey to one year in the Garrett County Jail, suspending all but time served (27 days). He also ordered Harvey to one year of supervised probation.

Plevyak and Harvey were arrested following the May 8 execution of a search and seizure warrant at the couple's Accident residence. Police officers reportedly confiscated one and a half pounds of dry marijuana packaged for street sale, a gram scale, baggies, smoking pipes, 116 live marijuana plants, and 20 harvested plants. In addition, rolling papers and a gram of marijuana were taken from Harvey's purse. According to the police report, the street value of the controlled dangerous substance was over $150,000.

Daniel C. Hull, 21, Terra Alta, W.Va., and Jeffrey A. Maddocks, 21, Oakland, were both charged with distribution of marijuana on school property, distribution of marijuana, conspiracy, and possession of marijuana. The two were arrested following a Garrett County Narcotics Task Force sting operation in which they unwittingly sold the CDS to Tfc. Dave Paskowski on the property of Crellin Elementary School, according to the report.

Hull pleaded guilty to possession of the CDS and the plea was accepted. Thayer sentenced him to five days, one day suspended, in the Garrett County Jail. Hull was also ordered to pay court costs.

Maddocks made an alford plea of guilty, meaning that although he felt he was not guilty, the state's evidence was so overwhelming that conviction was probably imminent. The plea was accepted and a pre-sentence investigation was ordered. Bail was revoked by order of the judge.

Sentencing dates for Plevyak and Maddocks were not indicated on the court document.

William Kolbe Named Champion Exaggerator '92

William "Bill" Kolbe, English teacher at Northern High School, won the title of Champion Exaggerator for the 1992 Tall Tale Liars' Festival Saturday, October 10.

Festival Director Dr. Gail Herman presented Kolbe with a $50 savings bond from the First United National Bank and Trust for his tall tale. Kolbe reportedly told a "true" story about working in the Exotic Pet Shop in New Brunswick, N.J. Evidently Kolbe learned to care for and handle animals from all over the world, but none would please his new customer. He had to resort to selling a very rare creature.

Those who missed the story can hear what actually happened next year. Kolbe will return as one of the judges and as a guest storyteller.

Molly McGowan from Dennett Road Elementary School and Joel Kolbe from Accident School had the audience chuckling with their stories. With a true tall tale poker face, Miss McGowan told about her pet rattlesnake and the consequent problems it caused. Master Kolbe shared his memory about a teacher who liked children less than she loved apples, so she turned troublesome children into delicious red fruits. He received an illustrated version of Aesop's Fables from the Book Mark'et while Miss McGowan received a gift certificate from V&S Variety Store.

A surprise visit from storyteller Doc Savage of Oakland proved why some dentists have happy patients. His dental chair "captives" apparently leave smiling after one of Doc's storytelling sessions. However, Gary Yoder, last year's winner, told a story about some stick glue troubles he had with his new set of "savage" false teeth. Doc Savage received the Garrett Chapter of the American Association of University Women gift certificate to the Book Mark'et.

Other prize winners were Paul Liller who won the Storytelling Calendar, Nate Motz who won a tall tale book from the Book Mark'et, Jeanne Walton who won a gift certificate from Shanghai Restaurant, Holly Harris who won a gift certificate from Scissors 'R' Us, and Jennie Kolbe who won some candy.

Accident Man Sentenced To Two Years In DOC For Reckless Endangerment

An Accident man was sentenced to two years to the Maryland Department of Corrections last week during Garrett County District Court proceedings after being found guilty of reckless endangerment and assault.

Judge Jack R. Turney suspended all the jail time but time already served for Larry Artice, 30. He was fined $200 on reckless endangerment charge and $100 on the assault charge and ordered to serve 24 months of supervised probation. He was found not guilty of two additional counts of assault.

Under the conditions of his parole, Artice must surrender his firearm to the Maryland State Police, not use firearms, seek counseling for substance abuse, and make an effort to find employment.

Artice had been arrested by the Maryland State Police after an officer observed him holding a rifle in his hand through a living room window at a trailer at the J&J Trailer Court in Accident. When the officer knocked at the door, Artice reportedly appeared at a window and parted the blinds with the barrel of the gun and pointed the gun in the officer's direction. He had also reportedly pointed the gun at his niece and her boyfriend earlier in the evening and told the couple to leave because he said he was going to kill someone.

In other District Court news, Frank Humbertson, 44, Oldtown, was sentenced to a suspended two-year term in the Department of Corrections, fined $50, and placed on 36 months of supervised probation. A presentence investigation had been ordered in August when he was found guilty of a theft scheme.

He was found not guilty of two counts of felony theft and one count of misdemeanor theft. Artice was also ordered to pay restitution in the amount of $6,778.75 to Friend's Stockyard in Accident.

Humbertson had been charged with those counts after he received 16 head of livestock from the stockyard in 1991 and did not pay for them.

Lawrence D. Wilburn, 30, Grantsville, was sentenced last week on a fourth-degree sex offense. He had been found guilty of that charge in August court proceedings and a pre-sentence investigation was ordered. In a plea agreement with the State's Attorney's Office, a charge of battery was not prosecuted.

Judge Turney sentenced Wilburn to a one-year suspended jail term, fined him $50, and placed him on one year of supervised probation. He was also ordered to have no contact with the victim.

Wilburn had been charged after the 15-year-old victim's mother and another witness observed Wilburn having sexual intercourse with the victim behind the community building in Jennings on June 5. The victim reportedly stated that she had intercourse with Wilburn about two times a month for a period of time.

Clinton E. Meese, 26, Eckhart, was found guilty of one count of theft. The judge handed him a one-year jail term and gave him credit for time already served. He was also fined $50. In a plea agreement with the State's Attorney's Office, a second charge of theft, a charge of forgery, and a charge of uttering a false document were not prosecuted.

Meese had been charged by the Maryland State Police when it was discovered that he stole a check from a business that had closed its account in 1985. Restitution was reportedly made before the case came to court.

Barbara Lynn Butler, 31, Oakland, was found guilty of one bad check charge and numerous other charges of bad checks, theft, and fraudulently leasing goods were placed on the stet docket.

Butler was handed a one-year suspended jail term, and placed on 18 months of supervised probation. The fine was waived. She had written a number of bad checks last summer to Hometown Market, Manor Homebuilders Supply, Joseph Winters (Camp Hickory), C.P. Martin and Sons, Oakland Super Valu, and Charlie's Home Bargain Center.

Melvin E. Smith Jr., 26, McHenry, who had been found guilty of one count of battery in April court proceedings was sentenced to a 30-day suspended jail term and placed on one year of supervised probation. The fine was waived. He had been found not guilty of a second count of battery and given probation before judgment on harassment, trespassing, and malicious destruction of property.

The charges against him had been filed by Darlene Smith and John R. Livengood following several incidents early last year in which Smith allegedly hit Darlene Smith in the face and arms while attempting to retrieve something from a vehicle belonging to Livengood. He also reportedly damaged Livengood's vehicle in an altercation. The incidents took place at West End Grocery and Sheetz Car Wash.

Ronald I. Patrick, 20, Weirton, W.Va., was granted probation before judgment at a sentence revision hearing last week by Judge Turney. He had been found guilty of possession of controlled dangerous substance paraphernalia earlier in the week and handed a 90-day jail term of which all but 48 hours was suspended. Credit was also given for time served. He was fined $100 and placed on six months of supervised probation.

In a plea agreement with the State's Attorney's Office, charges of carrying a handgun, CDS possession, and instructing a minor in inhaling CDS were not prosecuted.

Patrick had been charged by police on June 18 after being stopped for speeding. A search revealed two suspected marijuana cigarettes, a plastic bag with suspected marijuana, one glass smoking pipe, and one wooden smoking pipe.

Frank R. Deangelo, 29, Bel Air, and Anthony D. Deangelo, 32, Darlington, were both found guilty of possession of marijuana by Judge Timothy Finan from Allegany County District Court, who was sitting on the bench for Judge Jack Turney.

Both men were fined $100, and placed on 12 months of supervised probation. Charges of possession of drug paraphernalia were not prosecuted in a plea agreement with the State's Attorney's Office. They had been charged by the Maryland State Police following a traffic stop. A quantity of marijuana and two suspected marijuana cigarettes were found in the search of the vehicle.

Robert W. Zerilla, 35, Scottdale, Pa., was found guilty of possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia. On the drug possession charge he was fined $400 ($300 was suspended), and placed on six months of unsupervised probation. For the paraphernalia charge, he was fined $25 and placed on six months of unsupervised probation.

Zerilla was a passenger in a vehicle that had been stopped on a DWI charge on August 29 on Marsh Hill Road. A metal pipe containing suspected marijuana residue was found under the front seat of the vehicle.

In a related case, Lyn Hays Sheppard, 37, Scottdale, Pa., was found guilty of drug possession and of DWI. She was fined $500 ($350 suspended) and placed on 12 months of supervised probation on the drug charge and handed a 180-day suspended jail term, fined $500 ($300 suspended), and placed on 12 months of supervised probation on the DWI charge.

Sheppard was the driver of the vehicle stopped on August 29. Charges of possession of drug paraphernalia and failure to drive right of center were not prosecuted in a plea agreement with the State's Attorney's Office.

Everette W. Morgan, 33, Accident, was found guilty of possession of marijuana. A pre-sentence investigation was ordered in the case. In a plea agreement with the State's Attorney's Office charges of maintaining a drug nuisance and possession of drug paraphernalia were not prosecuted.

Morgan had been arrested on May 1 after the execution of a search and seizure warrant at his trailer in Accident. Members of the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force reportedly found the burnt end of a suspected marijuana cigarette in a kitchen cabinet and six smoking pipes, three hemostats, and two packages of cigarette rolling papers in the bedroom.

Identical charges placed against Morgan's wife, Cynthia L. Morgan, 34, were not prosecuted since her husband pleaded guilty to the possession charge.

Charges of disturbing the peace and misdemeanor theft against Larry F. Schenk, 44, Oakland, were not prosecuted as the complainant, William Pilkerton, failed to appear in court. Pilkerton had filed those charges stemming from August incidents in which he stated that Schenk had stolen his pig and shouted threats at him.

DWI CASES

A number of DWI cases were heard in District Court last week by Judge Finan.

David W. Welch, 30, Accident, failed to appear on a DWI charge and five other traffic charges. A bench warrant was issued for his arrest. He had been charged with those offenses following a June 21 accident north of Jennings on U.S. Rt. 219.

Scot K. Nicol, 35, was granted probation before judgment and fined $130 and placed on 12 months of supervised probation. He was also found guilty of failure to drive right of center and was fined $25. A charge of consuming an alcoholic beverage while driving was not prosecuted because of a plea agreement. RED RIBBON WEEK PROCLAIMED - The Garrett County Commissioners have proclaimed the week of October 24 through November 1 as Red Ribbon Week and have encouraged citizens to participate in drug prevention education activities, "making a visible statement that we are strongly committed to a drug-free community," according to the proclamation. The proclamation further stated that because alcohol and other drug abuse in the nation has reached epidemic stages, "it is imperative that visible, unified prevention education efforts by community members be launched to eliminate the demand for drugs." The National Federation of Parents for Drug Free Youth, Inc., the Maryland Alliance for Drug Free Youth, and the Governor's Drug and Alcohol Abuse Commission are sponsoring the National Red Ribbon Campaign which offers citizens the opportunity to demonstrate their commitment to a drug-free lifestyle. Shown above, seated, left to right, are the Garrett County Commissioners, Brenda Butscher, Elwood Groves, and John Braskey. Standing, same order, are Jay Cross, Garrett County Health deputy health officer; Joelle Plauger, Garrett County Health Department prevention coordinator; Carol Shaulis, student council advisor/home economics teacher at Northern Middle School; Michelle Zolner, Quest - Life Skills for Adolescence teacher at Southern Middle School; and Dr. Rex Archer, Garrett County health officer.

When offering assistance, the money given by the American Red Cross is an outright gift and is never asked to be repaid.

Heginbotham stated, "I am amazed at the ideas the homeowners of the tours have come up with for decorating. Each home is already unique and after the decorations are in place, they can only become more so."

FUNB, HEALTH DEPARTMENT JOIN FORCES TO ENCOURAGE SAFETY BELT USE - First United National Bank and Trust of Oakland recently joined the Garrett County Health Department in an effort designed to promote safety belt use among the county's bank customers. Throughout September, FUNB customers arriving at drive-up windows in Garrett County received a reward for buckling up, according to Jeannette Rudy Fitzwater, vice president and director of marketing at FUNB. "In addition, all drive-up customers were given valuable information about the importance of using seat belts," she said. Joelle Plauger, project coordinator, will be working throughout the county with organizations, businesses, and individuals to carry out the program. "We would like to thank FUNB for its support of the Buckle-Up message," said Plauger. GNB Conducts Tour For Teachers In ACES Program

Garrett National Bank presented an educational program to 12 teachers of the Garrett County school system on September 30 at the Main Office in Oakland.

The teachers, John Clark, Gayle Farrar, Wade Grove, Mary Jo Johnson, Katie Kane, Judy Livengood, Linda Martin, Homer Martz, Les McDaniel, Polly Ramsey, Harold Williams, and Jeannine Yaniga, are involved with the Americans for the Competitive Enterprises System (ACES), sponsored by the Board of Education, the Chamber of Commerce, and local businesses.

The teachers represent all levels of instruction in Garrett County from elementary to high school.

The purpose of the class is to familiarize the teachers with the various businesses in the local area, their organization, operation, the impact they have on the community, what skills employers are looking for in prospective employees, and the establishment of a positive rapport between business and education.

The program conducted by Wayne R. Johnson, training officer at GNB, led the participants through each department of the bank. Debbi Swiger explained the tellers' responsibilities and Jean Sisler outlined the New Accounts Department. Jim Ashby showed how the Automated Teller machine serves the public and explained the vault. "No samples were given," quipped Wayne Johnson, training officer.

Johnson discussed "Careers in Banking and What we Look For in New Employees." A videotape showing all facets of banking was shown and discussed prior to visits to the various departments.

Mary Lou Rohrbaugh explained how a loan is applied for and is processed from application to closing. Sandra Winters, from the Operations Department, talked about accounting, bookkeeping, proofing, check processing, and the computer room functions. Virginia Kitzmiller demonstrated how the different machine speed up processing of customer deposit and transactions.

After the tour, the class returned to the board room for a question and answer session.

"We at Garrett National Bank are very pleased to be able to assist our teachers in gaining more knowledge of the business community of which we are a part," stated Johnson. "They then may impart this information to their students and colleagues."

GARRETT COUNTIANS ATTEND MSPP CONFERENCE - Several local persons attended a recent state-wide conference focused on the Maryland School Performance Program (MSPP). The MSPP was designed to reform the state's school system and result in many basic changes. The goal of the MSPP is to allow each Maryland student to graduate high school ready to "participate in a world economy and job market that is more competitive than ever, function as a responsible citizen in a democratic society, and achieve a personally satisfying and fulfilling life," according to a spokesperson. Several methods and ideas on how to attain this goal were discussed at length at the conference. In the photo above are Garrett Countians and others who attended the conference held at Essex Community College. Shown left to right are Janice Cage, member of the Garrett County Board of Education's Advisory Committee on Education (ACE); Rob Sharps, ACE member and member of Citizens United for Better Education (CUBE); Connie Margison, League of Women Voters (LWV) of Garrett County president and ACE member; Dr. Nancy Grasmick, Maryland State Superintendent of Schools; Barbara Flinn, LWV; Jean Clark, LWV and ACE; Tru Ginsburg, president of the Maryland Education Coalition (MEC); Deborah Kendig, president of Maryland Association of Boards of Education; and Dr. Harold J. Winstanley, president of Public Schools Superintendent's Association of Maryland. Also attending but not present for the photo were Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, Garrett County superintendent of schools, and Sheila Edwards, member of CUBE. More information about the conference may be obtained by calling the LWV office at 334-1109 right roadside, struck a culvert and then a parked, unoccupied Plymouth Horizon, owned by Marlene Wisecarver, Accident.

The Rinker vehicle then became airborne for a short distance and struck an embankment, causing the vehicle to overturn and come to rest in a deep gully.

Tpr. M. Rodeheaver investigated the 6:10 a.m. mishap for state police.

TWO INJURED

Two persons were treated and released from the local hospital early Sunday morning after they were injured in a two-vehicle mishap, according to a hospital spokesperson.

Gwen K. Bailiff, 37, and John Bailiff, 32, both of Oakland, were injured when the 1978 Olds Cutlass Mrs. Bailiff was operating was struck on the passenger's side by a 1981 Ford Bronco, operated by Diane C. Ridings, 28, Terra Alta, W.Va.

Police said the Bailiff vehicle was traveling west on Md. Rt. 39 when Ridings pulled from a private driveway and crossed over into the westbound lane. The Bailiff vehicle reportedly swerved to avoid being hit, but the Ridings vehicle struck the Bailiff vehicle in the passenger's side.

Tpr. M. Rodeheaver investigated the 12:30 a.m. mishap and charged Ridings with driving while intoxicated, failure to drive right of center, and a seat belt violation.

Both Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad and the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department were dispatched to the scene by Garrett County Emergency Management.

vegetables with dip have been low sellers. He also said that participation is down in all sales, and that fact should be taken into consideration when evaluating the status of the food service.

Clark stated that she was pleased with the success of the new menu and said that one should expect the failure of some items to sell. Ann Sherrard, registered dietitian and member of the food advisory committee, agreed with Clark.

"Our work really just begins as we get back these first results," Sherrard said.

Buckingham agreed that the food sales were encouraging. "It's not near as bad as I thought it was going to be," he said.

State Announces Changes To School Performance Tests

The Maryland State Department of Education today announced improvements in the Maryland School Performance Assessment Program (MSPAP) and help for local school systems in using test data for school improvement.

Robert Gabrys, assistant state superintendent for the Maryland School Performance Program, outlined the changes at Baltimore County's Sudbrook Center, where 400 teachers from across Maryland are gathered to develop items for the May 1993 test administration. Announcement of the changes follows five months of study and planning with local and state educators to prepare for the 1993 MSPAP, to be administered in May.

"I cannot overemphasize how important it is that the state and local school systems continue to collaborate so effectively in the development of these tests," State Superintendent Nancy Grasmick said. "Everyone in education has a stake in these tests, which are central to our school improvement efforts."

Several changes will refine the process for developing MSPAP test items. Dr. Gabrys described five strategies designed to address these issues.

* The State Department of Education is increasing communication and collaboration with the Maryland State Teachers Association and the Baltimore Teachers Union to improve understanding of teachers' perspective on the MSPAP. Also, improved communication with the Maryland Congress of PTAs will help keep parents informed.

* The State Department of Education has solicited wider input in the nomination of the team of test developers for the 1993 MSPAP. Nominations came through local school systems, the Maryland State Teachers Association, and the Baltimore Teachers Union. The result will be more active participation of classroom teachers in the 1993 MSPAP.

* Three teachers, one per tested grade level (3rd, 5th and 8th grades), will be added to each Content Area Coordinating Team. The function of these teams is to "sign off" on performance tasks, approving them for content and grade appropriateness. Previous Content Area teams were composed primarily of subject area specialists. The addition of teachers to the team in the tested grades will help ensure that items match the age level of the students.

* State Department of Education training for teachers who are writing the performance tasks will emphasize the need for sensitivity to controversial topics and possible bias in test items.

* The State Department of Education will field test all performance tasks with students. Last year, preliminary trials for some items involved only adults. Student field-testing will provide a reliable check on task accuracy, duration, grade-appropriateness, and clarity.

Dr. Gabrys also announced several changes involving the availability of testing materials to teachers. "We want to ease restrictions so that teachers can have more advance time with test booklets -- something they said they need -- while not sacrificing test confidentiality," he said.

State educators will also improve test administration this year by greater involvement of each local school system's assessment staff in the entire process of test development, review, and revision. Local staff thoroughly familiar with the test will be better able to help teachers administer it, he said.

Local assessment staff are also attending state workshops on how to use the MSPAP data for school improvement.

"School improvement is the real driving force for this assessment program," Dr. Gabrys said. "The State Department of Education will do all it can to assist local school systems in understanding what the data means to each school."

Nominations For "Take Pride" Awards Sought

Maryland Governor William Donald Schaefer announced recently that the Department of Natural Resources is seeking nominations for the "Take Pride In America" program. The program recognizes individuals and public and private organizations for their efforts in conserving, enhancing, protecting and managing the nation's natural, cultural, and historic resources.

"There are many Maryland organizations and individuals who should be considered for this award," Governor Schaefer said, "and this is our opportunity to help give them the recognition they deserve."

Last year, Maryland had 17 nominations for "Take Pride in America." Three of those nominations received national honors. "This exemplifies the quality and excellence of Maryland's people and community service organizations," Governor Schaefer said.

Nomination packages may be obtained by writing to: Maryland Department of Natural Resources, Public Communications Office, Tawes State Office Building, D-4, 580 Taylor Avenue, Annapolis, MD 21401. Phone requests may be made by calling 410-974-3991. Nominations must be received by November 2, 1992.

Civic Club To Resume Aluminum Foil Recycling

As part of its commitment to recycling, the Civic Club of Oakland has announced the resumption of its award-winning aluminum foil recycling program.

Persons interested in participating in the effort are asked to rinse and fold the foil before dropping it off at the League of Women Voters of Garrett County office in Oakland, giving it to a Civic Club member, or bringing it to the Civic Club monthly meeting.

EACH PRESCRIPTION IS A SACRED TRUST

Compounding and dispensing prescriptions is unlike the sale of any other product. Nothing you can buy can so affect your life as medicines.

Each prescription must contain exactly what the Doctor specifies. The dosage must be safe and it is a pharmacist's legal duty to check this dosage. Each medicine must be fresh and potently active. You place your life in a pharmacist's hands with every medicine you take. Pharmacists will honor this confidence.

People ask for brand name products because they have become known for dependability and service throughout the years. These names assure us of quality.

We, too, are known by our names. Mention of John Smith immediately inspires a positive or negative reaction, depending upon the man's reputation. A good name is indeed our most priceless, yet most perishable, possession.

Day in and day out, our thoughts, words and actions must be on the side of goodness, for it is today which determines tomorrow's past — for good or for bad.

If we could only perform each act and utter each word as if they were our last, those by which we would be remembered, then how great would be the significance of our names!

In this confused era, where better can we turn for guidance and help than to our church or synagogue? Here you will discover God and His Word — the most hallowed name of all. Seek Him in His house this week.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

BORN AGAIN AND AGAIN!
October 18, 1992

Background Scripture:
1 Kings 1:28-37; 2:1-4; 3:3-14.

Devotional Reading:
1 Kings 1:15-30.

I recently heard someone make a disparaging remark about "those born-again rs." I understood the reason for the man's disdain, for he had had a very disagreeable experience with some relatives who claimed they were "born again" and that he wasn't!

Unfortunately, some people who identify themselves as having been "born again" have given this experience a bad name. Claiming this experience for themselves in a rather exclusive manner, they have demonstrated a proud and judgmental attitude toward others. So, I can understand why some Christians shrink from the term.

"ONCE" NOT ENOUGH

But the problem is not with being "born again," but in what we make of this rebirth. Being reborn by the Spirit of God in Christ is not a gift for a special few, but for all who would be followers of Jesus Christ as Lord and Savior. And, while I can appreciate that some people can ascribe their rebirth to a particular time, place and circumstance, I find that I--and many, many others--need to be reborn constantly. Once might be a turning-point in a person's life, but I have never known a Christian for whom once was enough. In fact, those who think that once is enough are often those most in need of being "born again" daily.

This is illustrated in the story of King Solomon. In 1 Kings 3 Solomon has an exceptional spiritual experience and makes an equally exceptional response. In a dream, God says to the young, new King of Israel: "Ask what I shall give you" (3:5). No one would have been surprised if Solomon had seized this opportunity to ask God for political power, for a long reign, for riches and success. After all, isn't that what society tells us life is all about?

But Solomon's response was perfect. He responded with praise for God: "Thou hast shown great and steadfast love to thy servant David my father..." He responded with humility: "...although I am but a little child; I do not know how to go out or come in." He has a sobering respect for the task that has been placed upon him: "And thy servant is in the midst of thy people whom thou hast chosen, a great people that cannot be numbered or counted for multitude." And when he makes his request that God has granted him, he makes the best of all choices: "Give thy servant therefore an understanding mind to govern thy people, that I may discern between good and evil."

BEGINNINGS & ENDINGS

The writer of 1 Kings says that "It pleased the Lord that Solomon had asked this," and God says to him: "Because you have asked this, and have not asked for yourself long life or riches of the life of your enemies...behold, I now do according to your word" (3:10,11).

But that is not all of the story of King Solomon. If we read on to chapter 1, we find that despite his exceptional beginning, Solomon did not maintain that high level of commitment to God and his purposes, so that the writer of 1 Kings tells us: "And the Lord was angry with Solomon, because his heart had turned away from the Lord..." (11:9). He had begun with an exceptional spiritual experience, but he needed to be reborn again and again to maintain that experience in his life.

Solomon's story is unique only in its particulars and many of us have experienced what he did: a magnificent beginning and a disappointing ending. I often look back to those early days of my Christian discipleship. There was a sense of unwavering commitment and high ideals that I have not maintained with consistency. When I realize that I have drifted away from my best intentions and settled for something else, I have the opportunity to seek God's grace and ask that I be reborn again and again and again.

These firms invite YOU to a House of Worship each week.

COVER STORY

Andrews on 'Jewels,' love scenes and a classic

BY LYNN HOOGENBOOM

Anthony Andrews laughs.

The 44-year-old star of Danielle Steel's "Jewels" (airing Sunday, Oct. 18, and Tuesday, Oct. 20, on NBC) has just been asked by a reporter unfamiliar with the book if his character is a good guy or a bad guy.

"I think the biggest problem with him is that he's the goodest good guy you ever set eyes on," Andrews says. "He's an aristocrat, a duke of the realm, and he's in every sense your Prince Charming So what I particularly wanted to do was pin him to reality, give him legs and make him a real person."

Filming, which took place in England, Luxembourg, France and Italy, wasn't fraught with any specific problems – just general ones.

"On such a massive schedule, every day brings with it its own problems," Andrews says. "Inevitably, the first day you meet, you're introduced, and you jump into bed together. Thankfully, in this case, I had a leading lady (Annette O'Toole) who not only is a superb actress but has such a tremendous sense of humor that we got on straight away."

Filming an intense love scene, he adds, is not the experience that one might surmise from watching one.

"You need to know exactly what angle you want to be at and what mark you want to hit in the lens at a particular time," he says. "Your approach is made even more technical by confined spaces. And for some reason, those bedroom scenes are shot in rooms that are about 2-foot-by-2-foot. And they get at least 16 to 18 people inside the room with you. It's a very hot, sweaty and unromantic business."

Andrews is still best known for playing Sebastian Flyte in "Brideshead Revisited," which was produced for Britain's Granada Television and aired in the United States on PBS. It is widely considered to be one of the best miniseries ever.

"So it damn well should have been," Andrews surprisingly says. "You have to bear in mind the history of 'Brideshead,' which is that we shot for two months and then we stopped for 13 weeks while we reassessed everything. We were given that extraordinary break because of an independent television strike. And it was at that point – this is part of the miracle of 'Brideshead' – that what was to have been a six-hour miniseries turned into a 13-hour miniseries. These kind of decisions don't take place as a rule; this is fairytale land. That production was shot over a period of two years. That will never happen again. Nobody has that kind of production time and nobody has that kind of production value handed to them on a plate."

Anthony Andrews and Annette O'Toole star in Danielle Steel's "Jewels." The miniseries airs Sunday, Oct. 18, and Tuesday, Oct. 20, on NBC.

TV DIALOGUE

BY TONI REINHOLD

WHERE WAS WENDT? – Didn't the actor who plays Norm on "Cheers" star in another series? If so, which one? Is his background originally in comedy? – F.G., West Lebanon, N.H.

George Wendt

You have quite a memory, F.G. George Wendt, who plays Norm Peterson in the hit series "Cheers," was in the comedy "Making the Grade," which aired for a mere six weeks in 1982. He also had guest appearances in such series as "Alice," "Soap" and "Taxi."

Wendt, who hails from Chicago, studied at Rockhurst College in Kansas City, Mo., and earned a degree in economics. He traveled around Europe and Northern Africa for two years. In 1973, he enrolled in the Second City comedy troupe's acting school.

In addition to his comedy and television careers, Wendt has appeared in a number of films, including "Dreamscape" (1984), "Thief of Hearts" (1984), "Fletch" (1985) and "Gung Ho" (1986).

NO TV FOR K.C. – So many of today's movie stars got their starts on TV. Is this true of Kevin Costner? – C.T., Buffalo, N.Y.

No. Costner is a film star through and through. He has never starred in a TV series, although one hit movie in which he starred, 1987's "The Untouchables," was inspired by the 1959-63 series of the same name.

POET'S 'PARTY' – I recall seeing poet Ogden Nash on TV, but my father says poets, especially those of his stature, would never condescend to do a TV show. Perhaps he was on a talk show? – W.D., Baltimore Poet and humorist Ogden Nash was a panelist on the quiz show "Masquerade Party" from 1953-57. In this show, celebrities were hidden behind costumes and makeup that were supposed to be associated with their identities, and panelists, such as Nash, had to guess who they were. In fact, Nash was quite a familiar figure on both radio and television, on which he frequently read his work. He died in 1971.

LANA WAS JULIA – Wasn't Lana Turner married to a band leader? What is her real name? – N.H., San Diego

Turner was born Julia Jean Mildred Frances Turner. She is the daughter of dancer Virgil Turner. She was married to band leader Artie Shaw from 1940-42.

Realigning would help the NFL to make sense

BY CHRISTOPHER HULL

When former baseball commissioner Fay Vincent announced that the National League's Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals would be moved from the Eastern Division to the Western Division next year and that the league's Cincinnati Reds and Atlanta Braves would shift in the other direction, he created quite a commotion. It turned out to be one of the pronouncements that moved the owners to revolt and force Vincent to resign.

Whether you believe that geographically correct baseball realignment (yes, Cincinnati and Atlanta are clearly east of Chicago and St. Louis) would be a good idea or not, the stir had fans talking. They discussed how realignment would split up the rival Cardinals and Mets and how it would reunite the Pirates and the Reds, and they argued the merits and disadvantages of the balanced schedule and the unbalanced schedule.

Curiously, there has been nowhere near the same concern about the even odder alignment that exists in the National Football League. Again, Atlanta is one of the cities involved in the crazy mix-up of the league's divisions.

As in baseball, Atlanta's NFC franchise plays in the Western Division. So does New Orleans. But Phoenix and Dallas, which are west of both cities, play in the NFC East. Sunny Gulf Coast Florida's Tampa Bay plays in the black-and-blue NFC Central. And the AFC East's Indianapolis is farther west than three of the four teams in the AFC Central – Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and Cleveland.

Here's a slightly reshuffled NFL alignment that makes sense (moved teams are in bold): NFC East – Philadelphia, New York, Washington, Tampa Bay, Atlanta; Central – Chicago, Minnesota, Green Bay, Detroit; West – San Francisco, Los Angeles, Phoenix, New Orleans, Dallas. AFC East – Buffalo, New York, New England, Miami; Central – Houston, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Indianapolis; West – Kansas City, Denver, Los Angeles, San Diego, Seattle.

• The World Series continues on CBS this week: Sunday, Game 2; Tuesday, Game 3; Wednesday, Game 4; Thursday, Game 5; Saturday, Game 6; next Sunday, Game 7. Games 2, 6 and 7 are to be played at the home park of the National League champion; Games 3, 4 and 5 at the home park of the American League champion. Games 5, 6 and 7 will be played only if necessary.

MOVIES ON TV

Intrigue, glamour top Danielle Steel's 'Jewels'

BY FELICIA A. FEASTER

French chateaux, English royalty, a world war, exquisite bijoux and lovely ladies are the varied, glamorous subjects of the five-hour miniseries Danielle Steel's "Jewels" (NBC, Oct. 18 and 20). It will take every second of those five hours to cover the enormous jumps in this overabundant story line, laden with twists of fortune and multiple love interests. Spanning four decades in the life of an American and her British husband, the intrigue begins with the marriage of Sarah Thompson (Annette O'Toole) to dashing William, Duke of Whitfield (Anthony Andrews), and follows their establishment of a successful jewelry business after World War II. Later, Sarah must fight to keep her family together as jealousy and avarice threaten to divide her children and destroy the jewelry business. Jurgen Prochnow, Corinne Touzet and Robert Wagner also star.

• Sir John Gielgud, Dame Wendy Hiller and Patrick McGoohan, all noted British artists in their own right, star as a distinguished trio of close friends and intellectuals, in "Masterpiece Theatre" 's "The Best of Friends" (PBS, Oct. 18; check local listings). Gielgud is Sir Sydney Cockwell, curator of a major British museum, Hiller is Dame Laurentia MacLachlan, Abbess of Stanbrook Abbey, and McGoohan is playwright George Bernard Shaw. The three intimate friends kept in touch mainly through letters, and this true story, dramatized by playwright Hugh Whitemore, details their relationship.

• Julie Christie and Donald Sutherland are supported by a strong cast of young Irish actors in "The Railway Station Man" (TNT, Oct. 18). The film is a grim look at the political tensions in Ireland and how they affect a mother and her college-age son.

• Still another dramatization of custody disputes, "Jonathan: The Boy Nobody Wanted" (NBC, Oct. 19) has a concerned volunteer at a handicapped children's home and a Down's syndrome patient's parents fighting over the right to decide his fate. Jo-Beth Williams ("Baby M") stars as Ginny Moore, the volunteer who sues for legal guardianship of Jonathan Willis (Chris Burke of "Life Goes On"), institutionalized because of Down's syndrome and diagnosed with a life-threatening heart condition. Jonathan's parents are reluctant to allow the operation that would save his life, prompting Ginny to try to obtain guardianship. Jeffrey DeMunn, Dana Barron and Madge Sinclair also star.

THIS WEEK

Shelley Duvall

A Dog's Life: On Sunday, Oct. 18, "Frankenweenie," the first film by famed director Tim Burton ("Batman," "Beetlejuice," "Edward Scissorhands") makes its television premiere on cable's Disney Channel. Shelley Duvall and Barret Oliver star in the short comedy, which revolves around a boy's attempt to revive his injured dog, using a microwave oven and a toaster. • "Sexual Considerations," a new "CBS Schoolbreak Special," airs Tuesday, Oct. 20. Heather McAdam and Tovah Feldshuh star in the drama, which revolves around a 16-year-old student who charges the editor of her school newspaper with sexual harassment. • PBS's "Frontline" airs "The Politics of Power," an investigation of U.S. energy policy, on Tuesday, Oct. 20. (Check local listings.) • Gen. Louis H. Wilson, a Congressional Medal of Honor Recipient and former Marines Commandant, guest-stars as himself in the episode of "Major Dad" airing Friday, Oct. 23, on CBS. • Urkel (Jaleel White) and Carl (Reginald VelJohnson) share a hospital room on ABC's "Family Matters" Friday, Oct. 23. • Vanessa Williams performs on the late-night music series "ABC in Concert," Friday, Oct. 23.

SOAP SCOOP

'As the World' churns; 'Santa Barbara' sinks

BY CONNIE PASSALACQUA

As the World Turns," which did a fantastic job this past summer in reversing the unfortunate slump in quality last winter and spring – partly due to the prolonged Carolyn Crawford murder-mystery story line – is facing new challenges with a show of strength.

In the wake of word that Rex Smith (who plays Numero Uno murder suspect Darryl

Terry Lester

Crawford) will be leaving the show in November, Mary Ellen Stuart (who plays Darryl's innocent wife, Frannie) has announced that she'll be leaving the show late this year, too. So a November conclusion to this hugely frustrating, two-year-long story line is now definitely set.

But at "ATWT," the storyline pot never stops boiling. Joining the show in late November to start a new major story is soap superstar Terry Lester, who formerly played Jack Abbott on "The Young and the Restless" and Mason Capwell on "Santa Barbara." (We knew there had to be a reason why the California-based, unemployed Lester showed up so conspicuously at last June's Daytime Emmy parties in New York City!) Lester will play architect Royce Keller.

As demonstrated by the recent acquisition of electric actor Joe Breen (who formerly played Will Jeffries on "Guiding Light" and Paul Slavinsky on "Loving") and head writer Douglas Marland's creation of the intriguing character of Scott Eldridge just for him, "ATWT" not only has great taste in actors, but also knows how to write specifically to their strengths. We can't wait to see what is planned for Lester, who is equally skilled at comedy and drama and projects a rare intelligence and liveliness.

Sadly for "ATWT" 's audience, Ellen Dolan (who plays Margo Hughes) has announced that she'll leave the show in February. The role will be recast. Margo is the center of the show's attention right now as a rape victim who found out that one of her assailants is HIV-positive. Dolan's remarkably mature work in this wrenching story line definitely has been Daytime Emmy material. But then again, so was her work two years ago in the Casey Perretti (formerly played by Bill Shanks) right-to-die story, for which she didn't even receive a nomination. You know those Daytime Emmys!

• Well, the ax has finally fallen on "SB," which has had the longest death watch since the demise of Spanish dictator Francisco Franco. NBC has announced that the soap will air its final episode Jan. 15.

"Search for the First Americans," airing Tuesday, Oct. 20, on PBS's "Nova" (check local listings), is an engrossing review of evidence (including this rock painting in Brazil) that people have inhabited the Americas longer – perhaps much longer – than the 16,000 years that has been definitely established. In one intriguing segment, an archaeologist knaps out a Clovis spear point as it must have been done millennia ago.

"Tales From Hollywood," a partly fictional, partly fact-based look at the lives of emigre German writers – including Bertolt Brecht, Thomas Mann and his brother Heinrich – working in Hollywood during World War II, does an unusually good job of capturing the curious spirit of the place. When you think of "fast food," do you order up thoughts of burgers and fries in a bag or prepackaged dinners that lack home-cooked flavor? Then it's time to treat yourself and your family to fast food at home that sizzles with taste.

In the time it would take you to drive to your favorite take-out restaurant, you could be serving your family a delicious dinner made with versatile beef and convenient A.1. Steak Sauce. With these recipes, there's no need to wait until the weekend to create family-pleasing meals; even a busy weekday will leave you enough time to prepare flavorful meals with a new twist. All of the recipes featured here take less than 30 minutes from start to finish and use no more than eight ingredients, yet deliver a variety of delicious tastes.

You can easily turn a typical meat and potatoes dinner into an extraordinary meal by broiling up Steak 'n Vegetables with Dipping Sauce while watching the half-hour evening news. Tender beef sirloin steak is complemented with a colorful arrangement of red onion, potatoes and zucchini broiled with a light coating of olive oil. But the taste isn't complete until you savor each bite with a zesty dipping sauce made of A.1. Steak Sauce with its rich blend of ten herbs and spices, beef broth and red currant jelly.

If it's hamburgers that you relish, set aside the ketchup and mustard and try Saucy Pita Burgers. These easy burgers in pita bread are bursting with a tangy salsa and steak sauce packed with bell pepper and onion slices.

When it comes to saving time in the kitchen and creating a tasty meal the whole family will enjoy, stir fry is a sure-fire choice. Bring out a large skillet or wok for Thai Beef and Noodle Toss. With just eight ingredients, you'll see and taste how easy it is to toss an appetizing meal together with stir-fried steak strips and a plate full of ramen noodles seasoned with steak sauce, shredded carrot, unsalted peanuts and chopped cilantro.

So, next time when fast food is the order for the day, simply rely on versatile beef, fresh vegetables and easy-to-prepare sauces for a well-balanced meal anytime of the week. With no more than 30 minutes of your time, you couldn't ask for a more satisfying family dinner!

QUICK FIX DINNER TIPS

- Look for quick and easy recipes that are short on ingredients and preparation time, but packed with flavor.
- Keep a variety of spices and sauces such as A.1. Steak Sauce on hand in your cupboard to quickly enhance the flavor and tenderness of beef meals.
- When a recipe calls for chopping, grating or shredding, cut your preparation time in half by putting your food processor or blender to work for you.
- When cutting up meat and vegetables for dinner, take out your recipe for the next evening's meal and work ahead by cutting up the necessary ingredients for both recipes. You'll welcome the extra free time before the next family mealtime.
- When preparing a meal like chili or beef barbecue, make twice as much the first time around and freeze half. That way you'll have a homemade meal ready to eat in minutes. Simply defrost and reheat.

Relative Of Local Resident Playing Key Role In Hurricane Clean-up

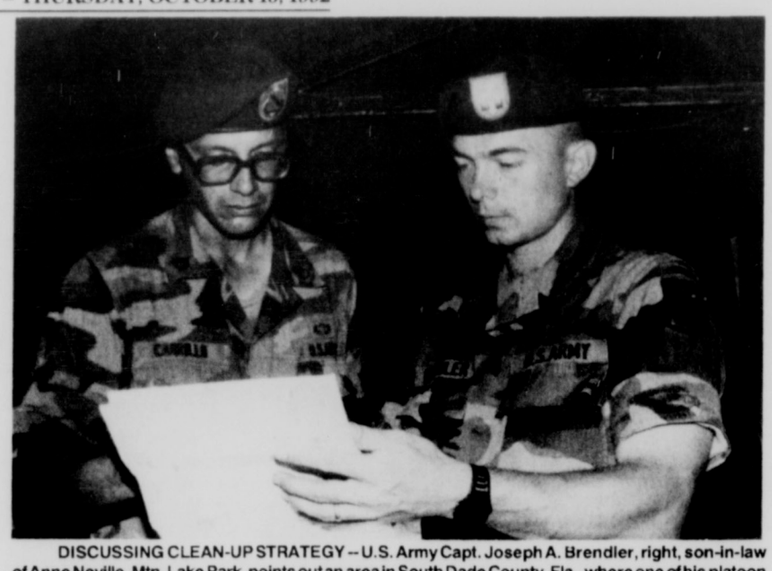
by John Smith

HOMESTEAD, Fla. -- Without mercy or prejudice, Hurricane Andrew slammed into South Florida, grinding it to pieces and hurling the torn and splintered communities into a mangled disarray. Winds in excess of 200 mph ripped trees up from their roots, peeled roofs off homes and tossed cars and mobile homes like children's toys. When the winds and rain finally subsided, residents returned to South Dade County only to find their homes, lives and dreams had been blown away. Everything for miles had been destroyed.

However, because of aid provided by volunteers, including military and federal agencies, all hope is not lost. Collectively teaming their resources, they are providing the necessities for victims of this country's worst natural disaster.

Army Capt. Joseph A. Brendler, 30, son-in-law of Anne Neville, Mountain Lake Park, is a member of the 35th Signal Brigade, Fort Bragg, N.C. He is one of almost 27,000 military personnel participating in Joint Task Force Andrew which is helping hurricane victims put their lives and communities back together.

Andrew didn't leave much. Most of the homes and buildings left standing were roofless, empty shells. Streets were littered with trees, telephone poles and the debris of homes. One Desert Storm veteran said, "This area looks worse than Kuwait City. The only things missing are the bomb craters."



Destruction cost estimates run as high as $20 billion and South Dade County has been declared a national disaster area. With over 250,000 people homeless, all forms of aid are welcome with open arms.

"I'm commanding a company of 160 soldiers which provides vital command and control communications to the 18th Airborne Corps and it's subordinate commands," said Brendler, husband of the former Teresa N. Neville. "Our efforts are much appreciated. We were greeted by thumbs up, waving and cheering from the people during the entire route of our convoy. It's also apparent in the faces of the individuals who eat at our mobile kitchens that they are no longer afraid for their lives, they know we will feed and help care for them. They are still tired, dirty, and depressed, but they have hope."

Services being provided by the military include distribution of fresh water, hot meals, free medical care, canned foods and temporary shelter in tent cities. They are also aiding city and county officials with traffic control, neighborhood security, power for municipal buildings and clean-up of debris.

Andrew may have destroyed the communities, neighborhoods and homes of South Dade County, but with the help of the military, Andrew's victims have been given new hope and a chance to rebuild their lives.

"The power of mother nature at her worst is truly awesome. This place looks like a war zone -- no power, no water, no lights at night, no businesses are open -- it's totally destroyed. At first it was shocking, but I feel very good about the noticeable changes for the better which we are affecting," said Brendler, who commands a signal company. "Plus my soldiers and I feel good about our participation. We are helping to do a very good thing for people while doing the job we've trained for."

DISCUSSING CLEAN-UP STRATEGY -- U.S. Army Capt. Joseph A. Brendler, right, son-in-law of Anne Neville, Mtn. Lake Park, points out an area in South Dade County, Fla., where one of his platoon leaders needs to go remove a large amount of debris while participating in Join Task Force Andrew. The Golden Years

Congress in 1986 authorized a nonprofit foundation to build a memorial in Washington dedicated to the women who have served in military roles throughout U.S. history. As part of its work, the foundation is collecting personal reminiscences. Winifred Hamilton Hoag, an Army nurse in Europe during World War II, told how Christmas spirit in 1944 had taken over the 121st General Hospital. "There were decorations, Christmas music on the Armed Forces radio network, Christmas boxes from home and the prospect of a real Christmas dinner" along with "the feeling that the war was winding down." Suddenly, "the hospital was put on alert....and then the casualties started to arrive. The Battle of the Bulge was on, and Christmas had become a casualty of war."

CAN GARRETT COUNTY AFFORD TO GIVE AWAY A MILLION DOLLARS A YEAR?

Our Current Law On Sunday Restaurant Beverage Sale Cuts Local Sunday Employment By 30%!

Garrett County's old law that prohibits the sale of drinks with a restaurant meal on Sunday cuts the number of local people who work in local restaurants by nearly one-third...every Sunday!

Local restaurant operators have calculated that those employees lose $300,000 in wages because of this law. Many other businesses who supply the restaurant industry...like wholesalers, delivery companies and other business services also lose payroll.

This Outdated Law Costs Garrett County One Million Dollars A Year!

According to the most precise information available, the total economic loss in wages, services and local taxes amounts to over one million dollars annually from a community that already suffers from the highest unemployment in the state!

Students Attend Project Learning Tree Workshop

Twelve Garrett Community College students and 16 Frostburg State University students attended the Project Learning Tree Workshop held recently at the Camp Hickory Environmental Education Center near Accident, during which they received "hands on" experience in educating in the outdoors.

For the GCC students, all members of Ann Wellham's Introduction to Outdoor Education course (OED 160), the day's training was preparation for the Outdoor Education Weekend for fifth graders being planned for November, during which they will be the teachers. Part of the day's activities included backpacking up the Cove Run Trail.

Project Learning Tree is an environmental program that uses the natural world as a source of instructional activities for all subjects in grades K-12. It is designed to help young people gain an awareness of the environment and to make wise choices about conservation practices and resource use, according to Ms. Wellham.

GCC students who attended the workshop were Jeff Stemple, Mark Phillips, Deborah Snyder, Tammy Bittinger, Dean Wood, Heather Shepherd, Denny Talbert, Rob Whittington, Brandon Seifert, Sonya Guthrie, Nick Nicklow, and Tracey Feather.

Facilitators for the workshop were Karen Miller, of the Environmental Education Center; Jim Allen, director of Technology at GCC; Alice Hevner of the Extension Agency; Louise Uphold, Department of Natural Resources; and Ms. Wellham, director of Health, Physical Education, and Athletics at GCC.

Thompson's Water Seal Brand

Thompson's—The First Name In Lasting Protection.

Exceptional Protection

Thompson's Water Seal® Brand Waterproofing Formula has always maintained some unique, powerful waterproofing ingredients. Because these are blended in a unique system, Water Seal has always provided exceptional water-proofing protection around your home. Water Seal penetrates deeply into the surface to protect from the inside out, forming a barrier that water cannot get past, even when driven by 98 mph winds. This is why Water Seal continues to protect long after the initial water beading is gone! Unlike most competitive products, Water Seal passes waterproofing standards established by Federal Specifications for all three major types of exterior surfaces around the home—wood, brick and concrete. Water Seal is a great defense against repair expense.

Use On Pressure-Treated Wood

Even though pressure treated wood is protected from rot and termites, it can be very vulnerable to water damage. Rain, melting snow and other moisture penetrates the wood fibers and the wood expands and warps. Then, as the moisture evaporates, the wood dries out, contracts and often develops long splits and cracks, commonly seen on pressure-treated wood decks that haven't been water proofed. This cycle can repeat itself until the wood is extensively damaged. That's why those who make pressure-treated lumber generally recommend waterproofing it for more complete protection. Use Thompson's® Water Seal® Brand Waterproofing Formula to provide the extra protection that pressure-treated wood needs.

Protects Concrete And Masonry

No matter how hard the surface, concrete and masonry are actually porous surfaces that are easily penetrated by water. Every time it freezes, the water that has seeped into the pores expands. When it thaws, the water contracts. Repeated freeze/thaw cycles can cause severe cracking and crumbling damage. Also, de-icing salts soak in and speed up the process of deterioration. Rain and ground water can also leach through concrete and masonry, pulling calcium salts to the surface and leaving behind unattractive white deposits.

Thompson's Water Seal helps prevent this type of damage by penetrating the surface to form an effective moisture barrier. So even though concrete and masonry look tough, they really aren't. Protect [illegible] and masonry surfaces with Thompson's® Water Seal.

Farm Bureau Holds Legislative Meeting, Plans Annual Membership Banquet

The Garrett County Farm Bureau will hold its annual membership meeting and banquet on October 30 at the Deer Park Fire Hall beginning at 7 p.m. The ham dinner will cost members $3.00. Members will be receiving letters in the mail with details and a reservation form. Others interested in attending or becoming a Farm Bureau member should call Clark Kolb at 746-8484, or William F. DeWitt at 334-4337.

A Legislative Workshop was held September 24 with special guests Senator John Hafer, Delegate George Edwards, and Farm Bureau Legislative Liaison Jack Miller, 4-H members, and guests from Allegany County.

Jack Miller discussed growth management, and the attempt being made to transfer the problem from the state level to the local level. The counties, he says, have flexible guidelines, and he suggested that Farm Bureau members become involved at the local level. "It is very important that farmers protect their farms against loss of equity," he said.

Miller reviewed the last legislative session, reporting on the Gas Tax Bill, the Nutrient Management Certification Program, which will be starting, and the Sediment Control Program.

The budget came under discussion and centered on "no new taxes" versus "user fees," and the most cost effective budget proposals in view of declining state money.

Miller reported that the Ag Land Preservation Program is in trouble for two reasons. First of all, it is difficult to get money from the state for those in the program, and because the state's farmers have lost confidence in the program.

Also discussed was the state budget's effect on The Extension Service, which those present feel is the number one program for agriculture in the future. Additional tax issues passed in the 1991 session, the gas tax, vehicle regulations, sales tax repeals, corporate taxes, and changes in deductions, were discussed.

Other topics included Sunday hunting and property rights. Sen. Hafer and Del. Edwards joined in the discussions and answered questions from those attending.

Farming In Maryland..... Bernice Kepple, Farm Editor

Demand For Corn To Produce Ethanol Should Rise

Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Robert L. Walker has announced that the federal government's decision to encourage ethanol use in meeting the environmental goals of the Clean Air Act has the potential to increase demand for corn and other crops used to produce ethanol.

"Ethanol has vast possibilities for Maryland farmers. I believe the market for this renewable motor fuel will only increase over the coming years creating new customers for Maryland corn," said Maryland Governor William Donald Schaefer.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates a near doubling of ethanol demand by 1997, and a 150 percent increase--to two billion gallons per year--by the year 2000. Between 1985 and 1991, ethanol consumption in the U.S. remained roughly stable at about 750 to 800 million gallons per year.

"In making their future production plans, I urge all Maryland corn growers to completely explore the ethanol market. This is a new market option that cannot be ignored," said Walker.

The Clean Air Act of 1990 requires that cities with the worst smog problems use gasoline that cuts smog forming emissions by 15 percent in the summer months beginning in 1995, and that cities that do not meet carbon monoxide standards use oxygenated fuels during the winter months beginning in 1992.

A New Herbicide To Keep In Mind

Ciba-Geigy has introduced a new broadleaf herbicide for cereal grains called Amber. From what I have read, it appears to be a good herbicide for Broadleaf Weed Control. Amber is a sulfonylurea chemical which provides season-long control of 41 weeds including mustards, thistle, pigweed, cheat, etc.

Field Corn Situation

There are all different levels of maturity of the corn in our area. I have checked corn still in the milk stage down to some corn below 30 percent moisture. I would recommend that you check the moisture content of the corn that is going to silage. The leaves and stocks are drying down fast due to the excellent weather. I would rather see silage a little on the wet side than too dry.

I have had several calls on how to price corn silage. The most reliable method I have found is the following: Price/bu. of shelled 15.5 percent corn x 6 = $ per ton of corn silage.

Farmers Reminded To Petition For ASC Committee Nominees

Farmers are reminded that the county ASCS office is now receiving nominations for ASCS county committee election candidates. Kenneth R. Bachtel, Garrett County ASC Committee chairperson, encouraged farmers to use this opportunity to nominate their neighbors as candidates in the ASC committee election.

Bachtel said the ASC committee provides the important service of administering government farm programs in the local community. The election will be conducted by mail from November 27 to December 7. Eligible farm voters will be provided with instructions for filling out the secret ballot and returning it to the county ASC office.

Most resident farmers are eligible to hold office as ASC committee-members. If a farmer would like detailed information concerning eligibility requirements, he or she should contact either a present committee member or the county ASCS office.

In filling out a petition, farmers should be careful to include the name of only one nominee, the signatures of at least three eligible ASC voters who support the nominee, and certification that the nominee is willing to serve if elected. Petitions must contain this information to be accepted. The completed petition should be dated and mailed or hand-delivered to the county ASC office no later than November 2.

ASC committee elections are open to all eligible ASC voters without regard to race, color, religion, sex, age, handicap, or national origin. Bachtel explained that any concerned farmer with an interest in serving fellow producers would be an asset to the ASC committee. For this reason, farmers are urged to petition for the farmers of their choice. The individual producer will benefit in the long run from a responsible, concerned team of ASC committee members in the local administration of the U.S. governments farm programs, Bachtel said.

Maryland Wins National 4-H Dairy Judging Championship For 26th Time

For longtime observers, it's perhaps not big news when Maryland wins another championship in national 4-H dairy cattle judging competition. And the Maryland team did it again this year on September 29 during the World Dairy Expo at Madison, Wis. The achievement marked the 26th national championship for Maryland teams in 72 years of 4-H competition.

In addition to winning the team championship, Maryland also had the high individual in a field of 148 contestants from 37 states. This year's winner was Mark Iager, 16, of Fulton (Howard County).

Mark follows the footsteps of his father, Charles E. Iager Jr., who won the same honor in 1958. The Iagers operate Maple Lawn Farms, home to a nationally known Holstein herd along Highway 216 at the edge of Fulton.

Another Howard County resident, Amy Brown of Roxbury, was high individual in the national 4-H dairy cattle judging contest at the World Dairy Expo in 1990.

Previous national champions from Maryland have included William L. Swift III of Shepperd (Baltimore County) in 1985; Michael J. Allen of Jefferson in 1981 and Ronnie Kling of Taneytown in 1974, both from Frederick County.

Also, Barbara Whipp of Gaithersburg (Montgomery County), 1965, and Dottie Grove of Hagerstown (Washington County), 1961.

On his way to national honors in this year's contest, Mark Iager placed first in judging Brown Swiss cattle; tenth in both Ayrshires and Jersey judging; and tenth in reasons.

On September 21 he had placed sixth in the overall standings among 52 contestants from 14 states in the 4-H division of the invitational youth dairy cattle judging contest during the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show at Harrisburg, Pa. He also placed among the top 10 in three breed categories and in oral reasons.

Christopher (Chip) Savage, 17, of Burkittsville (Frederick County) placed ninth in the overall standings at Madison, fourth in Guernsey judging, and tenth in Holstein judging. He was second in both oral reasons and overall standings at Harrisburg, first in Jersey judging, fourth in Holsteins and fifth in Ayrshires.

Marie L. Speak, 17, of Taneytown (Carroll County) placed 12th in the overall standings in Madison; fourth in Ayrshire judging; and fourth in reasons.

At Harrisburg she finished among the top 10 individuals in overall standings, oral reasons, and four of the five breed categories.

Kristi Geary, 17, of Goshen (Montgomery County) was the fourth Maryland team member. She placed 12th in the overall standings at Harrisburg.

Finishing close behind Maryland in the team standings at Madison were Pennsylvania, New York and Florida, in that order. Indiana was a distant fifth.

The Maryland team placed first in Jersey breed judging; third in Ayrshire, Guernsey and Holstein judging; and fourth in the Brown Swiss classes.

At Harrisburg, Maryland swept to an easy team victory in the overall 4-H standings, with New York, Pennsylvania, Michigan and Wisconsin trailing far behind, in that order.

The Maryland team also placed first in oral reasons at Harrisburg, as well as in Ayrshire, Holstein and Jersey breed judging.

Winning the national 4-H dairy cattle judging contest assures a college scholarship for Mark Iager and a chance for the entire Maryland team to represent the United States in international competition during a European tour next summer.

Corn Harvest Advancing

By October 11 corn harvest was making good progress in Maryland. Corn was in good condition with silage harvest active and grain harvest underway. About half the soybeans were shedding leaves and several acres have been combined.

An average of 5.1 days was suitable for fieldwork during the week ending October 11, according to the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service. Across the state, six percent of the topsoil was short on moisture, 81 percent had adequate moisture and 13 percent had surplus moisture. Subsoil moisture was short in 13 percent of Maryland, while 81 percent had adequate moisture and six percent had a surplus.

Soybeans and sorghum were in good condition across the state and harvest was beginning for both crops. Pastures were in excellent condition, with adequate hay supplies. Cattle continue to graze on pastures as temperatures remained favorable. Apple harvest passed the halfway mark. Lima bean and sweet potato harvests were active. Small grain seeding was becoming more active. Pumpkin harvest and pre-Halloween projects were active.

Maryland's progress for the week ending October 11 was as follows, listing the item, this year's percentage, last year's percentage and a percentage for the 5-year average.

Soybeans turning, 75, 93, 86; shedding leaves, 51, 79, 64; harvested, 7, 14, 11. Corn mature, 81, 100, 95; grain harvested, 21, 64, 59; silage harvested, 69, 97, 93. Sorghum mature, 89, 95, N/A; harvested, 9, 31, N/A. Hay harvested: Alfalfa, fourth cutting, 80, 73, 74; other, fourth cutting, 32, 24, 30. Apples harvested, 55, 74, 81.

N/A: not available.

WEATHER

Maryland weather for the week ending October 9 was slightly warmer than normal with moderate to heavy precipitation. Precipitation averaged 0.91 inch, ranging from 0.08 inch at College Park to 2.20 inches at Woodstock. Regional averages were: western, 0.31; north central, 1.47; southern Maryland west of the Bay, 0.60; and Eastern Shore, 0.80 inches. Temperatures averaged 61.2 degrees, 1.8 degrees above the normal of 59.4 degrees for the October 3-9 period. Minimum temperatures were mostly in the 30's. Maximum temperatures were in the 70's.

Kleckner's Column

By Dean Kleckner, President

American Farm Bureau Federation

The Land Grant Mission

It's time for farmers to remind our friends at the land grant ag colleges of their original mission. Land grant university and Extension personnel must address the concerns and seek improvements for the tasks farmers and ranchers face. Traditionally, academic work paid by the public focused on teaching, research and Extension that fostered growth. I'm not so sure that is true today.

We understand some of the problems ag scientists face. As partners in production progress, we go way back. Land grant colleges originated in the 19th century to improve agriculture's lot. In the early 20th century, the Extension concept blossomed.

Farm Bureau was an integral part of that concept, with many state legislatures requiring an organized Farm Bureau before a county agent could be hired. Prospective agents were among the earliest, and most ardent, Farm Bureau membership workers. In those early days, Extension agents helped run the Farm Bureau organization as they helped spread information and innovations developed by university researchers.

Changing Roles Share Common Goal

In time, farmers believed their organization was capable of doing more than providing eager learners. They wanted to form co-ops, lobby for legislation, speak out on civic issues. In short, farmers and ranchers wanted their organization to be a voice of all aspects of agriculture.

Today, many in agriculture feel the direction, the scope and the goals of Extension and university research are changing. State governments provide the largest portion of a school's budget. In the last three years, 91 percent of all state ag colleges have seen their funding cut.

Federal funds have increased over the years but come with strings attached, often directing research into specific areas that are not production oriented. Worse, some of those scarce research dollars must be used to refute baseless charges against conventional agricultural practices, practices originally developed by and disseminated from the land grant school. Finally, we see tax-supported research projects awarded on the basis of political correctness or results suppressed if they are displeasing to the political hierarchy. Sound science takes a back seat to public perception because funding for politically correct research is easier to come by.

Other Changes Weaken Scientist/Farmer Connection

Another disturbing trend--many times we've gone to the academic community for answers and received a bill. Why don't they perform these requested tasks for the benefit of agriculture and the benefit of society? Why don't they use public funds for the purpose they were intended? Even now, we are seeking to scientifically determine the impact of chemical reduction on minor use crops. Farm Bureau will be a major financial backer, and we will seek contributions from affected commodity groups. But, this is a fundamental question that falls within the public ag scientist's realm.

Farmers and ranchers have other concerns about the direction our publicly funded university and Extension support teams are going. We see funds directed to non-farm purposes, such as urban gardening. We see funds used to teach urban youth anti-meat, anti-chemical, anti-personal property rights "facts." We see funds diverted to study "sustainable" agriculture.

We don't see the necessary emphasis on improved marketing, new uses of existing commodities, new and improved varieties, innovative machinery, workable environmental solutions, improved integrated pest control measures and the other areas identified in our policies. These issues may not be fashionable but they are of real concern to real farmers.

Rededication To Cooperative Spirit Is Vital

Farm Bureau is working with land grant school ag deans and Extension Service directors. All of us want to maintain the alliance that we have enjoyed for so long. Farm Bureau still is the first group to speak on behalf of our land grant schools for extra funding. We want to continue our support.

We also want a role identifying areas of necessary research and establishing priorities. We can disseminate their information with our Farm Bureau satellite network to every state Farm Bureau headquarters and more than 500 county Farm Bureau offices. Farmers and ranchers, through Farm Bureau, have much to offer. More local input into our land grant and Extension systems would greatly ease many of agriculture's concerns.

Soybean Research Shows Promise

Exciting things are happening in soybean research: Extraction of the resin from whole soybeans that can be used to make building materials; the development of a soy-based adhesive; fueling diesel engines with methyl-ester soybean oil; the effects of soy protein and soy fiber on cholesterol levels; the influence of roasted and extruded soybeans mixed with bovine somatotropin on production and composition of milk from dairy cows. Some of them already have come to fruition and are paying dividends.

On August 12, the Minnesota Soybean Research and Promotion Council, in cooperation with the United Soybean Board, unveiled plans for a new manufacturing plant in Mankato.

Phenix Composites, Inc., a new corporation, will use the technology developed in research funded by the national soybean check-off to manufacture a product called "NewStone."

The material is composed of waste paper bonded together with a monolithic resin formulated from soybeans. It has the look of natural granite and decorative colored stone and offers a machinability similar to that of wood. Applications will include furniture, flooring, wall panels, or structural and decorative components.

On July 4, a boat called The Sunrider took off from San Francisco on a 52,000-mile voyage around the world. The 24-foot, rigid inflatable boat is powered by 100 percent "SoyDiesel" fuel.

Those accomplishments, according to Keith J. Smith, director of research for the American Soybean Association, help to explain why 37 percent of the $4 million in checkoff funds assigned to soybean research in FY '92 was targeted at new and expanded uses of oil crop.

And for FY '93 (Oct. 1,'92 to Sept. 20, '93), 25 percent of a budget of $3.6 million will be funnelled into the SoyDiesel program.

Smith, addressing a recent gathering of Mid-Atlantic soybean association leaders and researchers in Georgetown, Del., said that soybean research planning over the next several years is keyed to a number of assumptions, or "trends." They include:

* All research supported by checkoff funds must be "driven by economics"--this is, how will the hoped-for end result of the research benefit farmers?

* Environmental and safety concerns will continue to occupy consumers.

* Soybean yields will increase more rapidly in future years than they have in the past.

* Varieties will be developed to meet specific uses...for example, a bean that provides higher protein without sacrificing yield.

* New uses of soybean derivatives will be developed, particularly for industry--"NewStone" is an example--but traditional uses of soy will continue to dominate the market.

* Research will place an ever-increasing emphasis on reducing the costs of soybean production while improving the composition of the bean.

* Public funding of soybean research will continue to diminish and the money collected by SPARC--the new nationwide checkoff--will become the major source of support.

SPARC -- the Soybean Promotion and Research Checkoff--went into effect last October 1. Under its mandate, farmers are assessed one-half of one percent--50 cents on $100--of the price of their soybeans at the first point of sale. Within the next two years, the nation's 450,000 soybean farmers will vote to continue--or abandon--the checkoff. A referendum is expected to be held in July, 1994.

It is "super-important" to the future of the soybean industry in this country that the checkoff is certified and continued, said Smith.

Should it be defeated, several state checkoffs which had been in effect prior to the national assessment program, may be challenged as well, Smith warned, posing a very real threat to the continuation of valuable and promising research projects.

"There's a lot riding on the next 18 months," he said.

Robert Bounds of Westminster, is one of the 63 soybean farmers who make up the United Soybean Board which administers the checkoff.

He is convinced that, if the nation's soybean producers are made aware of the exciting things their checkoff dollars are accomplishing--that their money is being spent well and wisely--they will recertify the program.

"Let farmers know what you're doing," he told state soybean board members and research scientists at the Georgetown meeting. "Let them know what you're doing to increase their profits. We need to sell the checkoff."

Friendsville School, S&S Market Form Reading Partnership

Cooperation between school and business is a vital link in success for students. Friendsville Elementary School has started a "new link in the chain" with S&S Market, according to a school spokesperson.

The program is called "Hey, have you read this book?" Vernon and Freda Sines, owners of the S&S Market in Friendsville supply the brown paper grocery bags to the individual classes. Students then do their book reports, complete with illustrations, on the bags, following a certain format.

The colorful bags are then returned to the store where persons buying groceries may take home one of the decorated bags. They, in turn, learn about a book, its author, characters, setting, plot, and other stories written by the author.

The name and grade of the student who produced the bag is also part of the report. Sometimes parents get their own child's book report. It is hoped that children and adults will be encouraged to read more stories by a certain author and/or use the local branch of the Ruth Enlow Library to select books to read.

New Cardiac Support Group Meets At GCMH

Garrett County Memorial Hospital's Cardiac Support Group, sponsored by the hospital's Cardiac Rehabilitation Program, held its first meeting on Monday, October 5, in the board room of Garrett Memorial.

Dr. Thomas Johnson, director of the Coronary-Intensive Care Unit at Garrett Memorial, spoke about the risk factors and symptoms associated with coronary artery disease and the effects of cholesterol on the coronary arteries.

Families are encouraged to attend the Cardiac Support Group meetings which will continue to meet the first Monday of every other month at 7 p.m. in the board room of Garrett Memorial. Wendy Wakefield, R.D., director of Dietary Services at Garrett Memorial will speak about diets that are low in fat and cholesterol and smart shopping at the next meeting scheduled for December 5. Participants will also select a name for the support group.

EQUAL HOUSING OPPORTUNITY

Small Business Finance, Planning Class Scheduled

Obtaining and managing needed financial resources is vital for anyone starting a new business, according to the Small Business Administration. A class designed to help prospective business owners learn the basics about creating a business plan and establishing financing has been scheduled to begin at Garrett Community College October 19. The three-session class will focus on: types of financing available; how to apply for loans; how to determine financing needs; and how to write a business plan. Those wishing to actually complete a business plan as part of the class will have an opportunity to do so through participation in free counseling with the Small Business Development Center at GCC.

The class will also meet on October 26 and November 2 from 6:30 to 9 p.m. at the McHenry Campus.

This is one of a series of classes which address the issues vital to starting or expanding a small business. The classes are co-sponsored by the Continuing Education Division of GCC, the Small Business Administration, and the Western Maryland Small Business Development Center. Anyone wishing to register for this course or obtain additional information may call Sandy Major at the Small Business Development Center at 387-6666, ext. 180.

TO PERFORM AT FSU -- A recital of piano works will be presented by Frostburg State University's Henri-Paul Sicsic, Sunday, October 18, at 3 p.m. in Pullen Auditorium. The public is invited to this free performance. Winner of the Grande Prix de la Ville de Nice in piano, Sicsic will perform works by Schubert, Ravel, and Chopin. Sicsic most recently studies with John Perry at the Shepherd School of Music, Rice University, where he received his master of music degree and is completing his doctor of musical Arts. While studying at Rice, he won the Sallie Shepherd Perkins Prize for Highest Level of Achievement in Music. He has performed extensively as a soloist and in chamber performances in Europe, Canada and the U.S. He and his wife, Nancy, also a pianist, reside in Frostburg.

Final Hike In Fall Series Set By Sierra Club

The fourth and final hike in the Sierra Club fall hiking series will be held Saturday, October 17, in the Potomac/Garrett State Forest, managed by Steve Hamilton.

Hikers will assemble at the forest headquarters at 10 a.m. All hikers should bring a bag lunch but drinks will be provided by the Sierra Club.

The hike will be lead by Sheila Hughes and Fran Pope, both of the Sierra Club, and by Clarissa Harris of the forest staff.

Each hike in the fall series has consisted of two to three hours of "moderately brisk walking," according to Sierra Club member, Fred Bolton, who added that the upcoming hike will be of a similar nature.

Bolton also noted that the series has identified a number of people who are "interested in frequent hikes that are not too strenuous but explore the region." The general tri-state region has a number of "extremely attractive " hiking sites, and additional hikes will be announced in the near future, he said.

Saturday's trail will follow Lostland Run for about three and one-half miles through rhododendron and hemlock groves to the North Branch of the Potomac River. The path crosses the stream several times on the way to the Potomac, passes by a cascade waterfall, and reaches the river at a scenic overlook.

A limited number of "Take-A-Hike" T-shirts will be available on a "first-come, first-served" basis, and the shirts that were won through a contest sponsored in August by the Country Club Mall, LaVale, and the Sierra Club, will also be awarded.

The quartet of Saturday hikes is being conducted in celebration of the Sierra Club's centenary. The first hike was on the tow path of the C&O Canal; the second was in Savage River State Forest; and the third was in Green Ridge State Forest.

Further information about the hike series may be obtained by calling Sheila Hughes at 334-9679 or Fran Pope at 334-4908.

Garrett County Moment Selections Are Announced

The first four Garrett County "Moments," to be broadcast on WKHJ Radio, have been selected and recorded, according to Sandy Major, coordinator of the Small Business Development Center at Garrett Community College.

Garrett County "Moments" are short narrative "pictures" of Garrett County scenes or historical events. They are written by students and community members and make positive statements about living in Garrett County. "This project is being coordinated by the Small Business Development Center to increase awareness about the many wonderful resources and opportunities available in the county," Ms. Major said.

These "Moments" which will be broadcast on WKHJ (99FM) starting this month, were written by Rachel Leverenz, a student at Northern Middle School, Paul Dixon II, of Deer Park, Tammy Butt, a student at Southern High School, and Richa Bhatnagar, also a student at Southern. Rachel Leverenz read her "Moment" at the taping session. The other "Moments" were read by Dawn Friend, Angelica Thayer, and Tim Foster. All are students at Garrett Community College. One of the "Moments" will be broadcast each week at various times during each of the next four weeks starting October 19.

The broadcasts are being sponsored by Flushing Shirt Company of Grantsville. Jim White, manager of Flushing, says that sponsorship of this project is one way for the company to "demonstrate its strong commitment" to supporting the local community.

Cathy Clocker of WKHJ has worked closely with Sandy Major of GCC in coordinating the project since its inception last May.

Local students and community members are now being invited to submit their own Garrett County Moments to be used for future broadcasts. Those wishing to participate in this project can obtain additional information by calling the Small Business Development Center at 387-6666, ext. 180.

HONORED FOR SERVICE -- Doris Stein, pictured center, was recently honored by Community Action Agency, jointly with the Head Start staff for her 25 years of "dedicated service." Mrs. Stein has been a teacher at the Jennings Head Start Center since the beginning of the Head Start Program in October 1967. She resides in Grantsville with her husband, Frank, and is the mother of two sons, Duane and Dave Stein, both of Grantsville. Garrett County Community Action currently operates seven Head Start centers throughout the county for pre-school children. Other areas of service include home base options, as well as a pre-school family support program in collaboration with the Garrett County Board of Education. Lung Association Begins Campaign To Help Smokers

The American Lung Association of Maryland, serving Allegany and Garrett counties, launches its first "Help A Friend Stop Smoking" campaign this month. The aim of this public awareness campaign is to give guidance to friends, co-workers, and relatives of smokers who want to quit.

A free brochure titled, "Help A Friend Stop Smoking," is available by calling the American Lung Association. The brochure answers questions commonly asked by friends and family who want to help a loved one quit smoking.

Presently, there are 49 million smokers in the United States and, according to the Surgeon General, more than four in five smokers say they want to quit. In fact, 17 million Americans try to quit smoking every year, although fewer than 1.5 million succeed. Among those who remain, most have thought about quitting, according to a spokesperson from the lung association.

Smoking is the single largest preventable cause of premature death and disability in the United States, and kills more Americans each year than cocaine, heroin, alcohol abuse, auto accidents, homicide, and suicide combined.

Because of the highly addictive nature of nicotine, smokers who attempt to quit frequently experience classic withdrawal symptoms and relapse is common. Many successful ex-smokers may have tried to quit smoking many times before achieving success.

Studies show that friends and family can have a real impact on a smoker and his or her success in quitting. According to Ruth Chidester, ALAM's Smoking or Health Specialist in Allegany and Garrett counties, "You can't make someone stop smoking. Smokers have to make their own decisions. What you can do is show you care and be supportive."

A friend, relative, or coworker of a person who smokes can play an important role in moving him or her closer to quitting and in supporting the smoker through the difficult period after deciding to quit. "The former smoker is trying on a new lifestyle. For some, that lifestyle can have rocky moments or even months," cautioned Chidester.

More information or a free copy of the brochure may be obtained by calling the American Lung Association of Maryland at (301) 777-7317 or 1-800-222-9974, toll-free in Maryland.

Trantham Accepted For Admin. Program

The Maryland Board of Examiners of Nursing Home Administrators has announced the acceptance of Robert Trantham as an administrator-in-training. Trantham currently serves as director of Resource Development for Cuppett Management Company, Inc.

During the 12-month AIT program, Trantham will work in 14 different areas related to standards, administrative principles, and patient-related care, and complete a 100-hour course approved by the Board of Examiners.

Student Interim Council Convenes At GCC Campus

Student legislators from seven Maryland colleges and universities met at Garrett Community College last weekend for the first Interim Council of the Maryland Student Legislature this academic year.

According to Nathan Blatchley, chairman of the GCC delegation who hosted the meeting, 34 participants debated during the two-day meeting, and passed 17 resolutions. Representatives came from Johns Hopkins University, University of Maryland at College Park, Notre Dame, Prince George's Community College, Frostburg State University, and Towson State University.

A variety of interests and concerns were addressed by the student legislators, resulting in resolutions such as: requiring environmental awareness courses in high school curricula, endorsing the North American Free Trade Agreement, calling for removal of the abortion plank from political party platforms, offering support of the MSL to police officers in Maryland, changing requirements for getting a marriage license, implementing a user's fee to expedite the process of the Foodland Drug Administration introducing new drugs to the market, and improving regulations governing sleep-over camps for children.

After the legislative sessions, the group played basketball in the gym and danced to the music of a disc jockey in the Student Center. Blatchley expressed his gratitude to the Oakland Subway and its donation of a 15-foot party sub and to the First Bank of Maryland for their financial support.

Blatchley, who as appointed as the assistant attorney general for the MSL during the weekend Interim Council, announced that the next meeting of the group will be November 14-15 at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore.

A GROUND-BREAKING SERVICE, led by the Rev. David Kisamore at the future location of the Underwood United Brethren in Christ parsonage on Wednesday, September 30. The new parsonage will be located below the intersection of the Old Crellin and Underwood roads. A final vote was held on September 8 to proceed with the building project. The parsonage became necessary after the engagement and marriage of the Rev. Kisamore, pastor of the church, to Valerie Loeffler. The building project was made possible following the donation of an acre of land by Donald W. Friend, member and trustee of the church. Other members and constituents of the church donated time and money making the beginning stages possible. The completion of the basement is expected this fall and will be the living quarters of the Kisamores until more funds can be raised for the second level. The Kisamores and members of the church expressed their appreciation to all who donated resources, whether time, money, or equipment, to make the project possible. Those participating in the ground-breaking ceremony are shown left to right, Arlena Dilley, Mildred Peterson, the Rev. Michael Mudge, former pastor of the church; the Rev. David Kisamore; Valerie Kisamore; John Foster; and Donald Friend.

Oakland Customer Quality Conference Held At B & L

Bausch and Lomb, Inc., Oakland, hosted a quality conference on September 21 and 22 which was attended by quality and manufacturing managers from B&L facilities around the world.

Visitors from a variety of countries, including Ireland, Hong Kong, Mexico, Canada, and Japan, as well as from Puerto Rico, Miami, Fla.; San Antonio, Texas; and Rochester, N.Y.; converged on Oakland for meetings, work sessions and to enjoy Garrett County.

The visitors were representatives of the B&L plants through the world which receive lenses made in Oakland and use them to assemble finished sunglasses. Over the two-day period, the lens-making process was viewed and analyzed by the guests.

Discussions and problem-solving meetings were held to address common problems and service improvement possibilities. One benefit of the conference was the opportunity many guests had to meet fellow managers face to face for the first time after working together by fax machine and phone, according to Butch Sumpter, plant manager at Bausch and Lomb. "It was a conference highlight to see the faces behind the names," said Sumpter.

Time was also set aside for the guests to enjoy some of the county's recreation opportunities. Groups of visitors went hiking, boating, golfing, and horseback riding together. A buffet dinner was also held at the Wisp Resort, followed by a performance of a local bluegrass band.

Sumpter said all the guests rated the conference and Garrett County highly and, without exception, asked to do it again next year.

QUALITY CONFERENCE - Bausch and Lomb, Inc., Oakland, recently hosted a quality conference at the local plant. Above, representatives from Japan, Rochester, N.Y., and Mexico are greeted. Below, Plant Manager Butch Sumpter greets guests, including former Oakland B&L Plant Manager Richard Schick, who located to B&L's corporate offices in Rochester, N.Y. Those attending were reportedly quite impressed with Garrett County and all it had to offer.

INSTRUCTS VISITORS - Larry Savage of the Oakland Bausch and Lomb lens-making plant instructed visitors from Rochester, N.Y., and China on the lens making process at the recent Customer Quality Conference. Below, Mr. Hirayama from the Bausch and Lomb Plant in Japan addresses the group. One benefit of the conference was the opportunity for many guests to meet fellow mangers they had only communicated with by fax or phone.

(NU) - Ideally, your medicine chest should be cleaned once a month. That's because almost all medicines deteriorate with age, particularly when exposed to heat, air, moisture and light.

Here are some medicine chest tips from NARD, the association representing the nation's 40,000 independent retail pharmacies. Start by disposing of any of the following:

— Medicine that has changed color, formed a residue at the bottom of the bottle or is more than two years old.

— Aspirin tablets that are crumbly or give off a strong vinegary odor.

— Hydrogen peroxide that no longer bubbles vigorously when applied to the skin or scalp.

— Antiseptic solutions that have become cloudy (unless the label says this is all right) or have solid residue at the bottom.

— Milk of magnesia that has become caulked.

— Ointments or salves that have separated, developed spots or become discolored.

— Nose drops that have become cloudy or have developed sediment.

— Eyewash or eye drops left over from treating an eye disorder.

Once you've sorted through the shelves, follow these additional tips for medication storage and use:

— Never take a medication prescribed for another person, even if your symptoms are similar.

— Discard outdated medicines by flushing pills and liquids down the toilet or drain and by thoroughly rinsing the bottles before discarding.

— Be sure that all container lids are tightly closed. Plainly mark all container lids that could be harmful if improperly used or taken internally.

— If you suffer from arthritis and have trouble with safety closures, request an ordinary cap from your pharmacist — but be sure to keep the medication out of children's sight and reach.

— Never take medicine in the dark. Always turn on the light and double check which medication you're using.

— Never mix different pills in a single container. Some chemicals react with others, even neutralize them, making them ineffective in as little as 24 hours.

— Follow label directions carefully. Take only the recommended dosage.

— Never take medications in front of a child or refer to them as candy.

— Check the label each time you reach for medications to ensure it is the medication you should be taking.

If you have any questions about how to use your medications, be sure to ask your independent pharmacist. He or she is there to help.

Keep Little Hands Away From Medicines

(NU) - Where medications and children are involved, accidents can happen. Parents need to know that children should not have access to items in the medicine cabinet.

NARD, the association representing the nation's 40,000 independent retail pharmacies, says every medicine cabinet should have a child-proof section that locks.

If that's not possible, set aside a locked space for storing items such as drugs, laxatives, astringents, mouth washes, antiseptics, sleeping tablets and other medications.

PTO SEES HALLOWEEN PROGRAM

The 3-4 split class of Sandy Callahan presented a Halloween skit to the October 6 meeting of the Aurora PTO. Carolyn Wotring, English instructor, had the students who participated in the October 3 Forensic competition at Washington-Irving High School to give condensed versions of their readings of poetry and prose. Those were Wendy Beckman, Melanie Roberson, and Elizabeth Wotring, with the latter placing second at the competition.

Also present was Shari Harris who displayed and told about her Discovery Toys, educational toys for smaller children.

"LIFE AFTER FAT"

Asking, "Is There Life After Fat?", Avenell Parsons brought to the Eglon Extension Homemakers a look at ways in which diets can be trimmed of fat and a healthier lifestyle gained.

The club will make a donation of $50 to Union Ambulance Services. The next meeting will be changed from November 3, election day, to November 10. The club purchased 4-H meat tickets for each member for the Eglon Mountaineers.

Displayed as special features were a house hankie dispenser and a kitty-decorated sweatshirt made by the hostess and her sister for their mother, Avenell Parsons.

The meeting concluded with refreshments which featured a number of home-baked whole grain breads baked from recipes used at the GCC Day of Learning class. In attendance were Linda Lewis, Avenell Parsons, Sandra Hauser, Ruth Teets, Jean Winters, Rebecca Teets, Nina Layman, Lectie Bonner, Lillian Knotts and the hostess, Mary Rembold.

How To Save Up To $35,507.25 On Your Mortgage.

Now you can save substantial interest on your mortgage and pay it off more quickly. It's easy with a Bi-Weekly Mortgage from First Federal Savings Bank.

The idea behind a Bi-Weekly Mortgage is very simple. Instead of making one monthly mortgage payment, you make ½ a payment every two weeks. So how do you save all that interest?

Simple mathematics tells you that ½ a payment every two weeks over the course of a year equals 26 bi-weekly payments – or the yearly equivalent of 13 monthly payments. So your mortgage is paid off more quickly – meaning less interest as well.

Your payments will be automatically deducted from a First Federal checking account, so you won't have to worry about writing and mailing two checks each month.

Still not convinced? Well, just take a look at how much you'd save on both a fixed rate and an adjustable rate Bi-Weekly Mortgage versus a traditional monthly mortgage:

FIXED
Mortgage Amount	$ 75,000
Interest Rate	10.00% A.P.R. (Fixed)
Term	15 Years
Monthly Payment	$ 806.25
BI-WEEKLY PAYMENT	$ 403.13
Total Paid (monthly)	$ 145,125.00
TOTAL PAID (BI-WEEKLY)	$ 131,823.51
INTEREST SAVINGS WITH BI-WEEKLY MORTGAGE!	$13,301.49
AND YOU OWN YOUR HOME IN JUST 12 YEARS AND 7 MONTHS, INSTEAD OF 15!

ADJUSTABLE
Mortgage Amount	$ 75,000
Interest Rate	8.00% A.P.R.* (Adjustable)
Term	30 Years
Monthly Payment	$ 550.50
BI-WEEKLY PAYMENT	$ 275.25
Total Paid (monthly)	$ 198,180.00
TOTAL PAID (BI-WEEKLY)	$ 162,672.75
INTEREST SAVINGS WITH BI-WEEKLY MORTGAGE!	$ 35,507.25
AND YOU OWN YOUR HOME IN JUST 22 YEARS AND 9 MONTHS, INSTEAD OF 30!

 The annual percentage rate is subject to change after consummation.*

Find out how much you could save on your mortgage by choosing a First Federal Bi-Weekly Mortgage instead of a traditional mortgage plan. Call today for current rates and an estimate on your possible interest savings.

ACC Performing Arts Schedule Is Announced

Allegany Community College, Cumberland, will host a variety of entertaining events this year, including concerts, plays, and films, through its Performing Arts and Cultural Events Series for 1992-93.

At present, six shows are on the calendar, with more to be announced as the season progresses. All are in the College Theatre, located in the College Center.

The first event is an Oct. 18 solo piano recital by James Miltenberger, a well-regarded and widely traveled musician and teacher on the faculty of West Virginia University.

His Sunday matinee performance, which starts at 3 p.m., features a sonata by Haydn and works by 20th century composers Scott Green, Alberto Ginastera, Miguel del Aguila and George Gershwin.

Next is the first of four travelogs to be offered this year in the Travel and Adventure Film Series, a central feature of the overall ACC series. All films are on Tuesdays, starting at 7 p.m., and all are narrated live by their maker.

Popular with ACC audiences since their debut several years ago, the travelogs were increased from three to four this year, and all were selected by the audience at the last 1991-92 showing.

The first of the four films, "Coronado's Trail: Mexico City to the Grand Canyon," Oct. 27, follows the Spanish explorer's route, bringing alive the sights and sounds of Mexican and Southwestern U.S. places and peoples.

The second travelog, Nov. 24, is "Adventure Along the U.S.Canadian Border." The film features excitement, history and humor, as well as spectacular scenery, along a 4,000-mile adventure.

The Charles Dickens classic "A Christmas Carol" will be presented Dec. 12 by Danceteller, a Philadelphia-based touring dance company. Danceteller's production of the holiday favorite, praised by critics as a classic in its own right, is in its ninth season and features a 10-member cast. The Saturday matinee begins at 2 p.m.

The third travelog, "Exploring Ancient America," Feb. 23, unravels the mysteries of complex and sophisticated civilizations that existed before the arrival of the Europeans.

The fourth travel of the season, "Alaska: The Last Wilderness," April 27, explores the land in four seasons of glorious scenery and wildlife and observes the ways and activities of Alaskans, both indigenous and immigrant.

Tickets for the travelogs, which are underwritten in part by an Allegany Arts Council grant, are available on a season or individual basis. Season tickets are $10, $9 for senior citizens. Tickets for individual travelogs are $4, $3 for seniors.

The Arts Council also is supporting Danceteller's ACC performance of "A Christmas Carol." The organization is co-sponsoring the event with ACC's Center for Continuing Education, which presents the Performing Arts and Cultural Events Series.

For more information about currently scheduled or future programs, persons may call 301-724-7700, ext. 336. The call is toll-free from the 814 area code when dialing 800-342-6319.

The 8:30 a.m. meeting at the Cumberland Holiday Inn is open to the public. The presentation is approved for continuing education credit for Maryland state insurance license renewal.

Accident Woman Remains "Stable" Following Mishap

An Accident woman remains listed in "stable" condition this morning at Memorial Hospital in Cumberland, according to a hospital spokesperson, after being injured in a single-vehicle mishap Wednesday afternoon on the Accident-Bear Creek Road.

Sandra Sukow, 36, was injured when the 1988 Ford Taurus she was operating rounded a left-hand curve, ran off the right side of the road, and struck a tree, according to an incomplete police report at Barrack W of the Maryland State Police, McHenry.

Sukow reportedly suffered chest pains prior to the accident. She was transported to the hospital by MSP Medevac helicopter.

Garrett County Emergency Management also dispatched Northern Garreett County Rescue Squad and Friendsville volunteer firemen to the scene of the 3:40 p.m. mishap. Several school buses were reportedly delayed because of the accident.

CYCLIST INJURED

A motorcyclist was injured Friday in a two-vehicle mishap on the Green Lantern Road, according to reports filed by the Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry.

Carl William Garlitz Jr., 21, Grantsville, was transported to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, by the Medevac helicopter where he was treated and released, according to a hospital spokesperson.

Garlitz was reportedly operating a 1981 Honda XR-

MORE THAN A DUSTING OF SNOW fell on these ripe pokeberries and on the rest of this area Sunday night as Garrett County experienced its first snowfall of the year. The flurries began in the evening Sunday, and many believed they would end before sun-up. Most residents were somewhat surprised, however, by the white blanket spread across the land Monday morning. The two-inch accumulation, which remained throughout the day, was the earliest snowfall experienced in the county since 1979, when three inches fell on October 10. There are predictions of a heavy winter this year, as apparently foretold by grand harvests and the increase in the trees' yield of pine cones, berries, and other seed-forms. We'll believe it when we see it. (The wild pokeberries pictured reside on Fosters Inn Road near Grantsville.) Photo by Craig Speicher.

Carol Craver B.P.W. Woman Of The Year

The Garrett County Business and Professional Women's Club has chosen Carol Craver as its Woman of the Year for 1992.

Mrs. Craver is employed by Potomac Edison Electric as the area line construction expediter, a promotion she earned after holding one of the first non-traditional female roles in the company as an exterior meter reader.

A former newswriter and photographer for The Republican newspaper, Mrs. Craver is also active as secretary and board member of the Friends of the Ruth Enlow Library. She has dedicated many years and an animal rights activist and is a member of the Garrett County Humane Society.

Tickets Still Available For Olatunji Concert

A limited number of tickets are still available at Garrett County outlets for the Baba Olatunji "Drums of Passion" concert scheduled for October 24 at 8 p.m. in the Garrett Community College gymnasium. According to Ron Skidmore, president of the Garrett County Arts Council, persons are advised to purchase tickets in advance, or to call and reserve tickets, as it is expected that few, if any will be available at the door the evening of the performance.

The Nigerian-born musician Olatunji is considered by many to be the best-known exponent of African culture in America today. Through music, dance, and chant, his program celebrates the rhythmic roots that have connected people to the energies of the sun, the earth, and the moon, since the beginning of history.

The concert is being presented as part of the "Quincentennial Celebration: A Confluence of Cultures" at Frostburg State University and Garrett Community College this month.

Admission to the concert is $10, and tickets may be purchased at the following locations: GCC Library; Englander's Pharmacy, Oakland; and Arrowhead Deli and Grocery, Deep Creek Lake; Deep Creek Pharmacy, McHenry; Beachy's Pharmacy, Grantsville; Ruth Enlow Library, Accident; and Main Street Books, Frostburg.

The concert is being funded in part by Garrett Community College, the Garrett County Arts Council, and the Maryland State Arts Council.

Time for a change...

Readers are reminded to set their clocks back one hour after "Saturday Night Live" this Saturday, October 24, as the nation will convert to Standard Time.

Grantsville Man Found Guilty Of Assault On State Police Officer

A Grantsville man was found guilty of assault on a police officer, resisting arrest, and disturbing the peace in a public place and was sentenced by Judge Jack R. Turney in Garrett County District Court proceedings.

Rodney G. Rounds, 26, had pleaded not guilty to the charges, but the plea was changed to an Alford Plea and judge found him guilty. He was found not guilty of malicious destruction of property.

Rounds was sentenced to 18 months in jail (six months were suspended), fined $200, and placed on 18 months of supervised probation on the assault charge and on the resisting arrest charge. On the disturbing the peace charge, he was handed a 60-day suspended jail term, fined $50, and placed on 18 months of supervised probation. The sentences are to run concurrently.

Rounds had been arrested by the Maryland State Police after an altercation at the Friendsville Fiddler's Contest. He had reportedly argued with the gate attendants about paying the admission fee and began cursing loudly. When an off-duty officer asked him to be quiet, he put up his fists as if to fight and punched at the officer. When another uniformed officer arrived at the scene, he was told he was under arrest and continued his cursing with both fists raised. He was finally forced to the ground with the assistance of two civilians and continued to struggle.

In other District Court news, Jerry A. Welch, 21, Mtn. Lake Park, was found guilty of felony theft and sentenced to 18 months to the Maryland Department of Corrections (17 months were suspended), fined $500, and placed on three years of supervised probation. He was also ordered to pay $42 in restitution to Cathy Skipper. His case was heard by presiding judge from Allegany County District Court, Timothy B. Finan.

Welch had reportedly admitted to a Garrett County Sheriff's deputy on August 15 that he had hauled a stolen four-wheeler from the Elsey residence on July 23. The four-wheeler was valued at $1,500 to $1,800.

Thomas B. Peavy, 33, Bethesda, was found guilty of possession of marijuana by Judge Turney and sentenced to six months in jail (all was suspended but 48 hours), fined $100, and placed on one year of supervised probation, A charge of possession of drug paraphernalia was not prosecuted.

Peavy had been arrested by the Maryland State Police on August 27 for equipment violations on his vehicle. He consented to a search of his vehicle and police found a plastic bag in the console containing suspected marijuana.

Two Gormania, W.Va., men were found guilty of felony theft in court last week.

Raymond A. Miller, 21, and Edward R. Schaeffer II, 23, were both found guilty and pre-sentence investigations were ordered by Judge Turney.

The pair had admitted to Garrett County Sheriff's deputies on August 24 that they were responsible for taking over $500 worth of assorted scrap aluminum from Automotive Machine on July 21 and selling it to Ron's Recycling.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered for Robert V. Vanderbilt, 21, Oakland, who was found guilty of battery. A charge of disturbing the peace was not prosecuted by the State's Attorney.

Vanderbilt was charged with battery by Robert Beckman, an employee of Sheetz, Inc., Oakland, where the altercation took place. Beckman said he witnessed Vanderbilt confront and hit Michael DeWitt. He said DeWitt then left and Vanderbilt went to the restroom before leaving. He said Vanderbilt returned a short time later and asked Beckman and a female employee where their "buddies" were in a soft voice. Beckman stated that he leaned closer to Vanderbilt because he couldn't hear him and Vanderbilt reportedly struck him

Mikulik Sentenced To Three Years For Marijuana Charges

A Tunnelton, W.Va., man will serve three years in the Maryland Department of Corrections by order of Judge Fred A. Thayer of Garrett County Circuit Court. Timothy A. Mikulik, 35, was found guilty in an August jury trial of manufacturing and possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia. Mikulik had made a motion for acquittal to the charges but was denied.

The prison sentence is for both count one and two - manufacturing and possession. Thayer fined the defendant $500, fully suspended, for the remaining paraphernalia charge. The judge also granted Mikulik credit for time served, which was 245 days.

The defendant was arrested following the execution of a search and seizure warrant in July 1990 at Mikulik's farm, located on Twin Churches Road west of Lower New Germany Road. At that time, officers apparently located approximately 10 live marijuana plants being cultivated near a stream on the property. Other items of drug paraphernalia were also found, according to the report.

Hutton Man Charged With Sex Offense

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office logged the arrest of Thomas R. Mongold, 21, Hutton, this week, charging him with second degree rape. Detective Jeff Murphy made the arrest in Hardy County, W.Va., following an investigation into incidents in November and December 1991 in Hutton.

Mongold is accused of having sexual intercourse with a 12-year-old girl several times during those months, according to the report. He was released from the Garrett County Jail after posting $5,000.

In other Sheriff's Office news, an arrest warrant was issued for a Mountain Lake Park man, charging him with felony theft. Following an altercation with the arresting officer, several other charges were brought against him. In addition to the theft charge, David A. Wiles, 20, was also cited for assault and battery against a police officer, resisting arrest, and malicious destruction of property.

Murphy was apparently making the arrest at Wiles's residence when the defendant resisted and kicked the

Residents Oppose Density Requirement Amendments To DCL Zoning Ordinance

The Garrett County Commissioners' meeting room was filled with numerous county residents Tuesday as Garrett County Planning and Zoning Director John Nelson conducted a public hearing on 39 text amendments to the Deep Creek Watershed Ordinance formulated by the Deep Creek Watershed Plan Evaluation Committee. Those amendments were reviewed and endorsed by the members of the Garrett County Planning Commission, who recommended their adoption pending the hearing proceedings.

Full-time and part-time county citizens representing residential, business, recreational, real estate, and economic development interests attended the hearing and voiced their opinions to the county commissioners and Nelson about the proposed text amendments.

The most controversy centered around amendments seeking to decrease or increase density standards for commercial and residential uses in certain zones.

One amendment seeks to decrease the density standards in town center and town residential zones, as well as the standards for commercial uses, in particular, retail and service businesses situated in shopping centers or neighborhood convenience centers. Yet another amendment proposes to increase the threshold from one to two acres for single family dwelling units.

Elaine MacDonald, local business co-owner, voiced her opposition to the proposal that would decrease the density standards for commercial uses in the town center zone.

"This is unacceptable," she stated, adding that her corporation is the "single largest owner of undeveloped land" in the town center zone and the proposal would force a 40 percent cut in density.

"We have already made extensive and expensive plans for future development based on the density requirements we thought were already in place. You should take another look at this proposal -- look at the quality there," said MacDonald,

County's Solid Waste Stream At Landfill Calculated At Twice The Nat'l. Average

Out-Of-State Usage Blamed

The Garrett County Commissioners met with Maryland Environmental Service (MES) officials this week to discuss the development of the new county landfill and the problem of overuse at the present Round Glade Landfill. According to Garrett County Administrator Robert Fousek, the county recently conducted a study that revealed the amount of refuse being dumped at the landfill was twice the national average.

"We had suspected that trash was being dumped at the landfill from places in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and Allegany County, and we know that is true," said Fousek.

He reported that when the increase in solid waste disposal was suspected, MES provided the county with a portable scale to monitor the site for 30 days.

Further study of the problem is continuing that will employ methods used in other rural counties. Patricia Tantum, environmental specialist for MES, has been assigned to the project, and will work with Fousek and Garrett County Recycling Coordinator Lee Thorne on the effort.

The project will include interviews with various local organizations, such as the Promotion Council, the Sanitary Commission, and the Department of Economic Development to determine the fluctuations in use and the future needs of the county.

According to Fousek, the average amount of refuse produced by one person in one day is 4.5 pounds.

The bids for the construction of the first cell of the new landfill will be opened today by MES, where they will be reviewed and shared with the county commissioners for concurrence.

The commissioners also discussed the preparation for financing, the projected time schedule, and the service agreement with MES for the development of the new landfill with MES Director George Perdikakis.

Fousek reported that construction should begin in late November or early December.

Salary Comm. Members Named

In other news from the Garrett County Commissioners' office, seven representatives have now been selected to serve on the newly formed Garrett County Salary Study Commission. They met with the county commissioners this week in their first organizational meeting.

Members are Cosette Harman, representing the League of Women Voters of Garrett County; Cindy Kolbe, Garrett County Council of PTA's; Arthur Lake (who was named the chairperson), Garrett County Farm Bureau; Harry Stone, Garrett County Fire and Rescue Association; Terry King, Mountain Top Chamber of Commerce; Don Fratz, Democratic Central Committee of Garrett County; and Sandra Shockey, Republican Central Committee of Garrett County.

The members will determine the salaries for the county commissioners, board of education, board of supervisors of election, judges of the orphans' court, liquor control board, sheriff, state's attorney, and county treasurer.

Local Resident Awarded FSU Alumni Award

AND THE WINNER IS... Surprisingly, the winner in Southern High School's mock presidential election on Tuesday was none other than Ross Perot, who garnered a total of 299 votes. President George Bush was second in the balloting with 172 votes, while the alleged national front-runner Bill Clinton received 159 votes. In the process of casting their ballots, students learned the proper use of voting machines, which hopefully they will all use in real elections after they turn 18 years old.

Habitat Seeks Former Members Of Interfaith

Habitat for Humanity in Garrett County is trying to locate members of the Interfaith Workers Committee. The Interfaith Workers was an organization that was formed in November 1981 to assist persons in the county who were unable to repair their homes because of illness or insufficient income. This committee was the forerunner of Habitat for Humanity which was begun in the fall of 1983 and chartered with the national Habitat for Humanity in January 1984.

Habitat is planning an 11-year reunion of the Interfaith Workers Committee, to be held on Saturday, November 14, from 5 to 8 p.m., at St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Oakland. This will be a covered-dish dinner for Interfaith Workers, Habitat families and board members, and friends. They are asking persons to bring a story about an Interfaith project or about a Habitat project they've been involved in. They are planning to have a videotape of narrated photos from Interfaith and from Habitat projects. There will be a Thanksgiving vesper service in the sanctuary. This will be a prelude to the Garrett County Habitat for Humanity 10-year anniversary in the fall of 1993.

Habitat is asking that persons involved in Interfaith Ministries and those who know anyone who was involved in this group to contact Ginny Grove, 334-8269, or Duane Yoder at the Garrett County Community Action Committee.

COMMUNITY SERVICE DAY PROCLAIMED - The Garrett County Commissioners this week proclaimed October 24, 1992, as Community Service Day. According to the proclamation, the day will commemorate persons providing service to their communities through ongoing volunteer activities and involvement to make Garrett County a great place to live, and those hundreds of citizens participating in service activities to improve and enhance their schools, neighborhoods, hospitals, and parks. The proclamation further states that by lending a day to Maryland, every citizen can demonstrate the strength of the people to make a difference while encouraging others to contribute time for the beautification of the county in any volunteer projects of community service. The students pictured above with the commissioners are all members of Southern High School's Student Service Alliance. The group has completed several volunteer projects, including the clean-up of the football field following home games, helping to direct traffic after the games, working with special education students in the areas of industrial arts and physical education, and working with head start classes at Dennett Road Center by reading to 4-year-olds and helping with group activities. Other services rendered by the high-schoolers include raking leaves and washing windows at the Ruth Enlow Library, performing outside chores at Truesdell Senior Citizens' Home, and participating in Red Ribbon Week activities in the promotion of drug awareness throughout the community.

Charities To Benefit From Trivia Challenge Sponsored By WKHJ, Uno's

Teams Being Sought

WKHJ-Radio 99 FM and Uno's Restaurant & Bar are currently planning the Trivia Challenge for Charity, a several-month-long trivia contest that will benefit area or national charities, according to Cathy Clocker, spokesperson for WKHJ. The contest, set to begin on October 26, will involve several local teams consisting of three players who will attempt to answer more trivia questions than an opposing three-member team. Two teams per two weeks will compete, with the winner continuing on to rival another three-person team. The contest is tentatively scheduled to last through March 1993.

The teams will vie for cash prizes which will go to non-profit charities, chosen by the teams. All participating teams will automatically receive $25 for their charity, and the three team members will be treated to lunch at Uno's. The most a team can win for its charity is $1,000, and that team will also be the recipient of a party for 25 at Uno's.

The contest is open to all area businesses, organizations, or individuals, Mrs. Clocker said, and persons may sign up by calling the radio station at 334-4272. Callers should have ready a team name, team captain and members, daytime telephone number, and charity. (A charity must be named in order to enter.) Persons may also fax this information to the station at 334-2152.

The contest will be run twice daily, via telephone, at 8:55 and 9:55 a.m., Monday through Friday, on the Terry King Show. The two competing teams will be called, asked a question, and will have 15 seconds to answer. After winning for two weeks in a row, a team will be tabled and will advance to the quarter finals. Each quarter final winning team will receive an additional $150 for its charity (in addition to the initial $25) and will advance to the semi-finals. Each semi-final team will receive an additional $150, and advance to the finals.

The Grand Prize winning team will receive an additional $575 for its charity as well as the party for 25 at Uno's. There is no deadline for entering the contest, Mrs. Clocker said, as persons may enter at any time before the quarter finals.

The contest questions will consist of some general trivia subjects as well as Garrett County trivia. The level of difficulty of all questions will be as consistent as possible, Clocker indicated.

"This is just a fun way for area companies and organizations to raise money for worthy charities," Clocker said. "On the one hand, it will be good exposure for businesses; but more than that, it will be an entertaining way to contribute to good causes."

More information may be obtained by contacting WKHJ at 334-4272.

A parade and a Halloween Social are planned in Oakland on Thursday, October 29, in lieu of Trick or Treat. Gabriele Urges To Check Clock, Check Battery

One day before the time change, fire departments throughout the State of Maryland will sound the alarm -- literally -- on smoke detector neglect as part of this year's "Change Your Clock, Change Your Battery" campaign.

"Change Your Clock, Change Your Battery" is a national home fire safety campaign sponsored by the International Association of Fire Chiefs and Energizer batteries. The campaign theme urges all citizens to adopt a lifesaving habit: changing smoke detector batteries when they change their clocks back from daylight saving time each fall.

During the evening of Saturday, October 24, 1992, fire departments throughout Maryland and across the country will activate emergency sirens to signal residents to check and change the smoke detector batteries in their homes. Citizens are also being urged to conduct the country's fire national fire safety drill during "Operation Check and Change."

"Working smoke detectors cut the risk of dying in home fire by nearly 50 percent, by providing an early warning and critical extra seconds to escape," stated Fire Marshal Rocco J. Gabriele. "Although smoke detectors are in the majority of Maryland homes, it is estimated that nearly 1/3 do not work because of worn out or missing batteries."

In addition to changing smoke detector batteries, Gabriele recommends that Marylanders take a few other fire safety measures including checking the smoke detector itself by pushing the test button, changing their flashlight batteries, and planning "two ways out" and practicing these escape routes with the entire family.

For more information about fire safety and operation "Change Your Clock, Change Your Battery," citizens are asked to contact the Office of the State and Fire Marshal at 1-800-525-3124, or their local fire department.

In-Town Parking Discussed At GOBA Meeting

The Greater Oakland Business Association (GOBA) met recently and discussed several topics, including parking problems on the streets of Oakland. The association stressed that town employers, employees, and residents are to park in the free town lot instead of in town spaces. Those who park on the streets for more than two hours are subject to a $10 fine, according to the minutes report.

The purpose of asking these persons to park in the free lot is to make parking spaces available to shoppers and visitors to the town.

Other items discussed included the Christmas promotion for this year, Make a Difference Day, the need for a GOBA secretary, and a town directory update.

The Christmas Promotion will begin October 24 with a give-away of gift certificates totalling $100. Santa Claus is scheduled to draw the final chance at the Christmas parade on November 27. GOBA will need assistance in soliciting sponsors for treats to be distributed and help with the parade.

The Fresh Air Festival, Christmas '92 will take place in early December with choruses, crafters, and edibles on the streets of Oakland.

Make A Difference Day will be proclaimed October 27 and food for Garrett Countians will then be collected throughout the county and distributed to eligible residents at no charge. November 14 will be the pick-up date for all participating groups.

A secretary for GOBA is currently needed. Any person who will volunteer to attend meetings regularly, type minutes, and take them to the town hall are asked to contact Connie Margison at 334-9211.

The two Oakland town directories should be erected by mid-November, according to the minutes report. The signs are over a year late after several adjustments to the cost. One will be placed at the new town hall site and the other in the free town parking lot.

GOBA's November meeting will be held at the Garrett County Memorial Hospital (GCMH) board room, by request of Jim Harvey, hospital representative. Hospital officials wish to discuss the future of the hospital and to get suggestions from GOBA members. Lunch will be provided by GCMH.

GOP HEADQUARTERS OPENED - A ceremony held yesterday morning by numerous local Republicans officially opened the Garrett County Republican Headquarters, located in the former CD Restaurant in Oakland. A variety of campaign material is available at the headquarters during regular business hours.

Certificates of appreciation were presented to MFA members who were involved in making the 1992 Western Maryland Forestry/Loggers Field Day a success. Plans are already underway for the 1993 Forestry/Loggers Field Day. MFA president John Forman encouraged all members to get involved in the field day and other association activities.

James Dunmyer explained the proposed severance tax on timber harvested in Maryland. Under this proposal, four percent of the stumpage price would be paid by the buyer as a severance tax. The funds generated by the tax would be used to fund the forestry programs on private land.

Eric Schwaab explained the proposed increases in the fee structure for the Forest Conservation and Management Program (F.C.M.P.). The F.C.M.P. is designed to lower the taxes on a landowner's woodland and in return the landowner agrees to manage his woodland according to a management plan prepared for his woodland. The proposed fee increases would cover the costs of administering the program.

Craig Hartsock explained the National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (N.P.D.E.S.) permit that is required under the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency. Under this legislation silvicultural practices were supposed to be exempt, but MD Department of Environment had indicated that forest harvest operations would be covered under the permit.

DCL Zoning

who also noted that "no other corporation is affected the way we are. This is very troublesome to us."

At that point, Ed King, who was a member of the Deep Creek Watershed Plan Evaluation Committee, said that MacDonald had a "valid point but, on behalf of the committee, I'd like to state the reasons for the recommendation." Among those reasons cited by King was the desire of the committee to make the zoning plan conform to the way it was originally intended in the Garrett County Development Plan, written in 1974, and later reduced in the mid-1980's.

Appearance was another reason, according to King, who stated, "The gateway to the county is Rt. 219 from the north, and we've received negative comments about the number of rooftops along the road -- visitors say they come here to get a way from that kind of thing."

King also noted that lowering the density requirements would help to control the lake use, and that even business people around the lake have favored mixing commercial and residential use.

MacDonald then stated that, while she supports free enterprise, "we shouldn't have to reduce the value of our property to make the lake accessible to small business -- it's not right to make lake enterprise zones out of private property."

Local real estate business owner and Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council President Karen Spiker also spoke in opposition to the decreased density standards, stating, "It would seem that the increased threshold from one acre to two acres would accomplish an intended steering away from very intensive use of small areas. . . . These lower density requirements simply are not needed and they take away a property owner's rights. The density levels were changed at the last zoning amendment. At that time, I testified in favor of reducing the density levels, In Town Center, densities were lowered from 14 units per acre to the current 10 units per acre but further decreases are unwarranted and unnecessary."

Also, this proposal seems to be in direct contradiction to the objectives of the new Growth Management Plan. That plan, statewide, desires to promote higher density development where infrastructure exists, such as a public sewer system. This proposal is taking away the ability to develop where you already have the system and where the owner has already had the foresight to provide for sewage disposal."

Spiker also noted that commercial and multi-family development can only take place where public sewage is available and are, therefore, limited by the number of sewer taps that they have reserved or already paid for.

"In no case do I know of anyone who purchased enough sewer taps to develop their property to the maximum density; in fact it is much lower," she said.

An amendment that proposes to reduce the lot size required for recreational facility uses was opposed by several lake residents. Howard Bailey, Deer Park, stated, "We're reducing the lot size for recreational use and jeopardizing the continuity of what we're trying to achieve on the lake. What's the rationale?"

John Nelson replied, stating that the committee's intention was to encourage more land-based recreational opportunities around the lake because of too much of a burden on the lake itself.

Mike Belmonte, representing the Deep Creek Lake Property Owners' Association, stated that the amendment change would serve to "jeopardize the integrity and sanctity of the lake residential zone," noting that recreational and business uses should be left to the town center zone.

The amendment to increase the density standards for commercial uses within a shopping complex where clusters of retail and commercial services would be established was opposed by several realtors/developers who felt the proposal, which seeks to mandate a minimum land area of 8,500 square feet per retail or service use, would result in restricting economic growth around the lake.

Mike Goodfellow, realtor, stated that the requirement would be "excessive" and suggested about half that area as more appropriate.

Realtor Lisa Goodfellow agreed, stating, "The proposal will inhibit economic growth because the small business person can't afford to run a seasonal business" requiring that much space to be purchased or rented.

Yet another realtor, John Kessler, stated, "This amounts to a re-regulation. We're already limited by the number of parking spaces provided, and I find this to be extremely excessive."

John Nelson informed the group that the Deep Creek Watershed Zoning Ordinance is vulnerable to "citizens' petitions" at any time. He also noted that the record for comment would be held open for 14 days from the date of the hearing.

at international, national, regional, and local conferences, in addition to her publications as a reading and composition scholar. Findings of her award-winning dissertation work will soon appear in an edited collection, among essays by nationally recognized experts on writing assessment.

While a student at Frostburg, she served two years as president of the German Club, belonged to Circle K Club (College Kiwanis) and worked with a Frostburg Girl Scout Troop. She demonstrated academic excellence by making the dean's list while an undergraduate and was invited to membership in Sigma Tau Delta, an international English honors society.

Following graduation, Pula continued her education at FSU, earning a master of education degree in 1975. Later she attended Indiana University of Pennsylvania where she received her Ph.D. in English and was nominated for Women's Leadership Award and for a Graduate Student Research Award. She received the 1988-1989 Eula Lee Cater International Scholarship from the Delta Kappa Gamma Society International, a professional honorary organization for women educators. The scholarship was one of 22 awarded world-wide that year.

Before returning to FSU she was a reading specialist, diagnostic-prescriptive teacher, and resource room teacher for the Garrett County school system. She piloted the county program for highly able readers and offered one of the system's first gifted and talented classes. In 1979, she represented the school system in the county business and Professional Women's Young Career Woman contest.

Since 1986, Dr. Pula has been teaching critical reading, freshman composition, technical writing, and advanced composition. As a part of her administrative duties, she is currently the coordinator of English 105: Critical Reading program. In addition to her work on numerous department and university committees, Pula has served as member of the FSU Alumni Board of Directors. She lectured at the 1984 Festival of Children's Literature and the 1981 Career Day.

Other professional service includes her work with the Western Maryland Reading Council, the local affiliate of the International Reading Association. She served as vice president and president of the WMRC and organized and coordinated 20 public service book exchanges for the organization.

As an active member of St. Ann's Church in Grantsville, she has served as a cantor, choir member and lector. She has also planned and presented events at the Goodwill Mennonite Home in Grantsville.

Pula has consistently high faculty evaluations the past four years for her outstanding teaching, service, and professional development. Dr. Edward L. Root, dean of the School of Education, applauds Pula's "strong work ethic" while another colleague commends "the graciousness of spirit and empathy for the need of students" she brings to her teaching.

A native of Baltimore County, Dr. Pula and her husband, Michael, a 1975 Frostburg State graduate, reside in Garrett County.

Bloodmobile Nets 33 Pints Locally

The Red Cross Bloodmobile collected 33 pints of blood during a regular visit to Friendsville last Friday, according to Esther Benedict, coordinator. Thirty-six persons responded to the visit, with three of them deferred for various reasons.

Volunteers assisting with the visit were: Susie Lytle and Eleanor Teats, admissions; Kathy Swartzentruber, hemoglobin tests; Esther Benedict, R.N., medical histories; Mary Teats, bag labeling; and Sophie Benedict and Melany Platter, canteen.

The next bloodmobile visit to Friendsville is slated for March 19. The bloodmobile will be at the National Guard Armory in Oakland this Friday, Oct. 23.

STATE PARK VOLUNTEER RECOGNIZED -- Bill Martin Sr. was recently recognized by the Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR), State Forest and Park Service, for his many hours of volunteer work at New Germany State Park since 1985. When Martin recently organized a picnic for the volunteers who had helped him, he was surprised with "Director's Commendation Award," presented to him by DNR Assistant Secretary Jim Dunmyer and DNR Director of State Forests and Parks Rick Barton. Barton stated that Martin began volunteering at the park even before an organized volunteer program was established. "His Friends of New Germany group has set an example for many of DNR's state forests and parks, and we are thankful for devoted people such as Martin," noted Barton. Pictured above, left to right, are Barton; Martin; Jim Rogers, manager of New Germany State Park; and Dunmyer.

In Loving Memory of Our Mother,
Martha Rodeheaver,
Who went to be with the Lord on October 22, 1991

Loving memories of you,
Mother, never die.
You are watching over us in the sky.
Deep in our hearts the memories are kept
Of the one we love so much,
And will never forget.
Mother, many times we've needed you,
Many times we've cried.
Tears in our eyes we can wipe away,
The ache in our hearts will always stay.
Mother, some may have forgotten you,
But to us, your children,
Your loving memory will be
With us always and forever.

Sadly missed by daughters,

Poll Pollution...

We can hardly wait until November 3, not because of the "excitement" of election day, but because the 1992 campaign will finally be over. We are tired of the continuous verbal attacks and counter attacks by the candidates, and we are even more tired of the national media "experts," with their daily polls and their never ending stream of "wisdom" that is supposed to enlighten us about the candidates' strategies, their abilities, and their chances.

As our cartoon to the right of this column indicates, we are being polled to death; at least someone is. We have yet to talk to anyone locally who has been asked in one of these national polls which candidate he or she prefers. It was fascinating to us that, following the final debate between the candidates this week, the CNN poll showed Perot the big winner with Bush in second place and Clinton in third. Yet the ABC poll showed Clinton was the winner with Perot a close second and Bush a distant third! Now whom did these pollsters talk to? How many did they talk to? Over what area did they conduct their poll? How could two supposedly random polls, taken by two professional polling staffs directing their questions to citizens of the same country, come up with such different results? Both polls can't be correct, and yet each one claims just a few percentage points of error, plus or minus.

Frankly, we wish the media would stop conducting their polls, because a number of them are wrong, they are misleading, and they tend to give an advantage to the leader. We see polling as a good tool for those in charge of campaigns, but we see them as a detriment to the general public. One poll per month during the campaign would be more than adequate.

Some will say this stand is just sour grapes since it is no big secret that this writer is supportive of George Bush, who is trailing by a wide margin in most of the polls. However, we know there are many Clinton and Perot supporters who share a similar view about the polls.

The Mind Wanders

Reasons To Live
By Pam Ashby

All too often we forget what life is really all about. We get caught up in presidential campaigns, the economy, the environment, and lose sight of what is truly important. (Just a joke, folks! Save your time in writing me anonymous hate mail.) Some days we just can't think of a single reason to get out of bed and start the day anew. While the "big picture" is certainly important, it's the little things that charge our everyday batteries. With that thought in mind, I have completed a list of some of the blessings that get me going in the morning.

1. I removed a chocolate stain from my daughter's favorite blouse.

2. I got a green light on my way to work one day last month.

3. Only one of the neighborhood dogs left a present in my yard today.

4. I actually had time to cook a meal this week that consisted of meat, potatoes, and a vegetable, rather than the usual dry soup mix and grilled cheese sandwiches made with processed cheese food. What the heck is cheese food anyway? Is it something you feed to real cheese?

5. I was able to maneuver the hole in my sock so that my big toe didn't stick out.

6. I removed a popcorn hull from between my teeth that had lodged there on December 7, 1963.

7. I cleaned the dust bunnies from beneath my refrigerator and stove, giving me a reason to live for at least another month.

8. No mushrooms grew behind the toilet in my bathroom this summer.

9. I didn't have to deal with static cling in my laundry one day last week.

10. The gallon of milk I bought Saturday lasted clear through the weekend.

11. The staff at District Court smiled when I came through the door this week. You know, like I wasn't a plague darkening their door or something. They almost always greet me with a smile, though, unless Irene or Saundra are having a bad day. Then I just steer clear of them. Just kidding, ladies! You know I love ya.

12. The entire staff at The Republican understood the grief Jamie and I felt this week when we lost our cherished Gretel, our family collie. They truly cared. And after all, folks, that's what it is all about -- family and friends who are in your corner through thick and thin. What better reason to get up in the morning?

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

As a whole, the educational system of the United States has been taking much abuse in recent years. Comparisons of United States schools with schools of other nations have led to the "professional opinion" that our system is inferior.

I am 19 years old and attended public school in Garrett County. While I attended Dennett Road Elementary School, Southern Middle School, and Southern Garrett High School, I too had some disagreements with the system, but now I realize that the Garrett County School System is operating more than adequately. My perceived inadequacy of the system was unfounded.

While attending Frostburg State University, I received a scholarship to study at a university in Germany this fall. Students from 17 different countries are represented at this institution.

After several weeks of interacting with these foreign students, I realized that they perceived that the education I had received was second-rate. They believed that their systems had prepared them for university-caliber work, and that mine had not. Then, when the first exams came and those "prepared" students fell flat on their faces, they wondered what had happened. Their comments were predictable excuses, such as, "I don't like the teaching style." These students are from all "corners" of the globe; from Turkey, the Philippines, Kenya, Germany, Israel, Jordan, and Finland, to name a few countries.

In the United States the only information on which we have to judge our educational system is test scores. If there were a way to track our students after graduation, I'll bet they are on the top.

I too felt that our system was inferior, but speaking from a unique perspective of studying in Europe, I believe that American teachers deserve credit for working with dwindling budgets and for being bombarded constantly with people telling them how poorly they are doing their jobs. I agree that our public school system is not perfect, but if parents, students, and faculty work together, the system can remain on the vanguard of education. Teachers and the educational system as a whole are the key to our future. They prepared me well, and if you let them, they will prepare you also.

Sincerely,
Chris Lambert

To the Editor:

I read with interest the letter from John Rogerson in the October 15 Republican, concerning the bumper sticker "Pro-Child: Pro-Choice." I proudly display this sticker on my car because I believe that women's lives are valuable, and we need to be able to determine what we do with our bodies without government or church interference.

The true oxymoron here is the term "pro-life." These people care nothing about women's lives and the effect that carrying an unwanted pregnancy to term will have on a woman. Whether she is a victim of rape, incest, or poor birth control is irrelevant. All that does is to proclaim that some women are more virtuous (i.e. a victim) than others. If women are forced to return to the days of acid douches, coat hangers, and back alley butchers to terminate an unwanted pregnancy, hundreds of thousands will die. Many more will carry a pregnancy to term unwillingly and with animosity towards the child when it is born. What will happen to these children? They may become victims of abuse, neglect, or abandonment.

The whole argument of pro-choice versus anti-choice is really one of religion. The fact is, the constitution clearly states that there must be separation between church and state. Your religious beliefs are fine for you, but don't impose them on me. They do not supersede my right to privacy, or my own religious and spiritual beliefs. Please keep your rosaries out of my ovaries.

Sincerely yours,
Heather Nann Davis

To the Editor:

Before Roe v. Wade, many organizations existed to make abortion referrals and tell women where to find legal (or illegal) abortions across the country. Some of these agencies were pretty unscrupulous, and some persisted long after Roe. In 1975, the Maryland legislature outlawed for-profit referral agencies, and forbade such agencies in other states from making referrals to Maryland abortion clinics. In addition, no one was allowed to receive a fee or kickback for referring abortion patient. Question 6 repeals this law.

a. In Chicago in 1978, an undercover investigation found referral agencies taking advantage of women seeking advice about abortion. Among the practices they found:

1. "Counselors" were told, "We are in the business of selling abortions...Put the question to them as a sure sale. Limit their choices."

2. "Counselors" had no special training, except as salespersons; they were paid on a commission basis for each abortion sold.

3. Women were charged $45-150 for as little as 5 minutes of "counseling"--telling the abortion clinic location information they could have found in the Yellow Pages.

4. Referral agencies offered free pregnancy tests which came back positive even when investigators submitted male urine for the tests.

5. Referral agencies referred women to only a handful of clinics with which they had prior financial arrangements; these clinics paid the agencies $45 to 60 per patient.

b. Maryland did not have these practices because we have two laws: one to forbid physician involvement in kickbacks, and one to specifically outlaw these sorts of exploitative agencies.

c. Illinois had only the physician law, and in 1980 had to pass a second law to eliminate referral businesses.

d. Question 6 would repeal our law that prohibits referral businesses.

Voters, please vote no to question 6! II Chronicles 7:14, "If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways, then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land."

Sincerely,
Pat Schmidt

To the Editor:

I am writing you from my jail cell here in Garrett County. I am writing because as I wake up every day I find it harder and harder to believe that I am sitting in jail.

See, I am an out-of-towner and from a very small, tight-knit community much like Garrett County. When I was stopped by local state troopers, I was a bit dumbfounded by the degree of disrespect that they displayed toward me and my young family. Not once was I called Mr. or Sir. However, due to my strong religious and family upbringing, it is almost second nature to respect everyone, including those who are in authority. So the troopers were addressed as sir and officer. My family never felt the security of these men who were to not only enforce the law but to protect and serve as well.

I have never been incarcerated before. In fact, I have always taken pride in being a responsible, caring, civic-minded community citizen. My record speaks positively for itself. However, I don't find this anymore among our law enforcers. They seem to be overly suspicious of out-of-towners. I guess the world as a whole is full of suspicion. Strangely enough I have found that my colleague cellmates treat me with more respect and understanding than our law enforcers.

God has truly shown me how wrong I was to not respect these inmates as humans, as individuals.

This is a lesson that we all need to be aware of.

Yours truly,
Jesse A. Miles
Section A

P.S. It may do well to look at the success rates as well as the efforts of our public defendants in Garrett County. It may do well to look at the sentencing structure and limits of the judicial system. If you were to interview some of the jail's inmates, you would be truly amazed at how and why taxes are spent the way they are. Please allow my voice to be heard. Thanks.

To the Editor:

The voters of Western Maryland must decide on November 3 whether or not to enact one of the most liberal abortion rights laws in the nation. Now that the election is near, we read a great many statistics regarding Americans' preferences regarding the abortion issue. Pro-choice advocates maintain that at least 70 percent of the American people are pro-choice. This is partially true. As a partial truth it hides a larger truth which is pertinent to the upcoming vote on Question #6 (S.B. 162).

Although less than 30 percent of Americans are pro-life in the sense they would ban abortions in all cases except threat to the mother's life, it is false to state that the rest of the population favors unrestricted abortion. In fact, only 20-25 percent of the population favors Roe v. Wade. Media polls and scholarly studies over the past two decades have consistently demonstrated this. A minority of Americans are strictly pro-life; an equivalent minority is for abortion on demand. The remaining 55 percent of Americans are in between. Some of them would allow abortion in the case of rape or incest. Others would allow it in the case of genetic defects in the fetus. Others, when a single teen mother living in poverty becomes pregnant. Yet less than five percent of abortions fit these cases. The remaining 95 percent of abortions are for birth control, sex selection, or for convenience.

The vast majority of Americans are against abortion for these frivolous reasons. The abortion law embodied in Question #6 is even more liberal than Roe v. Wade. Pro-choice advocates would have voters believe that the only option is to accept either a strict pro-life stance or the liberal abortion law before us on November 3. Most people want something in between. So even if you believe that abortion should be allowed in some cases, but believe that restrictions should be placed on it in other cases, you should vote against Question #6 on Nov 3.

Sincerely,
Kenneth Almada

To the Editor:

As the voters begin their final focus on the candidates in the coming election, I want to express my feelings on why I support President George Bush.

It is not difficult to understand the public's frustration with government and a desire for change. I have spoken with constituents over the past two years who are disenchanted with Washington and Annapolis and believe that our leaders are out of touch with the average person. Mr. Perot's on-again off-again candidacy is essentially based on dissatisfaction with Washington.

However, I would argue against simply changing our Commander-in-Chief without regard to policies and ideology. Despite the difficult times we are clearly experiencing today, I believe President Bush is the most representative of the public's desire for less intrusive federal government, reasonable regulation, and controlled spending. Governor Clinton, on the other hand, has pledged to pursue and expand policies in almost every phase of the federal government. He apparently believes there is no problem that the federal government cannot solve with a new program.

In addition to the economic arguments against levying increased taxes on small businesses and individuals in a recession, the effect of a Clinton Presidency on state and local government could be even more devastating. Already, our state budget is overburdened with mandates from the federal government. Too often these mandates--and new ones--are passed on to our counties. A President Clinton is likely to impose new unfunded spending requirements in education, health, the environment, and others.

The strength of our federal system has historically been that the states may experiment and find innovative solutions to our problems. Many of us in the Maryland Legislature recognize that we must reorganize and "reinvent" state government. Our ability to prioritize the essential duties of state government within existing revenues is the challenge we face in Maryland. I do not see how this job will be any easier with an activist federal government.

I have great confidence in the American voter. As you go to the polls on November 3, consider carefully the candidates and their beliefs of the proper role and size of government. A vote to re-elect President Bush is the only vote which will promise change in the ever-growing federal establishment.

Christopher J. McCabe
State Senator

To the Editor:

I would like to see an editorial in The Republican urging voters to vote NO on November 3 on referendum on HB #1283 (Sunday Sale/Alcohol by Class B License Holders). The sole argument in favor of HB #1283 is money (for a select few), and tax revenue (at what cost of life and limb).

Originally, HB 1283 included a section providing that "the tab for food must be more than that of alcohol on sales in Class B establishments on Sunday." As originally intended it would have made it possible for a person to "have a drink with their meal," not a "case" with a sandwich. That section was deleted from HB 1283 at request of the people who stand to profit by Sunday alcohol sales.

If you don't speak out on this important issue what will you say to those who are injured, or who have loved ones who are injured, by someone driving intoxicated on Sundays in the future? It may cost your paper an advertisement or two to speak out on this issue. However, after taking the Board of Education to task for "backing off" on an important issue, I know you will "stand tall" on this and not "wimp out" on the citizens of Garrett County. Thank you.

To the Editor:

In 1979 the state legislature passed a law requiring abortion clinics to give each woman a pamphlet. This pamphlet was to be written and published by the state Department of Human Resources, and it would list sources for financial and material assistance to continue the pregnancy, raise the child, or plan an adoption. Laws like this are usually termed "Informed Consent," and in many states they include information about fetal development or about the dangers of abortion. This law is

Gov. Schaefer Speaks Out

COMMUNITY SERVICE DAY 1992

In 1988, I discovered Montgomery County had a great project called Community Service Day, a day when thousands of people volunteer their time and talents to their communities. Montgomery County Community Service Day was a day to recognize those who volunteered year-round and a day to recruit new volunteers. After seeing the success of a day in a single county, I decided to adopt it as a statewide project in 1989.

Last year, close to 100,000 Maryland volunteers participated in over 250 Community Service Day projects. People planted trees and cleaned up neighborhood parks, roadways, and streams. They donated blood and collected canned food for shelters and food banks. Marylanders also volunteered in soup kitchens and visited terminally ill children at local hospitals. Many good deeds were done on Community Service Day 1991, and this year promised to be just as successful.

To celebrate the fourth annual statewide Community Service Day on Saturday, October 24, Baltimore area volunteers chose to survey the water quality of the Herring Run Watershed area while Annapolis citizens planned a Halloween Safety Party for neighborhood children. Charles County Girl Scouts organized visits to local nursing home residents and decorated the facility for Halloween, while Kent County neighbors scheduled a volunteer opportunities fair and awards ceremony. In Western Maryland, Frederick County government leaders and law enforcement personnel sponsored a day in the park for high-risk children.

Not only did the counties participate in Community Service Day 1992, but state agencies also pitches in by holding food and clothing drives, cleaning up parks, assisting senior citizens, and working at homeless shelters.

Projects were big and small, simple and complex. It was up to the people involved to decide what needs they could meet in their community. Marylanders want to help, and once they know how they can make a difference, they respond heartily.

Last year, Harford County residents worked on a project their citizens are continuing to benefit from today. Over 450 volunteers worked around the clock, in the rain, to restore an old Victorian home in Darlington. Local businesses contributed supplies, equipment, and skilled laborers, while members of church organizations, schools and civic associations volunteered their time to turn the run-down house into a drug and alcohol recovery counseling center.

Those same volunteers worked hard to turn the empty backyard into a beautiful garden with plenty of shrubbery and a gazebo. County officials helped out where needed by volunteering on-site and by speeding up paper work or authorizing use of county equipment.

Everyday I see or hear from people who want to help make the towns they live in a better place to work. I meet these people everywhere I go, people who work in nursing homes, hospital volunteers, and reading tutors. Out intentions for Community Service Day are to have all Marylanders join the people who already volunteer their time for our communities. Hopefully, their new-found spirit of volunteerism will continue throughout the year.

When I think of all the wonderful projects that were planned and all the generous people involved, I feel even more proud to live in Maryland. I'd like to hear from you about what you planned to make Community Service Day 1992 a great success. Please write to me: Governor William Donald Schaefer, State House, Annapolis MD 21401.

currently in effect, and Question 6 would repeal it.

a. Abortion is a tragedy that many women would not choose if they knew they had reason to hope. Who would vote to take that hope away?

b. Many private citizens' organizations offer support to women before and after a crisis pregnancy. There are 35 crisis pregnancy centers in Maryland, where material and emotional support is offered free of charge to anyone who asks. Women considering abortion should have information about this help.

c. This law does not require a doctor or anyone else to give a woman a lecture. All it does is insure that she be handed a pamphlet of information she may need.

d. The pamphlet lists resources for helping her get child support payments from the father to raise the child. Men should be kept accountable for the children they father--otherwise abortion just enables them to exploit and abandon women.

e. For every baby adopted, 64 are aborted. Yet there are an estimated one-two million couples seeking to adopt. There are even waiting lists for couples who would like to adopt terminally ill and Down syndrome children. Having information about planning an adoption could help a woman make a choice that would give her child a happy life and free her to get her life back on track as well.

f. How can having this information hurt a woman? Who wants to take it away? That Question 6 wants to deny women this information points out that this law is not pro-choice--it's pro-abortion. We have to challenge the people who want to take this information away; "What choice?"

Sincerely,
Barb Tressler

To the Editor:

In a recent letter to the editor I wrote, I expressed concern over the Senatorial debate between Mikulski and Keyes not being aired on the major networks. (The debate is Monday, October 19, at 7 p.m. and to be aired on Maryland Public Television). I also contacted the major networks asking why they were not airing the planned debate.

On October 14, 1992, I received a reply from Arnold J. Kleiner who is the station manager for Channel 2 (NBC). He explained that he agreed the Maryland citizens should know the vast difference in ideologies of the two Senatorial candidates. In fact in March, Channel 2 invited Senator Mikulski and Alan Keyes to publicly debate on their station. Keyes accepted the invitation to debate yet our infamous Senator Mikulski refused. Is she afraid if enough Marylanders find out her true record and views, she will be voted out of office? If Mikulski chose no to expose her beliefs, should we take a closer look at her record to find her outlandish views? We, the voters, should decide if we want six more years of Mikulski or the fresh voice of Keyes as our United States Senator of Maryland.

Yours for America,

FOREST PRODUCTS WEEK PROCLAIMED - The Garrett County Commissioners proclaimed October 18-24 as Forest Products Week. As the proclamation states, Maryland's forest products industry has played an enduring and vital role in the economic and environmental well-being of the state, and as the world-wide demand for wood and paper products is projected to double over the next half a century, this area's forest products industry - which is fifth largest in the state - will continue to employ more than 18,000 residents in both the forest and factory. The proclamation also states that trees are a renewable resource which will never be depleted as long as Maryland foresters and natural resources professionals continue to find ways to effectively manage our forests, and that through responsible, productive forest management practices, including BMP's (Best Management Practices), the demands for high quality forest products and the sustaining of soil, water, air, and wildlife quality may be met. Pictured above, seated, left to right are Garrett County Commissioners Brenda Butscher, Elwood Groves, and John Braskey. Standing in the same order are Mike Kozier, chairperson of the Garrett County Forestry Board and Garrett County Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS); Pete Miller, president of Western Maryland Forests Association, Westvaco; and John Forman, president of the Maryland Forests Association, Wood Products, Inc.

To the Editor:

This letter is directed to those voters who are still undecided about who they are going to vote for in the Presidential election.

President Bush when elected will not be beholden to any special interests. According to the constitution he will be ineligible to run for election having served two consecutive terms. Whereas, if Clinton is elected all his critical decisions will be done so at the behest of all the special interest groups that he has promised to accommodate during the campaign. This point was brought out by the third candidate Perot when he decided he would serve only one four-year term. This would free him to make the right decisions and not have to cater to unwise budget busting demands by the special interests.

Support President George Bush and give him this same opportunity.

Sincerely,
DeCorsey Bolden

To the Editor:

Recently I attended a P.T.A. meeting at the Accident Elementary School. The program presented by Dr. Brenda McCartney was very informative. However, I seemed to have great difficulty making my point or getting answers to my questions.

The topic was Health/Developmental Growth and the new video for boys "Everything You Wanted To Know About Puberty." The video produced by Disney is very graphic and explicit.

This resource material was selected for 8 and 9 year old boys to explain the function of their penis in puberty. Highlights of the video were two boys trying to find out about wet dreams (nocturnal emission) and body odor. The video also illustrated graphically the sperm being carried by semen with the end resulting ejaculation with the explanation following that this brings about pregnancy.

Although the material was informative, I am not convinced it is necessary for the age group that has been targeted. I am also opposed to the misuse of tax money in this program. ($400 each for the 15 minute video)

Health education is very important and I believe necessary but to what extent. I would like to know the purpose or goal the Department of Education has for mandating this material. The reasons I was given for the development of this program were based on nutrition information. The result of that information being that, because of better nutrition, children were developing earlier.

It was my understanding that as a result of the nutrition studies, doctors were concerned that our children were in this rapid growth, early or premature development due to food additives and steroids in meat and fish. These findings were said to result in abnormal growth. The development of these studies has resulted in labeling foods and major crack downs on the FDA and the Department of Agriculture. How does this fit in?

There have been no significant studies done to determine the short or long term effect that group sexual instruction has on our children. However, studies say that school stress is related to a leading number of suicides among young children. How does this explicit sexual information create a non-stress factor in an 8 or 9 year old? Studies show that school stress is anything that is a transition.

According to an article in the November issue of Better Homes and Gardens on school stress, "Television, movies and changing societal values have upped the pressure on children to act like adults. As a result, kids are being influenced to adopt adult behaviors, such as drinking alcohol and having sex." It also stated "Peer pressure influences even elementary age children."

When the medical community and parents are genuinely concerned over both the issues of stress and disease control, why is it important for elementary age children to know so much about this? After all, does this prevent premature sexual experimentation or promote it?

Another reason I was given for the promotion and development of this material was because "the boys were being left out." Dr. McCartney said that the boys would tease the girls when they would be taken out of class to "learn about their bodies." So, they decided to come up with a program for the boys. Well, that oughta tell you how mature these boys are at that age.

When relating to the development of this program it was said that the Health Advisory Committee and the Board of Education decided this for use in the fourth grade. Why hasn't there been any advisement from leading child health professionals and community involvement?

My major concern is the long term effect this may have on our children. Why should we continually rob them of their innocence by subjecting them to group sexual instruction? Perhaps this could be taught in the home of individuals by request of parents or school officials. Don't they have tutors that have to do that in teen pregnancy situations?

This is not an attack on the Health Department or Board of Education. I simply would like more justification as to their expertise in the development and promotion of this material on the elementary level. I do believe they are convinced they are right. However, overwhelming evidence to the contrary has been documented by a growing number of health care professionals. Perhaps they should contact the National Association of School Psychologists or Johns Hopkins to see if this is an adequate program for elementary school children.

Finally, I think it's a sad state of affairs when the government assumes the responsibility of providing this explicit information yet has the legal loophole that allows for parental choices whether or not to send their child. Well, once they teach little Johnny what his does and what he can do with it, he will make sure everyone else knows. I say the Board is experimenting. I challenge the parents to become involved and find out and, if necessary, boycott.

Sincerely,
Karen F. Sizemore

Dear Ms. Sizemore,

We took the liberty of contacting Dr. McCartney at the Board of Education and she informed us that the showing of the film at PTA meetings is part of a preventive effort, allowing parents to view the film before their children do and to ask questions. She said all students must have parental permission to view the film and parents may join them for the showing. Parents have the option of allowing their sons to see the film in either fourth or fifth grades, to see it twice, in both grades, or to not see it at all.

Dr. McCartney also informed us that extensive research has indeed been done concerning the use of the film for this age group. Dr. Rex Archer, county health officer, viewed the film and recommended its use with fourth and fifth graders. Dr. McCartney said other specialists were consulted in the decision, too, and that the recommendation for this age group was agreed upon by all.

Finally, she noted that the film is not just about sexual changes and physical transitions, but that it touches on all aspects of growing up, including peer pressure, emotional growth, and other subjects. Dr. McCartney stated that persons may contact her if they wish to ask more questions, or they may attend their child's school PTA meeting for her presentation about the film.

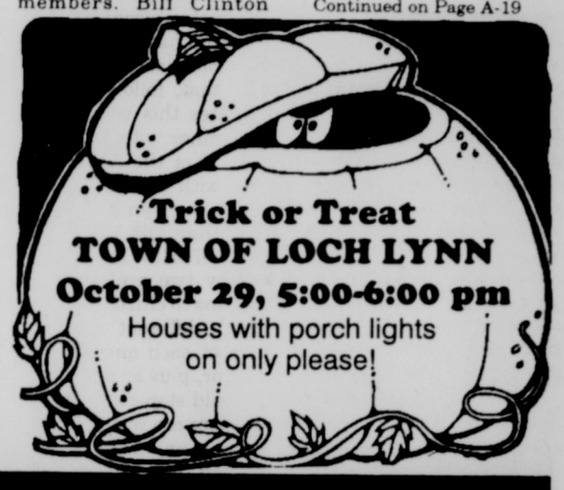
To the Editor:



The 1992 Presidential election may prove to be the most important Presidential election in our professional lives. Public education is on the chopping block with proposals by George Bush to sift public tax dollars into the privatization of schools.

Bill Clinton talks of changes to education and possible overhaul, but never does he speak of tuition tax credits and voucher plans for private schools. These Bush proposals with many new faces in Congress may become reality before another Presidential term. In public education we have too much at stake to allow this to happen.

This past July, Bill Clinton addressed 8,600 delegates to the National Education Association Representative Assembly. These delegates voted overwhelmingly to endorse Bill Clinton for President. That endorsement vote capped a long process of screening all the Presidential candidates on the issues that face us as NEA members. Bill Clinton emerged from that process as clearly the best candidate for education. George Bush would not even participate in the process.

But, don't vote for Bill Clinton just because he's the best candidate for education. Instead, vote for Bill Clinton because education is the key to our nation's future. To get our nation's economy moving in the right direction again, we need a President who truly

Tonja Couch Weds William Dixon Jr. In June Double-Ring Ceremony

A June wedding was solemnized at the bride's church, Grace Lutheran, Friendsville, uniting Tonja Lu Couch and William Dixon Jr. in marriage.

The bride is the daughter of Sherry Friend and Floyd Clayton Couch Jr., and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Friend and the late Eldora and Floyd Couch Sr. The groom is the son of Jolene and William Dixon Sr. and the grandson of Mrs. Frances Fike and the late Emerson Fike and the late Carl and Delora Dixon.

The Rev. Stephen Yelovich, who confirmed the bride, performed the double-ring ceremony before an altar adorned with pink rosebuds and white carnations. The pews were marked with pink rosebuds.

Given in marriage by her family and escorted to the altar by her grandfather, Amos Friend, the bride was attired in a designer gown made of bridal satin and featuring a Queen Anne collar with a sheer illusion yoke, trimmed with beaded Venise lace. The long, bishop sleeves with puffs at the shoulders were adorned with Oriental cut-outs with an overlay of beaded lace, accented by pearl droplets, extending to the hands in bridal points. The fitted bodice was encrusted with sequins, pearls, and pearl droplets over Venise lace. The Basque waistline held a full skirt adorned with beaded and sequenced Venise lace appliques in Oriental cut-out design, falling to a scalloped beaded cathedral train.

The back of the bodice was a heart-shaped cut-out adorned with pearl droplets. Her veil was a white bow made of imported English silk illusion and Suisse lace attached to a tiara of pink roses and baby's breath. She carried a cascade of pink rosebuds, white carnations, baby's breath and alstromeria.

Her jewelry was a cross pendant given to her mother by her father and a sapphire brooch that belonged to her paternal great-great-grandmother, and the wedding ring of her paternal grandmother, the late Eldora Couch.

His suit matched that of the flower boy.

Acolytes were Terry Friend and Rick Bathum, uncles of the bride.

After the gathering of the guests, Mrs. Elinor Benedict, friend of the bride's grandmother and a professional musician, presented musical selections, including the Hawaiian Wedding Song on the violin, organ, and piano during the lighting of the unity candles by the mothers. She played several selections on the chimes. She also accompanied Tammie Couch, aunt of the bride, and Pauline Faucett, family friend, soloists.

Guest book attendant was Mrs. Ruth Umbel, great-great aunt of the bride. Program attendants were Sherry Swauger, classmate of the bride, and Jason Fike, cousin of the groom. The wedding prayer was offered by Retired Pastor William Carlson, who christened the bride.

The ceremony of the candles on the back of the programs was presented by Mrs. Eva Whiteman, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Bernadine Friend, grandmother of the bride.

The altar flowers were given to the glory of God and in memory of Floyd Sr. and Eldora Couch, John and Helen Devine, paternal grandparents and maternal great-grandparents of the bride and Emerson Fike and Carl and Delora Dixon, grandparents of the groom.

Seed packets were made by Mrs. Virginia Schroyer and Mrs. Ellen Humberson, great aunts of the bride, and Sandra Guard, friend of the bride's mother, and distributed by Lorena Kitzmiller and Danielle Fike, cousins of the groom.

Mrs. Penny Bathum, aunt of the bride, cut the five-tiered, royal blue and white wedding cake baked by Mrs. Christy Thomas. It was served by great aunts and cousin of the bride, Mrs. Ellen Humberson, Mrs. Eleanor Teats, and Mrs. Vonda Thorpe, and aunt of the groom, Mrs. Kathy Kahl. The sheer fitted bodice was covered with white and silver bugle beads in an intricate design of entwined petals outlined with clear iridescent sequins that formed a modified coronet neckline. She wore a glitzy face framer headpiece featuring silver lined bugle beads and clear iridescent sequins in the form of petals and highlighted by scattered rhinestone loops.

The two-tiered veil featured a detachable blusher and long cathedral train. She carried a white net cascade of white roses, petite iridescent roses, small callalilies, green and white iridescent leaves scattered throughout her flowers. Sparkling baby's breath, crystal sprays surrounded by a white net of scattered rhinestones and iridescent petite roses and leaves completed her trailing cascade. She carried crystal rosary beads of her grandmother Anna Grimm, Oakland, and a crystal heart necklace of her grandmother Mary A. Meagher, Cumberland, in her flower cascade. A six-pence in her shoe was passed down to her from her Godmother Carolyn Meagher.

The four-tiered fountain cake baked by Shirley Rinker, Oakland, was decorated with teal and peach petite roses and four white stairways holding doves and angels leading to side cakes. The side cakes were decorated with silk flowers and baby's breath. The cake was topped with a ceramic bride and groom. A silk iridescent flower ring of teal and peach circled the cake fountain.

From Her Family

God saw you getting tired
and a cure was not to be
So He put his arms around you
and whispered "Come With Me"
With tearful eyes we watched you suffer
and saw you fade away.
Although we loved you dearly.
We could not make you stay.
A golden heart stopped beating
You're now at peaceful rest
It broke our hearts but proved to us
God always knows what is best.

Grantsville Area BPW Approaching 10th Year As Strong Organization

by Carol Newman

The Grantsville Area Business and Professional Women's Club is fast approaching its 10th anniversary as a club. From infancy to mutual, the club has remained a steadfast organization in the Grantsville area. The club enjoys membership from women all over the surrounding communities -- reaching out and coming together in a united way.

It was on April 28, 1983, that the first expansion meeting was held. The actual first meeting was conducted on September 19, 1983. Women in various workplaces were coming together to join forces and be united as sisters.

As the pages of history unroll, the Grantsville BPW has and will always be in the arena fighting for women in the workplace. Political issues of the day serve to make any meeting interesting.

The first slate of officers for the club were: Ruth DiPaolo, president; Betty Jo Swauger, vice president; Dottie George, secretary; Martha Sebold, treasurer; and Susan Wiley, nominating committee chairman.

The club members continue to keep open minds and to always be ready to help communities in any way.

As far as community involvement goes, there is only one way for a club name to become familiar to a community. The Grantsville club takes pride in keeping the roadways looking good and participates in the Adopt-A-Highway project.

Grantsville Days is a main fundraiser for the club. The club also has a float in the parade for that event.

The Grantsville BPW holds a holiday auction each year and all monies raised go toward the BPW Foundation which provides scholarship monies.

In keeping with state and national guidelines, the club names an employer of the year and a woman of the year. These people promote the employment and further education of working women.

The club also holds raffles and sells fruit cakes, gives money to various other community organizations for worthwhile projects, and enjoys interesting topics at each month's meeting. Picnics and other outings are also a part of the club's heritage.

The current slate of officers include: Ruth DiPaolo, president; Earlenna Tressler, vice president; Betty Jo Swauger, treasurer; and Dottie George, secretary. Past presidents include: Ruth DiPaolo, Betty Jo Swauger, Juanita Beachy, Amy Harman, and Linda Buckel.

In keeping with National BPW Week, let all women take pride in their chosen occupations. Let all women this week and every week pull together and work in a unified way to make our communities, our county, our state, our nation, and our world stand up and take a long-deserved look at women in the workplace. As one past president stated, "Pulling together lightens the load."

As the Garrett County Commissioners signed a proclamation last week designating this week as National Business Women's Week, a similar proclamation was signed by the Mayor and Town Council of Grantsville last week asking all citizens to recognize and honor working women everywhere.

Persons interested in becoming a member of the Grantsville BPW may contact Ruth DiPaolo at 245-4198.

The club meets the third Monday of each month at 6:30 p.m. at the Holiday Inn. The next meeting will be held November 16 and will include the annual holiday auction.

The Collect

KEEP US O GOD

...from pettiness; let us be large in thought, in word, in deed.

Let us be done with faultfinding, and leave off self-seeking.

May we put away all pretense and meet each other face to face -- without self-pity, and without prejudice.

May we never be hasty in judgment and always generous.

Let us take time for all things; make us to grow calm, serene, gentle.

Teach us to put into action our better impulses, straightforward and unafraid.

Grant that we may realize it is the little things that create differences, that in the big things of life we are at one.

And may we strive to touch and to know the great common human heart of us all, and,

Oh Lord God, let us forget not to be kind!

MARY STEWART

Mayor Fred Holliday, seated, singed a proclamation last week to honor not only the Grantsville Area BPW, but all working women. With him are two Grantsville BPW members, Betty Jo Swauger, left, and Carol Newman.

Dr. Alta Schrock was inducted into the Maryland Women's Hall of Fame and is shown receiving her certificate from Dr. Amy Harman, a member of the Grantsville BPW.

Emblem Benediction

This emblem binds us all
In one great sisterhood
It bids us heed our conscience all
For a nobler womanhood.
God guide us when we wear
This emblem o'er our heart;
And keep us true and always fair,

President to President - Grantsville BPW President Ruth DiPaolo poses with State BPW President Lynn Stimmel at a recent convention.

Robert Watson, local attorney, spoke to the Grantsville BPW about Charter Home Rule. The club keeps informed on local, state, and national issues.

The Grantsville BPW received its charter in 1983 from Rosa Lee Tydings, left, shown presenting it to first president, Ruth DiPaolo.

The Grantsville BPW supports a cleaner town with a SWAT team to clean up the roadways through the Adopt-A-Highway project.

GARRETT COUNTY HAS THE HIGHEST UNEMPLOYMENT RATE IN THE STATE ALREADY!

WHY SEND BUSINESS AWAY?

Our Current Law On Sunday Restaurant Beverage Sale Cuts Local Sunday Employment By 30%!

Garrett County's old law that prohibits the sale of drinks with a restaurant meal on Sunday cuts the number of local people who work in local restaurants by nearly one-third...every Sunday!

Local restaurant operators have calculated that those employees lose $300,000 in wages because of this law. Many other businesses who supply the restaurant industry...like wholesalers, delivery companies and other business services also lose payroll.

This Law Costs Garrett County One Million Dollars A Year!

According to the most precise information available, the total economic loss in wages, services and local taxes amounts to over one million dollars annually from a community that already suffers from the highest unemployment in the state!

We Are Giving Away Jobs To Counties All Around Us!

All around us, communities are reaping the benefits of our legal problem. Visitors end their trips early. They start later. Any local resident who wishes to choose a drink with their meal goes elsewhere.

Rams Break Losing Skid At Expense Of Tucker

A touchdown and two-point conversion with just over two minutes left in the fourth quarter broke a four-game losing streak for Southern High School Friday night, as the Rams edged visiting Tucker County, 14-12, in Southern's 1992 homecoming contest.

Cold rain, gusty winds, and dramatically falling temperatures throughout the game made playing conditions miserable and forced both teams to stick to a fairly basic, power-oriented formations on offense. It seemed to many fans that the game really didn't even start until the second half, as neither offense could do anything in the first two quarters. Tucker County threatened several times in the first half because of having good field position, while the Ram offense started deep in their own territory on every possession and could not move the ball.

A fumble by the Rams deep in their territory set up the first score of the ball game, as senior fullback George Shine capped a short drive by plowing through the center of the Ram defense on an eight-yard touchdown run with 6:54 remaining in the third quarter. The two-point conversion run failed and the Mountain Lions led 6-0.

That lead remained intact until the 8:15 mark of the fourth period when long runs by Jeremy Bosley and Josh Woods, coupled with a 15-yard facemask penalty, led to an 11-yard touchdown run by Bosley. C.J. Getson's pass for the two-point conversion fell incomplete and the score was tied at 6-6.

The Lions came right back by returning the ensuing kickoff to the Ram 46 and marching that many yards in about three minutes, with Shine concluding the drive with a two-yard touchdown run. Again the conversion attempt failed and Tucker led 12-6 with 5:55 remaining in the game.

A fumble by the Lions on their own 26-yard line with just under four minutes to play proved fatal for the visitors, as Getson engineered a final drive to win the game. A nine-yard run by the senior quarterback put the ball on the 11 and Bosley raced around the left end on the next play to tie the score at 12-12. Getson carried the ball for the conversion, also around the left side, and just barely broke the plane of the goal line to record the winning two points.

The Rams out-gained the Lions in total offense, 174-123, as all of Southern's yardage was gained on the ground. Bosley recorded 124 of those yards on 27 carries.

The Lions' biggest problem of the evening was not being able to hold onto the football. They fumbled eight times and lost four of them. Ryan Harper was their leading ground gainer with 67 yards on 24 carries.

CONSIDERABLE RESISTANCE awaited Southern High quarterback C.J. Getson (#7) on this play, as he tried to move the ball from deep in Ram territory against the Tucker County defense Friday night. Southern rallied to win the game, 14-12, by scoring a touchdown and two-point conversion with about two minutes remaining in the fourth quarter. Also identifiable in the photo are Mark Elliott, #3, and Jeremy Bosley, #44. The 2-5 Rams will host Hedgesville this Friday.

"It was nice to finally begin seeing the fruits of our labors," stated Southern Coach Fred Gregg. "We have told our team all along that whether we win or lose comes down to the performance by our offensive line and our defense. Our offensive line play is really starting to come around and our defense played very well against Northern and Tucker County. The credit for that goes not only to our kids, but also to Coaches Dave Bosley and Terry Kendall. And Coach Scott Harvey has helped our offense elevate its level of play."

Gregg said his halftime talk included praise for the defensive team's efforts, but concern that the offense was "just not clicking."

"We finally got into a real rhythm on offense in the second half and were able to begin reading their defenses pretty well," he said, "plus we had much better field position in the second half."

Jeremy Bosley, who according to Gregg played "probably his best game this year," was named the Defensive Player of the Week for his performance in the secondary, Josh Hinebaugh was selected Offensive Lineman of the Week, and the Special Teams Player of the Week honor was shared by Rich Warnick and David Crosco.

The Rams, now 2-5, will need even stronger play this week when they host a powerful 6-2 Hedgesville team. The Eagles are stinging from a 31-6 loss last Friday night at the hands of unbeaten Fort Hill in a game that was predicted to be close.

Hedgesville runs a wing-T, power-oriented offense with a wide variety of formations and a lot of unbalanced line configurations. They are led by their quarterback, Ted Murphy, and fullback Kevin Sowers, who recorded 100 yards of rushing and a touchdown against the Sentinels last week.

Their 5-2 monster defense, which also often utilizes a six-man front, is also led by Sowers at inside linebacker.

"Hedgesville is not as big as they were last year, but they're still bigger than us," Gregg said. "Murphy is a very good runner and overall they have good team speed. They like to keep the ball on the ground and just come at you."

Gregg said his team is generally healthy and anxious to take on the Eagles. "We have really seen improvement in our last two games and hopefully we can continue on that course this week," he said.

The kickoff at Southern stadium is set for 7:30 p.m. Friday.

Ram Jayvees Crush Tucker For Sixth Win

The Southern High junior varsity football team upped its season mark to 6-1 last night by rolling over host Tucker County, 46-0. Paul Berkeridge rushed for 170 yards and scored three touchdowns and two two-point conversions.

Led by quarterback Andy Woods, the Rams wasted no time putting points on the board. Berkeridge scored on a 25-yard touchdown run and Scott Dawson ran for the conversion to open the scoring in the first quarter. Scott Dawson's five-yard touchdown run later in the quarter, followed by a successful conversion pass by Woods to Berkeridge made it 16-0.

Southern kept its offensive charge rolling in the second quarter by adding 22 more points on a five-yard run by Berkeridge, a 20-yard TD run by Adam Moomau, and a 10-yard score by Dawson, plus a pair of two-point conversions, to make the score 38-0.

The final eight points were recorded in the third period on a 60-yard run and two-point conversion run, both by Berkeridge.

Defensive standouts for the Rams were Mike Sweitzer, Randy Murphy, and Elias Black, while Gary Holland's efforts on offense were noted.

The Rams will play next Thursday night against a yet-to-be-named opponent.

Oakland Jets Blank Steelers For Youth Title

Howie Crosco ran for two touchdowns and a conversion to lead the Oakland Jets to a 19-0 victory over the defending champion Northern Steelers in the championship game of the Mountaintop Youth Football League, held Sunday afternoon at Southern High School. It was the first league title for the Jets in five years.

Crosco and the Jets wasted no time putting the first points on the board as he took the ball on the first play from scrimmage, ran up the middle, broke two tackles, and rambled 61 yards for the score.

The Jet defense forced the Steelers to punt on their first possession and the Jets took over on their own 44. Chad Warnick engineered a 56-yard scoring drive that was capped by a four-yard touchdown run by Crosco, making it 12-0 in the second quarter. Warnick completed three of three passes on the drive and finished the day with a five-for-eight effort for 79 yards.

After a scoreless third quarter, the Jets added an insurance touchdown in the fourth period on a 10-yard run up the middle by Scott Schroyer. Crosco ran for the extra point to conclude the scoring.

The Jet staff praised the entire defense for keeping the Steelers out of the end zone. Noted particularly were the members of the secondary, including Noel Smith, Tommy Gank, Mike Welch, Aaron Newcomb, Chad Warnick, Nathan Rickman, Andy Seib, and Scott Schroyer.

Vic Compitello, head coach of the Jets, said, "Our athletes worked very hard this season and their efforts were rewarded. They managed to turn around a team that didn't win any games last season to winning it all and going undefeated this season."

Assistant Ed Panther added, "It's a coaching cliche, but defense wins championships. Our game plan was to limit the Steelers' big play offense as much as possible. The Steelers' quarterback Scott Sisler and receivers are clearly the best in the league, and our players rose to the challenge and shut them out."

Assistant Jim SanJulian continued, "The Steelers' defense is one of the best too. They shut out every other team this season. Their coaching staff is to be commended. They put their team in the championship game four out of the last six years and they won three titles."

Steeler Coach Ben Sisler commented, "We want to give credit to the Jet players and coaching staff for a well played football game. Even though we ended our season on a losing note, we had a successful season with a final record of 4-2."

Both coaching staffs noted their appreciation to their players, parents, and community for their efforts and support this season.

Huskies Roll To Easy 48-0 Win Over Indians

The Northern High School Huskies had little difficulty running their 1992 unbeaten streak to seven games Friday night as they dominated visiting Berkeley Springs, 48-0, in their annual homecoming contest.

The Northern defense held the 1-7 Indians to just 59 yards in total offense, 24 by rushing and 35 through the air, while the Husky offense rolled up 255 yards of offense. Alan Sebold, who was named Offensive Player of the Game, led the scoring effort with 108 yards and three touchdowns on 13 carries, Larry Wakefield finished with 57 yards and two touchdowns, and Billy Younkin and Chris Bittinger each scored one touchdown. Jon Hinebaugh, who was named Special Teams Player of the Week, booted four extra points and passed for two more.

Besides being unable to move the ball against the Huskies, the Indians were unable to hang on to it, as they committed nine turnovers, including seven fumbles and two interceptions. Both of their interceptions were returned for Northern touchdowns.

The Huskies also turned the ball over twice by fumble, as playing conditions included cold rain and wind.

After a rather sluggish start, Sebold opened the Huskies' scoring with a five-yard touchdown run in the first quarter. Hinebaugh's kick made it 7-0.

Northern put the game away in the second quarter with 20 more points, scored on Younkin's 23-yard pass return, a five-yard touchdown run by Wakefield, and an eight-yard scoring carry by Sebold.

After a scoreless third quarter, the Huskies put the icing on the cake with 21 more points in the final stanza on a four-yard touchdown run by Wakefield, a 30-yard touchdown gallop by Sebold, and a 17-yard interception return by Bittinger.

Chris Rowe and Younkin each finished with 10 tackles to pace the Husky defense, which has three shutouts to its credit and a total of only 40 points scored against it so far this season. Younkin was named the Defensive Player of the Week. Paul Edwards recovered three Indian fumbles.

Rob Speicher, senior quarterback for the Huskies, connected on seven of 13 passes for 89 yards.

Jason Fazenbaker also excelled on defense and received the Hammer Award for the week.

"They aren't too used to our October weather up here," stated Northern Coach Tom Vent. "I was really pleased with the efforts of our kids. With homecoming going on there were a lot of distractions before the game, but our players really stayed focused and did a nice job.

"The situation also allowed us to play a lot of our younger kids," he added.

With their seventh straight win and a loss Friday night by Smithsburg, the Huskies moved up to fourth place in the state Class 1A ratings this week. However, the playoffs are still three games away and Vent and his staff are attempting to keep their players from looking no further ahead than this Friday night when they travel to Petersburg to take on a much improved 7-1 Viking team.

FINDING DAYLIGHT around the left side of his offensive line is Northern Husky Alan Sebold, who scored three touchdowns and was named Offensive Player of the Week in the Huskies' 48-0, homecoming win over Berkeley Springs last Friday evening. Sebold scored on runs of five, eight, and 30 yards, as the undefeated Huskies recorded their seventh straight win. Their competition will no doubt be stronger this week and next when they take on a 7-1 Petersburg team Friday night and a strong Bishop Walsh squad the following Friday. The Huskies are currently ranked fourth in the state Class 1A ratings.

Clickener, Reams Win Firsts In PVC Championships

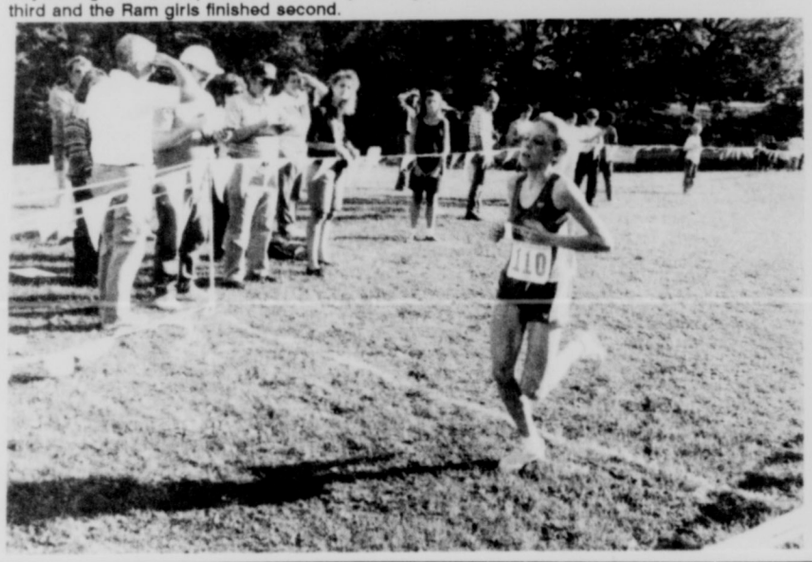
Bryan Clickener and Jenny Reams, members of the Southern High School cross country team, each captured first places and set new records in the annual Potomac Valley Conference Championships, hosted last Thursday by the Rams at Broadford Park.

Clickener smashed the course record by 32 seconds, as he completed the distance in 18 minutes and five seconds, or 32 seconds faster than the previous record set last year by Northern's Jerry Buckel (18:37). Reams tied the course record with her time of 22:54, but set a new school record for the girls' varsity.

Keyser High School captured both the girls' and boys' varsity team titles with 29 and 43 points, respectively. The Southern girls placed second with a score of 46, followed by Frankfort with 57 and Berkeley Springs with 92. Placing second among the boys' teams was Hampshire with 50 points, followed by Southern with 58, Frankfort with 69, and Berkeley Springs with 92.

Clickener and Keyser's D.J. Likens shared the lead in the boys' varsity race during the first mile and a half, but Clickener took control at the halfway point and finished 24 seconds ahead of Likens. Bret Ridgel of Frankfort finished third in 18:37, Hampshire's Chad VanMeter was fourth (18:43), and Matt Newcomb of Southern placed fifth (18:53). Southern freshman Todd Howard, who placed 15th overall, broke his own freshman record with a time of 19:58. Other Ram finishers were: Andy Craver, 18th; Dan Skipper, 19th; Aaron Chorpenning, 20th; and Jamie Jacoby, 26th.

In the varsity girls' race, Reams and Krista Hawley of Frankfort led the pack of 24 runners, but after two miles Reams moved into the lead and defeated Hawley by 28 seconds. Valerie Smith of Keyser was third with a time of 23:39. Southern's Jennifer Pariseau and Shannon Dabney placed sixth and seventh, respectively, as Dabney set a new junior girls school record with a time of 24:56. Other finishers for the Rams were: Andrea Devens, 14th; Tammy Butt, 18th; and Leah Broadwater, 20th.



There was also competition among junior varsity and junior high teams; however team scores were not recorded. The top Southern jayvee runners were Steve Shockey, who placed second with a time of 21:53; Chris Jones in third (22:09); Chester Stacy and Charlie Wesley in fifth and sixth place, respectively; and James Parsons and Bobby Aspinall, ninth and 10th.

The top 10 finishers in each race were named to the All-PVC team.

Southern does not have a junior varsity girls team and freshman teams. Winning the junior varsity girls' race was Keyser's Shannon Reel, as she and her teammates captured the first seven places. Kevin Martin of Romney won the freshman boys' race, while Keyser's Valerie Yutzy won the freshman girls' race.

PVC CHAMPS FROM SOUTHERN - Southern High School hosted the annual Potomac Valley Conference Cross Country Championships last Thursday afternoon at Broadford Park and the Rams captured both the boys' and girls' varsity individual titles, as Bryan Clickener, above, and Jenny Reams, below, crossed the finish line first in their respective competitions. In the process, Clickener shattered the previous course record, set last year by Northern's Jerry Buckel, and Reams tied the girls' course record. Clickener finished with a time of 18:05 to top Buckel's time by over one-half minute (18:37). Reams tied the course record of 22:54 and set a new school record. Keyser High School captured both the boys' and girls' team titles, while the Southern boys placed third and the Ram girls finished second.

ALL-PVC SELECTIONS - The top 10 finishers in the boys' and girls' Potomac Valley Conference Cross Country Championships were named to the All-PVC teams and presented special awards following the competition, held last Thursday at Broadford Park. Five boys' teams and four girls' teams participated in the varsity division. Boys named All-PVC were, pictured above, left to right, front row: Pat Twyman, Keyser; Jason Keener, Hampshire; Garth Wagoner and Nark Lott, both of Frankfort; standing, same order: Bryan Clickener, Southern (overall winner); D.J. Likens, Keyser; Bret Ridgel, Frankfort; Chad VanMeter, Hampshire; Matt Newcomb, Southern; and Clint Faulk, Keyser. Named to the All-PVC girls' squad were, pictured below, left to right: Jenny Reams, Southern (overall winner); Krista Hawley, Frankfort; Allison Ebert and Mara Campbell, Keyser; Jennifer Pariseau and Shannon Dabney, Southern; Aleisha Clay and Courtney Taylor, Keyser. Not present for the photo were Keyser's Valerie Smith and Darcy Smith.

"A Pioneer"

An old pioneer has come and gone,
But memories still linger on;
He blazed the trail for young and old,
And all his work was never told.

All honor due was never given,
But his reward is up in heaven;
Much sorrow here he bore alone,
To fellow man 'twas never known.

His great desire was for the poor,
He spread the gospel far and near;
There was no price, or promised fare,
The call of souls was ever there.

He thought of them both night and day,
For them he never ceased to pray;
All through the night I've heard him call,
"Lord, keep Your hand upon them all."

Oft' when I travel through this land,
I see the work of his dear hand;
A steeple high, or a little church,
Where people come to see God work.

An angel came one day for Dad,
And left our home so very sad;
But if to God we're always true,
We'll meet again beyond the blue.

Winning the boys' championship was Allegany with 31 points, while Southern finished second with 70, followed by Beall with 77, Fort Hill with 89, Northern with 105, and Bishop Walsh with an incomplete score.

Sara Manger of Fort Hill won the individual title in the girls' race by completing the course in 20 minutes, 43 seconds, while Northern's Bobbi Dolan placed second in 21:28 and Jenny Reams of Southern was third with a time of 22:14.

Other Huskies completing the race were Stacy Dolan, Chris Bowen, Mitzie White and Erin Sines, while Southern finishers included Shannon Dabney, Jennifer Pariseau, Andrea Devens, Tammy Butt, Leah Broadwater, and Janet DeWitt.

Winning the boys' individual title was Todd Buckbee, who is undefeated on the season and set a new course record of 17:03. Southern's Bryan Clickener finished second in 17:34, while Allegany's Louis Brown placed third with a time of 17:47. Northern's Rich Bowser and Dan Seaman placed fourth and sixth, respectively, while Matt Newcomb of Southern finished seventh.

Other Southern finishers were Todd Howard, Andy Craver, Dan Skipper, Aaron Chorpenning, Steve Shockey, Jamie Jacoby, Chris Jones, Charles Wesley, and Bobby Aspinall. Other Husky runners included Noah Rawe, Travis Duckworth, Eric Lapp, Aaron Hordubay, and Don Manning.

Found Guilty

in the face and threw a handful of change, some of which struck the female employee. He also stated that Vanderbilt verbally assaulted two police officers when they arrived and placed Vanderbilt under arrest.

Regina M. Kaseluris, 48, Baltimore, was found guilty of disturbing the peace on private property by Judge Turney and fined $500. She was also ordered to have no contact with Barbara or Harry Maris, the complainants in the case.

Charges of assault, battery, and malicious destruction of property were not prosecuted by the State's Attorney.

Barbara Maris stated that Kaseluris entered her place of employment on August 15 and demanded to be paid $65 for an outstanding water bill due from the Marises who had been her tenants. Maris reportedly showed Kaseluris receipts to prove she had paid the bill, but Kaseluris refused to leave. Maris said Kaseluris then began throwing boxes and breaking merchandise, so she asked onlookers to call the police or remove her from the premises. She was also reportedly using foul language and struck Mrs. Maris in the face with a broom. Mr. Maris then allegedly pulled Kaseluris across the floor but she refused to leave until the police arrived.

Sonja Guthrie, 22, Accident, was found guilty of battery and given a 90-day suspended jail term and fined $50. She was found not guilty of trespassing posted property, another charge of battery, and telephone abuse.

She had been charged with those counts by Joseph Hutzel who said she entered his property and yelled obscenities and called him on four occasions to say he was guilty of molesting children. He said she later backed into his driveway and his 10-year-old son told her she couldn't do that. He also stated that she spun her tires and ran over a toy of his 5-year-old son's and called the boy a name and slapped him in the face. He said his three children and three children in her car witnessed the incident.

Robert I. Mingo, 21, McHenry, was found guilty of breaking and entering and Judge Turney handed him a six-month suspended sentence, fined him $100, and placed him on one year of supervised probation. He was found not guilty of malicious destruction of property. Mingo was also ordered to pay $205.96 to Mrs. Evelyn Orsini.

Mingo had been arrested by the Maryland State Police on August 26 after he admitted he broke a window in the residenceof Mrs. Orsini to use a telephone. He did so without permission, according to police reports.

Other sources indicated that Mingo had wrecked on the Marsh Hill Road and that his dog was pinned in the vehicle. He attempted to call 911 from several summer residences and no one was reportedly home. He then allegedly broke Orsini's window and called 911 who said they did not send ambulances for animals. Mingo and his friend then freed the dog themselves and took him to the veterinarian where he had to be put to sleep. Mingo contended that he contacted the police and Mrs. Orsini and offered to pay any damages.

CLARIFICATION

In District Court news last week the name of Larry Artice, Accident, was incorrectly printed in a case involving Frank Humbertson. We regret the oversight. Also in that case, Mr. Artice was found not guilty of pointing a gun at her niece and her boyfriend. It should also be noted that Artice was employed at the time of his court date, although one condition of his parole was that he maintain employment.

DWI CASE

David E. White, 46, Md., was found guilty of violation of probation on a prior DWI (driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs) charge. He was given a six-month jail term and given 10 days credit for time served. He had been charged with DWI on June 2, 1991, by the Maryland State Police on MD Rt. 560.

officer. He also tore the officer's jacket and pushed him away. Murphy called for assistance in subduing the defendant, according to a Sheriff's Office spokesperson.

Wiles remains incarcerated in lieu of $5,000 bond, according to a Sheriff's Office spokesperson.

Two bench warrants were recently served to two men in unrelated arrests. Marvin S. Kidwell III, 27, Augusta, W.Va., was arrested on the strength of a bench warrant for failure to appear in court. He was scheduled to answer to traffic charges, according to the report.

Howard V. Sisler, 22, Friendsville, was issued a bench warrant reportedly for violation of probation.

Northern Girls Defeat Oldtown, Mount Savage

The Northern High varsity volleyball team improved its season mark to 6-3 this past week with a 3-0 win over visiting Oldtown Monday evening and a 3-1 defeat of Mt. Savage last night, also on the Huskies' court.

The Huskies dominated Oldtown, 15-8, 15-1, and 15-1, as Tina Savage, Amy Miller, and Rebecca Fisher led in service points with 10, eight, and seven, respectively. Dana Shipe recorded three for Oldtown.

Lisa Stephens led the Northern service attack last night against Mt. Savage, as she finished with 17 points. Amy Miller added 11 points and Wanda Swartzwelder finished with 15 kills.

Urinary Tract Infection Prevention in Women

According to a recent issue of Emergency Medicine, women can lower the incidence of urinary tract infections, a problem which affects up to 8 percent of women of child bearing age. About a third of this group experiences a reoccurrence of the infection within three months. Dr. Abdollah Iravani reports that women who are prone to recurrent infections should attempt to empty the bladder completely and frequently; wash the rectal area after each bowel movement; drink cranberry juice to maintain the urine's acidity; avoid using contraceptive diaphragms; and change tampons regularly.

THE HEARTLAND OF PRESTON COUNTY staff salutes 10 years of caring. Heartland of Preston County is located in Kingwood, W.Va., and employs 140 persons, making it one of the largest employers in the area.

Let's Get Down To Business!

This is a feature of The Republican to better acquaint our readers with various area business establishments.

Heartland of Preston County

Heartland of Preston County, a Medicare certified nursing and rehabilitation center, is celebrating its 10th anniversary this fall. Located on a scenic tract of land in a residential section of Kingwood, W.Va., Heartland provides round-the-clock, individualized, nursing care to its 120 residents.

Heartland is owned and operated by Health Care and Retirement Corporation, the sixth largest long-term care corporation in the United States. Health Care and Retirement Corporation's culture and operating philosophy is based on the highest standards of care in the industry, and their facilities are widely recognized as first class.

In keeping with the Health Care and Retirement Corporation tradition, Heartland of Preston County is dedicated to providing their residents with the very best services, care, and facilities available. This facility is a warm and friendly place where residents receive the professional health care and personal attention that allows the fullest possible recovery and enjoyment of life. This personal attention and positive staff attitude known as "The Circle of Care" is one of the many ways you can see the Heartland difference. The Circle of Care curriculum provides staff training to all employees in vital areas such as the art of listening, effective problem solving, and how to communicate clearly.

The staff at Heartland provides care based on a team approach with the emphasis on the whole person and their overall quality of life. This approach starts with an individualized care plan developed with the resident and family shortly after admission. This plan includes assessments by physicians, nurses, therapists, dieticians, activities, and social services to evaluate the medical needs and rehabilitative potential of each resident. The planning team then sets appropriate goals for each resident to assist them in attaining their maximum level of functioning. Physical convalescence is a top priority. Whenever possible, social interaction and overall greater independence is also encouraged to improve the residents sense of self worth.

Completed in the summer of 1982, Heartland is a modern facility with state of the art medical and safety equipment. The facility provides a warm home-like environment enhanced by newly renovated lounge and dining areas. Residents are given the option of eating in their rooms or joining other residents in our dining room.

We offer an on-going, organized activity program coordinated by our full-time activities director. The program includes basic arts and crafts, sewing, sing-a-longs, and exercise sessions. Outings are scheduled on a regular basis to local places and events of interest.

There is an extensive volunteer program which allows our residents to maintain friendships with involved members of the community. We enjoy visits from local civic groups, both young and old. Various church groups offer Sunday worship services as well as other programs during the week, such as Bible study groups and religious singing.

Heartland offers comprehensive therapy programs under the direction of licensed physical, speech, and occupational therapists in our modern rehabilitation center. Services are provided according to the attending physician's order and the treatments are re-evaluated constantly. Our entire professional staff is dedicated to helping each patient achieve his or her maximum rehabilitation potential.

With their 140 employees, Heartland is one of the largest employers in Preston County. The staff provides 13,000 meals each month, fills 2,000 prescriptions, and the laundry loads total 54,000 pounds in an average month.

The facility has an ongoing quality assurance program to evaluate the services provided, and to assure that the most current techniques are being utilized, both in the daily care of patients, as well as the administration of services.

SAFE MEDICINE USE

Talk to Pharmacist To Avoid Medication Risks

News USA

(NU) - They're not using illegal drugs, nor are they abusing alcohol. But many Americans have another drug problem--one that can be just as serious as narcotic or alcohol abuse.

America's other serious drug problem is the uninformed, incorrect use of prescription medicines.

Taken correctly, prescription medicines save lives, prevent disabilities and help people live more productive lives. But each year, a significant number of Americans take their medications incorrectly.

Why? According to NARD, the national association representing the nation's 40,000 independent retail pharmacies, prescription misuse often occurs because people don't know how to take their prescriptions correctly. They may also not understand why it's important to get complete information about their prescriptions and to follow instructions carefully.

Consequences of Misuse

The consequences of medication misuse are substantial:

--About 39 percent of adverse drug reactions requiring hospital care are caused by improper medicine use.

--Using medicines incorrectly can cause avoidable side effects that can be a minor annoyance (a rash or a stomach ache) or life-threatening (irregular heartbeat or even loss of consciousness).

--When people don't use medicines correctly, they don't solve their health problems. For example, an infection may linger or come back, or avoidable long-term problems may develop unless regular doses of "preventative" medicines are taken correctly.

--Every day, incorrect medicine use causes serious problems such as strokes, blindness, seizures and even death.

The key to proper medicine use is talking with your doctor and your pharmacist. October is "Talk About Prescriptions Month," and October 25-31 is "National Pharmacy Week," so this is a good time to begin a new habit of better dialogue.

Tell your doctor and your pharmacist about all of the medications you are taking. Request full instructions on using the mdicine. Ask questions until you are sure you understand.

Don't be afraid that you are bothering them with your questions. Surveys show that independent pharmacists spend two hours each day counseling patients. They are drug experts with specialized pharmaceutical training that equips them well to answer your questions.

The Golden Years

Zora Arkus-Duntov, at 82, was still putting his 1989 Corvette sports car through its paces almost every day around Grosse Pointe, Michigan. From 1953 to 1975 the Belgian-born engineer worked for Chevrolet and is credited with performance innovations that make Corvettes of that vintage valued classics today. Duntov combined his engineering know-how with a love of racing. He competed at LeMans in 1954 and 1955, and set a speed record of 150 mph in 1956 at Daytona Beach. Although no longer a Corvette designer, he remained a consultant to Chevrolet.

Aging, even with disabilities, is not a disaster, according to Philadelphia resident Maggie Kuhn, age 85. "It is a triumph over disappointment, failure, loss, illness... Mental Health Task Force Notes Progress

Garrett County is one of the leaders in Maryland's quest to comply with the national objectives of the Healthy People 2000 and Healthy Communities 2000 plan set forth by the federal government, according to Dr. Rex. Archer, health officer for Garrett County.

Among the 12 task forces set up to study and implement the planned measures is the Mental Health Task Force designed to identify needs and problems in the current care system; gather information, statistics and community input; determine viable alternatives; study current trends and funding patterns; and make suggestions regarding how the objectives the task force has been working on should be prioritized in accordance with the other groups engaged in studies of various health issues.

This national health promotion was introduced into the county plans by Dr. Archer, and meetings have been taking place for many months.

The Mental Health Task Force has been researching various concerns and addressing specific items such as suicide statistics; the comparison between mental illness and substance abuse; the delivery of mental health services to persons within the county jail system; the overall referral system and the vital need for emergency psychological services (in-patient beds) in the local hospital. The lack of psychiatric physicians and nurses has also been found to be a substantial problem exacerbated by drastic cuts in funding for county mental health services at the state level.

A county-wide meeting of the joint task forces is scheduled for Tuesday, October 27, at the Silver Tree Inn, according to Dr. Donald Richter, Healthier Year 2000 Committee chairperson.

At that time, the members of the Mental Health Task Force including Rev. Robert Johnson, chairperson; Martha Jachowski, Louise Harvey, Edwina Patton, Margaret Beadle, Johanna Younger, Mary VanSickle, Carol Cox, and Dr. Archer, will present their collective suggestions and progress updates to the full committee. Additional meetings will be scheduled at that time.

Persons with questions or comments are encouraged to contact Rev. Johnson at 334-8585.

Special events this year included clowns from the C&P Telephone Pioneers, "Country Grass" band for dancing, Sgt. Volunteers from the McCoole VFW Post 6775 and Ladies Auxiliary helped to serve the picnic lunch. A total of 472 citizens and staff attended. Coordinator of the picnic, Tfc. Jason Poalucci from Lodge 40, stated, "The picnic was a tremendous success. Everyone seemed to have a wonderful time and the weather was great. We're looking forward to a bigger and better picnic next year. I want to thank everyone who helped to make the picnic such a huge success." Pictured above, left, two would-be firemen try out the firemen's apparatus and admire Eastern Garrett's firetruck. Comptroller Seeks To Return Millions In Unclaimed Funds To 10,852 Marylanders

"We're advertising the names of 10,852 Marylanders in newspapers across the state in out latest efforts to locate the rightful owners of unclaimed funds," stated Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein this week. "These ads come on the heels of our success in finding owners at the recent State Fair and at various county fairs and other locations where we provided unclaimed property services to visitors."

Ads carrying 17 of those names due unclaimed property will run in The Republican on Thursday, October 29, 1992.

"These names are the most recently reported and the ads will appear in newspapers across the state in the next two weeks," Mr. Goldstein said. "If you see you name or the name of someone you know, follow the instructions at the top of the advertisement telling you how to contact our office."

The comptroller noted that the names in the current list are mostly reported by insurance companies. "The insurance benefits include health insurance benefits which never reached the individual, benefits due individuals or estates from life insurance proceeds, and benefits from matured endowment policies."

"Our ongoing efforts to locate unclaimed property owners contributed to the tremendous increase in the number of claims we paid in fiscal year 1992, which ended June 30, 1992," Goldstein said. "The unclaimed property section of our office returned $5,724,346 in unclaimed funds to 8,506 individuals in fiscal year 1992, more than double the 4,232 claims paid during fiscal year 1991."

Maryland law requires financial institutions, insurance companies, utilities, and other corporations to report bank accounts, security deposits, wages, insurance benefits, and the contents of safe deposit boxes which are unclaimed after five years.

"Our computer records cover 160,000 accounts worth more than $60,000 reported to us over the past 25 years, and there is no time limit on claiming money that is rightfully yours," the comptroller said. "You or your legitimate heirs can claim the funds at any time."

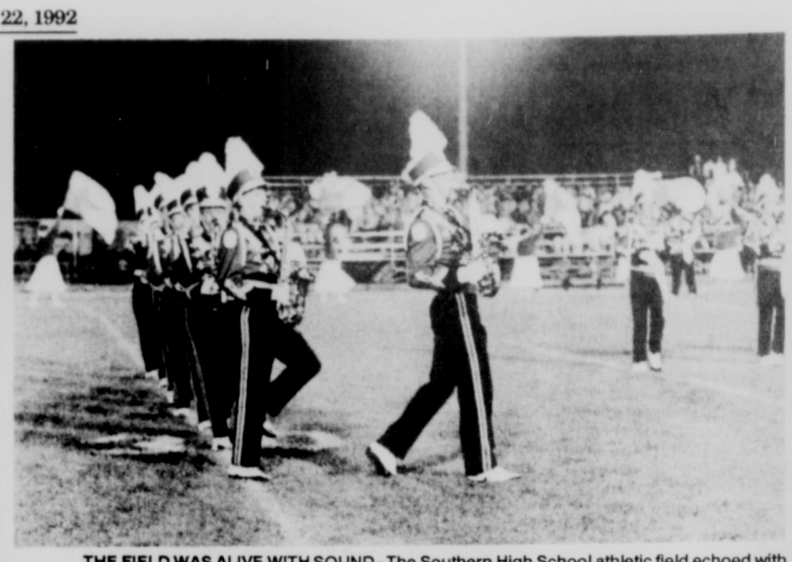
Southern's Band Show A Success; Results Noted

Ten high school bands competed for scores and trophies at Southern High School's football field on October 10, as the Southern Garrett Marching Band hosted the Western Maryland Tournament of Bands. The bleachers were full throughout the show, which ended with Keyser (W.Va.) High School taking home the Grand Champion trophy, and Northern Garrett Marching Band receiving the trophy for Best Western Maryland Band in the show.

Competing in Group I were Northern Garrett and Westmar High. Northern soundly defeated Westmar with a score of 79.7 to Westmar's 74.85. Northern also captured trophies for best color guard, percussion, and drum major.



In Group II, Richland High School from Johnstown, Pa., took first place with an 81.2 against University High, Morgantown, W.Va., who netted 76.95 points, and Catoctin High School of Thurmont marchers who received a 74.2. Richland was given the trophy for best color guard while University took best percussion and drum major.

Severna Park High School secured first place in Group III with an 80.25 against Clear Spring's 73.25. Severna Park also swept the special awards categories.

Competing in Group IV were Keyser, Johnstown (Pa.), and Thomas Johnson High Schools. Keyser placed first with a score of 85.4, topping Johnstown marchers who netted an 81.5. Thomas Johnson of Frederick scored a 75.4. Keyser was awarded trophies for best color guard and percussion, while Johnstown captured the award for best drum major.

Southern Garrett marched an exhibition show while the judges finalized their decisions. Trophies for the show were donated by First United Bank & Trust, Garrett National Bank, First Federal Savings Bank, WKHJ-Radio, and Bausch & Lomb.

THE FIELD WAS ALIVE WITH SOUND - The Southern High School athletic field echoed with music and drum beats on October 10 as the Western Maryland Tournament of Bands took place, hosted by the Southern Garrett Marching Band. Ten high school marching bands competed for high scores and trophies for best drum major, color guard, and percussion line. Keyser High School captured the Grand Champion trophy, while Northern Garrett Marching Band was honored with the Best Western Maryland Band trophy. Clear Spring, members of which are pictured above, was in the running for the same trophy, as was Westmar and Catoctin High, Thurmont. Johnstown High School's color guard is pictured below as they execute their moves. Southern Garrett performed in exhibition only. Tiffany Powers, drum major for Southern, is shown at right as she conducts the musicians, and Morgan Davis is pictured left, doing his part in Southern's award-winning drum solo. The bleachers were packed with fans who, despite the chilly weather, cheered for their own bands as well as for the opposing groups.

Southern Garrett's Percussion Line Leads In Circuit

The percussion line of the Southern Garrett Marching Band has yet to be outscored by any other Group II band in this season's Tournament of Bands marching circuit. In fact, among bands in all groups, the line has been outscored by only one time by one drum line in the first show of the season. The drummers attained their highest score yet last Saturday - 92 - at the Tyrone Area (Pa.) High School Marching Band Festival. The entire band took first place honors as well, with a score of 81.9.

Other awards captured by the band were best color guard, drum major, marching and maneuvering, and music.

The percussion line judge commented after the show, "Southern's percussion line was head-and-shoulders above every other line in this contest."

The line's solo in the show was arranged by Blair Glass and is entitled "O Sifuni Mungu" translated "All Creatures of our God and King." The "pit" players, or those on keyboards or accessories, don African costumes to perform the lively piece.

This week Southern will travel to College Park to compete in the Maryland State Band Championships. The marchers will compete against 15 other Group II bands from around Maryland. They are scheduled to perform at 3:44 p.m. Northern Garrett will also compete in the show, with their performance scheduled in the mid-morning. Northern will be up against numerous Group I bands in the contest.

Ticket information for the College Park show may be obtained by contacting either Richard Clever, Southern's director; or Northern's director, Jim Boord.

news, an Oakland man was found guilty by jury of fourth degree sex offense, merged with a count of assault and battery, and not guilty of third degree sex offense. Brian E. Sliger, 21, motioned for acquittal to the counts as well as third degree sex offense. The motion was denied. Thayer ordered a pre-sentence investigation and revoked Sliger's bail.

The defendant is accused of sexually molesting a 10-year-old female at an Oakland residence earlier this year.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered for Stephen G. Savage, 35, Swanton, who pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana. Bail was continued for the defendant.

Savage was arrested following a Garrett County Narcotics Task Force operation during which the defendant apparently handed over $1,700 to an undercover officer for the purchase of one pound of marijuana. Other charges against the defendant that were not prosecuted were distribution of marijuana and conspiracy.

understands the role education can and must play.

Bill Clinton will be that President. His economic plan, Putting People First, says it all:

"In the emerging global economy, everything is mobile: capital, factories, even entire industries. The only resource that's rooted in a nation -- and the ultimate source of all its wealth -- is its people. The only way America can compete in the 21st Century is to have the best educated, best trained workforce in the world."

As governor of Arkansas, Bill Clinton has demonstrated that he had the leadership ability it takes to make real change happen. Clinton's biggest boosters, in fact, are the NEA members who know him best, the teachers of Arkansas.

Please review the materials on both candidates carefully and give every consideration to what is at stake for education in this election. Nationwide we have a tremendous opportunity to influence a vote of confidence in public education and the Clinton/Gore ticket.

To the Editor:

During his State of the Union address President Bush presented a very complete economic growth package which, if implemented, would have brought an end to the recession. However, the Democrat-control-led House of Representatives (controlled by the same party for 56 of the last 60 years) ignored the President's growth package and instead voted in February to approve a Democratic package which raises taxes and increases the budget by billions over the next few years. In addition to the House of Representatives, for 50 of the last 60 years, the Democrats have controlled the U.S. Senate.

This nation will work well within the framework of the two party system, don't be misled by so called third party spoilers. It's time for a chance, all right! Give President Bush a Republican Congress. Send fiscal Republican conservatives who want to cut wasteful spending to Congress!

On Sunday, Sept. 20, the American Cancer Society held it's annual "Making Strides for Cancer." This year we raised $4,300 to contribute to the fight against cancer.

The Cancer Society would like to thank those individuals and the teams who participated in Making Strides. Local teams included Bausch and Lomb, Garrett County Health Department and Silver Tree Inn. These organizations and individuals can be found supporting the American Cancer Society all year.

We at the Cancer Society feel they should be applauded for their many and constant support and contributions to the community in which they live and work.

To the Editor:

I was disappointed by your editorial criticizing the Board of Education and the Garrett County Teachers Association for working responsibly together on the controversial issue of a smoking ban on school grounds. We expected to be attacked, but we were expecting the press to act responsibly by reporting the facts instead of speculating as to the reason GCTA challenged the Board policy. Other area publications did take the time to get additional information from GCTA before printing any articles. At the advice of legal counsel, we called the matter to the Board's attention that their policy may be contradictory to law. The Maryland State Board of Education ruled in 1988 that smoking on school grounds was a legal subject of collective bargaining. Why not fault them? Why not editorialize them, as they are the ones responsible for the awkward position the Board and GCTA find themselves faced with in the matter of smoking? Unfortunately, you are faulting us for upholding a ruling of the State Board. GCTA does not advocate for smoking and I'm sure neither does the administration. In some cases neither do the smokers. Many employees probably support Mr. Durst's suggestion for a total ban of smoking on school grounds and at all school events, as is the case with the consumption of alcoholic beverages.

If you read the policy you would discover the employees were the only ones required to make the school grounds smoke-free. Under the policy, an employee who chose to smoke could not even do so in their vehicle parked in the school parking lot, far away from the children. Likewise, a parent waiting to pick their child up at school could not smoke in their private vehicle on school grounds during the school day. Yes, we should be shining examples for the children. But, so should everyone else.

We have some major problems in our schools with teen pregnancy, drugs, and funding. Let's work together on the tough issues and stop biting at one another on an issue that may soon become law.

Sincerely,
Jim Raley, President

P.S. I hope the citizens who read your editorial have the opportunity to see this response published in a prominent location as it will be printed at a time when political endorsement letters are being printed.

To the Editor:

It's time for a change. It's time to get our economy moving again. Taxes have been cut for the rich and the rest of us have had our taxes raised. Good jobs have disappeared. Health care is beyond the reach of millions. Schools have declined. Our streets and neighborhoods, particularly in the cities, are more dangerous.

Clinton and Gore have a bold new plan to fight for what Americans deserve: good jobs, quality health care, safe neighborhoods, and a plan to provide for genuine excellence and opportunity in education. Middle class Americans will finally have leaders who are on their side. It's time for all of us to unite behind the hope we all share--that we can build a better future for our nation. People will be put first for a change.

Exercise your right to vote! Go to the polls November 3rd and vote the Democratic ticket.

To the Editor:

Recently there has been much Bush bashing by myself and other nattering nabobs of negativism. A local Republican Rocket Scientist took me to task over this recently and challenged me to write some positive words about our great leader. I accepted the challenge.

To begin with, President Bush is not always understood. By not listening closely to his words, I for one, have not always understood the spirit or intent of them. I have been fortunate enough to read and hear many of his words for a second time during which I attended them with great concentration.

It became clear to me that the dominant theme of President Bush's objectives is reducing government influence on business and industry. Stated another way, he seems to want to help private sector investors avoid government interference.

For example in 1988 he spoke of "eliminating government roadblocks" to industry. I thought he meant he was going to reduce punitive regulations, etc., but it turns out he meant to get rid of the roadblocks at our borders! More American industry moved offshore after 1988 than any other four years in this nation's history. More illegal aliens entered the United States after 1988 than in any other four years in our history. I think we have to count this as a great success once we realized what the President's objectives really were.

In addition to that success, President Bush has drastically reduced government influence on the industries that remain here. By expanding the number of federal government workers more than one hundred thousand since 1988 he has created so much duplication of effort and general confusion between agencies that industry is effectively less regulated than it was in 1987. It's kind of a sneaky success, but it counts.

President Bush was a little more direct in saving former savings and loan officers from "excessive regulation." No doubt he was piqued that Reagan gets all the credit for the initial deregulation of savings and loans, but he did get his oar in the water by signing a law creating a three year statute of limitations on prosecutions for malfeasance and fraud in the collapsed industry. Now most of those unlucky savings and loan officers will be protected from the greedy pensioners who are after them. The hidden intent here is to free up the hundred billion plus in cash that has vanished for industrial investments rather than have it spent on defense lawyers, etc.

Perhaps the least acknowledged of President Bush's successes are those leading to preservation and renewal of traditional family values. I honestly would not have recognized his successes in this area without a hard second look at his words and policies. But the fact is that one result of the lost jobs and reduced opportunities facing Americans today is an increasing number of multi-generational households. According to the Census Bureau one in five Americans under 25 live with their parents and more retirees live with their children than at any time since the 1950s. How about that for a back door success.

I guess the message here is don't be too quick to criticize. Here I was skimming along on the surface where it looks like President Bush is a failed President, a fear-mongering campaigner, and a man without vision or visible principles. Gee whiz, what a difference a second look makes!

I hope you all will vote, regardless of your views.

To the Editor:

Last October, when the governor asked for cuts in money to local governments which would impact the education budgets, Tom Hattery voted no. With his vote, he said, "Governor, you are wrong."

With Tom Hattery, education is a #1 priority. He has said yes to professional standards, he has said yes to education funding, and he has said yes to protecting retirement benefits. Tom Hattery consistently says yes to education.

In the last decade, federal fiscal support for education has declined by 30 percent. The President's trickle-down mechanism put pressure on the states to spend more. The state's response has been a trickle-down to local government and to the school boards and to the pockets of the teacher-taxpayer, and Hattery has been there saying no to dumping the federal debt on the people.

Over the last decade, Tom Hattery has been there for us. He has always cast his vote in support of education because for Tom Hattery, education is a priority.

Now we have the opportunity to say yes to Tom Hattery. On November 3, go to the polls and say yes to education funding and Tom Hattery for Congress.

To the Editor:

Maryland already has liberal abortion laws, Senate Bill 162, which has been set for referendum as Question 6 in November, would make Maryland's abortion laws among the most liberal in the country.

Senate Bill 162 replaces a liberal law (about 10,000 abortions per year) with abortion on demand (about 30,000 abortions per year.)

Senate Bill 162 prohibits state interference with a woman's abortion decision before the fetus is viable. "Viable" means when the baby can live outside the womb--usually about six months but abortion doctor alone decides whether the baby will be killed or let to live.

Senate Bill 162 repeals pre-abortion information requirements about abortion alternatives and thereby takes away the right of a woman to receive a pamphlet listing support available to her to continue the pregnancy or plan an adoption.

Senate Bill 162 allows abortion clinics to pay kickbacks for customer referrals, and allows abortion referral agencies to operate for profit.

Senate Bill 162 forbids the state to adopt abortion regulations that challenge current abortion clinic practices.

Senate Bill 162 provides that abortion doctors enjoy immunity from all civil damages or criminal penalties for any decision to do any abortion.

Senate Bill 162 provides that the abortion doctor does not have to notify a parent if he decides the child is "mature," or if he thinks it's not in her best interest for her parent to know.

Senate Bill 162 provides that abortion is allowable at any time, through all nine months of pregnancy, for any genetic defect--even an extra toe--or the mother's health, which the Supreme Court has defined to include even emotional factors.

Senate Bill 162 should be defeated on referendum because it provides for abortion on demand, abortion for any reason at any time during a pregnancy.

Defeat of Senate Bill 162 will not mean that abortions will be outlawed and will cease in Maryland. It will, however, mean that abortions will be subject to the existing liberal abortion law and that approximately 20,000 more each year of God's innocent children will live and grow and add to Maryland's economy.

To the Editor:

Roscoe Bartlett believes in equal opportunities for all individuals regardless of their religion, color, nationality or sex. He is against all forms of sexual harassment and discrimination. Roscoe Bartlett fully supports the elevation of women to their equal and rightful status in society as well as the workplace. In his church, Roscoe Bartlett has been a leader in the struggle to ordain women as ministers, and I am living proof of his commitment to professional women.

I am a feminist, I am pro-choice, and I am Roscoe Bartlett's campaign manager. I am one of a small handful of female campaign managers out of the over 500 Congressional races across America. Roscoe Bartlett has known me for years and he has always known where I stand on the issues. He respects me and my abilities and in addition, he appreciates and understands the differences between us.

Roscoe and I agree on many things, the most important of which is that in order to create a strong economy, government intrusion in our lives must be reduced. We need less taxation, unnecessary and stifling regulations must be removed, workfare should be the norm and welfare the exception, and the free marketplace must be allowed to work.

Another important point that Roscoe and I agree on is that women should not, just by virtue of being women, discriminate against men. There is a small militant coalition within the women's movement that is violent, radical and espouse male-bashing and promote a "women are superior to men" attitude. This small minority does a great disservice to the women's movement, to women in general and to all of us as human beings.

Mr. Hattery's connection to these militant left-wing extremists was made painfully clear when representing Mr. Hattery at a local Kiwanis Club meeting, his spokesperson refused to pledge allegiance to the American flag. Ms. Melinda Sadler looked down and refused to sing the National Anthem, cross her heart and take the Pledge of Allegiance with the Kiwanians. Hardly the type of person one seeking a position in America's most powerful legislative body should depend on as a key advisor.

A view into Mr. Hattery's ability to make the tough decisions when it comes to women's issues became very clear when he sat-out the vote on the 1992 Maryland Civil Rights Bill in the state legislature. A "yes" vote would have angered the politically powerful business lobby (not a wise move in an election year) while a "no" vote would have done a significant damage to the camaraderies he has built with the radical ultra-liberal faction of the feminist movement. Instead of making the tough decision to do his job and vote, Tom Hattery sat on the fence. He didn't do what we pay him to do, he didn't do what we sent him to Annapolis to do, he didn't do his job. I wonder if Mr. Hattery found time that day, since he wasn't working, to squeeze in the three meals the taxpayers provided to him -- a day when the taxpayers of Maryland certainly did not get their money's worth from Tom Hattery.

An indicator of what issues will be important to a congressperson can be found in the types of individuals she or he surrounds her or himself with. Since Ms. Sadler's departure from the Hattery campaign, no women have held any significant policy positions on his staff. In the top three posts on Roscoe Bartlett's staff, two are filled by women.

Roscoe Bartlett and his wife Ellen have 10 children, four of which are daughters. All four daughters are successful professional women in their own right. One is a PhD from Johns Hopkins University, one is an operating room R.N., one is an insurance underwriter, and one owns and operates a family business with her husband.

Roscoe Bartlett fully supports the advancement of women. On a personal level, he has encouraged and supported his own daughters to succeed "in a man's world" and has provided meaningful opportunities to women on his staff.

In the U.S. House of Representatives, Roscoe Bartlett will work hard to eliminate all forms of sexual harassment and discrimination. He will fight for the rights of all human beings to be treated equally in all aspects of their lives.

Sincerely,
Debra K. Royal Campaign Manager
Bartlett for Congress

To the Editor:

The Republican called it correctly--The Garrett County Board of Education decision (decided by only two members!) to rescind the tobacco ban that was to have gone into effect Nov. 1 is a wimpy decision! The BOE backed down on its previously courageous tobacco ban because of a letter from the Garrett County Teachers Association citing teachers' rights regarding working conditions and collective bargaining as reasons why the Board action might not be legal, saying the GCTA might have just grounds for a lawsuit. The BOE meant well, I'm sure, wanting to be fair to teachers. And besides, members pointed out, the state ban goes into effect for all schools next July anyway.

Great! Let's pass the buck to the State Board of Education. After all, our students and nonsmoking personal in the schools can stand a little more second-hand smoke for one more school year, can't they? Despite Dr. Archer's extensive efforts to educate the BOE on the dangers of second-hand smoke, despite Governor Schaefer's drive to unseat Maryland from its number 1 place in cancer deaths, despite the fact that the majority of school personnel supported the ban, despite the fact that tobacco is an addictive drug more difficult than hard drugs to quit using, and despite the fact that schools are supposed to be drug-free zones, and despite the fact that teachers should be drug-free role models, the GCTA (or its leadership, anyway) sees its legal responsibility to protect teachers' rights as more important than protecting the rights of students and nonsmoking personnel to breathe smoke-free air. The GCTA can say this isn't true, but that's the effect of its action and that of the BOE.

I urge students, parents, nonsmoking school personnel (including GCTA members who weren't represented in the action of its leadership), and the community in general to let the Board of Education know how you feel. Tell the Board to reinstate the tobacco ban now! Also, tell the Board not to be intimidated by a teachers' union in matters where health must take precedence over smokers' working conditions!

Finally, I hope the new Board members elected on November 3rd will not let an employees' union intimidate them in their future decisions. Not only is health at stake, but education about health as well.

To the Editor:

You read daily in the paper the bad financial shape the state of Maryland is in, yet some keep backing the Democratic Party. It's the same as the Federal government, the Democratic control, the House and the Senate, and they have not passed one piece of legislature the President has put before them.

Is this what we want for four more years? Let's get rid of all who have served at least two terms in office--I mean all.

We are the "world's richest country" and we are acting like we are afraid our relief check will be cut off. The Democrats have had control of the House of Representatives for 38 years, and what have they done? Yet they keep saying President Bush has ruined our economy.

It's not going to be one as another, it's going to be who do the American people trust, who has the background and experience, President Bush has his war record being vice president for four years, and president for four years at least he did not dodge the draft, he enlisted to help the country and almost lost his life in doing so.

Man for man there isn't any comparison. President Bush has it all and this what we need.

Thanks,
Charles McIntyre

To the Editor:

I've been trying to remain neutral while assessing both presidential candidates, but it just isn't possible. What is going on with the media? I never remember such blatant media prejudices against one party in previous elections. Now, I keep asking myself, is it because I'm older and perhaps more informed now, or has it always been there, and I just wasn't aware of it.

I must say that I'm really sick and tired of hearing how rotten the present administration is and how great Governor Clinton is. Hey, wait a minute...how did President Bush go from being the most popular president in recent history in February, to a loser in less than four months? And, how did Governor Clinton go from a professional politician and womanizer to the great savior of the nation? I can't believe the average American is hearing and seeing what I'm hearing and seeing and believes what the media is repeating over and over. Someone once said, "if you say it over and over, people will eventually believe it." I guess maybe that's true, because I must admit that I was starting to cave in just a little, but thank God I finally came to my senses.

Since I've had some time to reflect on what I know as fact and what I see and hear in the media, I'm really getting angry. The truth is that the public DOES NOT get the news without it being distorted and twisted by ABC, CBS, NBC, and yes folks, even CNN. What brought this to mind was that we recently purchased CSPAN and began using it the first day of the Republican Convention. I was surprised at how much I enjoyed watching TV without the benefit of commentary. Just for fun I kept switching back to CNN during the speeches only to find some reporters on the convention floor interviewing some of the delegates. If a delegate had something positive to say, the interview didn't last very long, but if someone had an axe to grind, we sure heard about it.

Good grief, it really gets old to listen to the pessimistic doom and gloom of so many newscasters. It must be very unrewarding for members of the press to always look on the dark side of every issue and descend on an individual for a seek and destroy mission. Do you think there are others out there that feel as I do about the way the news is reported? Wouldn't it be great to turn on the evening news to "just the facts, man, just the facts?"

You are probably by now thinking that I'm really a die-hard Republican ... WRONG. I even worked briefly for Perot before he decided to take his marbles and go home. I vote for the PERSON, not the PARTY. I felt after the Nixon scandal that we needed a change, so I voted for Jimmy Carter. My, how I regretted that decision. I don't intend to be swayed by utopian promises that can't be kept and a good looking young face.

I know people are hurting out there. I am one of those thousands of Americans whose job was cut, but I don't blame the government. My job was cut because my company, along with thousands of other companies, grew too fast and found they had too many employees when the economy slowed down. The terrific growth that this country experienced during the eighties had to slow down. Just think about it--how long could we keep up with the outrageous labor costs, unbridled building and extreme property values? We all knew deep down that this had to level off, and it did!

Let's talk for a minute about the accomplishments of President Bush, because according to the media he was a bitter failure. Do you really think the last four years were so terrible, or have Americans adopted the attitude of "what have you done for me lately?"

Just for starters, here are some facts:

1. Interest rates are at a 20 year low.
2. Inflation is at one-quarter of the 1980 levels.
3. The U.S. is the world's number one exporting nation.
4. Bush negotiated a North American Free Trade Agreement which will open more markets to U.S. goods, and create more jobs.
5. Overall drug use down by 13 percent; assistance in drug crop destruction; tougher law enforcement for drug dealers.
6. Net farm income is at record levels; and government supports have declined.
7. Some of the legislation that the Administration fought for and won: The Clean Air Act; 1990 Child Care Bill; Americans with Disabilities Act; A Civil Rights Bill (without quotas).
8. Under Bush the cold war and the nuclear nightmare has ended.
9. Bush won the release of the American hostages in Lebanon.
10. Bush helped bring a successful end to civil war in El Salvador.
11. The victory in the Persian Gulf made most of us proud to be Americans.

I don't think that the last four years were a failure. Without some of these accomplishments, many things would be very different here and in the rest of the world. And I wonder how much better it could have been if the President had some help from our imperial Congress, who fought Bush every step of the way. Never do I remember a President who has had to fight for so much. He has been called a "wimp" by the Democrats; many of his proposals have been ignored by Congress; and the press is trying to make him look incompetent and foolish. I don't believe it, so I'm betting on Bush. Maybe the media will find that their conspiracy has backfired. Let's face it, no matter who gets elected, almost half the people will be pleased, and the rest will gripe.

To the Editor:

The summer has gone, the creeks are dried, in the rivers we find shallow water. With many weeks left to the 92's election day, politicians are hot, they want to jump into the water to see who can stir up the mud. Our mud? We're in the mud, it's sucking our legs down like the wet cement. Their mud? Who cares? We need the real answer for all Americans.

I don't like politicians who are running for the high office of the land saying "Our people are second class in the world today." Who are they comparing us with--heaven? Do we have heaven on earth? The United States of America is the only heaven on this earth.

Would you (politicians) tell me how many people in this great country are packing up their bags and going to another country to live because the economy here is so bad? I bet you, I can tell you the other way around.

Why do they come here? The United States of America is the only nation on this planet that's standing on the principle of freedom to pursue happiness and justice for all. Freedom and justice are in our constitution and amendments, but happiness -- you must pursue it for yourself. Ross Perot is one of many representatives of the American way -- worked hard to achieve. That is capitalism. Capitalism is a reward to the achiever, not punishment. Today Mr. Perot is running for the USA's presidency-like others he tells the rich (achiever) he must play a fair share by paying to the poor. How many poor have shared with him in the early years when his business was on the bumpy road? or were staying up with him late into the night to think how he can make the payroll, pay taxes, pay the bills? Or did Mr. Perot not really work hard at all -- the money may have come his way easy. How? I wonder!

Politicians are rich but they're condemning the rich and enlightening the poor. This is a gimmick. Politicians would like all of us to be poor with no confidence in ourselves. We then turn to them for help. That's why they get elected.

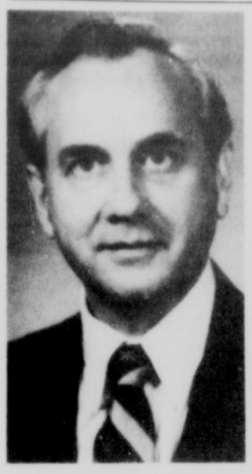
These politicians: the winners and losers are already being paid. Either by dollars checked off on our tax returns, our contributions,or money from the special interest groups. These people are raising the prices of their products that we buy every day.

When 400 CEO's stand behind Mr. Clinton saying, "We're supporting Clinton's economic plan," they're not, they're supporting for themselves. His economic plan passing through the Democratic-controlled congress will hurt the small businesses with regulations, mandates on health care, family leave, etc. ... Forcing the small businesses to shut down as a result of less competition for the large corporations.

Mr. Bill Clinton protested the Vietnam war and against his own government's policy in the foreign lands. If he is elected President, I will not trust him to send my son or daughter into the battle.

For so long, things have not been done in Washington. You have blamed the lawmakers and, the Reagan/Bush administration for our economic ills and whatever else comes to your mind. You have a half of it right--that's Congress.

The President of the USA can't act on a single thing, can't spend a penny of our tax dollars, either foreign or domestic, can't have his cabinets, can't have federal judges, or supreme court judges without Congress approval. The President can't remove any member of Congress, but two-thirds of it can remove the President from power. Our founding fathers don't want too much power in one person that's President for fear of a dictatorship, therefore Congress is power of the land.



Opponents and the press have labeled President Bush as a wimp. It took the American's lives to change that and also cleared the Vietnam's Syndrome after Iraq was run out of Kuwait. The majority of Americans gave Mr. Bush that costly change. However, his visions about America can't be pushed through Congress. He should have asked us instead of congress in his State of the Union Address. It worked for Mr. Ross Perot, not President Bush?

Seventeen years ago I left south Vietnam after decades of the north Vietnam's communist government trying to take from the rich and give to the poor. Seventeen years later since the fall of Saigon all Vietnamese are poor. Are we (Americans) wanting to do what the Vietnam government did? We are smarter than that. We can't be employees without employers. The government can't take care of everyone. We must do for ourselves. President Bush's approach is the right way for Americans: less government, less tax, keep the government spending down. Let us individuals be self-mindful, not mindless.

On November 3rd, you must change your voting habit, and if not, there will be no one else to blame but yourself. Vote for the candidates you think will do the best job for our country as a whole, not for our party, your state, your district. Not for the candidates who bribed you with pork-barrel money which come from the working men and women in the big cities, in the small towns, way down to the hollows. These candidates have spend our children's and grandchildren's money to get elected.

Remember the President can't remove members of Congress, but we can, by voting for the others. We have the power. Let's use it.

Sincerely,
Sang Van Le

Goralski Retains Membership As Family Physician

Dr. Robert A. Goralski, a member of the Garrett Medical Group, Oakland, has completed continuing medical education requirements to retain active membership in the American Academy of Family Physicians (AAFP), the national association of family doctors.

The requirements call for members to complete a minimum of 150 hours of accredited continuing medical study every three years. The Academy, the country's largest medical specialty association with more than 69,000 members, was the first national medical group to require members to keep up with medical progress through continuing education.

Dr. Goralski has been an AAFP Active member since 1982. As a family physician, he is qualified to work in all major medical areas and trained to treat up to 90% of all patients. Family physicians care for all family members – all ages and both sexes.

The Academy, headquartered in Kansas City, Mo., was instituted in establishing the medical specialty of family practice in 1960. The Academy is the advocate for patients and endeavors to educate the public in all health-related matters. The organization works to preserve and promote quality, cost-effective health care. It promotes the science and art of family medicine and works to ensure an optimum supply of well-trained family physicians. The Academy also provides advocacy, representation and leadership for the specialty of family practice.

Realtors Renew Commitment To Fair Housing

The Garrett County Board of Realtors has announced it has renewed its commitment to provide consumers the opportunity for fair housing, by signing a newly revised Voluntary Affirmative Marketing Agreement (VAMA) designed to create more flexibility in its approach to fair housing.

The VAMA was first established in 1975 between the National Association of Realtors and the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development to help ensure fair housing practices in the real estate industry by providing signatories with guidelines on marketing, advertising, training and education for Realtors and the public. The VAMA also encourages cooperation with community-based fair housing and civil rights groups.

"We were successful in our negotiations to remove some procedures from the old VAMA that hindered the participation of some of our smaller boards in the agreement, because of limited budgets and staff. We now expect board participation in the new VAMA by our local associations and our members," said NAR President Dorcas T. Helfant, a realtor from Virginia Beach, Va.

"We have a commitment to protect people's rights to fair housing. It's more than a business commitment; it's a moral commitment," added Jean Yassky, broker/co-owner of Rockland Realty-Better Homes & Gardens, Spring Valley, N.Y., and chairman of NAR's Equal Opportunity Committee.

"This agreement punctuates NAR's Code of Ethics which calls for Realtors to be committed to equal housing opportunities for everyone," said GCBR President Jerry Thayer. "We are happy to be a part of this fair housing commitment," he added.

This latest renewal of the VAMA includes revisions to the original agreement that provide more user-friendly guidelines and give signatories greater flexibility in their efforts to adhere to fair housing principles in their daily business, Thayer explained.

Changes in the new VAMA include:

* Standardizing the size of the fair housing logo required in display advertising. Under the previous agreement, the size of the logo depended on the size of the advertisement.

* Requiring participating state and local associations of realtors to conduct self-assessments of fair housing-related efforts and the efforts of their member firms. NAR is developing a self-assessment form for the state and local associations to use in this effort.

* Providing HUD with the authority to spot check the efforts of VAMA participants to ensure fair housing principles are followed properly.

* Requiring realtor associations to seek a cooperative approach with community-based fair housing and civil rights groups to identify and remove barriers to equal opportunity in housing in the community. The new agreement provides flexibility in the development of these relationships as opposed to the old agreement's requirement that HUD organize Community Housing Resource boards.

* Requiring, for the first time, subscribing realtors to develop, adopt and implement procedures for fair housing marketing, advertising and office management. NAR will develop sample procedures to guide members in developing procedures for their firms. Members have the flexibility to tailor these procedures to fit their business styles and practices.

National Association of Realtors, "The Voice for Real Estate," is the nation's largest trade association, representing nearly 750,000 members involved in all aspects of the real estate industry.

Rev. Fulghum To Be Honored At Farewell Event

The Rev. Peter Fulghum, interim rector at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, Oakland, will complete his term of stay on October 25. His last Sunday of presiding over the 8 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. services will be followed by a pot luncheon in his honor, hosted by the congregation.

The luncheon will begin at 11:45 a.m. in the parish hall of St. Matthew's, located at the corner of Liberty and Second streets.

All members and friends are welcomed and encouraged to attend the farewell luncheon.

Healthier Year 2000 Committee To Meet Tuesday

The Garrett Countians for a Healthier Year 2000 Committee will hold its third meeting on Tuesday, October 27, at the Silver Tree Inn, Deep Creek Lake. The evening will begin with a dutch-treat dinner at 5:30 p.m., followed by the business meeting at 7 p.m. All Healthier Year 2000 Task Force members and other interested county residents are invited to attend the dinner and/or the business meeting.

The agenda for the meeting includes an update on the Garrett County Status of Health 1992 report. This report will be released by the Health Department by the end of this year. Results from the Garrett County Behavioral Risk Factor Telephone survey completed in March 1992 will also be discussed. The results were tabulated by the Centers For Disease Control (CDC), Atlanta.

Dr. Donald R. Richter, chairperson of the committee, stated that the Healthier Year 2000 project is "very exciting, because all county residents have the opportunity to participate by deciding what health-related issues are important and what our health status as a county should be by the year 2000."

For further information, persons may contact the Health Department, 334-8116.

NEVER UNDERESTIMATE THE DANGER OF AN ILLNESS

All around us are countless germs waiting for the opportunity to enter our bodies. A neglected scraping of the skin, a cut on your weakened, tired body can permit one to enter and live.

Each germ or virus has an unfailing instinct to reproduce and can multiply quickly. A fever is one of the first signs that they are becoming a danger. Take your temperature during any illness and call a physician if you have a fever. We can supply an accurate thermometer.

A House or a Home?

What is your initial impression upon viewing this photograph?

It appears to be autumn. Perhaps you sense sadness or emptiness, seeing merely a portion of an old abandoned house framed by dry, brittle leaves. On the other hand, maybe you sense warmth and cheer, as you picture a cozy late Saturday afternoon . . . red-nosed youngsters defrosting themselves with mugs of steaming hot chocolate at Grandma and Grandpa's after spending several hours raking late autumn leaves.

Has your impression altered? Do you see a house or a home? Is your cup half empty or half full? It's all up to you . . . and God. In the familiar twenty-first Psalm, David proclaims, " . . . my cup overfloweth . . . and I shall dwell in the house of the Lord forever."

Dwell in the Lord's house each Sabbath and your cup will overflow with His love. The Lord's house is always a home.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

FINDING THE BOOK
October 25, 1992

Background Scripture:
2 Chronicles 34.

Devotional Reading:
2 Chronicles 34:9-13.

Recently I saw a motion picture entitled Stranger Among Us (at least that's how I remember it), the story of a hardened woman police detective who, in order to catch the murderer of a Hasidic Jew, goes to the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn and lives among the Hasidic Jews as one of them. At first, confronted with their piety and devotion to the Jewish law, she is disdainful of them. But, in time, she comes to respect their devotion and begins to feel she is missing something important in her own life. The picture closes with the suggestion that, while she will not become a Hasidic Jew, there will be some meaningful changes in her life.

I have often felt much the same thing with the Amish people of southeastern Pennsylvania. While I never felt any urge to become one of them, I sometimes felt that their depth of commitment and devotion was admirable and stood in contrast to my own lifestyle which often reflected values that have little to do with the Gospel of Jesus Christ. No, I am never likely to become either Amish or Hasidic, but I have a profound sense of respect for the value of their way of life, even though it is not for me.

A TERRIBLE VOID

What the police officer in the movie found lacking in her life is what is so desperately lacking in our society; underlying values to which we are committed above all else. The legalism of the Hasidic and Amish ways of life do not appeal to us, but neither does the terrible void that many of us experience. A newspaper columnist the other day was commenting upon a political figure, saying in effect that at the center of this man there was nothing but a hugh vacuum--no convictions, no commitments, no values, no principles--nothing but naked ambition.

This is the kind of society I see reflected in most movies, television and other forms of media. There is nothing too sordid, too depraved, too harmful that it cannot be paraded for a profit before an audience of some kind. I find this in the media, in politics, in business, and sometimes even in religion. Anything goes so long as it advances our ambitions and goals.

From time to time God gives us an opportunity to see what is wrong with our lives. He sends us someone who embodies the way of Christ, some group whose devotion shames our own inconsistency, some tangible illustrations of what he wants us and our society to be. Sometimes it happens when one or more of us discovers or rediscovers the Biblical witness. This is what happened to Israel during the reign of King Josiah. Shaphan, the royal secretary, told King Josiah: "Hilkiah the priest has given me a book" (34:18).

THE BOOK DISCOVERED

According to 2 Chronicles 34, the book of the law of Moses was discovered while, under Josiah's direction, the temple of the Lord was being restored after shameful neglect for several generations. While searching for the temple treasury in order to finance the restoration, "Hilkiah the priest found the book of the law of the Lord given through Moses" (34:14).

Josiah's reaction is dramatic: "When the king heard the words of the law he rent his clothes" (34:19). It was traditional in Judaism that tearing one's clothing was a sign of deep spiritual chagrin and repentance. When King Josiah heard what God expected of the people of Israel, he was mortified that he and his people had lived in ignorance of God's will. Because Hilkiah found the book and brought it to Josiah's attention, the King pledged himself to God, the people of Israel followed his lead, and a whole generation was served from the folly of their godless ways.

What happened to Josiah and his people can happen to us, if we let God speak to us and consider what he wants of us. Like them, we have a book through which he can speak.

These firms invite YOU to a House of Worship each week.

COVER STORY

Betty White strives to keep that 'Golden' glow

BY LYNN HOOGENBOOM

The 1991-92 TV season was Betty White's seventh as Rose Nylund. She assumed that it would be her last.

"That's how I was thinking when our contracts (for 'The Golden Girls') were up," she says. "Bea (Bea Arthur, who played Dorothy) had been talking about wanting to leave for the last two years. She'd like to get back to the theater. I loved it; I would have stayed for ages, but when it comes to that point, you think, 'Well, let's pack it in.' Everybody was sort of of the same mind."

Betty White

Then they were called in by the series' producers – Paul Witt, Susan Harris and Tony Thomas. "They sat us down, and Tony said, 'Look, we have eight shows on the air, we're tired, and we can't get excited about a new show, because we have our hands full right now. Except that Susan has come up with an idea for 'Golden Girls.' And they were so sold on it that it was hard not to catch their enthusiasm. We went into the meeting thinking that we were going to say, 'No – no way.' We walked out of the meeting saying, 'Well ...' They're not only good writers and producers. They're a hell of a group of salesmen."

The idea was that Rose (White), Blanche (Rue McClanahan) and Sophia (Estelle Getty) would purchase a hotel, then get stuck with responsibility for its day-to-day operations. The result is "The Golden Palace," airing Fridays on CBS.

"On paper, the hotel looked fine," White explains. "They refurbished the downstairs so it would look good, and they fired everybody so the books look good. It looks like they're making money, because they're not paying salaries."

The new series has a new network, CBS. "I think that's the best thing that happened," says White. "No slur on NBC at all. They've been wonderful. But how many times can their promotional people find things to say about 'The Golden Girls'? But at CBS, we're the new kids on the block, and everybody is really excited. The main deal-breaker was that NBC would only give us 13 weeks, and Witt-Thomas-Harris said, 'No-no-no. That's not the way to do this show.' We got a firm year from CBS. And if we can't make it with a full season to go at it and find our audience, then we don't deserve to stick around."

So far, White reports, things are going well. "We are having a ball," she says. "We have new people to play off of, and it kind of deepens our characters. Of course, we're scared to death. It's not fun to change anything, especially when you love somebody, as we love Bea. But we talk about Dorothy, and you know she'll be back for guest shots. She won't be able to stay away."

SPORTS CALENDAR

New York Jets must look forward to next season

BY CHRISTOPHER HULL

Did we actually say that the New York Jets would win the AFC East this season? Well, the New Yorkers started out 0-4 and managed their first win against the New England Patriots in Week 5. It seems that all pronouncements of the greening of New York were premature.

What happened? For starters, it appears that the Jets players believed that a 5-0 preseason actually meant something. Opening day proved otherwise, and the Jets spent the next three weeks scrambling to recover.

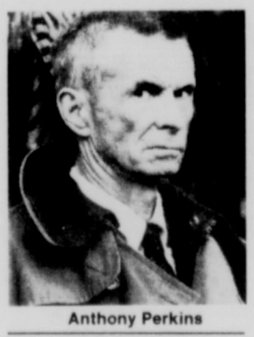
Before the season, Jets coach Bruce Coslet decided to go with young Browning Nagle as his starting quarterback. The time was ripe for a change from ineffective Ken O'Brien, but then Coslet did the inexplicable: He released veteran kicker Raul Allegre in favor of rookie Jason Staurovsky, who had been perfect in preseason.

With a new quarterback inevitably prone to the mistakes that come with learning the ropes in the NFL, prudence would suggest keeping a reliable kicker around to salvage something from drives that break down under the weight of quarterback inexperience. Coslet didn't, and Staurovsky wasn't up to the task.

On opening day, the Jets spotted Atlanta a 17-0 first quarter lead, then mounted a furious comeback before losing 20-17. Key to the loss were unfinished drives and missed field goals attempted from 41 and 42 yards. After decisive losses to Pittsburgh on the road and San Francisco at home, things hit rock bottom in an 18-10 loss to the Los Angeles Rams in Week 4.

By the time the sacrificial New England Patriots came to town, the jittery Jets were reeling. Quarterback Nagle had missed the Pittsburgh game with an injured hand and was otherwise experiencing his growing pains at a seemingly accelerated pace. Meanwhile, kicker Staurovsky had received his walking papers after making good on a disheartening 3-of-8 field-goal attempts. And defensive players Jeff Lageman and Dennis Byrd went down with injuries.

So what's left? The Jets can almost surely kiss this season's playoffs goodbye. But on the bright side, they have 10 games left in 1992 in which their promising new quarterback can make his mistakes and develop his skills. Then they'll have eight long months to remind themselves that games don't count until opening day.



The Jets host the Buffalo Bills Oct. 26, on ABC's "Monday Night Football."

MOVIES ON TV

'In the Deep Woods,' Perkins' last film, airs

BY FELICIA A. FEASTER

Rosanna Arquette stars in a made-for-TV thriller, "In the Deep Woods" (NBC, Oct. 26), as a single independent woman whose friends are being gruesomely murdered by the "Deep Woods" killer. As the authorities gather clues, it becomes obvious that the killer may be someone near and, needless to say, dear to her. As is usual in this type of movie, and contrary to reality, the serial killer is made mythic and is glamorized into a superhuman, superintelligent, charismatic killing machine who can only be brought to justice by a bullet. "Deep Woods" creates its serial killer as a composite of real-life serial killers like Ted Bundy and Lawrence Bittaker, combining their modus operandi. Despite its failure as a crime thriller, "Deep Woods" does score points as straight drama, thanks to the late Anthony Perkins who plays a solitary private eye with a personal interest in the murders. It seems he is trying to hide the secret of his relationship to the Deep Woods slaying.

Anthony Perkins

• "In the Line of Duty: Street War" (NBC, Oct. 25) airs with a cast that includes Mario Van Peebles and Morris Chestnut. Friends since childhood, Robert Dayton (Michael Boatman) and Raymond Williamson (Van Peebles) are now partners on the New York City police force, patrolling the same Brooklyn streets where they grew up. Inspired by a true story, the successful partnership is destroyed when a local crack dealer, "Justice" (Courtney Vanes), kills Williamson while the two are executing a routine assignment – looking for a lost child. Sacrificing his own safety, Dayton is determined to pursue the killer, even though his superiors order him to stay out of the investigation.

• Denzel Washington stars as Nick Styles, a rookie cop who sends Blake (John Lithgow), a psychopath, to jail, in "Ricochet" (HBO, Oct. 31). With time on his hands, the evil Blake plots an elaborate revenge to exact upon Styles and gets his chance after receiving parole. Styles enlists the help of his old friend, Odessa (Ice-T), to bring Blake to justice. The movie is a flashy but empty thriller directed by Russell Mulcahy ("Highlander").

• AMC airs a treasure trove of classic and contemporary horror movies to celebrate All Hallows' Eve. The "Horror Classics Weekend" runs from Oct. 30-Nov. 1 with sophisticated thrillers like Alfred Hitchcock's "Psycho" and the 1957 film "Beginning of the End" about giant, radiation-mutated grasshoppers.

TV DIALOGUE

BY TONI REINHOLD

DIRK'S WORK – What has become of Dirk Benedict since he starred in "The A-Team"? He's such a handsome actor, and I'd much rather be looking at him on TV than some of the less attractive men we see in weekly series. Is he married? – B.R.W., St. Albans, Maine

Dirk Benedict

Benedict, who played Lt. Templeton "Face" Peck in that 1983-87 series, doesn't have a weekly series at this time, but he is still acting and also spends a great deal of time lecturing on life-changing principles. He has survived a bout with cancer and written a book about his experiences, called "Confessions of a Kamikaze Cowboy." Benedict, who also had roles in "Chopper One" (1974) and "Battlestar Galactica" (1978-79), has been married to his wife, Toni, for seven years. They have two young sons.

'RESTLESS' QUESTION – I'm certain that the actor who plays Jack Abbott on "The Young and the Restless" was in another TV series. Can you confirm this? – L.L., Portland, Ore.

Peter Bergman, who last summer won his second consecutive Daytime Emmy Award as Outstanding Lead Actor for his performance as Jack Abbott, also played Dr. Cliff Warner in the soap "All My Children" from 1979-87. In prime time, he was a regular in the 1977 summer variety series "The Starland Vocal Band Show"; his castmates included satirist Mark Russell and the pre-"Late Night" David Letterman.

MERCER AND MARTIN – Was Marian Mercer or Bea Arthur a regular on the old "Dean Martin Show"? – J.H., Honolulu

Mercer was a regular on that musical variety show from 1971-72. She also had roles in "The Andy Williams Show" (1962-63), "The Dom DeLuise Show" (1968), "The Sandy Duncan Show" (1972), "The Wacky World of Jonathan Winters" (1972-74), "A Touch of Grace" (1973), "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman" (1976-78) and "Foot in the Door" (1983). She played Nancy Beebe in the syndicated series "It's a Living."

POWERS' PRESERVE – What is the name of the wildlife organization that is headed by Stefanie Powers? – A.Z., Baltimore

Powers heads the William Holden Wildlife Foundation, a big-game preserve and study center in Kenya.

SOAP SCOOP

Head writer of 'AMC' meshes her job and life

BY CONNIE PASSALACQUA

Early last summer, Megan McTavish, who had been an associate writer on "All My Children" since 1987, was officially named head writer on the soap. The show's creator and longtime head writer, Agnes Nixon (who is now 65), was named executive head writer.

"For the last year, Agnes and I have been doing the story together, anyway," McTavish explains. "We did the well story (when a kidnapped Natalie was stashed in a well by her psychotic twin sister, Janet) and the (Will Cortlandt) murder together. We still work together, but now Agnes is free to bop in and out of the office as she pleases."

McTavish is one of the many soap writers who began as an actress. In 1983, she was cast in "Guiding Light" as Lola Fontaine. "It basically lasted a year and a half," McTavish says. "Then Richard and Carolyn Culliton – writers on that show who are my friends (and) who are now here at 'AMC' – gave me a chance to do sample scripts. I got to write my own goodbye as Lola, and I wrote at 'Guiding Light' for three more years."

Her "AMC" workdays are long, McTavish says. "They can start at 5 (in the morning) and go to 9 or 10 at night. I try to write (in her ABC office) in the morning, when the mind is fresh. Then all the writers meet here in the afternoon, and at night I read scripts." McTavish feels the job suits her lifestyle. "I'm a workaholic. I don't have a family, although I have two dogs. I take them to the park every day. They keep my blood pressure down and give me exercise. I love this show. No matter what, I'm always thinking about the story."

McTavish is enthusiastic about a location shoot the show is doing for November sweeps. "It's in Budapest (Hungary)," she says. "We haven't done a big remote in a long time, and we wanted something different. We were looking for someplace romantic, and it's a gorgeous place. There's a real spirit of freedom there. And it's still relatively inexpensive, for Europe. They just did a 'Murder, She Wrote' there, using it as Paris. The city was very happy to get us to use it as itself."

McTavish promises a very special remote. "It's high romance, not day-to-day stuff. It has a huge sweep." Three romances will be featured: those of Erica and Dimitri (played by Susan Lucci and Michael Nader), Brooke and Edmund (played by Julia Barr and John Callahan), and Jack and Angelique (played by Walt Willey and Season Hubley).

Knotts Promoted At First United

Richard G. Stanton, Chairman of the Board and President of First United National Bank & Trust, recently announced the promotion of Kathy Knotts to community office manager of First United's Mid-Towns Office.

Miss Knotts, a graduate of Southern High School and West Virginia Career College, began her First United career in 1978. Her first position was as secretary to the president. In 1988, she was named a customer service representative, and later a customer service officer.

Miss Knotts has continued her education by completing several courses at Garrett Community College, numerous banking classes and seminars. Recently she earned her license to sell life and health insurance, as well as property and casualty products.

Miss Knotts is a member of the Mountain Bethel United Methodist Church in Kitzmiller. She resides in Mtn. Lake Park.

"Kathy brings with her a strong background in meeting her customers' financial needs. The fact that she has spent most of her career in the Oakland area makes her a special match to lead our team at the Mid-Towns Office," stated Stanton.

On Honor Roll At Lipscomb U.

A student from Oakland has been honored at David Lipscomb University, Nashville, Tenn. for academic achievement during spring semester.

Tara Lynn Wildesen has been placed on the Honor Roll for earning a grade point average between 3.5 and 3.99 during the semester, said Dr. James T. Arnett, vice president for academic affairs and dean of the faculty.

Wildesen, an elementary education major, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Wildesen, Star Route 2, Oakland. She is a graduate of Southern High School.

Students at Lipscomb University earn bachelor of arts and bachelor of science degrees in nearly 100 major programs of study. Two master of arts degrees are offered in Bible studies, and an Adult Studies Program now offers courses at night.

Lipscomb is affiliated with the Churches of Christ.

Maryland Forest Assoc. To Hold Annual Meeting

The Maryland Forests Association annual meeting is scheduled for November 6-7 at the Ramada Inn in Annapolis. The theme for the meeting is "Landowners Rights to Practice Forestry."

According to an MFA spokesman, the most important issue facing the State of Maryland today is maintaining the forest land base. "Incentives are needed to encourage private landowners to keep their forest land base or we will continue to see land conversion and the loss of forest land," he said.

On Friday evening, November 6, the featured speaker will be Margaret Ann Reigle, founder and chairperson of the "Fairness of Landowner's Committee," better known as "FLOC."

On Saturday morning, after a brief business meeting, there will be a panel discussion on "Landowner Rights." Scott Berg, National Forest Products Association, will speak on "National Issues, Landowners Rights, present and future," Charlie Niebling, New Hampshire, who assisted in the New Hampshire right to practice forestry regulations will speak; and Jack Warren, Forests Farmers Association, will talk on "What's happening in the South, to inform and involve landowners in protecting their rights."

All landowners and MFA members are encouraged by MFA to attend the panel discussion on Landowner Rights. MFA is considering proposing landowners rights legislation for Maryland.

The Logger of the Year for the State of Maryland will also be recognized at the annual meeting.

Slider Memorial Scholarship At FSU Announced

The family of the late Mary T. "Teddie" Slider and the Western Maryland Reading Council have established an endowed scholarship fund for students in the Frostburg State University graduate education program. When fully funded the award will provide over $2,000 in scholarships annually through the FSU Foundation, Inc.

Described as a "tireless and energetic worker," Mrs. Slider was a reading specialist in Allegany County and an activist with the Reading Council on the local, state and national level. Well respected by her peers, she was selected to deliver a paper to the National Reading Association's Annual Meeting in Texas in 1989.

She was a daughter of Ted and Celeste Lascaris, owners of Alpine Village and The Silver Tree Inn, Deep Creek Lake. Her father, Ted, was this year honored as Autumn Glory Festival Honorary Golden Ambassador, one of only eight to ever be so honored, for his untiring promotion of Deep Creek Lake, the Festival, and Garrett County.

According to Mrs. Slider's husband, businessman Rick Slider, "Teddie strove for perfection in an imperfect world. While seeking organization out of chaos, she applied her standards of excellence to all facets of life, and her contagious enthusiasm and determination prevailed.

"Those qualities are recognized and appreciated by all who share her desire for excellence. One way we can perpetuate Teddie's ideals, goals and objectives is through the Teddie (Lascaris) Slider Scholarship Fund," he said.

She was chosen by her colleagues as Cash Valley School teacher of the year, an honor which was presented posthumously in September following her unexpected death. Her sister, Elaine MacDonald, explained that Mrs. Slider displayed a plaque in her classroom which read, "Whoever you are, there is some other person who thinks you are perfect. There is some work that will never be done if you don't do it. There is someone who would miss you if you were gone. There is a place to be filled that you alone can fill."

The Slider Award will be available to full- or part-time graduate education students, concentrating in reading, with a preference to members of the Western Maryland Reading Council. Applicants must also have been residents of Allegany or Garrett counties for three or more years and have demonstrated ability as shown through professional development or recognition in the field of reading.

For more information on this and available scholarships, persons may call the FSU Office of Financial Aid, 689-4301.

SCHOLARSHIP ESTABLISHED - The Slider Memorial Scholarship has been established by the family of the late Mary T. "Teddie" (Lascaris) Slider and the Western Maryland Reading Council. When fully funded, the award will provide over $2,000 in scholarships annually through the Frostburg State University Foundation, Inc. Representatives establishing the Slider Memorial Endowed Scholarship are, seated, left to right, Valery Arch; Rick Slider, husband of Teddie Slider; and Elaine McDonald, sister of Teddie Slider. Accepting on behalf of FSU is Dr. Roger Dow, rear, FSU Department of Education.

How To Save Up To $35,507.25 On Your Mortgage.

Now you can save substantial interest on your mortgage and pay it off more quickly. It's easy with a Bi-Weekly Mortgage from First Federal Savings Bank.

The idea behind a Bi-Weekly Mortgage is very simple. Instead of making one monthly mortgage payment, you make ½ a payment every two weeks. So how do you save all that interest?

Simple mathematics tells you that ½ a payment every two weeks over the course of a year equals 26 bi-weekly payments – or the yearly equivalent of 13 monthly payments. So your mortgage is paid off more quickly – meaning less interest as well.

Your payments will be automatically deducted from a First Federal checking account, so you won't have to worry about writing and mailing two checks each month.

Still not convinced? Well, just take a look at how much you'd save on both a fixed rate and an adjustable rate Bi-Weekly Mortgage versus a traditional monthly mortgage:

FIXED
Mortgage Amount	$ 75,000
Interest Rate	10.00% A.P.R. (Fixed)

AND YOU OWN YOUR HOME IN JUST 12 YEARS AND 7 MONTHS, INSTEAD OF 15!

ADJUSTABLE

Term	30 Years
Monthly Payment	$ 550.50
BI-WEEKLY PAYMENT	$ 275.25

TOTAL PAID (BI-WEEKLY)	$ 162,672.75
INTEREST SAVINGS WITH BI-WEEKLY MORTGAGE!	$ 35,507.25
AND YOU OWN YOUR HOME IN JUST 22 YEARS AND 9 MONTHS, INSTEAD OF 30!

SPOOKTACULAR COSTUMES

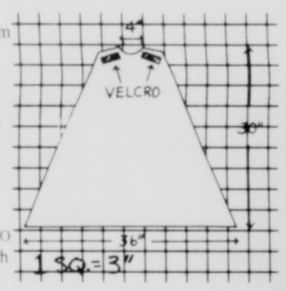
To Dye:

1. Tie-dye sweats in a color recipe of ⅓ bottle or 1½-packages Sea Foam Green and ⅓ bottle or ⅔-package Aquamarine using the "crushed" tie-dye technique.



2. Stitch reflective tape around sweatshirt hood and wrists. Make a belt from reflective tape strip.

Cape:

1. Cut 30-inch square from sheet. Dye sheet with ⅓ bottle or 1½-packages Cardinal Red.

2. Copy pattern. Cut cape from dyed sheet. Turn edges ½-inch under, and stitch seam all around cape.

3. Cut 2 pieces of VELCRO 2½-inches long, and stitch to cape and shoulder of sweatshirt.

Vest:

1. Dye pillowcase with ½ bottle or 1-package Kelly Green. Dry thoroughly.

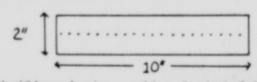
2. Optional: Using a mixture of Design-It and liquid Kelly Green, stencil or paint a leaf pattern on vest following Design-It bottle instructions. (Design-It can only be used with liquid dye.) Dry thoroughly.

3. Cut neckline and opening for arms and sides.

Batman

Follow the Robin Hood instructions using 4 packages or 2-bottles Rit Black dye to create a one-of-a-kind Batman costume. Tie-dye a hooded sweatshirt and pants using 2 packages or 1-bottle Black and the "crushed" tie-dye technique. Dye the cape with 2 packages or 1-bottle Black. Iron on Batman decals (made from reflective tape) to sweatshirt for authentic heroic appeal.

Pretty as a Picture Princess



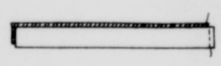
Materials:
White oversize sweatshirt, leggings, and skirt; 1 bottle or 2-packages RIT Purple; 2-yards netting; 1-yard wide ribbon; assorted rhinestones; reflective tape.

To Dye:

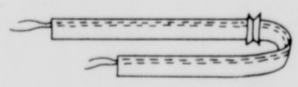
1. Dye sweatshirt and leggings in 1 package or ½-bottle Purple using "crushed" tie-dye technique. Dye skirt in 1 package or ½-bottle Purple, following package instructions.

Collar:

1. Cut a 10-inch wide piece of netting (about 1½ times the diameter of sweatshirt neckline).



Fold in half lengthwise, and hand-stitch folded edge to neckline, making soft gathers. Using ribbon, make a bow and hand-stitch to center of netting collar.



Skirting:

1. Cut 2 pieces of netting 9-inches wide by 2-yards long. Adjust measurements to your child's size. Stitch short ends together.

2. Make 2 rows of basting stitches ½-inch and ¼-inch in from one long edge. Gather each row of stitches by pulling 2 threads on each end until netting fits around child's waist. Knot threads securely.

3. For waistband, hand-stitch narrow ribbon to netting, leaving 2 loose ends to tie in back. Make bow from wide ribbon, and hand-stitch to front of netting skirt.

4. Hand-stitch assorted rhinestones and small squares of reflective tape to netting collar and skirt.

Boo-tiful Ballerina

Follow above instructions to design a costume for your favorite ballerina by tie-dyeing leotards and tights in ¼ bottle or ½-package Rose Pink dye using the "crushed" tie-dye technique. Add the finishing touches with a tutu using fabric and following the Princess "skirting" instructions.

General Dye Instructions:

■ Start with clean garments. Use dyeable fabrics such as cotton, ramie, nylon, acetate or blends of these fibers. Fabrics containing any polyester or acrylic will only achieve a light tint of color. Dye white or very light colored fabrics to obtain color closest to that on the package. Use RIT Color Remover to remove spots and stains before dyeing to a lighter or different color. ■ Use 1 package powder or ½-bottle liquid dye to color 1 pound or 3-yards medium weight fabric. For even brighter or darker color results, double the quantity of dye and add 1 cup of salt to dyebath. ■ Wear rubber gloves. Prepare dyebath according to package instructions. Large items can be dyed in the washing machine; small items can be dyed in a non-fiberglass or non-plastic sink or container. ■ Follow package or bottle instructions for the specific dyeing method selected. The longer the garment remains in the dyebath, the more intense the shade will be. Colors will appear darker when wet. ■ Clean washing machine afterward by running a complete wash cycle with detergent and one 1 cup of chlorine bleach. Clean sink or container by scrubbing with powdered cleanser or chlorine bleach. ■ Dyed garments should always be hand-washed separately in cool water and mild detergent the first few times.

"Crushed" Tie-Dye Technique:

■ Crunch garment into a tight bundle and randomly wrap thick rubber bands around it. ■ Immerse in dyebath for 15 minutes, stirring constantly. Before releasing ties, immerse in warm water and mild detergent. Rinse in cold water until water runs clear. Squeeze out excess water. ■ Remove rubber bands. ■ Dry on clothesline or in dryer.

PUT SAFETY FIRST

The National Safety Council recommends the following advice to scare away the little goblins from fires and accidents and to guarantee a fun and safe Halloween:

- Light, bright: Make your children's costumes out of light, visible colors so they can be easily seen at night. For dark colored costumes, incorporate plenty of reflective tape into the costume design.
- Be a fire fighter: Make sure all costumes, wigs and beards are flame resistant and fit properly.
- No more masks: Use imaginatively applied make-up rather than masks, which can restrict breathing or obscure vision. Make sure make-up will not irritate your child's sensitive skin.
- Keep accessories safe: Don't let your child carry a real sword, knife, broomstick, metal or wood "fairy wand." Look in toy stores for child-safe accessories or you both can have fun cutting out cardboard replicas to complete any costume.
- Avoid overflow: Keep costumes short enough to prevent your children from tripping. Also, avoid flowing, billowy fabrics, which can come in contact with fire.
- Treat police: Do not allow your child to eat his or her treats until you've inspected them for any foreign objects or signs that they have been opened. Throw away all unwrapped edibles, such as fruits, cookies and popcorn.

TRICKS FOR MAKING HALLOWEEN A TREAT

Fiendish Fun for Friends and Neighbors

Invite kids and parents to get in the spirit of Halloween with a costume-making party. Have guests bring sweats, pillowcases and sheets to tie-dye their own howling Halloween highlights. Supply a selection of traditional Halloween colors such as Tangerine or Black. Put on a costume, carve a jack-o'-lantern and get ready to tie-dye. Let the kids help tie the fabric with string and glue on decorations. Leave the dyeing to the moms and dads.

Bewitching Party Favors

Send your Halloween party guests home with these quick and easy ghoulish gifts.

Materials: 1 dozen 6- x 6-inch cotton handkerchiefs; 1 or 2-packages (or ½ or 1-bottle) Black or Tangerine dye; string; decorative ribbon.

Tie-dye handkerchiefs in Tangerine or Black following the "twist" tie-dye method: Prepare dyebath following sink method. Twist fabric tightly and secure both ends with string. Immerse in dyebath for 15 minutes, stirring continuously. Before releasing ties, immerse in warm water and mild detergent. Rinse in cold water until water runs clear. Remove ties. Dry on clothesline or in dryer. Lay flat and add wrapped candy in center. Tie ends together with decorative ribbon.

Terror-ific Trick or Treat Bag

Add a creative and fun accent to your custom-made costume with trick-or-treat bags.

Materials: White or off-white standard pillowcase; 1 package (or ½-bottle) Tangerine, Black, or a color of dye to match the child's costume; decorative ribbon or string; felt; fabric glue.

Follow basic dyeing or tie-dyeing instructions to dye the pillowcase in the desired color. Create a drawstring by running length of a decorative braid or ribbon through pillowcase hem. Pull drawstring to close. To personalize bag, glue on felt letters such as "BOO" in a contrasting color.

Glimpse Of The Past . . .

A PRESTON RAILROAD COMPANY steam engine is pictured here, hauling coal between Crellin and Hutton sometime during the early 1950s, as it neared the B&O mainline at Hutton. The Preston Railroad Company began operations in the 1890s by hauling logs to the huge mill in Crellin. After the mill closed the railroad hauled coal for many years until it ceased operation in 1960 and sold the engines. First United Notes Earnings, Declares Dividend

First United Corporation, a multi-bank holding company headquartered in Oakland, recently announced net income of $1.28 million for the third quarter of 1992. Because of the earnings, on September 30, the Corporation's Board of Directors declared a quarterly cash dividend of $.30 per share.

Richard G. Stanton, chairman of the Board, president and chief executive officer for First United Corporation, stated, "Year-to-date, First United has earned a net income of $3.99 million, resulting in a 1.52 percent return on average assets." "This compares very favorably with the 1.34 percent return on average assets posted for the same period in 1991. I'm gratified with these results, which place us among some of the top performing banks in the nation."

Stanton attributed the strong earnings to "prudent asset/liability management, a commitment to maintaining a high quality loan portfolio, increased Trust department and Oakfirst Life Insurance Corporation net income, as well as a very effective cost control program," He added, "This strategy continues to serve us well, even with the current economic conditions."

As a result of performance year-to-date, the return on average shareholders' equity for First United Corporation is 14.20 percent. During the same period last year the Corporation posted a 13.35 percent return on average shareholders' equity.

"The return on average shareholders' equity is only part of the positive story for our shareholders," Stanton stated. "As of September 1, First United Corporation's common stock was listed for trading on the Nasdaq National Market. Entry into the Nasdaq National Market provides brokers and others with immediate access to the best bid and asked prices and other information about the Corporation's stock. In addition to increased market visibility, Nasdaq gives the Corporation the advantage of multiple market makers which compete to offer the best bid and asked prices."

The recently declared dividend of $.30 per share will be payable to shareholders of record as of October 14, 1992, to be paid on November 2. This dividend reflects the consistent dividend policy exhibited by the Corporation. It follows $.30 per share dividends paid on February 1, May 1, and August 1.

Continuing his discussions on performance, Stanton stated, "The overall decline in interest rates during 1992 has resulted in a decrease in gross interest income from $25.73 million in 1991 to $22.95 million this year. However, at the same time gross interest expense was also affected by declining interest rates, decreasing from $13.56 million in 1991 to $10.12 million in the first nine months of 1992."

The Corporation showed positive changes in the provision for possible credit losses. The third quarter provision remained the same as the previous year. Year-to-date the provision has declined from $.63 million in 1991 to $.47 million in the current year. Plus, net charge-offs amounted to $.36 million year-to-date in 1992, while 1991 net charge-offs were $.50 million. The provision for possible credit losses is based on net charge-offs, loans outstanding, and assessment of risk in the loan portfolio.

Improvement was also noted in other operating income, increasing $.03 million or 1.62 percent from the same period last year. Non-interest expense has only increased $.04 million or .48 percent from 1991.

Because of increases in mortgage volume, net loans increased $5.98 million or 2.49 percent from December 31, 1991. Deposits for the Corporation have declined $.20 million or .07 percent during the first nine months of 1992, primarily attributable to the current structure of interest rates.

Shareholders' equity increased to $38.75 million, or 8.42 percent during the previous 12 months. Primary capital, which includes shareholders' equity and the reserve for possible credit losses, was 11.65 percent on September 30, 1992. The Corporation's risk-based capital ratio was 16.15 percent at the end of the third quarter. This is well above the regulatory minimum for the risk-based capital ratio of 8.00 percent, Stanton noted.

Stanton concluded, "The banking industry continues to pose unique challenges. However, I feel confident with the support of our board of directors, management and our employee team we will continue to exhibit strong earnings, resulting in a consistent return for our shareholders."

First United Corporation has two banking subsidiaries: First United National Bank & Trust and First United Bank of West Virginia, N.A. As of September 30, 1992, the Corporation posted assets of $350.30 million, total deposits of $307.89 million, and capital resources of $38.75 million.

DNR Police Supports "Sight First Program"

Governor William Donald Schaefer previously announced that the Maryland Natural Resources Police (NRP) is supporting the Lions Club "Sight First Program."

Marylanders who have spare or obsolete prescription eyeglasses are asked to drop them off at a designated site, such as The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR); Deep Creek Lake Recreational Area office during the hours of 8 a.m. - 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday; and Johnny's Bait House on Deep Creek Lake. (However, Johnny's Bait House is closed from December through April.)

"The Sight First Program provides an opportunity to assist fellow Marylanders in two ways: recycling glasses no longer needed and enhancing the lives of our neighbors who are less fortunate," said Governor Schaefer.

GCC Delegation Stages Debate

In this season of debates, members of the Maryland Student Legislature Garrett Community College Delegation staged their own presidential debate for the benefit of faculty and students in the cafeteria last week.

With Anna Maria Williamson, the delegation's faculty advisor, as moderator, the three presidential candidates were portrayed by Nathan Blatchley as Bill Clinton, Nathan Robinson as Ross Perot, and Shawn Groves as George Bush.

The candidates answered questions asked by a panel consisting of Heather Graham, Dawn Friend, and Angie Thayer. Questions dealt with the economy, unemployment, the deficit, and health care.

A second debate has been schedules for noon on November 2, the day before the general election, in the college auditorium.

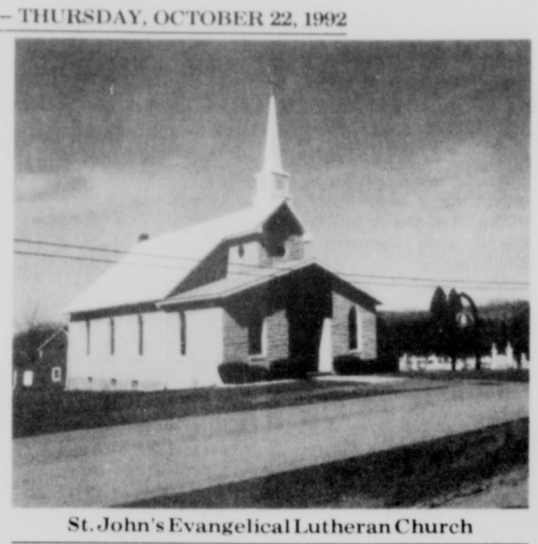
Congregations Of Lutheran Churches To Celebrate 150th

The congregations of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Cove, and St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Accident, will celebrate jointly 150 years of continuous worship services (1842 to 1992) on the next two Sundays.



According to a spokesman for the congregations, one of the characteristics of the early settlers was a strong faith in God. Soon after they arrived, they began to worship in each others' homes. As their numbers grew, they met in the single room schools which they had built. As soon as they were able, they erected simple church buildings.

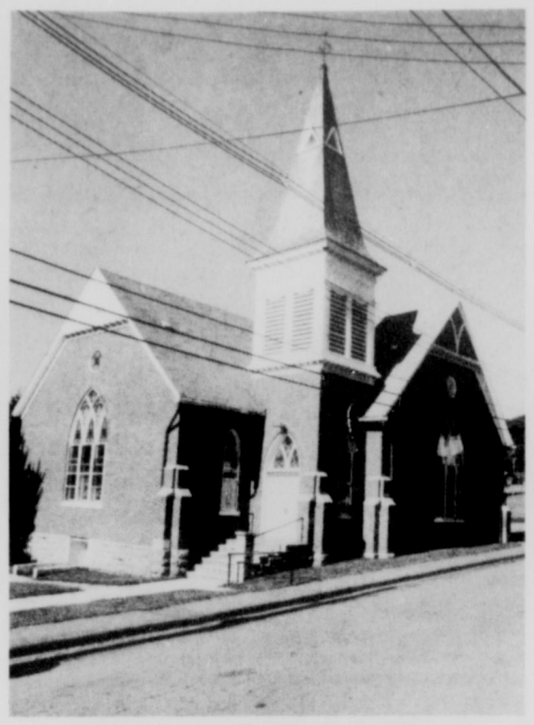
The majority of the later settlers to the Accident community were Lutherans. By the beginning of the Civil War, Accident had begun to evolve into a German Settlement. In 1842, the Allegheny Synod organized a congregation in the Loop (Cove) now know as St. John's ELCA, and another in Accident, now known as St. Paul's. In the same year, the Allegheny Synod established a congregation in the Forks, now known as Emmanual in Bittinger, which is also celebrating its 150th anniversary this Sunday (see separate story).

In the Cove, the first church where the congregation worshiped was of log construction on Cove Road across from the Dennis Margroff property. In 1884 a second church was built. The third and present church building was erected on the same site as the church built in 1884. It was dedicated in 1910.

In Accident, the congregation worshiped in a log structure beginning in 1842. Then the Trinity Lutheran Church, known as the "Little Brown Church" was dedicated in 1869. The third and present church was erected on Main Street and veneered with locally burned bricks. It was dedicated in 1895.

The Rev. William E. Carlson, Pastor Emeritus and chairman of the Joint History Committee and the Anniversary Committee, wrote the following: "It seems appropriate in the year 1992 that we look back and celebrate the hard work and sacrifice, the joys and the sorrows, and especially the faith of the Christians of the past. It was important to remember in order to understand where we are today."

St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church



The Rev. Stephen Yelovich was called in 1985 to serve the Accident Evangelical Parish consisting of St. John's in the Cove, St. Paul's in Accident, and Grace in Friendsville. In 1989 the congregation of the Parish conferred on the Rev. William E. Carlson the honorary title of Pastor Emeritus upon the 40th year of his ordination. Rev. Carlson retired in 1984 after serving the Parish for 35 years. The historical records show a total of 28 pastors serving the English Lutherans since 1842.

In observance of the anniversary, joint worship services are planned for the Sundays of October 25 and November 1. The October 25 service will be held at St. John's, Cove, beginning at 10:30 a.m. The Rev. Dr. John Paul Balas will be the guest preacher. He is professor of pastoral theology at the Lutheran Seminary in Gettysburg. The Washington Service will be used from the 1899 service book.

The worship service on November 1 will be held at St. Paul's, Accident, beginning at 10:30 a.m. The preacher will be The Rev. L. Alexander Black, bishop of the West Virginia-Western Maryland Synod. This will be a communion service with Bishop Black officiating together with Pastor Yelovich. There will be special music at both services by the joint choirs, as well as instrumental music.

As part of the celebration, a booklet has been published on the histories of both St. John's and St. Paul's congregations, together with a number of photographs. Memories from the past or oral histories submitted by members of the congregations have also been prepared in printed copy. Both publications will be available during the celebration. In addition, an ornamental plaque depicting the two churches and measuring about three inches by five inches will be available as a token of remembrance of the anniversary commemoration.

Former members and friends are invited to participate in the worship services on October 25 and November 1.

St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church

Special Services Scheduled At Glendale Assembly

A monthly hymn sing will be held at the Glendale Assembly of God Church on Saturday, October 24, at 7 p.m. as the first of special services at the church.

The Gideons will hold a special service on Sunday, October 25, at 10:30 a.m. There will be no afternoon service.

Sunday school will begin at Glendale on November 1 at 10 a.m. and morning worship will follow at 11 a.m. There will be no afternoon service.

Historical Trust Seeks Applicants For CLG Monies

The Maryland Historical Trust, an agency of the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development, is seeking applications from qualified local governments that wish to participate in the State's Certified Local Government (CLG) Program.

In order to become certified, a local government must have enacted a historic preservation ordinance and appointed an adequate and qualified historic district/preservation commission, among other requirements.

Approved certified local governments are eligible to apply for a share of matching federal historic preservation grant-in-aid funds, made available through the Maryland Historical Trust. The Trust must make available to these governments at least 10% of its federal allocation for FY 1993, estimated to be approximately $720,000.

Although all qualified project proposals will be considered, certified local governments are encouraged to tailor proposals to help achieve the following FY 1993 state priorities for preservation projects:

* Preparation of local government versions of the state preservation plan, including the generation of goals and objectives for actions to be taken for the development of folklife/oral histories, the preparation of "historic contexts," and the survey, registration, and protection/treatment of historic resources;

* Production of multiple property National Register nominations for historic resources (i.e. historic districts, thematic groupings, and a combinations of archaeological and architectural resources for a given geographic area); and

* Production of educational tools to heighten awareness of the general public about the value of historic preservation.

Criteria used to evaluate and rank each application include compatibility with broad goals of The Maryland Comprehensive Historic Preservation Plan (1986) and a variety of other factors including historical significance of the resource involved, equitable statewide geographic distribution of funding, administrative capability of the project sponsor, and information, education, demonstration, and innovation value of the project.

Applications are reviewed by an evaluation committee comprised of MHT staff. Staff recommendations for ranking and funding levels are forwarded to the State Historic Preservation Officer for approval.

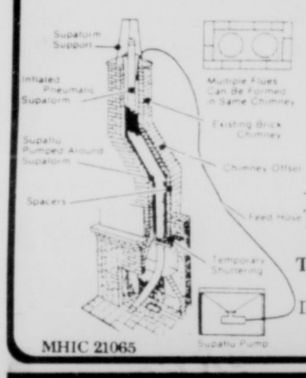
Applications for funding are due no later than November 1, 1992. For more information, or to obtain a copy of the Maryland CLG procedures or an application for FY 1991 matching funds, persons may contact Michael K. Day, Chief, Office of Planning and Education Outreach, Maryland Historical Trust, 100 Community Place, Crownsville, MD 21032; telephone (410) 514-7617.

Local Catholic Daughters Join WRAP Campaign

The Catholic Daughters of America, Court 2209, Oakland, will participate in the fifth annual National White Ribbon Against Pornography Campaign during Pornography Awareness Week, October 25-November 1. Sponsored by the New York - based organization, Morality in Media, the White Ribbon Campaign will be promoted by members of CDA and St. Peter's Parish.

According to a CDA spokesman, the main purposes of the campaign are to urge obscenity law enforcement, to increase public awareness about the effects of pornography, and to request that merchants discontinue the sale of pornography.

Last Year's White Ribbon Campaign drew over five million participants in all 50 states. "Americans are taking a stand against pornography because they are concerned about the corruption of children and teenagers, the breakdown of the family, mockery of traditional values and epidemic sex crimes," the spokesman said.



In conjunction with WRAP, concerned citizens are urged to participate in a national "Turn Off TV Day" on Friday, November 13, 1992. "Turn Off TV Day" gives concerned Americans an opportunity to register their protests against the increasing sex, violence, and mockery of traditional values on television, the spokesman said. "Keeping the TV off for 24 hours on Friday the 13th is our way of sending a message to TV producers and advertisers," the spokesman said.

A 1991 study by the American Family Association found that the three networks displayed more than 10,000 sexual incidents during prime time alone, and that for every scene depicting sex between married partners, the networks showed 14 scenes of sex outside marriage.

Court 2209 members urge local residents to wear a white ribbon during WRAP week (Oct. 25-Nov. 1) and turn off their television on Friday, Nov. 13.

Emmanuel Lutheran Church To Celebrate 150th Anniversary Of Membership in LCA

As Emmanuel Lutheran Church, Bittinger, celebrates its 150th anniversary of membership in the Lutheran Church in America this month, its members look back at a century and a half of both tradition and change.

The congregation will celebrate Sunday morning, October 25, beginning with an open house from 8:45 until 9:45 in the new educational building which was dedicated this year. Following the open house, which will include memorabilia and refreshments, the celebration will move to a nearly 120-year-old church building next door for a joint service at 10 a.m. with the other churches of its parish, St. John's on Meadow Mountain and Zion in Jennings.

The Rev. John Kline, who served as pastor in 1959-60 will preach and the Rev. Louise Knotts, current pastor, will officiate at the morning worship service. Following the service, a luncheon will be served at noon in the Bittinger Fire Hall. Fellowship, trivia, speakers, and memories will be featured.

When a Lutheran congregation was formed in the Bittinger area in the early 1800's, the surrounding land was, in the words of historian Wayne Bittinger, a descendant of an early settler, "typical of Garrett County. There were few people; the land was hilly, rocky, fertile, and thickly forested." Wild animals, including timber wolves, panthers, bears, and rattlers were plentiful.

A handful of settlers, many of them of German descent, formed the community then known as the Forks in the early 1800's. They worshipped in a log church across the road from the present church. Early members of the Evangelical Lutheran Church at the Forks, as it was then known, included members of the Harman, Resh, Lohr, Metz, Ruckle, Stark, Bittinger, and Brenneman families. Early pastors, who served large territories in Maryland and southern Pennsylvania included the Reverends Pfahler, Snyder, Lane and Brininger.

When the Forks became an official member of the American Lutheran Church in 1842, the Centerville Parish of the Allegheny Synod included the congregations of Centerville, Immanuel, and Petersburg in Pennsylvania, and the Cove, Accident, and the Forks in Maryland. During the 1850's and 60's, congregational membership in the various parishes of the Allegheny Synod and the Maryland Synod shifted several times in response to the area's rapid population growth.

THE LUTHERAN EVANGELICAL CHURCH of Bittinger (Emmanuel Lutheran Church) is shown above as it appeared in the early 1900's. The congregation will celebrate its 150th anniversary of membership in the Lutheran Church in America this month. Other churches in the Bittinger parish, St. John's on Meadow Mountain and Zion in Jennings, will be celebrating also. The church has undergone many changes over the years.

Members of the Forks congregation in 1874 resolved, "Whereas our church edifice - the Evangelical Lutheran Church at the Forks, Garrett County, Maryland, is altogether inadequate and unsuitable for a house of worship - therefore we, the congregation, resolve to erect during the summer of 1874, on or near the site of the old, a new house of worship more suitable to the wants of the congregation . . ."

The congregation contracted with Christian Brenneman to build a 46x32-foot building with a recessed pulpit of six by 14 feet. The contract spelled out the specifications, including dimensions and kind of lumber and called for Brenneman to "erect said building in a good and substantial workmanlike manner of dimensions, material, and style hereinafter mentioned." Funds were raised through subscription, allowing members to pay part of the contributions in labor and material.

The building of the church was undoubtedly a community event, as were most building jobs at that time. It was completed in late 1874 or early 1875, and Christian Brenneman was paid $1,300 for his efforts.

The new church was dedicated February 28, 1875. It lacked its present bell tower and stained-glass windows, and would not get its narthex addition and Sunday school room until World War I, but in essence, its outward appearance resembled that of today.

The congregation assembled at 8 o'clock in the morning of May 30, 1884, and spent three hours dressing up and beautifying the nearby graveyard. According to the pastor's report, he gave "a short address on the suitableness and Christian duty of caring properly for the resting places of our dead. By common consent of the congregation, the day, May 30, National Decoration Day, is to be henceforth, annually observed." Memorial Day commemorations continue at the graveyard to the present day.

According to the minutes of the earliest recorded council meeting, enrollment by 1902 stood at 125. Members were expected to give from two cents per week (young ladies), up to 20 cents per week (Married men), "according to their financial ability and circumstances."

A year later, Emmanuel, along with a nearby congregation at Meadow Mountain, separated from the Accident and Grantsville congregations to form its own parish with the Rev. Shoup as its first pastor. A parsonage was built in 1904 which, although it is no longer a parsonage, is still occupied today.

A new congregation was organized in Jennings in 1909 which joined Bittinger and Meadow Mountain to form the Bittinger Lutheran Parish that survives today.

During the pastorate of the Rev. Marvin, probably in the years 1918-1921, the church building received a major renovation. A narthex, Sunday school room, and furnace room were constructed. Approximately the same time, the church's plain glass windows were replaced with stained glass. Windows were donated by members of the congregation as well as other nearby Lutheran congregations. A complete set of oak chancel furniture, including a pulpit, lectern, altar, and baptismal font was purchased at around the same time. The church's original pews remained in use until 1941.

A Luther League was formed for the church's young people in 1922. Meetings were held in the homes of elderly members who were also active in League activities. Over the years, the League supported missionaries overseas, purchased Bibles, contributed to hymnal purchases, and donated a candle lighter, or taper, when altar candles were first used in 1943. The League's name was changed to the Bittinger Parish Youth Group in 1987. Currently, some 15 young people participate in its activities.

Growth of the congregation prompted the finishing of the church's basement into Sunday school rooms and restrooms in the 1950's. In 1960, with the number of baptized members standing at 202, the church's interior was redecorated, including the installation of red carpeting in the sanctuary. About the same time, the Luther League painted the church's doors red in conformity with the old Reformation custom designed to remind those entering of the blood of Christ and Christ's sacrificial death.

The church also initiated the Acolyte Guild in 1960. Six boys were installed as acolytes, performing candle-lighting and otherwise assisting the pastor during worship services. Girls first participated as acolytes in 1986.

Throughout the 1960's, 70's, and 80's, memorial donations and purchases added new hymnals and additional altarware, including a processional cross and eternal and Pascal candles. The church raised $12,000 in 1987 to purchase a new digital computer organ.

After much debate in 1990, the congregation voted to construct a new educational building for use of the Sunday school and congregation. The new building was dedicated on May 24, 1992. A second construction phase proposes to replace the current church, now almost 120 years old, with a larger worship building within the next 10 years. The new building will closely resemble the original. The congregation plans to use the present stained-glass windows, pews, and chancel furniture in the new structure.

As of 1992, the church has 172 baptized members, including the 128 communicants. Many are members of families that worshipped there in the congregation's early years, and a substantial number are new residents of the community.

In reflecting on the celebration of the church's 150-year ministry to the people of Bittinger, current pastor, the Rev. Louise Knotts said, "The people of Emmanuel Lutheran are proud of their heritage here in Bittinger. They have roots that go deep into Garrett County and are excited about another 150 years of ministry in this place."
